IN MEMORIUM

LIEN — Loving memories of our dear mother, who passed away January 31, 1977.

Two sad and lonely years have passed since our great sorrow fell.
The shock that we received that day,
no one can ever tell.
It's lonely here with out you.
We miss you more each day.
For life is not the same for us.
Since you were called away.
You bade no one a last farewell,
Nor even said goodbye
You were gone before we realized,
And only God knows why.
Always remembered and sadly missed by Harold, Marlynne and family and Tom. 22-1p

BONE — In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Eldon Bone who passed away February 8, 1977.

A bunch of gold stopped beating.
Hard working hands at rest.
God broke our hearts to prove to us.
He only takes the best.
No verse, no flowers, no tears can say,
How much we miss him every day.
He was a person so very rare.
Content with life and always there,
His life was unselfish, for others he lived.
Not to receive but always to give,
He gave us love in fullest measure.
Care, devotion and memories to treasure.
We will always recall those precious memories.
Always in our thoughts and lovingly missed by son Gary, Sylvia and grandchildren Trudy and Tracey. 22-1c

HUYGHE — In loving memory of a great dad and grandfather, Robert Huyghe, who passed away February 7, 1976.

So many things have happened
Since you've been called away.
So many things we could have shared
Had you been left to stay.
So many times I needed you.
How many times I've cried.
If love could have saved you
You never would have died.
My heart still aches with sadness
And silent tears still flow
What it meant to lose you
No one will ever know.
Also at this time loving thoughts go out to our mother and grandmother, Kate Huyghe.

Not a day goes by that we hope and wish that she could return to all of us that miss her so.
Sadly missed by Sylvia, Gary, Trudy and Tracey.

CP district sees new manager

James "Hill" Innis didn't have any New Year's resolutions this year – he was too busy moving into the position of district manager for Calgary Power in Sedgewick.

Hill replaces Vern Booth, new manager of the Innisfail district, and joins Terry Robinson, Len Kwasny and Jeannette Harris in the east-central Alberta district which is located on Highway 13, about 80 miles east of Camrose.

Although it's commonly referred to as the Sedgewick District, the Calgary Power office is responsible for 1,679 town customers between Sedgewick, Killam and Lougheed, 553 customers among four Rural Electrification Associations (REAs), 188 oilfield customers from the Bellshill field 20 miles south of Sedgewick, as well as the main substation outside Sedgewick and five other substations.

The district that started with two men has grown to three, with Jeannette responsible for secretarial duties. Sedgewick was the district's most centrally-located town in which to establish headquarters, Hill explained. In earlier times, the office was located in Hardisty. That town is now served by the Hughenden Calgary Power district, while the rural area around it remains in the Sedgewick district.

The area isn't new to Hill, who worked for CP in Hardisty 30 years ago. In fact, most of his 26 years with the company have been spent in central Alberta – the last 13 in Drayton Valley.

Hill, Terry and Len spend most of their working day patrolling the 400-square-mile district, carrying out daily maintenance on power lines and being prepared for trouble calls when something on those lines does go wrong. That can include just about anything, especially from spring to fall when lightening, winds and ice storms play havoc with their work, says Len, a six-year veteran of the company in Sedgewick.

Unexpected trouble came to the district once, however, when the skies were clear. A magpie flew into a power line and shorted out the main substation. Needless to say, Terry adds, "that caused a complete disruption of service for this area."

It's during such times that people make use of the office's 24-hour service, "really a must in a rural area," says Terry, who has been with Calgary Power for nine years – the last three in this district.

When not patrolling existing lines, the three men can be found sketching out future power line extensions, reading meters, and even following up accounts. Even though Jeannette keeps the paperwork running smoothly, it's good public relations, says Hill, to visit customers occasionally to discuss their power requirements.

There's not often a lot of extra time in a day for the men, but what there is gets spent working with hot-line equipment. The Sedgewick district is the first district in Calgary Power to experiment with the equipment, which, for the past year, has enabled the men to work on lines without disconnecting the power.

Hill is happy to return to the area he enjoyed living in back in the late '50s. All the towns have excellent recreational facilities, he points out. The sport complex in Sedgewick has bowling lanes and curling and skating ice. Lougheed has an indoor facility with curling and skating ice as well, and Killam adds an indoor swimming pool to its list of recreational facilities. Come summer, the staff adds, there's grass greens at the Sedgewick Golf Course and the lakes at Sedgewick and Hardisty to enjoy.

Several community organizations promise lots of involvement, says Hill, who plans to join some as soon as he and his family are settled.

The rest of the staff are all actively involved in the community. Jeannette, who's from Sedgewick, is treasurer of the Ceramic Club and coaches a girls' softball team. Len is a member of the Legion as well as an active bowler, and Terry includes bowling and golf among his activities.

Hardisty Royal Purple

Since September, the ladies of the Hardisty Order of the Royal Purple have been busy catering to weddings and other functions.

In October, the order had its official visit from District Deputy Dorothy Kronzer.

In December, the annual Christmas party was held with the Brother Elks and guests.

At the meeting held January 15, it was Past Honoured Royal Ladies Night with nine Past Honoured Royal Ladies in the chairs. District Deputy Dorothy Kronzer acted as Honoured Royal Lady.

Donations were made to the Flagstaff Auxiliary, the Therapy Room at the Killam Hospital to help in purchasing therapy equipment.

Good Deed Club meets

The January meeting of the Hazelwood Good Deed Club was held at the home of Essie Drager with nine members present, six visitors and four children: Sheila Sutter and boys, Ellen Hollar and her little boy, Margaret Denham, Ivy Johnson and Molly Fersehough.

The meeting was called to order by our president, Jerry Metz. After welcoming visitors and members, roll call was called. Minutes of the last meeting were read, also the treasurer's report. Both were approved.

A motion was made to pay all bills. The correspondence was read. Thank you notes were received from those places we sent donations.

We held a discussion on what material to be selected for our new quilt and decided on tea towel material. All is to be taken care of as soon as possible. Adelaide will get the layettes to be sent.

There were three birthday gals. Mrs. Hollar received the hostess gift. The meeting adjourned and then we all had a nice lunch and a lovely birthday cake make by Molly Fersehough.

Hardisty Chamber of Commerce needs trees

The regular meeting of the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce was held January 24 with a good attendance. Following the adoption of minutes and the treasurer's report, President Jim Thomson called for committee reports.

Rose Marie Thompson, reporting for the Devonian Main Street Committee, asked for help in locating trees for the project, which will get underway in the spring. The trees required are poplar, willow, mountain ash, green ash, maybday, spruce and pine, and should be approximately 12 to 15 feet tall. Anyone having trees which could be made available for transplanting to the park areas are asked to contact Rose Marie for further information. Perhaps farm persons could spare a few trees from shelter belt plantings, which were planted too close initially.

Business Manager Darcy Broughton reported on the Christmas Turkey Draws. A total of 19 turkeys were given away by local businesses at a cost of $454. Darcy said there had been an excellent response to the draws.

Alan Thompson, chairman of the Hospital Committee, reported a number of persons had written letters to the premier and received form replies, but so far there has been no further progress regarding our new hospital. A presentation from the chamber has been forwarded to the premier.

The membership report by Doug Drever showed 30 business memberships sold so far. Secretary Shirley Campbell is going to order a number of Chamber of Commerce plaques which will be issued to businesses in place of the membership cards, now all used. Lucy Sydor, co-chairman of the Welcome Committee, stated her committee hopes to have a total format worked out for presentation at the next meeting.

The chamber was happy to welcome a new business to town. The Oldfields Bakery is now located in its new building. Also, the Western Wear Shop in the same building and the Sporting Goods Store were both opened before Christmas.

Alan Thompson volunteered to see that flowers, compliments of the chamber, be sent to all official openings of new businesses. Alan also volunteered to construct a sandwich board for use on the street to give notice of meetings and events.

In regular business, a request for funds for therapy equipment for the Killam Hospital sent by the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge was tabled until next meeting. A $30 scholarship donation was voted for Central High School. Joan Fitzgerald stated that a part-time dentist is interested in coming to Hardisty. A letter to AGT regarding a toll free area has received no reply to date.

The remainder of the meeting revolved around plans for the 2nd Annual Hardisty Round Up Days, which this year will be held July 6, 7 and 8. All participating organizations from last year had been invited to this meeting, and representatives from the Battle River Light Horse Club, the Royal Purple and the Elks were present as well as the chamber members.

The Battle River Light Horse Club will be celebrating the silver anniversary of its club this year, and so far have made arrangements for its rodeo on the Sunday of Round Up Days, a heavy horse pulling contest on the Saturday, the pony chuckwagon and chariot races for both days, and is investigating the possibility of dog races.

The Sunday morning breakfast will be hosted by the Elks, and hopefully, the Saturday breakfast will be hosted by the Royal Purple. Friday activities are the responsibility of the chamber and local businesses.

Joyce Harrison volunteered to take on the position of parade chairman this year. Anyone with ideas on improving Round Up Days are requested to attend the next regular meeting. All meetings are held at 7:30 p.m. in Parkland Manor on the fourth Wednesday of each month.

Fireplaces — Firetraps

Recent headlines in Edmonton revealed the startling information that more than 200 fireplaces in that city are potential firetraps. Edmonton fire fighters already have had to deal with house blazes as a result of poorly-installed fireplaces.

Needless to say, this has caused a great deal of worry for people who have installed wood-burning heaters during the last few years in order to cut down their costs of oil, gas or electrical heating.

Much of the problem is, we haven't learned the tricks of heating with wood – it always looks so easy. When we want heat, we turn a thermostat up a notch. It wouldn't be remiss to say that because we haven't learned properly how to heat with wood, we're our own biggest danger.

If you're considering a move to wood heating for economical or enjoyment reasons, here's some things to remember about selection, installation and operation. And if you're one of many who have already installed a wood-burning device, double-check that it's installed correctly and operating safely and efficiently so it's no worry to you and your family.

One simple fact overlooked by many of us too accustomed to 'automatic' heat is that a wood fire cannot be 'turned off' abruptly. Wood makes a hot fire – a lot hotter, in fact, than what is generated by today's furnaces and space heaters. So, it stands to reason that basic standards of fire safety should be a major consideration when selecting and installing a wood stove, fireplace or space heater. Also, check your house insurance to see if your policy allows for a wood-burner to be installed. You may have to pay a higher premium because of the additional fire risks involved.

Before laying cash on the counter, make sure the device you have chosen has been tested and approved by the Canadian Standards Association or the Underwriters' Laboratories of Canada. Also consider that there are no standards for the adding of wood-burning devices onto oil and/or gas furnaces. That means add-on devices cannot be used in new housing being built under the National Housing Act (the Bible for contractors and CMHC's guide). In fact, CMHC is adamant in its recommendation to not consider such an add-on until appropriated standards for their installation and equipment manufacture have been developed. If you do go ahead with an add-on to your present heater, remember there is a risk involved and legally you are libel for any repercussions.

But back to selection. You should be especially aware of the size of the wood-burning device you choose. In terms of fire safety, size is critical. If too large, your wood burner will have to burn slowly, which in turn can lead to a creosote build-up in the chimney – a fire hazard. But too small a unit means constant and furious burning to make it the economical heater you want. This 'over-fire' could overheat the unit – another way to start a house fire. So, make sure of size.

The installation of any wood-burning device you choose must comply with provincial building codes. Also, a building permit may be needed before you can go ahead with installation. Be sure to check on the requirements for the device you choose.

By following these simple guidelines, you've greatly reduced – if not eliminated – the chance of fire caused by your wood burner. However, a risk always remains if it is operated carelessly. As mentioned earlier, the main source of worry is the build-up of creosote in the chimney, which is caused by the way wood burns.

Wood contains various liquids, including water. When a log is laid on a glowing fire, it heats gradually. As it does, steam and other gases are given off. This takes place as the temperature rises to about 280 degrees Celsius (540 degrees F).

As a fire continues to burn, the temperature goes up and combustible gases are given off. The wood is burning to charcoal and beginning to burn. Heat is now being given off by the log. As the flames climb, so does the temperature causing those combustible gases that were given off at less heat to now ignite and burn fiercely. Your fire is burning at around 1,100 degrees C (2,000 degrees F).

But if your fire isn't burning properly – if it's simply smouldering – it has too low a temperature to ignite the combustible gases. They, in turn, escape up the chimney. Not only have you lost a good fire with lots of heat to throw off, you're allowing deposits of creosote to line the chimney walls. Simply, creosote is formed as those combustible gases condense and mix with water vapour. That's something to worry about – creosote is highly flammable and is the main cause of chimney fires.

Unfortunately, it doesn't matter how careful we are, there will always be some deposits in the chimney. The fact is, chimney sweeping should receive the same attention as wood chopping and ash hauling – those other chores involved in heating with wood. Still, wood burning for heat is sensible and economical – and safe – if common sense rules are adhered to.

For more information on this topic, CMHC has published a booklet "Heating With Wood Safely."

Hardisty News

Well Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stoner, of Edmonton now but well known here and around Alliance, are celebrating their 58th wedding anniversary on January 26. I'm sure all their friends around here wish them a very happy time.

Word was received by the Mazure family that Brian tried out for construction work, found it to be most satisfactory, and has steady employment in Australia which is good news.

Sorry that Hans Eklund had to return to hospital after getting nicely established in the Manor.

Well, the little daughter of Tim and Shirley Prost (nee Reber) was named Laura Leah. She was born January 19 and weighed 7 pounds, 9 ounces. Everyone is doing well but the father, who is a patient in Edmonton but hopes to be home soon.

Glad to hear that Mary Reber's mother is coming along better, too. She had a heart attack soon after Mary got back from visiting her in Saskatchewan.

Your reporter is going to house-sit again in Camrose while the Good Old Timers' Hockey Team plays in a tournament, in Victoria this time.

So few turned out for the Drop-In Centre annual meeting that it was decided to keep the same executive for the next two years. A few suggestions were received and any more are welcome as to how better use could be made of the Drop-In Centre.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davidson on the passing away of their sister-in-law. They attended the funeral in Fairview.

Also back in the Manor are Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Scott from Calgary, where they looked after Don and Audrey Horns house while they went to Hawaii.

The sweater raffle was won by Thora Johnson.

Kindergarten visits paper

The Community Press had some special visitors Tuesday, January 30 when the Sedgewick Kindergarten class came for a visit.

The 10 children were taken on a grand tour of the shop and showed how the various equipment worked.

This year's kindergarten class is Karen Pellern, Debbie Markwart, Marie Sansome, Jason Noseworthy, Chris Erickson, Dennis Maertz, Gary Jacobsen, Crystol Lucki, Roxy Johnson and Scott Lewis. They were accompanied by their teacher, Helga Affolder, and Barbara Sansome, Tammy Anderson, and MaryAnn Lewis. Thanks for coming, kids!

LOUGHEED SPORTS

News, Views & Reviews

With prevailing fair weather conditions in the past week, all sports programs were on schedule with a good attendance at all events.

The skating instructors, with their skillful teaching demonstrations and much patience, are resulting in a marked improvement in all the figure and power skating. Badges of achievement will be awarded in February. All youngsters will have an opportunity to perform and demonstrate their acquired skills at their annual ice carnival.

The Roadrunners failed to win any of their last three games, but there's definitely a marked improvement in performance. Incidentally, this is the team's first year in the Battle River League! Their final home game is Monday, February 5 against Daysland, so be sure to attend.

On Thursday, the Coyotes Rec team toured to Irma where they were nipped in a very close and exciting game 3-2. Their next games were all played at Alliance in a two-day tournament.

Daysland Mighty-Mites hosted the Lougheed team on Saturday afternoon. They defeated Lougheed 6-3. Michael Tanton netted all three goals.

On Saturday, the Lougheed PeeWees of 12-and-under upset the energetic Daysland team 6-4. The game was fast and exciting with good goaltending at both ends.

Several curling teams from Lougheed participated in the open mixed bonspiel at Sedgewick this past weekend. Two of the rinks qualified for the prizes. One rink placed third in the A event, and the other placed fourth in the third.

With the limited snowfall in the area, there's been a decline in the skiing and skidooing activities. But with every snowfall recently, skiing conditions are improving at the Lougheed Ski Hill.

Some of our local fishermen have been away ice fishing. Good luck!

LORNE MYSER

TERRY ROBINSON

Two run in election

Sedgewick residents go to the polls Wednesday, February 7 to elect one person to fill the recently-vacated position of town councillor. Two candidates, Lorne Poyser and Terry Robinson, put their names forward to complete the two-year term of office won by Vern Booth last year. Mr. Booth had to resign his position on council after accepting a job transfer.

Mr. Poyser, owner of Poyser's Farm Equipment, has been a resident of Sedgewick for 14 years. This is his second try for a position on council; he ran unsuccessfully last year.

He said his immediate concern would be with the purchasing of major equipment for the town. At present, he explained, Sedgewick possesses a considerable amount of expensive equipment with plans to purchase more, such as a fire truck. He feels the town would benefit greatly by having someone on council with experience in dealing with equipment. That way, he added, the right choices are made and townspeople get their money's worth.

Mr. Robinson, assistant district manager for Calgary Power, has lived in Sedgewick for three years. His interest in the internal workings of town administration led him to entering his name in the election, he said, and because of this interest and concern, feels he can help.

Although he has definite concerns to take with him into the position of councillor, Mr. Robinson said he realizes a person "just can't walk in and say 'I want to do this, this and this.' I feel after I've been on council awhile I'll see what's most important and if my ideas on what should be done will work."

Residents will be able to vote at the town office February 7 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Results will be tabulated Friday, February 12.

Sedgewick District News

Eight tables of whist players enjoyed the Senior Citizens Wednesday afternoon card party at their Drop-in Centre. Prizes for the highest scores were won by Mrs. Gwen Freeman and Mr. George Hotz. Consolation awards went to Mrs. Glendora Hope and Mr. Steve Pottage.

The Shuffleboard Tournament at the Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre, which was played on Tuesdays and Thursdays for the past two weeks, concluded last Thursday. Mr. Henry Jamieson and Mrs. Glendora Hope were the only team to win nine out of their 10 games so were declared the winners.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Horinek are home after spending three weeks in the southern States and Mexico.

On a recent weekend a rink made up of the Mrs. Barbara Cumberland at lead, Betty Smith at second, Lorraine Rose at third and Georgina Brandingen as skip competed in the Ladies Open Bonspiel at Czar. They sailed along undefeated to the final of the grand challenge, but they lost that important last game. But a second in the grand challenge certainly calls for congratulations, ladies!

Just heard that Mrs. Mary Cameron is a patient in the Daysland Hospital. Get well soon, Mary.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davison were in Edmonton last Tuesday and Wednesday for Jimmie's medical check-up.

Heather Barker, Sam Kline, Mark Bell, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Behmaste and Lisa, all of Edmonton, were weekend visitors at the Dick Erickson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hagen spent the weekend in Edmonton. Aaron and Angie visited with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Erickson.

The Star Ceremony of the Explorers was held in the United Church on Friday afternoon. Their mothers were guests of the Explorers and after the ceremony were treated to strawberry shortcake and coffee. The ceremony was in the capable hands of Mrs. Joan Dyce and Mrs. Irene Hallum.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant MacPherson and children of Stettler were weekend guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Simons, over the weekend. They were part of a rink from Stettler which competed in the Mixed Bonspiel held here over the weekend.

Mrs. Marcella Clark of Hanna spent a couple of days here with her sister, Mrs. Eleanor Tweedy, last week.

Dawn Erickson is home after spending three weeks in Edmonton looking after the children of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Schmutz while Sherry underwent surgery.

Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Werle (nee Shelley Ciberti), who were married in Edmonton on Saturday, January 27.

Get well wishes go to Mrs. Helga Willumsen who is a patient in the Killam Hospital, and to all those folk from around here who are sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Blaeser and children of Heisler were supper guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh, on Saturday evening. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Pope and Mr. and Mrs. E. Freeman were at the Walsh home for dinner.

Senior Citizens annual meeting

The annual meeting of the Sedgewick Senior Citizens Club was held at their Drop-in Centre on Friday, January 26 at 2 p.m. with about 35 members present. After the reading of the minutes and a review of the financial standing of the club, business matters were then dealt with. Mr. Gordon Taylor then took the chair for the election of officers. By unanimous decision the officers for 1978 were all returned to office for another year. These are: President Mr. David Black, Vice-president Mr. Jim Walsh, Secretary-Treasurer Mrs. Tena Blakeney, Directors Mr. Art Falls, Mr. Nels Djos, Mrs. E. Muirhead, Mr. Rod MacKinnon, Mr. Henry Jamieson, Mr. Ernest Koehli, Mrs. Hazel MacKinnon and Mr. Steve Pottage. In charge of whist drives and such functions are Mrs. Ida Black, Mrs. Minnie Djos and Mrs. Hazel MacKinnon. Mrs. Betty Walsh will report to the Community Press and purchase prizes.

The Senior Citizens have accomplished a lot in the past year as anyone who has viewed the new Centre will agree. It is open from Monday to Saturday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and all senior citizens are welcome to use the facilities. Later on in the year an official opening will be held. It is hoped that in a short while the Library will be in operation in their new premises in the centre.

A collection was made from the members at the meeting to help in the purchase of equipment needed in the physiotherapy room at the Killam Hospital. This resulted in over $40 for this worthwhile project.

A larger coffee urn is needed at the Centre and members are collecting Nabob coupons toward this. If anyone has any coupons any member will be pleased to collect them from you.

The Community Press

Single Copies — 25¢ — WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1979 — Volume 79 — No. 23

The emperor (right) and his side look over the weaver's products. In the lower photo, the entry of the royal party is hailed by the sounding of gongs. The Flagstaff Drama Club has been busy practicing for its play.

Legislative Report:

Tax cut planned

Premier Peter Lougheed predicted property tax cuts of 10 to 20 per cent could be expected across Alberta this year as a result of his Conservatives' municipal debt reduction plan.

While Calgary and Edmonton get the most money – about $250 million apiece – because of their size, the smaller communities with fewer debts stand to wind up farther ahead financially.

The province promises to distribute $1 billion in grants of $500 a resident to all municipalities so they can repay loans which carry interest charges of eight per cent or more.

The government says the debt – and the tax load required to pay the interest – can be wiped out in 75 per cent of the municipalities. In Edmonton, loans drop 90 per cent; the debt shrinks 80 per cent in Calgary.

Meanwhile, the smaller municipalities will be allowed to keep all leftover money from the $500-per-capita grant after repaying their debts, as a bonus unconditional payment.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dick Johnston estimated that the smaller centres will receive about $340 million free and clear.

Johnston expected the bonus to be $19 million for the smaller cities, $21 million for the towns, $13 million for the villages, $103 million for the counties and $80 million for municipal and improvement districts.

He said the extra money could be used to retire additional borrowing, build new facilities, finance operating costs or create interest-earning local trust funds.

The government volunteered to handle the trust funds for any centres that want them and predicted the interest could top $22 million a year.

While the per capita grants must be used to pay off loans, the municipalities will not be forced to pass on the benefits.

But Lougheed hoped local leaders would need little persuasion to cut property taxes. He pointed out that failure to reduce them will be remembered by voters at the next civic election, in 1980.

He also hoped renters, as well as home owners, would receive some benefit from the municipal debt reduction because landlords' expenses could be reduced. He did not expect rent cuts but predicted some new restraint on future increases.

The debt reduction program is only a promise until the legislature passes bills to implement it. When he announced the plan, Lougheed left his options open to call an election first.

Social Crediters and New Democrats promptly claimed they had invented the plan and the Tories stole it – except that it wasn't generous enough because municipal revenue-sharing was not included.

Liberal Leader Nick Taylor called the Conservative program a "blatant attempt to buy" the election.

Dramatists prepare play for weekend

The Flagstaff Drama Club has been busy for the past few months preparing another play for the enjoyment of the public. This time, the club has chosen "The Emperor's New Clothes" by Charlotte Chorpenning. It promises to be ideal family entertainment.

The Emperor's New Clothes is a three-act comedy written especially with children in mind, but its lighthearted humour will appeal to audiences of all ages. The story, which is set in ancient China, is that of a foolish emperor whose interest is nothing but his own clothes leads him into a most unusual situation.

The play is being directed by Mr. Ken Affolder. Betty Galletly and Sonja Beairsto are in charge of costuming; Edward Meding is designing and constructing the set and Sue Sparrow will be doing the makeup. The cast will include several people who have appeared in the club's past performances, as well as several new members.

A special showing of the play to the elementary students of Sedgewick Public School will take place the morning of Friday, February 9. Other elementary schools in the county have been invited to bring their students to this performance and many have agreed to do so.

A public performance will take place in the Sedgewick Public School gymnasium at 8 p.m. Saturday, February 10. Admission will be $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children and students up to and including Grade 9.

If your children enjoy the school presentation, why not bring them to the evening performance, too?

Syd Walker to donate 4-H trophy

On January 16 at the Sedgewick Rec Centre, the Flagstaff District 4-H Council meeting was held.

Syd Walker donated a travelling trophy for the first-place winner in the Senior District Public Speaking, with the Killam Club as caretaker for the trophy.

Dorothy Spiller was chosen as the Homecrafts Representative.

On February 13, Diane Latham will be coming to Heisler for a workshop on public speaking. This is open to the public. It will be from 7 to 10 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Exchanges for 1979 and 1980 were discussed.

Selections this year will be held at the Camrose Lutheran College from May 18 to 21.

District Fun Day was held on January 20. Regional Fun Day will be held February 17.

Change of business

This week's paper carries an announcement of a business change. Hardisty Motors Ltd., which was owned by John and Lou Golka, has been sold to Mr. Cecil Rempel.

Mr. Rempel will be operating the business under the name of C. Rempel & Sons Ltd. and will carry much the same line of products as the former owner.

Cecil Rempel needs no introduction as he is a long time resident of Hardisty and has been the senior mechanic and partsman for the Golkas.

Kinsmen to curl at Sedgewick

Seventeen out-of-town rinks from the eastern zone of Albert, plus two from Sedgewick, will meet in a zone final in Sedgewick this Saturday and Sunday, February 10 and 11.

The rinks will represent clubs from St. Paul, Bonnyville, Glendon, Wainwright, Irma, Vegreville, Vermilion and Provost. Winners of the 'spiel will advance to the provincial finals and from there, a representative will complete in the Kinsmen Canadian Playdowns.

Since it was announced earlier this year, local Kinsmen have been busy making preparations for curling ice, a banquet, meals and accommodation for the visitors.

Editorially

Who's making the choice?

On pages 12 and 13 we've profiled the Flagstaff Lodge, home for more than 50 senior citizens. And for whatever reasons, it was each person's choice to move into it. Some wanted to be near friends while others looked forward to these "retirement" years to relax, travel, or just have time to get involved in recreational activities while the "younger legs" took over the work load. Whatever; they're active, happy people. And we believe it's because they made the choice.

Some aren't so lucky, especially those in larger communities who work for somebody else. At age 65, they are delegated to the rocking chair because they're told "you've finished your usefulness to society." Granted, many look forward to retirement day; they have plans and they're going to enjoy themselves!

But what of the man whose work has been his life. He hasn't considered retiring because he doesn't want to. It comes back to "choice" and he, unfortunately, doesn't have any. How often we hear of such people dying six months after retirement. Work was their life – when it's suddenly gone they feel they have nothing to live for.

All that talent wasted! Would it not be better to ease these people into retirement; help them to look forward to it, welcome it. Why not, as we've heard some suggest, start to increase people's vacation time when they're 60, healthy, and will enjoy it because they don't consider it retiring. Chances are, at 65 those people will retire happily because it's no longer an enemy. With a postive attitude, they'll certainly train their replacement better. That's money in the bank for an employer. Some may continue to work on a part-time basis when it's particularly busy or when his 30-odd years of experience really comes in handy.

It's not an unreasonable proposition for the employer. Too many discover how much a retired employee knew or did when it was too late. Or, it may keep someone's grandma or grandpa around a little longer, and it may help solve a problem before it becomes a bad one. We're speaking of the post-war baby boom. Ever consider what the impact on society will be when that very large portion of our population reaches retirement age. The burden on we taxpayers, the lesser number of people remaining, to provide pensions will be staggering.

Mandatory retirement at the age of 65 should be abolished for a more humane, choice-giving and logical method. The German Chancellor Bismark started the whole thing when he wanted to be more popular with his constituents and ensure his position of power. He decided to give retirement pensions to those 65 and older. Why 65? Because the average life span was 50.

Our minds are finite, and yet even in these circumstances of finitude we are surrounded by possibilities that are infinite, and the purpose of human life is to grasp as much as we can out of that infinitude. Alfred North Whitehead: Dialogues of Alfred North Whitehead,p.165

What Others Say

On lotteries . . . again

Chuck MacLean, editor of the Camrose Canadian, brought yet another aspect of lotteries to light last week which we feel bears repeating. In his editorial, he said, "Scores of groups across the province hailed a recent provincial announcement that regulations severely circumscribing lotteries or raffles planned by small local groups were being suspended for a year to give time for study.

The government seems to have responded to public annoyance or criticism, but unfortunately, the change of heart seems not to have worked its way down through the hierarchy of administration to those working with the regulations.

Only this past week, we've heard reports of two groups faced with as almost ridiculous set of hoops to jump through before they can get the permit they need to conduct small fund-raising drives, exactly the same sort of thing they've been doing for years, and the same sort of thing that people have been "taking a flyer" on for decades and decades.

The thought occurs to us, is the whole rigamarole of getting permission being made so difficult that most groups will give up, leaving the public with more dollars to pay into the government-run lotteries, such as the Provincial and the Western. It's well-known the government gets a cut from all of these lotteries, the figures running into prodigious amounts.

Has it now reached the point where the lottery business is like the liquor business, and the government won't allow anyone to muscle in on the tribute it exacts from the traffic?

We'd like to add one more thought. If the government is making it as tough as possible to get the permits, then they could very well stand behind a loss some club might have because of it. One point in question is the New Norway Recreation Board, who applied for a permit early in December, only to have it approved a day or so ago, leaving them less than a week to see 2,000 pay-as-you-pull tickets. An almost impossible task.

And to add one more point to the already ridiculous, it's right in the MLA's backyard.

We can't help but think of the words in a song called, "Raise A Little Hell," where it says if you don't like something, change it. It's about time we did.

The Bashaw Star

The Third Column

by Truncate

WE IN THE WESTERN WORLD use all manner of physical gestures, facial expressions and mannerisms to convey whatever it is we wish to inflict on those around us. Take the wink for instance. It is used in so many ways that establishing its intent is very difficult. It may be meant as a "come on", to which a reply is a necessity if the act is to proceed further; or it may be a facial expression of disgust, of delight, derision or just plain suspicion.

THEN THERE IS the easy way of giving a greeting to someone who is too far away for the voice without risking the hazard of rupturing your tonsils. It is the Friendly Wave.

You know, raising the arm and flapping it about like a Canada Goose with a broken wing. We once knew a man who arrived here from Holland. We waved at him one time from across the street, and he immediately raised his hand with his thumb to his nose and fingers extended. Now, to any man of the West with a modicum of pride, that's a fighting gesture. But rather, we went over to him and asked him what he meant by such a gesture. Frankly, he was a bit bewildered and explained that since I had greeted him from a distance he was returning my friendly act. That's the way they do it in Holland, so he said. From this we presumed that all countries have their own methods of conveying whatever it is they wish.

AND THEN THERE are facial expressions of all kinds. Compressing the lips, gritting the teeth and drawing the chin back to the adam's apple, is anger; extending the lips to ear-to-ear in delight and a friendly gesture; forming the thumb and index finger into a circle to indicate that you have everything in hand and all is well with you and the world; crossing one finger over another in fervent hope that what you want will be. These are only a few.

ANOTHER ONE IS IN THE LIGHT again. We suppose it has always been with us though. That is the delicate art of Bum Pinching. You know, there are variations of this talent. Using the slight pressure of thumb and finger may well be a gesture of friendliness or an indication of thanks for a job well done (like pinching a waitress for good and smiling service). But with severe pressure it can indicate determination of an invitational sort. Beware this one as it could result in a tray load of dishes on your head. On the other hand, it could result in a session in the divorce courts.

The one with the most problems in the sport of all five fingers. This is for the bigger bums, and is used by holding firm with the left hand and then applying severe pressure with the four fingers. This one is only used in anger and dissatisfaction, but its ramifications are many, including a charge of criminal assault with intent to do bodily harm when all you really were expressing was anger withdrawn toast. Not too much danger of a court appearance though, for after all, it takes time to arrange such things and by that time the complainant has disappeared. Besides that, what self-respecting lady wants to bear her bum before the courts to prove her point? Case dismissed.

OF COURSE THERE ARE various kinds of bums to be pinched, some invite much activity while others discourage such a move. There are fat soft bums, skinny hard bums, rounded bums and flat bums. The choice is there but the action being is to ignore bums of any kind and live on to admire or ridicule future bums.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS are different. They pat bums and this means only one thing; admiration and thanks for doing your job properly. Men might bother ruffle a lady's hair the way hockey players do to show either pleasure or indignation. This could be risky too, of course. It may cost you $15 for a new hairdo, and no raffle we ever saw was worth that kind of money.

Being Editor

Getting out this paper is no picnic.

If we print jokes, people say we are silly.

If we clip items from other papers, we are too lazy to write.

If we don't, we are stuck on our own stuff.

If we omit news that we've never been told about, we should have picked it up from local newspapers.

If we print news items about anyone who reports it to us more than once, we are showing favouritism.

If we can't print contributions, we can't appreciate true genius.

If we do print them, the paper is filled with junk.

If we make a change in the other fellow's write-up, we are too critical.

If we don't, we are asleep.

Now, like it or not, some guy will say we swiped this from some other paper – We did.

COME ALIVE . . .

by Curtis Johnson

"I am the vine, you are the branches; he that abideth in me, and I in Him, the same bringeth forth much fruit; for without me you can do nothing." -John 15:5

Many have the idea that they must do some part of the work of salvation alone. They have trusted in Christ for forgiveness of sin, but now they seek by their own efforts to live aright. But every such effort must fail. Jesus says, "Without me you can do nothing." Our growth in grace, our joy, our usefulness, all depend upon our union with Christ. It is by communion with Him, daily, hourly, by abiding in Him, that we grow in grace. He is not only the author, but the finisher of our faith. It is Christ first and last and always. He is to be with us, not only at the beginning and the end of our course, but at every step of the way. David says, "I have set the Lord always before me: because He is at my right hand, I shall not be moved." -Ps. 16:8

Do you ask, "How do I abide in Christ?" In the same way as you received Him at first, by faith. "As you have therefor received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk you in Him." -Col. 2:6 You gave yourself to God, to be his completely, to serve and obey Him, and you took Christ as your Saviour. You could not yourself atone for your sins or change your heart, but having given yourself to God, you BELIEVED that He, for Christ's sake, did all this for you. By faith (believing) you become Christ's, and by faith (believing) you are to grow up in Him, by giving and taking. You are to give all your heart, you will, your service to Him to obey all His requirements; and you must take all of Christ, the fullness of all the blessing, to abide in your heart, to be your strength, your righteousness, your everlasting helper giving you power to obey.

Your weakness is united with His strength, your ignorance to His wisdom, your frailty to His enduring might. So you are not to look to yourself, not to let the cloud dwell upon self, but look to Christ. Let the mind dwell upon His love, upon the beauty, the perfection, of His character, Christ in His purity and holiness, Christ in His self-denial, Christ in His humiliation, Christ in His Matchless love -- this is the subject for the soul's contemplation. It is by loving Him, copying Him, depending wholly upon Him, that you are to be transformed into His likeness.

"Beloved, now are we the sons of God: and it does not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when He shall appear, we shall be like Him; for we shall see Him as He is." -I John 3:2

Nazarene News

Our congratulations to Lynn Wallins, who has had perfect attendance in Sunday School since September.

Caravan-age children, bring your friends along to a Valentine party on Tuesday, February 13 at the church.

Sonja Potter is subscription chairman for the "Herald of Holiness" campaign. Contact her for new or renewal subscriptions.

"Ways to the Word", a film depicting the Bible Society's use of easy-reading scriptures to teach reading in Latin America countries was shown Sunday evening.

Attending a course on "Discipleship" in Red Deer this week are Ruth Potter, Jeanne White, Gladys Reti, Lamar Graff and Rev. Abel. Valuable input will be given to our congregation as these folk come home and share what they have learned.

Sunday, February 11 at 7:30 p.m. is a special Pre-crusade Rally in the Sedgewick Community Hall. We urge your support of the endeavour. The Flagstaff County Spiritual Life Mission. Special music from churches within the county will be featured at the rally.

Farm catalog now available

Because of the heavy demand for the Farm Implement Catalog 1977, an updated list of Alberta farm implement and equipment manufacturers has been prepared. A free copy of the list is available from Alberta Business Development and Tourism.

The 70 companies and the products they manufacture include: farm implements, truck boxes, round bale handling equipment, farm trailers, farm truck accessories, implement parts and other related farm and ranch equipment.

For more information, contact Alberta Business Development and Tourism, Marketing Services Branch, 15th Floor, Capital Square, 10065 Jasper Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta T5J 0S4, or telephone (403) 427-2365.

Galahad News Items

Mr. Bill Wise was a Caster visitor on Sunday attending church. He was a dinner guest of Mr. Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Whitney of Bonnie are the proud parents of a baby boy born on Sunday, January 28, 1979 at 7:15 a.m. Very proud great grandparents are Anne and Bill Wise.

On the weekend of January 20, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hall, Shirley and a friend, were guests at the Alfred Winter home. The young folk enjoyed skiing at the lodge on Sunday.

Amy Campbell of Edmonton and her brother, Frankie DeSmet, of Bon Accord, Alberta, were Galahad visitors on Saturday, returning on Sunday. They visited a number of former friends and helped by bringing their family stories for the history book. Sunday, we were happy to have Odin Eikeland of Edmonton join us, who was here to also help with the history book.

Everyday brings new surprises. A call from Wayne Nelson of Calgary Sunday morning surprised and pleased Pete and Alta Willis. It had been many years since we had heard from Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil White of Rocky Mountain House called at the home of Mrs. Edith Johnston on Saturday evening. They and Mrs. Johnston were visitors at the Leonard Kerchinger Jr. home the same evening.

Verna Ward and Helen McPherson visited at the Pete Willis home on Saturday evening, January 27.

Those four Galahad 10-and-under hockey players joined with their Forestburg teammates in a hockey game at Daysland on Saturday. The score was Forestburg 6, Daysland 5.

Archie Cook of Irma was a Galahad visitor on Thursday at the Scott Crenshaw home. He also brought history for the Cooks and Dartiags. The response to our letters that came from the greatest distance arrived from Leslie Johnson of Blackburn, Lancashire, England. We are truly amazed at the amount of letters we receive.

If there was anyone that we missed when sending out brochure, it was not intentional. Please phone us, or write a note, as we do not wish to leave out those who wish to be included.

We are pleased to hear that Irene Hallam is home from St. Mary's Hospital in Camrose after a rather lengthy stay there.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Nelson of Brooks spent last weekend at the Shirley Kelbon home.

It was with regret we learned of the death of Ross McChall of Forest, Ontario. Ross had been a Galahad resident for many years when his father was an elevator agent here. He passed away April 13, 1976.

Mr. Dave Rogers of Castor visited Anne Wise in the Galahad Hospital. He spent the evening visiting Bill.

Willard and Olive Washburn returned Tuesday from a holiday spent in various places. They were at the Ken Penton in Victoria at Christmas; some time later they spent a few weeks with friends in Calgary; and on their way back to Galahad they stopped at Red Deer to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ted Washburn and Michael.

The Presbyterian W.A. met at Gertie Wetmore's home for its February meeting. Irene Stewart was in charge of the devotional period. The ladies planned the spring cleaning of the church and set the date for their annual spring tea. It will be a "Strawberry Tea" held on April 7. The hostess served a delicious lunch at the close of the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Winter went to Edmonton on Sunday, January 28. Alfred returned on Tuesday. Can remained in Edmonton, where she received medical treatment and returned to Galahad Friday evening by bus.

Mrs. Verna Dunkin was at the Galahad General Hospital to visit her mother, Mrs. Haburie. She also gave us some history. Friday, we received the Harris history and this should prove exciting as the Harris' were present when the first oil well was drilled in this area 30 years ago. "Remember When!"

Don't forget the Lions are holding a pancake breakfast on Sunday, February 11, starting at 9 a.m.

BRTA holds first hospitality course

The Battle River Tourist Association (BRTA) will be the first of Alberta's 16 tourist associations to hold the new Trainers' Training Course, designed for people interested in putting on hospitality training courses in their communities. The decision was reached at the BRTA's January 18 meeting in Bawlf.

The course, proposed by Travel Alberta, will be held in Camrose February 23, 24 and 25. Mileage or accommodation and noon and evening meals will be provided by the BRTA for those interested in taking the course: Instructors, material and other expenses, such as hall rental, will be provided by Travel Alberta. There is no registration charge, but the deadline to apply is Thursday, February 15, 1979.

Topics to be dealt with in the course include How Adults Learn, Audio-Visual Aids, Group Dynamics, Positive Learning Climates, Communication, What Training Is, Methods of Presentation, and what material and equipment is available for those interested in putting on a hospitality course in their own community.

Course enrolment is limited to 30 people, with a maximum of two people per community accepted on a first come, first serve basis.

The Friday, February 23 session will go from 4 to 6 p.m., on the Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., and on the Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Those interested are urged to contact the BRTA immediately.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

TOMB LOOTERS

On January 19, 1978, at Killam, Alberta, a young man died in hospital after an auto accident with an 18-wheeler truck. The cause of the accident is unknown, but police emphasize blame on the young man whose name has not been released.

I watched the car as it was dragged into the yard and placed to rest in a far corner. Like something with two faces, one side of the car was mangled, the other side was new. If you looked at its good side, you couldn't have known the other side shares with the face of death. I went outside to take a closer look when the people came. They came to SEE its crumpled hood, pry at the jammed trunk, seem to throw rocks at the windows. There were some tears, some remarks. Nothing new, the same types, time after time, accident after accident.

"Damn truckers!" a friend of the deceased cursed.

A kid was inside, pulling open the glove box, smiling at what he could find. He emerged from a smashed window, wearing a scratched pair of sunglasses and displaying a small gun lighter.

"Hey, Wayne," he said, "you oughta take the 8-track and speakers outta here."

Despite his protests, I took the glasses and lighter from him and tossed them on the seat. He said several very nasty things to me.

"When you die, I'm gonna scrounge through your car. If I see you die on the street, then I'm going to clean out your pockets," I said. He shut up.

Another kid came from the seventh carload of visitors. "Oh boy, blood! I heard there was lots of blood!"

"There's not a whole lot," I replied, "the injuries were mainly internal."

"Is too!" he screamed with fury, as though someone had stolen his year's supply of chocolate bars. "I heard there was gallons of it!"

"See for yourself," I told him.

"This isn't the car! It's not pulped like they said it was. Where's the right car?"

"Find it for yourself," I sighed. I headed back to the house and left the wolves to devour the prey.

"What's going on out there?" my mom asked.

"I can't keep track of all of them at once," I replied, "Really tearing into it, aren't they? The adults are as bad as the kids."

"I wonder when the family is going to stop by," mom pondered.

Tomorrow, the glasses and lighter would be gone . . .

Viking hosts Stampede

Viking will again host the Annual Flagstaff District Ice Stampede. The date booked for the competitions is Sunday, February 25, with action taking place at the Viking Corona.

The Scout Movement, together with members of the Group Committee have, for the second consecutive year, undertaken the organizing of the ice competitions for scouting members.

These competitions are to include "chariot races" for the Scouts, "chuck-wagon races" for the Cubs and Beavers and an interesting competition requiring co-ordination and balance for the adults.

Invitations have been extended and participation is expected from the following Districts: Black Gold (Leduc), Battle River (Wainwright and Irma), Wildrose (Camrose), Buffalo Lake (Coronation and Castor) and the Flagstaff District, which includes the towns of Viking, Killam, Sedgewick, Forestburg, Daysland and Alliance.

The competitions offer fine entertainment for the spectator. Of interest to the general public will be the animal races, the performances of the Viking School Band, the official ceremonies - color parade, the raising and lowering of the flag etc., not to mention the hilarious antics of adults trying to shuffle the entire length of the corona on plank skids. More details will be provided in this paper, when plans are finalized.

New executive presides over Angus Club meet

The Central Alberta Angus Club held a meeting in Sedgewick Friday evening, February 2. About 40 members and guests were present. Newly-elected President Archie Paprocheuk and Secretary Edith Paprocheuk of Lacombe presided.

Following the regular business meeting, Alberta Angus Fieldman Bob Prestage from Camrose spoke on presenting cattle on the farm when prospective buyers come to see a your herd. Bob will be representing the Canadian Angus Breed in Japan later this month.

The evening closed with a cold buffet supper supplied by local members and enjoyed by all. The March meeting will be held in Red Deer.

WOMEN LEGALLY DECLARED PERSONS

Phyllis Ellis, director of the Alberta Women's Bureau, informs me that 1979 marks the 50th anniversary that the women of Canada were legally declared persons. Five Alberta women: Judge Emily Murphy, Henrietta Muir Edwards, Dr. Irene Parlby, Louise McKinney and Nellie McClung, took the case to the Supreme Court of Canada. They lost - so they went before the Privy Council in London, England. On October 18, 1929, the landmark decision legally declaring women as persons was made.

FARM HOME PLANNING COURSE

In conjunction with the Farm Home Planning Course, television programs on CKRD, Red Deer had been planned. These programs will provide you with additional information and review of the important facts contained in each lesson of the home study kit. The program is called DIALOG, and will be shown at 12:30 p.m. on Channel 10. Here is a list of the topics and dates the programs will be aired: February 13 - Siting of the Farm Home; February 14 - Financing the Farm Home; February 21 - Planning and Evaluating Floor Plans; March 6 - Developing the Lower Level; March 7 - Construction and Energy Conservation; March 14 - Water Systems; March 21 - Interior Design; and March 20 - Interior Design.

You may also like to attend the Construction Seminar held in Daysland in the afternoon of March 13, 1979, and the Interior Design Seminar in Camrose the last week of March. Dates and times will be announced later.

WINDOWS

Windows are an important part of any home. The covering or treatment should always be planned with several purposes in mind. Some practical consideration includes:

1. Control of Light - this will depend on where the window is located and how much light or sunshine you want to bring in to the room.

2. Privacy - some sort of curtaining ensures privacy, especially after dark when the room is illuminated.

3. Decoration - windows can be decorated as simple or as formal as you want to blend it with the room decor.

4. Proportion - window treatments can change the proportion of a room. They can make it look larger, wider, higher, smaller. They can hide architectural faults or problem windows.

5. Draperies or Hiding a View - window coverings can hide an ugly view or enhance a beautiful one, such as a flower garden, pond, or wooded area.

6. Temperature Control - earth windows, or those exposed to the cold, should have a treatment that will hold in heat and keep out drafts. Psychologically, full length draperies will make a room appear warmer, whereas sheers or bamboo blinds create a feeling of coolness.

Would you like to learn more about window coverings? Attend the Window Treatment Awareness Session, February 14, 1979 at 7:30 -.m. to 9:30 p.m. in the United Church Basement in Sedgewick. It's open to the public.

We are also planning a Window Treatment Workshop for March 1, April 2, 3, 9 and 10 from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Here, you will make samples of Shirred Curtains, Pinch Pleat, Lined and Unlined, Austrian Shade and Roman Shade. The course costs $25 and you can register at the Awareness Session February 14.

Daysland News Items

The UCW meeting was held in the United Church social room February 1 at 2 p.m. President Betty Koehli chaired the meeting. Laura Graham read the devotion on "We Must Listen". Roll call was answered by 12 members and 25 visits to the sick, and there were two visitors present. The minutes were read by Phyllis Gabruck and the treasurer's report given by Emily Hill. Both were approved. Ethel Graham reported sending four get well cards. We were asked to serve at the Sunday School meeting February 24 with Circle 3 and at the World Day of Prayer on March 2 with Circle 4 in charge of it. Betty Koehli and Betty Hill gave a report on the Coronation Presbyterian meeting held in Camrose January 24. The meeting adjourned and lunch was served by the hostess, Laura Graham, and her helpers, Ethel Graham and Emily Hill.

The Sundown Club met in the Community Hall January 31 at 1:30 p.m. There were 34 present with seven tables of whist, one table of solo and two played crokinoe. High went to Kamille Knudsen, low to Lois Cooper. It was voted that the Sundown Club will meet every Wednesday to play cards at 1:30 p.m. instead of every other Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Koehli and son Allen of Edmonton, and Phyllis and Linda Gabruck arrived home this week from a wonderful trip to Barbados West Indies. The report the weather being 85 degrees, so it was a change from here. They did a lot of sightseeing and say it was a very enjoyable holiday.

Let's Talk It Over With Gordon

Stromberg competes in arm wrestling

Every so often I am asked the question, 'What is it like to be involved in public life?' Well, if you have an understanding wife and lots of time, politics can be fun, such as last Saturday evening when your MLA represented the Premier of Alberta against Alderman Big Ron Heyter, who was representing Edmonton City Council in the Arm Twisting Contest at the A.C.T. Edmonton Club Foundation Telerama being telecast last weekend. In preparing myself for this event and doing a little research on my opponent, I was appalled to find out that Mr. Heyter stands well over six feet tall, jogs several miles a day, is in top physical condition, and was at one time an outstanding amateur boxer with a rumoured 60 knock-outs to his credit. And if that wasn't enough, he is very active in the Alberta Liberal Party.

So, it was with considerable persuasion that I tried to talk Ardell into taking my place because of dislocating my shoulder two weeks ago. But my arguments fell on deaf ears. With the feeling of one approaching the gallows with my arm back in the sling, somewhat bandaged up and looking like I might be eligible for the handicapped fund, I armwrestled Big Red left-handed, and with the help of the referee, by golly I won.

Back in the constituency, things got a little interesting around the farm last week when some barley started to heat. Due to the heroic efforts of Ardell and Judy Glackin, the barley was saved.

Otherwise, it was business as usual. Monday, I had a meeting with the council of the County of Camrose with no big problems, although they were concerned over the "slow as molasses in January" approach of the Department of the Environment to their enquiries. Anyway, I will be raising this problem with the Minister of the Environment.

Tuesday, I sat in on a meeting of the Alberta Housing Corporation (AHC) and St. Mary's Hospital Board. This meeting was the result of a very thorough inspection of the operation of St. Mary's Hospital by the Hospital Commission. Last week, through this column, I reported that the executive council had passed a special warrant for $4,660,302 for payment of active-care hospital operating deficits. This information was given to me by the Minister of Hospitals' office with the comment that this would take care of St. Mary's deficit. What I did not know was that the order in council was for 1976-77 – not 1978. So, with egg on my face, I was darn good and mad at the ministers' office, the AHC, and especially myself for not checking out the special warrant more closely.

Tuesday evening, Ardell and I went to the annual meeting of the Camrose Chamber of Commerce. Unfortunately, we had to miss the installation of officers of the Camrose Legion.

Wednesday, I was at my Edmonton office, and that evening I delivered a cheque to the Dayland Agricultural Society from Alberta Agriculture in the amount of $19,853 to be used to retire the Ag Society's debt on its curling rink. Over coffee, we talked over the department's new policy of funding 80 per cent of the cost of utilities and insurance up to a maximum of $6,000 per year. Later that evening, I met with the Dayland Local of Unifarm.

Thursday afternoon, Tom Lycan, the MLA for Vermilion-Viking, and myself met for a lengthy meeting with the County of Flagstaff. That evening, I was for supper with the Camrose Housing Authority and later over to Forestburg discussing a senior citizens' health care project for their community. Due to space, I will give a more detailed report of these last three meetings next week.

Friday, I was back to the Edmonton office.

Lougheed District News

The days are getting longer with spring drawing closer an inch day by inch. Old man winter is giving us a real cold romp just now, without a wind.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter White were supper guests on January 30 with Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Dewald and family of Sedgewick. The occasion was Helen's birthday. After supper, they attended the annual meeting of the United Church in Sedgewick.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Cookson on the passing of Edith's mother, Mrs. Johnson, in Sedgewick last week.

Some of you will remember Mr. and Mrs. O'Meerow, who had two children. The son's name was Jackie. Mr. O'Meerow passed away a couple weeks ago. They have lived in Stettler for a number of years now. Sympathy is extended to Mrs. O'Meerow and family.

Mrs. MacPherson of Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. Don Harwood and daughter Pauline of Wetaskiwin were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Keith Davis and Darcy.

Mrs. Brian Birchall had a very enjoyable weekend recently along with Mr. and Mrs. Ace Eastly and family of Calgary. They all went to White Fish, Montana, and did a lot of skiing. Brita said she really enjoyed it.

The last winners of the Lougheed Arena Maintenance Lottery draw were: Brian Armstrong, $200, and John Leslie, $100. Congratulations to both winners.

Happy to report that Walter Markwart is home again and feeling a lot better; even driving the car once more.

On Sunday, January 28, dinner guests at Mr. and Mrs. Doug Nielsen and Kreshka's were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Savage of Hardisty, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Probst and Vaida and Bob of Edmonton, and Molly Furneyhough.

The regular whist drive was held at Bobs Hill on Friday, February 2 with nine tables. Prize winners were: First - Mrs. D.J. Cameron and John Bijak; Scoop - Helen Sutherland and Duncan Cameron; Mystery - Mrs. Leonard Wold and Porter O'Reilly; Traveling - Mrs. D.J. Cameron and Harvey Simpson; and Consolation - Mary Albrecht and John Bijak.

See you all at Goose Creek on February 8.

There will be a Lions meeting in the Legion Hut Monday, February 12 at 8 p.m. It is its annual meeting. Anyone that is interested in the Verdant Valley Villa, this meeting is open to the public. Let us make an effort to attend these meetings, not only this particular one, but there are other meetings, too. There was a meeting about a business one evening last week and very few people attended. So come and voice your opinion on matters that come up at meetings. We want Lougheed to grow in business as well as sports.

Mr. Tom Kenny spent a few days in Edmonton with his family recently.

Mrs. Margaret Denham has been holidaying with her daughter Betty and family at Bashaw.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Teppe and boys of Red Deer visited their families in Lougheed and Sedgewick last weekend.

Get well wishes go to Rick Butcher, who had the misfortune of cracking his knee while playing hockey.

Flagstaff Lodge:

In 1968, the County of Flagstaff decided to show its appreciation to the people who first settled the area: today's senior citizens. The Flagstaff Foundation was formed to provide senior citizens, who are healthy and active, with a way of living other than by being alone, in auxiliary hospitals or nursing homes.

The Flagstaff Foundation, or lodge as its referred to, is best described as a boarding home for senior citizens, explains Nelson Bergum, lodge administrator. Residents are all self-sufficient and free to come and go as they please. "There are no strings attached. We just ask they let us know when they go out and when they'll be back."

It's been that way since the beginning when the lodge was located in what is now Wishart Court. "It started very small with only one or two residents," recalls Eva Goldman, member of the lodge staff since its first year.

In 1973, having outgrown the building, the lodge was relocated into its new building on the northwest side of Sedgewick. Today, the Flagstaff Lodge is a comfortable-looking brick building on a lush, park-like setting.

Mr. Bergum has held the position of administrator since 1974. Before then, a matron was in charge of the lodge which is home for 54 senior citizens.

The Flagstaff Lodge has its own club in which residents take an active interest. So far, club members have raised money for a shuffleboard, PA system and piano, which these ladies gathered around for a singsong. They are (left to right): Mrs. Storbakken, Mrs. Fogelburg, Mrs. Peacock and Mrs. Birgey.

The lodge has two open areas complete with ponds, pathways and plants. Many of the residents' rooms open onto the peaceful settings, like the one picture on the next page.

Nelson Bergum, lodge administrator

Built in a three-cluster formation, the Flagstaff Lodge has 46 single rooms and three double rooms. What was formerly the matron's quarters has since been reverted into another double room, making four in all.

The 18,225-square-foot building gives a feeling of coziness rather than size. With its cluster formation nothing is too far for anyone to walk. Many rooms open onto the lodge's two "patios", complete with beds, dresser, countertop, closet and private bathroom. And all rooms are "homey" in their own way with the possessions and momentos each resident has.

"The rooms are quite small," says Mr. Bergum, "but that's so residents won't be inclined to stay in them all the time." Almost all spend the day in the lodge's open areas, keeping busy with hobbies or other past-times, or visiting friends. Other than general tidying up, residents don't even need worry about cleaning. Housekeepers clean and vacuum the rooms each week, as well as provide fresh bedding.

Lodge staff consists of two cooks, five housekeepers, three part-time housekeepers and a maintenance man. And even though residents look after themselves, the lodge has a staff working 24 hours.

Senior citizens 65 and older are eligible, "although we have some younger than that," admits Mr. Bergum. Other than age, the only requirement is to be a resident of Alberta. People from the County of Flagstaff are accepted before anyone else, however, since the lodge is funded wholly by the county and its municipalities.

The Flagstaff Lodge is unique in this regard. Most senior citizen lodges of its calibre either are government-owned or very costly, Mr. Bergum explains. In British Columbia and Saskatchewan, for example, a comparable facility costs around $1,000 every month. Flagstaff Lodge residents don't even pay a fifth that price, says Bergum, and as long as it keeps its autonomy, residents should never have to.

All rooms are provided with three sets of washers and dryers can be found just off this area in case residents wish to do their laundry. If not, it can be done for them at a minimal charge, explained Mr. Bergum.

All three open areas are ample sitting rooms as well, with large comfortable chairs. Other, recreational activities within the lodge include a pool table, shuffleboard, piano and TV. Most residents have their own [illegible] as well.

Bingos are held on a regular basis, adds Mr. Bergum, and a church service is held every Tuesday evening with ministers of the county's five practicing denominations taking turns each week. And, come summer, there's a large outdoor garden if any residents care to do some planting.

All needs are provided for, including cooking and heavy cleaning. In fact, Mr. Bergum adds, everything residents require is available. They need only bring themselves and their clothes when they move in. The rooms are all furnished with bed, dresser, countertop, closet and private bathroom. And all rooms are "homey" in their own way with the possessions and momentos each resident has.

The lodge is under the jurisdiction of the Alberta Housing Corporation and has its own governing body, the Flagstaff Foundation. It's made up of one representative from each of the county's nine towns, usually a mayor or councillor, with one representative from the county itself. The Foundation meets annually to review its financial statement and plan the next year's budget. A management board, selected by the Foundation, has two members and one member at large. Mr. Bergum meets with this board to approve bills and make major decisions.

In addition to the rent residents pay, the lodge is supported by the county and municipalities. Each is charged a certain mill rate on the equalized assessment every year. In that way, Mr. Bergum explained, towns in the county with smaller revenues and populations than the larger communities aren't required to share as much of the cost. The county assumes a greater portion than any one town.

Since it's full 98 per cent or more of the time, there's usually a small waiting list of people wanting to move in, says Mr. Bergum. Turnover isn't very high because residents "hardly ever" move out. When they do leave, it's usually to an auxiliary hospital because they require medical attention.

"Everybody's a little hesitant to come at first, but once they're here they don't want to leave."

Insufficient production of reliable, locally-produced vegetable seeds is a serious obstacle to applied nutrition projects in most developing countries. UNICEF card sales help to provide seeds, establish nurseries and start school gardens with supplies and equipment for the multiplication of seeds and seedlings.

THE ALBERTA HERITAGE LEARNING RESOURCES PROJECT

A legacy of Canadian knowledge for the people of Alberta.

The great natural resources of our Province will not last forever. They are a gift from the land which must be returned as an inheritance to the greatest long-term resource we have . . . the People of Alberta.

The Alberta Heritage Learning Resources Project is a legacy of knowledge about our Province and Country for young and old alike to be passed on to future generations.

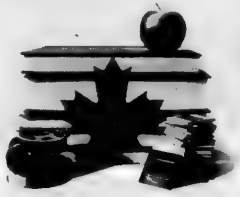
The Government of Alberta provided $8.3 million from the Alberta Heritage Savings Trust Fund to create the Alberta Heritage Learning Resources Project.

This ambitious learning resources project, directed by Alberta Education, includes Alberta Heritage Books for Young Readers. A specially written series of 12 high-quality reference books about the history, geography and natural environment of Alberta and Canada for Grades 4, 5 and 6.

Western Canadian Literature for Youth. This ten-volume series of selected literary works about Western Canada is for Grades 7 through 12. Three hundred and forty-nine western Canadian authors are represented in these anthologies. Two additional volumes will be in Ukrainian and French.

Alberta Literature for Senior Students and Adults. This is a classic thirty-volume library collection of already-published books. It includes such famous Canadian authors and historians as James Gray, Grant MacEwan, James MacGregor, Andy Russell, Maria Campbell and Hugh Dempsey.

The Canadian Content Social Studies Kits (KanataKits). The sixteen multi-media resource kits are for all grades. They are being developed through the cooperation of teachers and school boards across the Province.



Junior Atlas and Relief Model of Alberta. The atlas, for Grades 4, 5 and 6, is the first of its kind for young children to focus on a region. The 4' x 8' relief model will be distributed to all schools and selected public buildings.

Phase I of the Alberta Heritage Learning Resources Project is a kit of no fewer than 620 colour slides, 24 full-colour study prints, teachers' guides, and six 15-minute films about the flora and fauna of Alberta.

The Alberta Heritage Learning Resources Project Material will be provided free of charge to all schools and selected institutions in the Province of Alberta.

THE ALBERTA HERITAGE LEARNING RESOURCES PROJECT IS A POSITIVE LONG-TERM ASSET, A GIFT FROM THE LAND TO THE PEOPLE OF ALBERTA.

FOR THE PROVINCE OF ALBERTA

IN THE MATTER OF "The Public Utilities Board Act", being Chapter 302 of the Revised Statutes of Alberta, 1970, as amended;

AND IN THE MATTER OF an application by Calgary Power Ltd. to the Public Utilities Board for an order or orders approving changes in the existing rates, tolls or charges for electric light, power, or energy and related services rendered to its customers within Alberta.

NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that Calgary Power Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "CP") will apply to the Public Utilities Board (hereinafter referred to as "the Board") at the Court House in the City of Calgary, in the Province of Alberta on Wednesday, the 14th day of February, 1979 at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon or as soon thereafter as Counsel may be heard for an Order of the Board:

(a) determining a rate base for the property of CP that is used or required to be used in CP's service to the public and fixing a fair return thereon;

(b) fixing and approving just and reasonable rates, charges or schedules thereof for electric light, power or energy and related services to be supplied by CP, whether present rates and charges have been established by agreement or otherwise;

(c) giving effect to such part of any excess revenues received or losses incurred by CP as may be due to any undue delay in the hearing and determining of the application;

(d) fixing and approving such interim rates and charges pending the fixing of final rates as the Board may determine, and establishing a date for the commencement of such interim rates and charges.

AND TAKE NOTICE that at the said place and time the Board will hear the Application for fixing interim rates and will hold a pre-hearing conference to give directions as to the manner in which and the date and times at which the hearing of the Application may continue and for such other directions as may seem proper to the Board;

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that CP has filed with the Board materials, including the Evidence-in-Chief intended to be called in support of its Application. Those parties who wish to take part in the hearing may apply to examine or to obtain the material filed by contacting CP in care of its solicitors at the address given below:

All-star starting line up to meet Soviets

Over three-million ballots were cast by Canadian and US hockey fans to choose the NHL all-star starting line up to meet the Soviet national team February 8, 11-12.

Guy Lafleur topped the final balloting made possible by Wilkinson Sword Canada in conjunction with the NHL and the NHL Players' Association. Lafleur (Montreal Canadiens), with 176,706 votes, is second in scoring this season to Bryan Trottier of the New York Islanders. He was the most valuable player and top scorer last season.

Fellow Canadien members Larry Robinson and Steve Shutt were also voted into the line up. Robinson received 121,831 votes and Shutt received 103,213 votes.

Denis Potvin, New York Islanders, (100,638 votes) and Bobby Clarke, Philadelphia Flyers, (70,726 votes) were also chosen.

Tony Esposito of the Chicago Black Hawks with 101,099 was the number one pick in goal.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

VALENTINE PERFECTION

Once again the date draws nigh
For frilly valentines galore;
Candy boxes, gay coloured hearts,
Love gifts bedeck each store.

"Valentines are just for kids"
I've heard some people say;
Like fantasy and fairy tales,
They have no place today.

I disagree for I'm not young
And still 'my valentine' cares;
For each 14th of February
My special card is there.

I searched to find a perfect card
Not the 'roses red, violets blue';
Delicate, fancy, yet different,
Expressing love phrases true.

Beautiful roses, white lacy edge
Interlaced with ribbon and bows;
I though it must be traditional,
Like valentines memory knows.

Contained within the sweetest verse
Prose soaring heart to the sky;
Cupid with dart piercing a heart,
But it's not found, though I try.

Then my card dilemma soon vanished
Conveyed in a card from my son;
A plain red heart and letters bold,
"To my valentine, I love you mom."

Knights of Columbus hold Dayspring meeting

The Dayspring Council of the Knights of Columbus held its annual oyster supper January 26 with a large crowd in attendance. It's nice to see so many of our new members out. You are our future.

Dayspring Council was lucky enough to win back the curling trophy from Camrose at the district curling bonspiel in Wetaskiwin on January 14.

Winners of the scholarship awards were Reg Guha and Jim Murphy. These were presented to their mothers at the supper.

The Championship Free Throw Basketball Tournament was held in Dayspring January 14 with eight top winners to go into Camrose January 27. These were: 11 years - Vicky Sommers, Heisler; Mike Barth, Killam. 12 years - Terrie Pedersen, Killam; Trent Sullivan, Heisler. 13 years - Brenda Welbeck, Heisler; Brent Child, Killam; 14 years - Shirlee Pettem, Strome; Rick Gabruck, Dayspring.

Congratulations, kids, for taking six out of the eight top honours in Camrose at the District Level. Darren Hill took a first for the 13 age group in place of Brent Child, who was unable to attend.

Income tax changes announced for farmers

Alberta farmers should keep in mind several new provisions to the income tax regulations when filling out their 1978 tax returns, says Eugene Whelan, minister of Agriculture, in Agriculture Canada Notes

The most important of these is the "roll-over" provision for incorporated farms and partnerships. As of April 10, 1978, a farmer can transfer shares in a qualifying incorporated farm or farm partnership to his children, grandchildren or great grandchildren free of capital gains tax.

The capital gains tax is payable only when the farm is sold to a person who is not an heir.

In the same way, a farmer now can transfer agricultural quotas to his children during his lifetime and defer paying income tax on an eligible gain until the quota is sold outside the family.

Alberta farmers who have invested in new buildings, machinery or equipment in 1978 may be eligible for a tax credit. The rate of the investment tax credit varies with locality. In Alberta, the tax credit is five or 7½ per cent of the amount invested depending on the region.

Legislation now before parliament could increase the investment tax credit on eligible assets bought after November 16, 1978.

The investment tax credit applies to most farm assets bought after June 24, 1975. The program was set to expire on July 1, 1980, but this deadline now has been removed.

Another new tax credit is available for some farmers who hired labour in 1978 additional to their normal work force. The employment tax credit allows for a tax concession of from $1.50 to $1.75 per hour in Alberta for qualifying hired labour. Details of this program are available from offices of Canada Employment and Immigration.

Most farmers have already received in the mail a copy of the Farmer's and Fisherman's Income Tax Guide. Any farmer who did not receive a copy can get one from a district taxation office.

For details on the new provisions to the income tax regulations, refer to the guide, or enquire at the nearest district taxation office.

IN MEMORIUM

BORGEL — In loving memory of Mary Anne, our dear daughter, and sister who passed away February 13, 1976.
Always so good, unselfish and kind
Few on this earth her equal we find.
Honorable and upright in all her ways,
Loyal and true to the end of her days.
Ever remembered by Mother, sister, brothers and their families.
23-1c

BERNHARDT — Anna, who passed away February 13, 1978.
A wonderful mother, woman and aid;
One who was better, God never made.
A wonderful worker, loyal and fair,
Tenderly helpful, O mother you were.
Just in your judgment, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by all, our pride they share.
Pride in the wonderful one you were.
In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother.
Cliff, Martha, Brian and Brent
Papa, Abe and Gertrude Peters.
23-1p

GLENNIE — Treasured memories of our dear son John, who passed September 5, 1977.
One and and lonely year has passed since our great sorrow fell.
The shock that we received that day, no one can ever tell.
It's lonely here with out you,
We miss you more each day,
Our life is not the same for us.
Since you were called away.
You bade no one a last farewell,
Nor even said goodbye.
You were gone before we realized,
And only God knows why.
Always remembered and sadly missed by Mom and Dad, sisters Margaret and Maryann and brother Allen. 23-1p

D'ARCY — In loving memory of my dear husband, Gordon, who passed away February 16, 1970.
I lost my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own.
And day by day I miss him more
As I walk through life alone.
The rolling stream of life roll on,
But still the vacant chair,
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of the loved one who once sat there.
Ever remembered and sadly missed by loving wife Belle.

LOUGHEED SPORTS

News, Views & Reviews

Now that February is here, it's hospital, hockey playoff and curling playdown time! The surrounding towns and villages, including Lougheed, are preparing for their annual ladies' and men's bonspiels. This weekend marks the beginning of the men's open annual bonspiel at Lougheed. All curling families, friends and neighbours will be busy either curling or catering, viewing or reviewing "shots."

We're wishing the girls' zone winners success in the Northern Curling Playdowns in Edmonton this weekend. The Lougheed rink is skipped by Jackie Costes, with Colleen Rawluk playing third, Deb Martin second and Shelly Ness throwing lead.

On Wednesday, the Lougheed Roadrunners battled the Hughenden Jets to a 3-all tie, but were downed by the Killam Indians on Monday.

Arnett and Burgess of Sedgewick again defeated the Lougheed Coyotes on home ice. Better luck next time!

Sedgewick hosted the Lougheed Mighty-Mites on Wednesday. The score was 9-5 in favour of Lougheed. Michael Tanton scored seven goals and Murray Delaney two.

A well-attended and successful Mighty-Mites (eight-and-under) hockey tournament was held on Saturday with four teams competing. Trophies were awarded to all the teams for their participation and effort. Meanville won first in the A event against Forestburg, while Irma defeated Lougheed in the B event.

Due to our lack of players, some of our boys are playing hockey in the leagues with the Sedgewick Midgets (16-and-under) and the Bantams (14-and-under).

During the week, our bowlers – a ladies' team and several mixed teams – bowl at Sedgewick. The ladies' team has afternoon games while the mixed teams bowl in the evening.

According to the latest report received, skiing and skidooing conditions have improved in the area.

There's a Lougheed Junior High one-day curling bonspiel planned for this week.

During the past week, Lougheed curlers participated in 'spiels at Irma, Killam and Forestburg.

In the ladies' bonspiel at Killam, the Gladys Lien rink, with Delores Costes, Susan Ness and Carla Lohr qualified for the prizes in the third event by placing fourth. Of the four rinks entered in the men's open bonspiel at Irma, two qualified for prizes, one in the A event, the other in the second.

Incidentally, some of our residents will soon wing their way to warmer climes while others will be returning. Happy holidays and a safe return to all!

Bells Hill shower held

A very nice shower was held at Bellshill Hall January 28 at 2 p.m., sponsored by the Gretna Good Will Club. It was in honour of Mrs. Ross McBride.

The loud table was well-loaded down with presents, and then in the centre was a beautifully-decorated cake with lacy arch, a lovely red silk rose in the centre and silver engagement ring and wedding band at one side. It was iced in white with lovely flowers circling a scalloped edge. This delightful looking cake was made and decorated by Marlene Simpson.

We held a short program, then Donna took her place at the head table and asked her mother, Mrs. Berry, her mother-in-law, Mrs. McBride, and her Aunt Shirley to come forward and assist her in opening all the lovely gifts. Donna thanked everyone for the gifts and the Gretna ladies for sponsoring the shower and invited us all for coffee.

Battle Bend

Mr. and Mrs. Barry Love visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harris and family at Hinton recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Wally Love from Smithers, B.C. were weekend visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Gus Johnson recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Jensen and family from Medley were home last weekend.

Mrs. Ollie Powell from Hughenden and Mrs. Daisy Jensen were among about 300 ladies who attended Avon's presidents' club luncheon at the Edmonton Plaza last Monday.

The regular Battle Bend card party was held at the Jensen residence January 27 with 4% tables in play. Prizes were won by: first - Mrs. Helen Sutherland and Floyd Wadstein, Sweep - Mrs. Mary Albrecht and Will Johnson, Mystery - Mrs. Chinnery and Darrell Matthews, Low - Mrs. Chrissie Armstrong and Dewy Woody, and Travelling - Mrs. Chinnery and Arnold Marlow.

The next card party will be February 10. Everyone welcome.

Medals won in oldtimers' hockey

Well, your reporter arrived home again after house sitting in Camrose while the Camrose Good Old Timers Hockey Team went to the tournament in Victoria.

They came home with the silver medal in their division, which was "E". Swift Current won the gold and two bronze medals were given out - one to Dawson Creek and the other to Saskatoon.

Wetaskiwin, in Division C, won the gold and Warren Hopfe's son-in-law played on that team. Congratulations to the players bringing silver and gold so close to home.

I met an old school pal of Barbe Matthews' at Ruth Brynlund's in Camrose. She is also Mrs. Bill Steadman's mother, Mrs. Nodin. It was really nice to meet this very active lady.

It is handy to visit Ruth now when in Camrose as daughter Mary lives at one end of the avenue and Ruth at the other end. It's just a minute's walk to each others house.

On Friday, Leonard, Muriel and Patricia Korth, with Ann Bilyk and little son Dennis, visited sister Ruth.

Your reporter has known Muriel since she was a year old and it was the first time I've seen her in the role of grandmother. Where, oh where have the years in between gone?

Had a nice visit with the Walter Markwarts at the coffee shop Wednesday night. Used to see them in Hardisty quite often but they don't get in too often now. They enjoyed having all their family home for Christmas.

Around 26 guests gathered at the Parkland Manor Thursday afternoon to honour Mr. Hans Eklund on his 84th birthday. He had a leave-of-absence from the hospital for this happy occasion, and as he entered the room with everyone singing happy birthday to him, he was really surprised.

Friends visited and enjoyed a most beautiful lunch prepared by Helene and Elsie Bunk with Anne dashing in here and there with a big tray of more to eat. Two birthday cakes with candles on were enjoyed also; then it was time for Mr. Eklund to return to the hospital. We hope that he will soon be able to be back at his suite in the Manor again.

The evening before, January 31, the Manor celebrated the January birthdays with a lunch and social evening. Those with birthdays were Pearl Reeve, Hugh Duncan and Mrs. Jim Davidson. We wish these good people many more happy birthdays.

Allen and Joann Nelson spent the weekend in Morinville with Joann's aunt and uncle.

They also stopped in at Lorne Broens in Camrose to see how the Old Timers made out in Victoria.

In the city, about 25 relatives gathered at the home of John Fairfield to honour Mrs. Catherine Martin on her 84th birthday. It was a double celebration as on January 28 she received another little great granddaughter. Gerald and Rae Fairfield are the proud parents of a baby girl. Several phone calls from distant parts wished Grannie a happy birthday and that goes for your reporter, too.

Visiting with Ruth Brynlund over the weekend was her brother, Harold Alderdice, and Phyllis and rest of family.

It surely pays to advertise. One advertiser received a phone call from his daughter wanting his advertised article for a friend, quite a few miles from here, too.

It was nice that Mrs. Alvina Parsons got in to the morning Rise to CFCW. Although she didn't guess the artist this time, which is hard, she did request "How Sweet Thou Art" and it was lovely, sung by Tammy Wynette.

Mr. and Mrs. Pounder, parents of your hospital matron, Maureen Oberholtzer, have gone to the U.S. for a visit.

Sympathy is extended to the Clifford Cookson family on the sudden passing away of Edith's mother, Mrs. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson enjoyed the bingos here very much so she will be greatly missed as she was a very regular attender.

New slate of officers elected to goodwill club

The Grotna Good Will Club met at the home of Melba Cameron on January 24. This was our annual meeting, and there were seven members and three visitors, Fay Davidson, Laurie Nordstrom and Heddy Cameron, in attendance.

The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting with no business arising from them. The sick Convenor gave her report. She had sent two cards in January and we all signed three more cards at the meeting to be sent to the sick and shut-ins. She also reported having sent 40 cards in 1978.

The secretary read the new year's annual meeting reports and then the election of officers was held. Marlene Simpson is the new president, Mary Albrecht the vice-president, Helen O'Rielly the new secretary and Helen Suth'rland the new sick convenor. Etta Huse remains as treasurer and Chrissie Armstrong was elected by acclamation to remain as reporter. She did try "very hard" to decline because that morning in the mail she received an Enterprise dated April 28, 1978 with one of her club reports in it from last April. That paper was a long time in arriving - nine whole months.

There were seven members joined and three more as "Silent Sisters", Fay Davidson, Pat Krostad. and Heddy Cameron. Then the old silent sisters tried and tried very hard to guess their 1978 silent sisters. We did much better this year with five right and five wrong guesses. Better luck next year, girls. We then drew for our New Year's Silent Sister for 1979, and then had another round-a-vu.

New business was attended to. A letter was read from Central High regarding funds to be influenced from various clubs for bursaries for the honoured Grade 12 student in the Sedgewick High School. A $30 donation was made.

Another letter was read from the Killam Auxiliary Hospital requiring money for therapy equipment and another $30 donation was made.

A motion was made to have a bridal shower for Mrs. Donna McBride (nee Burr) at Bellshill Hall January 26 at 2 p.m. All final arrangements were made.

The next meeting is to be held at Chrissie Armstrong's February 21. The roll call will be a homemade paper valentine. Mary Albrecht will be co-hostess. Today, the lucky winners of the prizes were Etta, who won the Hostess Prize, and Heddy, the lucky tea cup winner.

After our lengthly meeting of discussions and many laughs, our hostess and co-hostess, Marlene, served a most delicious lunch. Marlene brought a huge chocolate layer cake in the shape of a star, decorated for our New Year. It had New Year printed on it, as well as small balloons, whistles and confetti. It was simply fantastic. Not only that, but our Hawaii girl, Etta, brought us a fresh pineapple from Hawaii and it was simply scrumptious - so fresh, juicy, tasty and delicious. Thank you, Etta, and thanks to Marlene for the lovely cake. Thanks also to our hostess for all the rest of the lovely lunch and for being such a nice "Make yourself at home hostess." See you next month.

Thursday night the phone rang - nothing unusual about that - but it was Dick Mah calling from Lamont.

We were sorry to learn of his father's passing away. Sam Mah had the hotel cafe shop while Dick was in the good old Crystal.

Dick asked about everybody around and what was going on in Hardisty and asked for his former waitresses. Four of us anyway are still here.

He would like to come down again and look the town over. Kenny and Florence in their 30s now and Leigan was well. Then I was to wish everyone here a good Chinese New Year and to say hello to all the "old boys" and the "old girls" for Dick.

A new form of recreation in the Hardisty area is the Hardisty Sand Hills Driving Club. They are enjoying the winter with "cutter parties" with weiner roasts following on Sunday afternoons and one night a week.

About 17 families belong to the club. Cutters and bobsleighs used to be the only way of travelling in the winter. Now the young people do it for fun.

Marion Elm has just returned home after spending Christmas with her daughter, Claudia, and family in Sherwood Park. She also visited son Adrian and his family, too.

Then she flew to Saskatoon to spend New Year's with daughter Catherine and family. She spent a month in Saskatoon and finally flew back to Edmonton, and Claudia drove her home.

Now she has fun going through her Christmas mail and her spare time is spent writing letters.

The Drop-In Centre held its monthly pot luck supper and card party on February 3. It was nice to see a few new faces there, in spite of so many other activities. Ladies' high was Doris Powell while Grandma Mazure was low. Gents' high was Bud Devey and low was Charlie Tinholm.

The George Matthews have returned from their Wheat Pool tour through the States and found it very enjoyable. They were just ahead of the bad storm in southern Utah and just the tops of the fence posts were showing above the snow in Montana. Sunny Alberta here we stay in spite of the cold.

On Friday evening, January 26, a social evening was held in the Legion Hut for members and guests of the Legion and Auxiliary. While the attendance was small, a most enjoyable evening was spent. Cards were played, followed by a few party games. A good lunch was served by the auxiliary members rounded off a very happy social. Here's hoping for a better attendance next time.

Your PSS Program

Flagstaff Preventive Social Services (PSS) will be writing a monthly column in The Community Press and The Enterprise to let everyone in the county know what we are doing, and to give anyone who is interested a chance to give us suggestions or to get involved in some of the programs.

In the month of January, the PSS office has been a very busy place. The new budget for the 1979-80 year was prepared and submitted to the councils for their approval. The budget calls for a secretary in the office who will help keep the PSS office open to anyone while the director and staff travel around the county helping community groups.

PSS staff have met with groups in Daysland and Forestburg interested in getting a 'Day Centre for Seniors' project underway in each community. The Golden Age Club in Forestburg and the Lions Club in Daysland have taken responsibility for these projects and members will be working hard to get government response to this innovative seniors project.

A Homecare Social Support Service Programmer was hired to set up a homecare program for seniors and the homebound. Avis Steiger of Strome will be getting suggestions from the communities about setting this program up and will be contacting various organizations to solicit their assistance in providing homemakers, friendly visitors, transportation, meals-on-wheels, and handiman services. These services will be available free with a doctor's prescription or on a sliding pay scale through the PSS office.

Mrs. Steiger has begun to work with seniors in Killam and Hardisty, and will try to get to the other communities as time allows.

The Alliance playschool program, Toddler's Tavern, recently received an operating grant through the PSS program. This grant will help them operate their very successful program for another year.

PSS staff continue to work with various community groups in the county. With the co-operation of Flagstaff Further Education, it is hoped that a Family Life Education Program with courses on Parenting, Communication and more can be set up soon. This program should be in place by September. Various youth, research and children's projects are being planned for the summer months. Watch for news regarding these developments.

The Grain That Won't Move

Our country elevators are plugged but the terminals at Vancouver, Thunder Bay and Churchill are one-half to one-third empty. Mr. John Morris, information officer with the Canadian Wheat Board, stated on November 14, 1978 that grain stocks at Vancouver were down 287,000 tons from the previous year. Likewise, officials for Canadian Pacific Railways claimed that they had been called upon to utilize only one-half of the carrying capacity of their grain cars during the months of September, October and November, 1978.

In 1978, the Peoples Republic of China wanted to purchase between six and seven million tons of grain from Canada. On September 1, 1978, the Canadian Wheat Board signed a contract for three million tons. The reason we did not meet the full order was not because we did not have an available supply of grain, but rather, because the Canadian Wheat Board claimed we could not deliver an adequate amount to our ports. During the last full week of November, the Port of Thunder Bay was operating at almost 2,000 rail cars per week under capacity. The Port of Vancouver, in that same time period, was operating 1,100 rail cars per week under capacity.

It is interesting to note that the time for moving grain from my riding to the Port of Vancouver is approximately 20 days via the Rogers Pass. That route is about 840 miles. Twenty days for that distance indicates that our grain moves at 1.74 miles per hour.

Railway officials have indicated that if we could get a 10 per cent improvement in the rate in which rail cars are turned around and returned to the source of loading, that we would have the equivalent of moving capacity of another 2,800 hopper cars. The general manager of the Port of Vancouver blames the lack of adequate ground transportation for our current shipping difficulties.

An official of the Canadian Wheat Board stated: "2.3 million tons of grain sales have been deferred this year (1979) at an ultimate cost to the farmer of $800 million". He also stated: "four million tons of additional export sales could have been realized last year with improved transport and port facilities". At a minimum, it has been calculated that the prairie farmers lost $200 million in the last two years because of an inadequate transport system.

Canada should be concerned. Our competition is growing very strong. France is planning a 67 per cent increase in grain exports. The United States Grain Council plans for a 50 per cent increase in export sales within the next four years. It should also be noted that the countries of Russia, Brazil, and South Africa are making major improvements in their grain-handling systems. Certainly, one must ponder where the promises of the 1974 election has gone when we were told that the grain-handling system would be improved from the granary to the shipyard.

Sedgewick District News

Seven tables of players enjoyed Norwegian Whist at the Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre on Friday evening. Mrs. Lillian Craig and Mr. Ab Nordstrom were awarded prizes for the highest scores. Mrs. Glendora Hepa and Mr. John Craig received consolation prizes.

A rink made up of Mr. Ian Eckstrand, Mrs. Brenda Watkins, Mr. Bob Roggeveack and Mrs. Donna Bergum won first place in the Zone Mixed Playoffs at the Recreation Centre here on the weekend.

Mr. Doug Tweedy is home after spending two weeks visiting relatives on the west coast.

The three rinks of ladies from here who were in the Killam Ladies' Bonspiel on the weekend all came home with prizes. The rink, consisting of Georgina Brandiagen, Betty Smith, Martha Pope and Pat Smethan, won fourth prize in the First Event. Second in Third event was won by the rink of Vivian Sparrow, Donna Anderson, Eileen Ness and Pam Loeb. In the Second Event, the rink of Mary Simons, Tera Johnson, Edith Eckstrand and Lorna Hallum won second prize. Nice curling, ladies!

Frances Anderson of Medley and Margaret Hampshire of Edmonton were at their parents' homes on the weekend.

Mrs. Hazel MacKinnon and Mr. George Hotz won prizes for the highest scores at the Senior Citizens' Wednesday afternoon card party at their Drop-In Centre. Mrs. Minnie Djus and Mr. B. A. Davidson had the lowest scores among the eight tables of players and were awarded consolation prizes.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of Mrs. Luella Johnson, who passed away suddenly in the Killam Hospital January 31. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Robert Chappell at 2 p.m. on Saturday, February 3 at the United Church.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacKinnon on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Adam Heppler and children of Ponoka.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Humphrey on the birth of a 6-pound, 13-ounce daughter, Victoria Mae arrived at the Daysland Hospital on February 1.

Miss Gretchen Howelhe of Whitehorse is visiting at the home of her parents, the Fritz Howelhes. Here for the weekend visiting with their parents, the Fritz Howelhes and the Bill Huculaks, were the Fred Howelhe family of Edmonton.

Word has been received of the death of a former resident of Sedgewick, Mrs. Lois Pederson, who passed away in Edmonton on Friday, February 2. Mrs. Pederson was a sister of Mr. Clarke James, Mrs. Bess Bergum and Mrs. Margaret Pederson. We offer our sympathy to them and the other members of the family.

Mr. Clarke James, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bergum and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Pederon went to Edmonton on Saturday and stayed to attend the funeral on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne French and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hansen are home after an enjoyable two-week vacation in the Barbados.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowness of Galahad and Mr. and Mrs. John Muirhead and children of Camrose visited with Mrs. Jean Muirhead on Sunday.

Sunday visitors at the Nels Djus home were Rev. and Mrs. Allen Severson and Carol of Camrose and Mrs. Clara Sundby of Swift Current, Saskatchewan.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Roggeveen of Ardrossan, Mr. and Mrs. Marinus Roggeveen and family and Elaine Roggeveen and children of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. R. Stevenson (nee Beatrice Roggeveen) and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lauritzen (nee Ethel Roggeveen), both families of Saskatchewan, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Simpson. Mrs. Simpson is their aunt. They were here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Luella Johnson.

Kathy Keith is home from NAIT on crutches, having broken her leg in Edmonton two weeks ago. She spent last weekend in the Misericordia Hospital having a pin put in her ankle. Mr. and Mrs. Monte Keith went to pick her up on Sunday.

Diane Rawcliffe visited friends and relatives in Edmonton on the weekend and visited Kathy Keith in hospital.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Flemming on the birth of a son last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Anderson and Kerry spent the weekend at their home here. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Diedrick of Drumheller were their guests during that time. On Monday, the Andersons left for Lynbrook, where Don is employed. Kerry is staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Erickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Martin of Penhold spent the weekend at the home of their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Greg Martin and Margaret.

Weekend visitors at the Dick Erickson home included Irene and Joan Schmuts, Joan Semeniuk and Ronnie, and Lyle Borgel all of Edmonton.

Premier continues sparring at meeting

Premier Peter Lougheed played a new hand but kept his high cards – energy resources and provincial powers – at the first ministers' constitutional conference in Ottawa February 5 and 6.

Lougheed outlined the constitutional plank in his re-election platform – but put off calling the vote – when the Alberta delegation raced back to Edmonton after the meeting for a next-morning news conference.

He set out a five-point mandate in the form of questions: Do Albertans back his amending formula, faith in strong provinces, resource demands, bill of rights position and "pro-Alberta" stand?

At the conference, Lougheed proposed an elaborate constitutional amending formula. He hoped it would be flexible enough to permit changes yet assure provincial rights.

The premier offered to accept an Ontario plan to make the 112-year-old British North American Act Candidia, provided all provinces and Ottawa still had to agree later unanimously on an amending formula.

Under Lougheed's formula, amendments would be enacted if they were ratified by parliament plus the legislatures of any seven provinces representing half the Canadian population.

No one province – including Quebec, Ontario or Alberta – would be able to veto amendments which the rest sought for themselves.

But each province could opt out of changes which the rest accepted if present assets and jurisdiction – such as resources and education – under the BNA Act would be affected.

Ontario's patriation plan included an amending formula that was left to negotiation later and did not offer the guarantees Lougheed wanted. No agreements were reached on a new formula for Canada.

Meanwhile, the Alberta premier tentatively offered to go along with a constitutional bill of rights, a measure strongly advocated by Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau.

Lougheed said he might want provisions allowing the provinces to set aside the rights charter by putting "notwithstanding clauses" in their laws, a feature of Alberta's civil liberties acts.

What protections would be exempted besides rights already in the BNA Act, such as elections, was unstated with one exception: Lougheed would not adopt minority language guarantees.

Lougheed foresaw "confrontation" with "centralists" and Trudeau. He said pressure for constitutional change would not likely go away if conservatives won power in Ottawa – and he was far from certain that a new Tory federal government would be more sympathetic to Albertans.

Election called

Premier Lougheed announced Wednesday that Alberta will have a provincial election on Wednesday, March 14.

Viking Gas Kings lose first place while decision upheld

At a meeting of the Battle River Hockey League in Daysland on Friday evening, a protest launched by the Rosalind A's hockey club concerning a game played against the Viking Gas Kings was upheld. The game between the two teams on Saturday, February 3, which was won by Viking, was then given to Rosalind, thus dropping Viking from first place to second place in the final League standings.

The protest questioned the eligibility of four players on the Gas Kings as it was alleged that they lived outside of the 30-mile limit of residency as stated in the league constitution. The protest was accompanied by a $25 deposit as is required by the Battle River Hockey League.

Following the introduction of the petition to the representatives of the nine teams involved in the League, a lengthy discussion occured concerning whether or not the players listed: Jim Laskosky, Doug Palamarchuk, Barry Field and Kevin McGinitie, met the residency requirements. The arguments included the players' postal addresses, their residence phone numbers, their place of employment and their frequency and length of stay in Viking.

It was determined during these discussions that for years teams have not abided by the 30-mile residency bylaw and that other teams in the league are using players similar to those being used by Viking. President Gene Waldorf maintained that the protest dealt only with a particular game and team. Past President Tony Schnettler of Killam said that the best idea was to get rid of the 30-mile residency rule as the league had had trouble with it for 25 years. He felt that the rule was unenforceable, he said.

Besides the Killam representatives, Ivan Becan and Mel Garbe of Irma supported Garry Howery, Gordon Rattray and Bill Sheets of Viking in the discussions against the protest. Ivan Becan pointed out that these players had played last year and not been questioned, but felt that they were questioned this year due to Viking's first place finish. He also noted that he was transferred to Edmonton last year for five weeks, and questioned if that meant he should not have been playing for Irma during this time.

Following a motion by Rosalind that the protest be put to the floor for a vote, President G. Waldorf of Daysland ruled that if any one of the players in the protest is not considered eligible then the protest should be upheld. A secret vote of the seven voting members (Hughesden and Lougheed do not have a vote this year) was carried out with the final result in favour of the protest 4-3.

Following the vote, and Viking's demotion to second place, a discussion ensued concerning the eligibility of these players for the rest of the year. It was suggested that a strong possibility existed that a protest could follow every playoff game to determine the eligibility of players.

In order to facilitate the smooth operation of the playoff schedule, Bill Gibb of Killam proposed that the official rosters for each team be accepted for the playoffs and that the 30-mile residency rule be examined prior to next season. This motion was carried.

As a result of Friday's decision, the semi-final saw first-place Hardisty going against Sedgewick, who ended the season in fifth place. Viking will play Rosalind, Killam versus Irma, and Daysland plays Hughesden. -Viking Review

Killam hosts bonspiel

The curling ladies of Killam hosted a very successful bonspiel February 1 to 4. Twenty-three rinks participated in the weekend affair and all reported good fun, fellowship and food.

A "pat on the back" is extended to all the local gals who made up extra rinks, and especially to the skips of these rinks who gallantly took on this "chore" and did so very well. Hope you liked it well enough to join in regularly next year.

Winners in each event were: 1st Event - Karen Cameron, Alliance; Meta Lindseth, Killam; Betty Koehl, Daysland; and Georgina Brandiagen, Sedgewick.

2nd Event - Dorothy Stubbs, Killam; Mary Simons, Sedgewick; Janet Zetiel, Killam; and Jessie Fossen, Killam.

3rd Event - Charlotte Golka, Hardisty; Vivian Sparrow, Sedgewick; Janice Forster, Killam; and Gladys Lise, Lougheed.

The Hard Luck Award was won by Sharon Moser, Killam.

Ed Fee appointed

Edward Fee of Killam was appointed recently as one of four new members to the Provincial Senior Citizens Advisory Council by Alberta Social Services and Community Health Minister Helen Hunley.

The council advises government on specific policies and programs for senior citizens, as well as provide advice regarding priorities and the co-ordination of programs for senior citizens.

The council is composed of representatives of the general public, including senior citizen groups, a member of the provincial legislature, one representative each from the Alberta Medical Association, the Alberta Hospital Association and the universities, and one senior official from each of the departments of social services and community health, housing and public works, hospitals and medical care, advanced education and manpower, and recreation, parks and wildlife.

Other new members to the council are Norman Bowles, Red Deer; Arta Juneau, Hythe; and Grace Smith, Edmonton.

The four will serve on the council for three years, until December 31, 1981.

Winter — What you make it

This week, What Others Say deals with hypothermia – that winter-time killer we're hearing so much about lately. More people seem to die each year because of it, but not because temperatures are any lower or conditions worse than during any other Alberta winter. More often than not, it's the result of peoples' carelessness or lack of respect for nature's winter character.

While we should never take the cruelty of winter for granted, neither should we consider it as our enemy. There is another side to this snowy season most of us neglect, preferring to curl up in front of the television set.

Well, a big bouquet to the Towns of Hardisty and Killam for taking advantage of the season and planning winter carnivals. It's not the first time for either community, but it is high time both were commended for the idea.

As usual, it's probably the same faithful and hard-working residents who've organized these events, as they have most others in their communities. They've lined up two and three days entertainment and activities – both indoors and out.

We hope the hard work they've put into planning these carnivals (and the colds they'll probably get out of them) aren't in vain. There are good times to be had in winter. Thank goodness for these small groups of people who bother to show us how to find them.

Hardisty and Killam, we wish you success. Now, let's just hope the weather co-operates!

God has given us two hands — one to receive with and the other to give with. We are not cisterns made for hoarding; we are channels made for sharing. Billy Graham.

Do we give according to our means, or according to our meanness? Bruce R. Baxter.

What Others Say

The cold killer

There are two things you can do about winter: go south or use it wisely. While the former may be more fun, the latter is more practical. A wise winter means knowing all about the cold killer - hypothermia - and how to fight it.

Hypothermia means the lowering of the temperature of the internal body organs. Symptoms are lowered blood pressure, slow and usually irregular pulse, shivering or muscle rigidity, and altered levels of consciousness. The end result is often death.

Hypothermia can happen when somebody falls into cold water, and it can happen when anyone is out in the cold too long with too little body protection.

But hypothermia is not hopeless. If you think someone is suffering from hypothermia, there are things you can do.

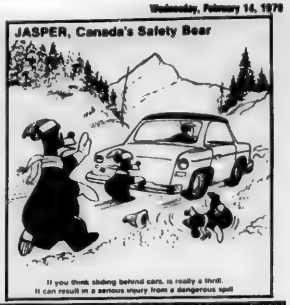
First aid treatment for the hypothermia victim consists of:
1. preventing further heat loss and 2. adding heat to rewarm the victim's body.

Because a hypothermia victim has lost the ability to generate body heat, merely placing him in warm, dry coverings is not enough. He requires external heat to maintain the warmth level. Ideally the victim should be rewarmed under competent medical supervision. Emergency methods of treatment include:
— get the victim to shelter;
— replace wet clothing with dry;
— Place as much insulation as possible between the victim and any cold surface;
— Increase the internal temperature by the best available method. For a layman, the best way is to add external heat on top of the victim's underwear, covering the chest and abdomen. Do not place it on his bare skin as this may burn him. Cover the body well to prevent any further loss of heat. A second method you could use is to put the victim in a sleeping bag or blankets and transfer your own body heat to him by direct body contact. Remove the outer clothing to facilitate as much heat transfer as possible.

A conscious victim can be given warm, sweet fluids. Carbohydrates are quickly transformed into heat and energy. Do not give alcohol. In exhausted states it can block the release of glucose from the liver.

If the victim is unconscious do not give food or drink and make sure that an open airway is maintained.

Watch the victim carefully for any signs of sudden collapse which may occur at any stage of recovery. This is especially necessary in severe cases. All instances of prolonged exposure to cold should be treated as serious and in urgent need of medical supervision. At times hypothermia victims may be mistaken for dead. If this happens, vital treatment may not be given. You must not presume that the person is dead even if you cannot find a pulse, respiration or heartbeat. All severely affected cases should be placed in the recovery position (fetal position with the face down) and taken by stretcher to medical aid as soon as possible. They should be protected from cold during transport. St. Paul Journal.



The Third Column

by Truncate

THE RICH MAN will find it as hard to get into the Kingdom as a camel will to get through the eye of a needle, or, money is the root of all evil. These two trite sayings, while almost as old as the ages, may well be applied today in our situation.

Let a man work diligently, be favoured with the luck of fortune and conduct his life in a reasonably frugal manner, and he stands destined to accumulate a goodly portion of the earth's material goods. If his banker and he himself keep their mouths shut, the world knows nothing of his wealth. But let the word get out and everybody beats a path to his door, hoping to get a portion by one means or another. They seem to believe there is some evil in accumulating wealth.

THAT IS THE POSITION in which Alberta finds itself today. It is wallowing in wealth and the wolves are yapping at the threshold bent on wrestling some of it for themselves, indignantly claiming that just because some ancient dinosaurs upset the bowels of the earth beneath Alberta in their last convulsive gasps and spewed the oil over a wide area does not mean that this wealth belongs to the province alone. No sir. We are all Canadians and we must share and share alike. Alberta came at the root of Confederation and there she remains, so goes the theory, and as such owes the rest of that Confederation a nice chunk of her inheritance. A real nice "all for one and one for all" advocation by those who seek to covet what is not their own. But it just doesn't hold water. There's a leak in the dike and that is that Alberta owns her natural resources, and controls them so long as they remain within its boundaries. Just because somebody wishes to purchase them, by no means gives them the right to claim a portion of the profit therefrom, and to advocate that it does is a display of greediness. It's too bad, of course, that the white-skinned people of Alberta have to deal with the other Canadians who have turned green-skinned with envy, but that's the way the Almighty, with the aid of the ancient dinosaurs, geographically located Alberta and blessed it with the fruits of the land, consisting of milk, honey, oil, gas and coal.

THE UNFORTUNATE PART of the whole thing is that the "tribe of Peter" and his keepers of the vault could in no way hide the accumulating wealth from the world, and once it became known, the other nine tribes began the long trek to the land of plenty. Truly, the West is coming into its own and is no longer looked upon as the poor country cousins. We have, at long last, began to "arrive" and now have suddenly become brothers and sisters among whom no contention should exist, except the noble contention or emulation of who best must share what he has with those who have not – as much. A noble and ideal theory for perfect human relationship in the highest degree of ideology but not very practical in an age where wealth is gathered by the fortunate and the industrious.

YES, ALBERTA IS WALLOWING in wealth and its care and distribution must only be entrusted to the trustworthy. Its disposition must be most carefully monitored, and no area should come "first" more than the land of its origin and those who worked to make it possible. The billion dollar distribution to the municipal areas of the province is a commendable one, and it is hoped that such municipalities will administer the new-found wealth with wisdom.

Strome District News Items

The Senior Citizens' Club held its monthly meeting last Thursday afternoon with 20 members attending. The members decided to hold a senior citizens' "fun" day every Wednesday afternoon, starting February 14.

Mrs. Ana Johnson and Mrs. Peggy Richmond have receipts for anyone that would like to buy a history book of Strome and district.

Mrs. Ludwig Wieschorster spent last week in Edmonton visiting her daughter and family.

Mr. Gordon Pottle motored with his nephew, Pat Skuce of Millet, to Preeceville, Saskatchewan last Tuesday to visit Gordon's father, who is quite ill in the Preeceville Hospital. They returned Friday evening.

Jack and Ruth Potter of Lougheed visited with Mr. and Mrs. Pottle last Saturday evening.

I see that Albert and Betty Wieschorster are sporting a new car.

Mrs. Anne Heisler has returned home from babysitting for the Rod Zimmels while they were away with Don and Rosemary Hayes skiing at Banff.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kroetch were out to Vancouver to visit his sister, Sister Kathrine, in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Heisler and girls of Sherwood Park were weekend visitors with his mother, Anne Heisler.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hartwick of Kelowna, B.C. were coffee guests with Allan and Ruth Auburn last Sunday morning.

Jerry and Ann Disek of Calgary stayed overnight with Allan and Ruth Auburn last Sunday night. They were enroute to Provost to attend Ann's father's funeral. Allan and Ruth also attended the funeral with them.

Reports are that Mrs. Theresa Schissler, who is a patient in the University Hospital, is feeling much better and is up and gets around. Keep up the good work, granny.

Mr. Julian Schissler motored to Edmonton last Sunday to see his mother in the hospital.

Alberta's defending champions in the Elks Corby Cup North Central Zone Playoffs, Pat and Jim Miller and Don Hayes and Ron Bergel, won their playoffs at Drayton Valley last weekend and will advance to the provincial playoffs in Wetaskiwin this coming weekend. As well as the curlers' wives, people supporting the players were: George and Bernice Bergel, Leo and Marion Miller, Cliff and Joan Hill, Ken Pellom, Danny Hayes and Maynard and Ann Hill. A good support of Drayton Valley people, who are former Strome residents, also attended. The community wishes the curlers the best of luck in their next game.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Ken Mazure and family last Sunday were Ken's grandparents, parents and brother and fiancee of Hardisty, and Theresa's father and brother to help greet grandpa Mazure celebrate his 90th birthday.

Congratulations are extended to Jim and Brenda Hauck on the birth of a daughter, born February 10 and weighing 9 pounds, 7 ounces.

Several from Strome attended the funeral of Harry "Swede" Stacik of Dayaland Thursday forenoon and of Mrs. Norma Malone (nee Olson) in Camrose Thursday afternoon.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

Killam 4-H Nimble Thimble

Six leaders and seven girls were present at the meeting of the Killam 4-H Nimble Thimble club held on January 8.

After a brief business meeting, the girls practiced some public speaking. Two new members, Janice Lang and Cheryl Spaulding, had their first experience in public speaking. Despite their fears, they made an excellent beginning.

At the next meeting, on January 22, it was announced that Speak Offs would be held on February 18 and the district Speak Offs on February 25.

It was decided that achievement night would be held on April 23.

Much of the time at the latest meeting, February 5, was spent practicing impromptu speeches. It is amazing how hard it is to talk for a whole minute! However, the members of the Killam 4-H Nimble Thimbles are confident they have some interesting speeches to present on February 18.

HOMELESS HEMMERS

The meeting of the Heisler Hemmers started off with O Canada and roll call, as usual, on February 7.

Old business was the skate-a-thon, which was cancelled.

The judges for our public speaking on February 10 are: Mrs. Dorothy Spiller, Mrs. Heion Lassu and Mrs. Cheryl Lynn Weller.

Our Regional Fun Day is February 17. We are to meet at the hotel at 9 a.m. It will be held in Sedgewick. There will be skating, curling and bowling.

New business is a phone committee. A phone committee is a bunch of people phoning other people about new activities. This was approved and nominees are: Donna Lee Froshler, Vickie Sommer, Sherry Roth and Cathy Congdon.

The meeting was adjourned and we had lunch.

KILLAM 4-H HORSE CLUB

Have you got a horse that's thin and has a dull-looking coat? If so, he probably has worms, so Dr. Art Schatz told us when he showed us a film on Parasites of Horses at the Killam 4-H Horse Club meeting held on February 9.

The film showed the lifecycle of all kinds of worms, such as bots and round worms. After the film, Dr. Schatz talked about vaccinating for sleeping sickness and colds.

There was no business meeting. Mrs. Djos gave out horse record books and showed Patty Wallace's scrapbook so that the new members saw how to make one. In our scrapbooks, we are to put in a record of meetings, information of our horse, the parts of a horse and the tack. We have to be original and any other interesting things we want to put in.

Lee Wilson thanked Dr. Art Schatz for coming and presented him with a belt buckle.

COME ALIVE . . .

"Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, That I am GOD. (Isa. 43:12) A living Christian will have a living testimony to bear. If you have been following Jesus step by step, you will have something right to the point to relate of the way he has led you. You can tell how you tested His promise, and found the promise true. You can point to the living spots in your experience, without going back for years into the past. Would that we more often hear the simple, earnest testimony of heart conflicts and victories.

Every true Christian will have a battle to fight to practice the principles of truth, as well as to assent to them. The captain of our salvation calls for witnesses fresh from the field of action. Those who have been fiercely assaulted by the enemies of truth and the adversary of souls, and who have conducted themselves as did Jesus in his hour of trial, will have a testimony to bear which will thrill the hearts of the hearers. They will indeed be witnesses for Jesus.

We do not always realize the power of example. We are brought in contact with others. We meet persons who are erroring, who do wrong in various ways; they may be disagreeable, quick, passionate, dictatorial. While dealing with these we must be patient, forbearing, kind and gentle. There are trials and perplexities for us all to encounter; for we are in a world of cares, anxieties and disappointments. But these continual annoyances must be met in the spirit of Christ. Through grace we may rise superior to our surroundings and keep our spirits calm and unruffled amid the frets and worries of everyday life. We shall thus represent Christ to the world.

Christ sought to save the world, not by conformity to it, but by revealing to the world the transforming power of the grace of God to mold and fashion the human character after the likeness of the character of Christ.

The grace of Christ is to work a wonderful transformation in the life and character of the receiver. And if we are truly the disciples of Christ, the world will see that divine power has done something for us; for while we are in the world, we shall not be of it.

NATIONAL UNITY

The east has been not. The federal government wants the major issue in the next election to be national unity. That was what they created as an issue for the 1968 election; it was their focus of attention in 1972, and it was their principle thrust in the 1974 election. Now they are inviting an encore for the same act played three times previously.

A reflection back upon our 100th anniversary of nationhood, the spirit of Expo and the obvious sense of unity that all Canadians felt in that year should lead Canadians to ask "what went wrong?"

What has gone wrong is that the federal approach to national unity has been ill-advised and does not reflect the reality of what is Canada. For more than a decade, the central government in Canada has attempted to unify this country by moving increasingly toward strong centralist control. The pattern has been clear: the growth of the federal bureaucracy has increased more than 300 per cent. In the interim, there have been countless times that the federal government has been in conflict and in confrontation with the provinces.

If one fact is clear in the recent Pepin-Roberts Task Force on National Unity, it is that a strong centralist domination over a country that is richly diverse is not an acceptable formula. What is required is strength, both in the federal and provincial arenas. More importantly, what is required is a clear definition as to what responsibilities are clearly in the jurisdiction of either a federal or provincial government. Once that clarification has been made, the need for embittered battle will greatly diminish.

The fact that the national unity question is again surfacing as a major issue in the minds of the present government should greet Canadians with considerable alarm. The reason is because national unity is being flashed in front of our eyes to divert our attention to the real issue . . . the economy.

At the present time, the nation is more than $80 billion in debt. One of the largest single payments made by the government each year is $4.5 billion for interest on our accumulative foreign debt. Unless the economic energies of the nation are directed toward a massive improvement in our economic wealth, then it is questionable whether or not we will have a country to hand over to the next generation, unified or otherwise.

About a year ago, Statistics Canada released information indicating that for the first time in history, Canadians are now paying more in taxes to the federal government that they were for the combined costs of food, clothing and shelter. That is a sorry accusation against a country that has the wealth of resources and talented people as does Canada.

When we consider the fact that Japan has 110 million people with virtually no unemployment and achieves that objective on the resources of fish, tin and ingenuity, then it is very questionable why Canada, with only 22 million people and virtually all of the resources any nation could ask for, has a million people unemployed.

It is my prediction that there will be an ever-increasing effort made on the behalf of the government of the day to project the issue of national unity as if it were the most central concern in the minds of all Canadians. The fact is, Canadians want jobs, relief from inflation, decrease in interest rates, and a nation that balances its budget.

Clearly, an intelligent and equitable resolve to our economic problems will have a considerable impact on the nature of our unity. In essence, a concern for our economy can be a method for keeping in touch with our unity.

Killam seniors

The Killam Senior Citizens held their regular monthly meeting on February 8 at 2 p.m. with an average attendance.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and all committee reports given. Attention was called to the fact that the 1979 membership fees are now due.

Literature from Canadian Pensioners Concerned was received and passed out to the members.

It was unanimously agreed to make a cash donation to the Killam Hospital to assist in purchasing equipment for the Therapy Room.

It was decided to hold our Whist card parties on the third Thursday of each month at 2 p.m. The February party was planned for a Valentine Party. The 500 card party will continue being held on the last Thursday of each month at 2 p.m.

Happy birthday was sung to four of our members and 88 visits were reported made to the ill and shut-ins.

The business meeting adjourned and Mrs. George introduced our PSS Director Paul Rejdal and his assistant, Mrs. Avis Steiger. They spoke to us on the help needed in our county to promote the home care of our senior citizens. As of the first of February, home nursing has already been made available in the County of Flagstaff.

Let's talk it over with Gordon

One of the items that, due to space, didn't get in to last week's column was a happy occasion I attended - the 60th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Black, formerly from Oluton and now of Camrose.

And I forgot to mention that when I met with the council of the County of Camrose, I informed them that Helen Hunley, minister of Social Development, had signed a documentation for funding of the new Camrose Children's Centre for $104,416, of which the county and the City of Camrose's share will be $26,000.

I mentioned last week that MLA Tom Lysons and myself met with the council of the County of Flagstaff, the School Committee, the Agricultural Service Board and the Flagstaff-Hughenden Hospital Board. To give you an idea of the wide range of topics discussed, they were as follows:

-the dismissal of school teachers for good reasons and who are still receiving a salary. If the act was going to be changed it would be that upon dismissal, cancellation of salary.

-the education of handicapped children and the Lamont court case where the court ordered the school board to have in place, the facilities for a wheelchair student and meet her educational requirements.

-the six to seven per cent provincial guidelines.

-rating of school bus, per child, as set out by the Department of Education.

-the exorbitant gas rates charged by Superior Gas to the citizens of the Villages of Strome, Rosalind and Heisler.

-a proposal for a provincial park at Bott Lake near Hardisty.

-revenue sharing.

-breeders' rights for seed growers.

-and from the Hospital Board, its concern that the Killam Auxiliary Hospital will incur a deficit of $10,000 by April 1. They asked if next year, line budgetting will be implemented instead of global budgeting; the out-patient cost to Killam being frozen by A.H.C. Also, the concern of the Hardisty Hospital being condemned years ago as an unsafe building with a promise of a new hospital by the minister. I'm sure glad that hospital is out of my constituency.

Another interesting problem, in more ways that one because of the cost of maintenance and utilities, is that the old hospital at Daysland be demolished and be replaced by administration offices and that, when implemented, the new fire regulations by the Department of Labour will cost the board $60,000 for all their hospitals. The board's concern is to the proposed upgrading and training of ambulance drivers.

Some questions I raised were the present and future enrolment of schools in Flagstaff; implementing the new fire regulations in its schools; a plea for their support for the need of a Kearns-Wagner type school in east-central Alberta for children with learning disabilities; and also the need for the Department of Municipal Affairs to bring in a plan for an equalizing industrial taxation. For example, an Alberta Power Plant is located across the river in the County of Paintearth, and the Town of Forestburg is the bedroom community of those employed at the plant while the County of Flagstaff has to build and maintain the roads to the plant without one cent of taxation from that plant.

I would like to see where one-half of the assessment of the power plant stayed with Paintearth County and 25 per cent to Forestburg and 25 per cent to Flagstaff County.

And before I run out of space, for this past week: I delivered to Vera Turner, president of Feristesh Little Beaver Hi-U Senior Centre, a cheque in the amount of $2,740.50 from the Department of Recreation toward the cost incurred in the building of their Drop-In Centre.

I attended an evening meeting in Donalda where the community gave town council the go-ahead for the building of a museum to house the outstanding Lawson Lamp collection.

I was campaigning one day at Olds and Sundre for my personal friend Bill Edgar, our P.C. candidate in the Olds-Didsbury constituency.

And, along with four other MLAs, I met for the annual meeting with the Alberta School Trustees Association Zone 4 at Lacombe.

And to wind up, the weekend I was with Ardell, my campaign manager Rita Nyback, and Robert Anderson of Ryley for three days at the Banff School of Fine Arts at a workshop for all the P.C. candidates in the forthcoming election.

Firemen's bonspiel held

Second in the 1st Event went to the Ray Rawcliffe rink of Sedgewick's Fire Department.

First in the 2nd Event was won by the Ron Dumburger rink from Daysland, with Ken Manure of Strome taking second in the 2nd Event.

First in the 3rd Event was taken by Larry Gehring of Strome, with second in the 3rd Event going to the Bruce Zimmer rink, also of Strome.

The overall travelling trophy was won by Heisler, where it will stay until next year's bonspiel. It is hoped the 'spiel will continue as an annual event.

The Strome Fire Department hosted this year's bonspiel with the Strome Ladies' Curling Club operating the lunch counter for the tournament.

Battle River Beef Club sees films

"Arabian Horses" and "Skiing the Outer Limits" were the names of the two films shown on February 6 at the Battle River Beef Club meeting.

Just because it's a beef club does not mean they learn only about beef. These two films were both greatly enjoyed after the regular meeting.

The business of the meeting included a discussion on a bake sale. They decided to have it on February 17 at the Alliance Curling Rink, starting at 1:30 p.m. (during the Women's Bonspiel). A raffle will also take place that day.

Travis Speedy then chaired a discussion on calf facilities. He divided the club into three groups, then each group worked on a plan and then reported about it.

The club is very grateful to Mrs. Steadman for bringing the projector and showing us those enjoyable films.

At our next meeting, March 6, the club invites the community to come and listen to our guest speaker talk on fire prevention, starting at 8:30 p.m.

Galahad District News Items

Our apologies to Martha Ponto. You've likely noticed the happy smile she has been wearing for the last couple of weeks. The reason is she pocketed $180 at the Senior Citizens' Bingo on January 29 and we forgot to congratulate her. Sorry, Martha!

Some folks babysit, others teenage sit. Bill Wise does it a little different. He sat sits! On Friday, he returned his charge to the home of the Dick Donalds' at Ponoka. For a time, he thought kitty had escaped. However, all was well. It was just hidden under the seat of the truck.

In the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Whitehead on Sunday, February 4, the Gideons were in charge of the church service at the Missionary Church. Gene and Anne were in B.C. to attend her brother Arnold's wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Walt Reeder returned by train to Viking on Wednesday. They spent the past month at Burns Lake, B.C., where they visited their daughter Doreen and her family. They stayed with their grandchildren while Mr. and Mrs. Stone enjoyed a two week holiday in Hawaii.

Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. Eddie Hanney and family of Wetaskiwin in the death of Mr. Hanney February 9, 1979. The Hanneys once made their home in Galahad, where Eddie worked as a mechanic.

The Galahad Senior Citizens Friendship Club met in the Centre on Thursday evening, February 8.

We were sorry our president, Anne Wise, was unable to attend. The attendance was rather small owing to other commitments and cold weather.

The usual business was looked after. It was decided to send a donation to help purchase therapy equipment for the Kitam Hospital.

A phone call had been received from Ron Williams of New Horizons, who is wishing to meet with the history committee on February 13 at 1 p.m.

Dick Huber of the Intercollegiate Press had phoned also. He was pleased with our progress and will meet with the committee as soon as most of the stories are filed.

A pot luck supper is planned for the March 8 meeting. Supper is to start at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Annie Oberg and Carrie Bowness served a delicious lunch at the close of our meeting.

Annie Strachan returned home on last Saturday's bus. We are grateful to Annie, Grace Pederson, Iris Thibault, the ladies from south of the river for their help, and to many, many more who supply us with names and addresses for the history book. Your faithfulness has made our task much easier. This rather huge undertaking could not be accomplished without the co-operation of everyone. However, we still have many hours of hard work ahead.

Congratulations to Mr. Hugh Bowness. He is now a great, great grandfather. Two of his son Hugh Bowness Jr's granddaughters presented him with the honour. Daughters were born to both of them – one on February 2 and the other on February 7. This makes five generations (a regular tongue-twister).

Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Annett of Bowden called at Galahad briefly on Monday afternoon. They had been at Viking and were on their way to visit relatives at Castor.

Building Your New Home

Are planning on building a new home or remodelling your present home? If you are planning to hire a contractor to do the job for you, here are a few suggestions that may be helpful.

Once you have decided on a suitable house plan, visit local supply dealers and inspect various items and types of materials that you require for the proposed home or renovation. There are many exciting and innovative building products on the market today, so become familiar with them. Know what type of windows, doors, exterior/interior finishes you want. Check on the services you'll require, such as plumbing, electrical, heating. Are there special fixtures you plan to include, such as fireplaces, decks, built-in cupboards, etc? These and other factors must be carefully considered before you consult your contractor for a definite price.

Contact a reliable building contractor, one recommended to you. Be sure to visit and inspect homes he has built to determine the quality of his work. Ask about his experience and reliability.

Next, present the contractor with the house plans. Inform him as to the materials and special features you want. Ask him to submit a firm price in writing.

It's a good idea to shop around and obtain two or more quotations based on the same plans and specifications.

When you have selected a contractor, it is a good precaution to check on his credit rating. This may be done through your own bank. It is also advisable to inquire with the local sub-contractors and suppliers in this regard.

Now you are ready to enter into a contract agreement. This should be a written agreement stating such things as the work to be done, materials and specification, completion date and a schedule of payments. For example: 25 per cent upon completion of foundation, sub-floor framing, completion of roof and shingles; 20 per cent upon completion of all exterior work, roughing in of plumbing and electrical and basement floor; 15 per cent upon completion of heating, plumbing services, finishing details, such as carpeting, exterior and interior painting and decorating, and any other work called for in the contract; 15 per cent of the balance to be paid on satisfaction of completion of all work covered by contract. The purpose of the holdback is to permit correction of any defective work and to allow sub-trades or suppliers to file liens in the event your contractor has not paid the accounts pertaining to your home. NOTE: It is your responsibility to clear the title in the event a lien is filed against it.

If, at any time during construction, you require changes or additional work, make the agreement in writing with your contractor.

If you are not satisfied with the material or workmanship, tell your contractor immediately so changes can be made.

It is advisable to have your lawyer assist you when drawing up a contract agreement. This is a business arrangement that represents your money – so protect your investment.

Window Treatments:

Remember, the Window Treatment Awareness Session is on February 14 at 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the United Church basement. There, you can sign up for the course on March 1, April 2, 3, 9, 10.

Dayaland News

The Hospital Auxiliary meeting was held February 8 with Dorothy McDevitt, 1st vice-president, taking over in the absence of the president and Kay Reist taking over for the treasurer. There were eight members and one visitor present.

A motion was made to send a donation to the Rebecca Lodge in Lougheed for therapy equipment for the Killam Hospital. The auxiliary was requested to buy extra blankets for the Dayaland Hospital. It was tabled until the next meeting so we can look into the purchasing of light quilts or comforters.

The Flea Market was discussed and the tentative date set was March 14, if the hall is available. Advertising will be mailed out the beginning of March. The meeting adjourned and lunch was served, which was prepared by the hospital.

Sympathy is extended to the Stecik family on the passing of their brother Harry "Swede" Stecik. His funeral was held February 8 in the Dayaland Ukrainian Catholic Church.

Sympathy also to the family of Norma Olson, formerly of Strome, who passed away in Dawson Creek. Her funeral was held in Camrose February 8 also.

Tom and Pauline Mattinson and Shanon and Shaun from Viking called Friday evening on Emily and Carol Hill for a short visit.

Mariya and Vic McCarroll, Jackie and Morris Candlish and family, Gwen and Gordon McCarroll of Dayaland, Pat and Bruce Curtis, Heather and Rock McCarroll, and Jody and Ken Purches and family of Edmonton all went to Red Deer to celebrate Tara McCarroll's second birthday. She is the daughter of Rodney and Ingrid McCarroll.

50th celebrated in Lougheed

On the afternoon of January 13, a host of friends and relative gathered at the Lougheed Hall to help Mr. and Mrs. Albert Whitbeck celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The couple's five children: Catherine, Louise, Doreen, Lyle and Charles were all present with their husbands, wives and families for the joyous occasion.

Granddaughter Diane Koval of Edmonton was in charge of the guest book, and in spite of the sub-zero temperatures, a pleasant afternoon was spent renewing old acquaintances and reminiscing at the open house. The "bride and groom" passed their golden wedding caked – baked by Catherine and Ella and beautifully decorated by Mary Rombough – after which Albert and Barbara graciously thanked all their guests.

After a family dinner at Soto's Dining Lounge in Hardisty, about 100 close friends and relatives gathered at the hall for a very enjoyable social evening for which Percy Jones, son-in-law of the couple, very capably acted as master of ceremonies. Mr. Connie Ingvaldson, long-time friend and neighbour, started the program by giving a very interesting and humourous account of his recollections concerning the honoured couple and its family. Next, they were honoured musically with a duet by Lorri Jones and Denise Anderson. A hilarious "mock wedding", acted out by the grandchildren, followed to the delight of all present. Mrs. Kay Routledge played a beautiful piano solo and Jim Fossum rendered three lovely songs to end the program.

The grandchildren presented their grandparents with a lovely bouquet of flowers, which graced the head table when a lovely buffet supper was served with Mrs. Hanna Jones asking the blessing. After introducing the head table, Mr. Ingvaldson proposed a toast to the couple and letters of congratulations were read from Prime Minister Trudeau, Lt. Governor Steinhauer, Opposition Leader Joe Clark, Battle River MP Arnold Malone, Premier Lougheed, and MLAs Henry Kroeger, Tom Lysons and Gordon Stromberg.

The family then presented their parents with a colour TV as a small token of their appreciation. Other gifts and the golden bucket containing gifts of cash and cards taken from the wishing well at the door were then presented to the honoured couple, after which Albert heartily thanked all present.

Albert and Barbara have lived their entire 50 years of marriage in the Lougheed district, where they farmed for 44 years before retiring to live in Lougheed, and where they take a very active part in community and town affairs.

LOUGHEED SPORTS

Here we are again with news of a busy week of sports. We finally had more snow, so this should make our skiers and skidoors really go! go! go!

For our Pee Wee (12-and-under) hockey resume, we have the following report: Lougheed vs. Daysland resulted in a 6-4 score with Lougheed winning. Then they played the Viking Green team, but this was rather one-sided with a 9-0 score in favour of Lougheed. On Friday, on home ice, the Lougheed team was overcome by the highly competitive Viking Purple team 11-6. Nevertheless, the fans enjoyed the fast and exciting game. Saturday afternoon, the Pee Wees battled their way to a 7-all game against Forestburg. Hopefully, the league standings will be available soon.

Last week, the Rec hockey team, The Coyotes, defeated the Hardisty I.P.L. team 6-1. Several games are scheduled for the team this week. On Tuesday, February 13, they meet the Sedgewick Raiders, and on Friday, February 16, they play Camrose. Both games are at the Lougheed arena so we are hoping to see you there!

The Roadrunners lost their final league game to Daysland on home ice. Better luck and more success next season!

Proceeds of the Lougheed Coyotes vs Camrose game on Friday will be donated to the Therapy Unit at the Killam Hospital.

During the week, a Lougheed men's rink curled at the Amisk bonspiel. Two ladies' rinks curled at the Hardisty 'spiel and both qualified for the prizes.

The Gladys Lien rink with Linda Grove, third; Carla Leder, second; and Shirley Rawluk playing lead, placed third in the second event. Vivian Firkus' rink, with Dianne Johnson, third; Gayle McClements, second; and Shirley Drager, lead; won first in the third event, including the prize for their biggest end. Congratulations to both rinks!

To date, nearly 40 rinks are expected to compete for prizes in the four events at the Lougheed 'spiel.

The past weekend, many fans at home and elsewhere viewed TV hockey, "The Challenge Cup", the "series of the century."

A happy St. Valentine's Day to all!

4-H CLUB Activities

HEINA 4-H CLUB

It's not every day that you're going to see six cutters drawn by horses heading down the road, but if you had of been in the Hardisty district by Kenny Alderdice's on Sunday, February 4, you just might have.

At 2 p.m., the Merna 4-Hers gathered at Kenny Alderdice's home for a hay ride. However, instead of the old-fashioned hay wagon ride, six cutters were used instead. After about a 30-minute ride, everyone came back and enjoyed a great big bonfire to warm their toes and roast their weiners by.

The club would like to thank all those who donated the use of their cutters and horses.

Golden day honoured

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Millham, former residents of the Hughenden district, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on December 29 in Vancouver, B.C., where they have made their home for more than 34 years.

Many close friends and relatives celebrated with them at a reception given by their children at Point Grey Golf and Country Club. Hosts for the occasion were son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Millham of Vancouver, and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ed McConnell of Port Hardy.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Peddicord, Hughenden. Mrs. Peddicord was a bridesmaid at the wedding in 1928. Also present was a niece, Mrs. Donald Daily, daughter of Mr. Millham's only sister, who came from Calgary with her husband and Mrs. Jack Owen of Port Hardy.

Congratulations came from the governor general, the prime minister, B.C.'s Lieutenant-Governor Henry Bell-Irving, Premier Bill Bennett and Vancouver South MLAs Stephen Rogers and Gerry Straugman.

Mrs. Millham is the former Marie C. Hegay of Hardisty, Alberta, where the couple was married. They lived in Hughenden, McBride, and finally Vancouver, where Mr. Millham and a brother were co-owners of the St. Regis Hotel. Mr. Millham still has an interest in the Seagate Hotel in Port Hardy. He is past president of the Hotel Association of Western Canada and has been active for 30 years in the Masonic Order. His wife is a Daughter of the Nile.

GREEN ACRES

DEEP PLOWING

The Agricultural Service Board of the County of Flagstaff has been observing the practice of deep plowing of solonetzic soils to improve their productivity. The results are beginning to show some important repsonses, and these have been examined by John Hermans, Alberta supervisor of soil conservation.

Mr. Hermans states that in response to positive results documented by researchers both in Canada and abroad, Alberta Agriculture's plant industry division initiated a deep plowing feasibility study on solonetzic soils. Results to date from the study have been quite variable, but some conclusions might be drawn:

- some sodic hardpan soil do not benefit from deep plowing and may even become less productive.
- some soils are not impaired by deep plowing, but achieve no significant or economic increase in productivity.
- some soils do show a significant increase in yield.

Several plots have been monitored for several years in the Counties of Flagstaff, Paintearth and Stettler. The results show variable results, however, responses indicate that deep plowing is having certain effects. A detailed list of results is available from our office in Sedgewick. However, a summary of ranges are as follows:

FLAGSTAFF - yield difference from check strip 8.3 - 31.3 bu/acre

PAINTEARTH - yield difference from check strip 11.7 - 17.0 bu/acre

Efforts are presently underway to characterize the kinds of solonetzic soils that are responding. Because solonetzic soils are so variable, each site must be examined individually and various parameters, such as chemistry, physical properties, slope, agro-climate and ground water must be considered. Therefore, detailed site analysis should be carried out before any deep plowing is done.

Because of the positive response to deep plowing in some areas, considerable interest has also been generated in deep (20") subsoiling or ripping. Ripping is generally less disruptive to the soil than deep plowing, there is less topsoil loss and it costs less per acre. However, we do not know whether it has the desired mixing affect or whether an adequate amount of the lime-salt layer is brought to the surface. As with deep plowing, there is the potential with ripping or damaging some soils and even of making them less productive. Therefore, we should approach ripping somewhat cautiously and first determine whether:

a. enough of the lime-salt layer is being brought to the surface;

b. the effect achieved is lasting or temporary;

c. there is a significant yield increase using a suitable check area and yield measurement;

d. the returns are economically feasible.

IN MEMORIUM

TWEEDY — In loving memory of our son and brother, Laverne. A tender heart stopped beating
Two loving hands are at rest
God broke our hearts to prove to us
He only takes the very best.
A million times we've needed you
A million times we've cried.
If our love could have saved you son
You never would have died.
The things we feel most deeply
Are the hardest things to say
We, your family, love you,
In a very special way.
Always loved and deeply missed by your mother and Carl and sister Diane and family. 24-1p

HUYGHE — In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Robert Huyghe who passed away on February 28, 1978.
The years may wipe out many things
But this, they'll wipe out never
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together
We think of him in silence
His name we oft recall
But there's nothing left to answer
But his picture on the wall
Just when his life was brightest
Just when his hopes were best
God called him Home above us
To a home of eternal rest.
Ever remembered and sadly missed by his family. 24-1c

CARDS OF THANKS

We would like to thank our neighbors and the Daysland Fire Department for responding to our barn fire. Thank you also to the ladies that helped provide lunch. All your efforts are greatly appreciated and long remembered.
Wade and Kathy Linderth.

I would like to thank everyone for their kindness while in hospital, for phone calls, flowers, letters and cards. Sincere thanks.
Lyle Cox 24-1p

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to thank the doctors and staff of the Daysland Hospital for their good care while I was there. Also thank you to my relatives and friends for the flowers, candy, cards, visits and prayers for me while I was in hospital.
Louise Wylie.

We would like to thank the family and relatives for planning our anniversary and for the wonderful T.V.
Also thanks for cards, gifts, money and to those who took part in the program or helped in any way to make our 50th anniversary such a memorable occasion. Thanks again.
Albert and Barbara Whitbeck.

We would sincerely like to thank all our friends and relatives for the many cards and gifts sent to us to welcome our new baby. Also, a special thanks to Chub, Susan, Judy and Grandma Marie for looking after the girls while Shirley was in hospital. It was greatly appreciated.
Allen Ness Family.

We would like to give a special thanks to the following donors for their contributions to the 1st Strome Fireman's Benefit Quickdraw Manufacturing, Steiger Enterprises, Larry Geehring, Selkirk Hotel, Erie Auburn, Killam-Strome Co-op, Flagstaff Implements, Alvin Bied, Strome Feed Service, George Borgel, Killam Tire & Rubber, Highway 13 Turbo, A.K.C. Trucking, Dennis Wisner, Wheel in Drive Inn, Crowfoot Agri-Supplies, Combination Drilling and Killam Electric.

Very special thanks to Dr. Regehr for his kindness and excellent care given to me while I was a patient in Killam Hospital. To David Handley, therapist and to those nurses and staff who by their kind smiles and care made my stay more pleasant. To Warren Backman for his kindness and understanding. To those of Hardisty, Killam and Sedgewick for visits, cards and letters. Thank you.
Adella Goldsmith.

The Daysland and District Memorial Arena Association would like to thank the Daysland Figure Skating Club for sponsoring and organizing the smorgasbord of January 28. We would also like to thank all the people who so generously donated food for the meal. Another thank you goes to the Daysland Minor Hockey Association for putting on the Skate A Thon on December 10 which was also very successful. Thanks for your support, Daysland!

Thank you to each and everyone who helped make the Killam Ladies Bonspiel very successful. A special thanks to all the committees; the merchants who donated trophies, cash and prizes; the men who organized and staffed the Hospitality Room; Ed Barth, our draw master; Fuzzy Fenzes, rink caretaker; the staff at the Agripics; the ladies who prepared and donated the delicious food; and to all the rinks who entered. Your help and support were greatly appreciated.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

WHIRLING FUN

Rock handles turning, red and blue
Now don't be heavy, or go right through;
Chip that shot rock, just a light touch,
Bump up to it gently, doesn't need much.

Start off that rock, never look back
Aim for the broom, don't slip in the hack;
Smack on the button, the way to go . . .
It's looking good, a real great throw.

Get over that hog line, and don't be light
To come up short now, will end in a fight;
Sweep it like crazy, now let the rock curl,
To sweep it or not, my head's in a whirl.

Things look pretty rosey, the crowd's going wild
But eyes on the rock, there's no time to smile;
Our skip yells loud, "sweep it, don't tickle"
The next thing you know, we're in a pickle.

Amusing and exciting, curling's different game
Making shots varies, like defeat or fame;
But amateur or pro, a fact widely known,
It's anyone's game, 'til the last rock is thrown.

BECAUSE.

Because — you're not locked in. The purpose of R.R.S.P. is for retirement, but in the event of the unexpected you can turn to your plan for help. That's one of the beautiful things about an R.R.S.P. You don't have to wait until retirement to use it. You can have more than one R.R.S.P. and you can begin your plans and end them whenever you choose.

Because — it makes sense to begin your program early. Look at the chart below. It shows how $1,000.00 a year put into a Registered Retirement Savings Plan can help you look forward to a retirement that is happy and financially worry-free.

Hardisty and District News Items

Sympathy to Vera Hendricks and the Gordon Manning family on the passing away of Gordon on February 9. The funeral is to be in Amisk, with burial in the Hardisty Cemetery.

Millie Hall also is mourning the passing of a beloved brother-in-law in Nova Scotia. Sympathy to her, too.

Your reporter returned to Camrose and attended the reception of her cousin, who was married to Merlin Bushkas of Ferintosh. The reception was at the Legion Hall and went later to the home of Merlin's mother in Camrose. But the weather! Was it ever cold!

Your reporter attended the Golden Age Club's Friday afternoon with Irene Lyster (nee Clouston) and Margaret Miller, who used to teach in Irma, and Ruth Brynlund. We enjoyed the card party at the Drop-In Centre there.

Sorry, too, to hear of Gertie Gibson's brother passing away at Lacombe. He was 89, which is a good age.

The Paul Powell family had a social evening at their home Sunday night with the Claud Mays and Perry Powells attending from Hardisty.

Your reporter returned to Sedgewick with Ruth Brynlund, where we both enjoyed a lovely dinner at the Leonard Kerth home. After visiting Olaf Nelson for a little while, nan Alice came to pick up his mother.

Residents of Camrose had an exciting day last Saturday with a gas war going on. Someone from Edmonton brought a 200 gallon tank, and as 100 gallons per customer were allowed, they got 100 from one place and the other 100 at the other place. Camrose had the dubious honour of selling gas at the lowest price in the world.

The latest news about Sister Elizabeth is that she is out of the hospital and back at Mount St. Vincent. She has a new hip and is taking therapy. She received the card from here and is very far behind in letter writing, which is understandable, but wrote her niece, Mrs. Ron Maure, and wished to be remembered to everyone. So, we surely wish her well with her therapy.

Glad to have Adella Goldsmith home again after her stay in Killam Hospital.

Myrtle Andrews in Illinois, south of Chicago, says they had a lovely winter so far.

Hardisty Elks hold Corby Cup playoff

On the weekend of January 13 and 14, the Hardisty Elks held the Corby Cab double knockout playdowns with the Kinsella Lodge winning the senior event.

The rink was made up of George Rawiuk, Mike Orchesky, John Clouston and Lawrence White.

The Hardisty Lodge won second with Paul Maure, Jim Yuskiw, Pat Madden and Harold Moody.

The Wainwright Lodge captured the Junior Event. That rink was made up of Bill McTurk, Bruce Willerton, Fred Ford and Ken Anderson.

Another Kinsella rink placed by winning second in the Junior Event. That team was Wayne King, Bert Smith, Jerry Marks and Cliff Overbo.

On the Saturday evening, the ladies of the Royal Purple served a delicious roast beef supper to all the curlers and other members.

On Sunday afternoon, the trophies were presented to the winners by Exalted Ruler Art Collier of the Hardisty Lodge.

Value of RRSPs

Registered Retirement Savings Plans are not just for older folks. Couples in their 20s and 30s should be considering the advantages of investing in RRSPs for short-term gains.

Here's how. A young couple just starting out — both working — can use RRSPs to their tax advantage now while saving a nest egg to draw on when, and if, they revert to a one-income status in the future. In other words, the husband can buy a Registered Retirement Savings Plan in his wife's name and, by doing this, can claim the tax benefit.

By registering his plan in his wife's name, she can take advantage of tax-free money by cashing it in for extra income during those stay-at-home years. Since she's not working when she cashes the plans in, she will not be required to pay income tax on the money, unless of course, she withdraws more than $2,000 each year.

So, by buying RRSP in your early, high-earning years, you take advantage of their tax relief and at the same time save a tax-free nest egg for use when the family arrives and mother stays at home.

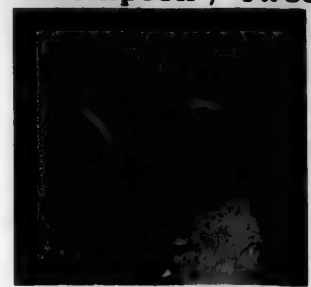
Thompson / Tweedy exchange vows



A pretty fall wedding took place at the Sedgewick United Church on September 16, 1978 at 6 p.m. when Catherine Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tweedy of Sedgewick, and David Gerrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson of Kelowna, B.C., exchanged vows. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. R. Chappell. Mrs. Kay Routledge was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown with a train of white nylon and accented with a yoke and lily-point sleeves trimmed with insets of lace and embroidered with seed pearls. A chapel-length veil was held in place with a comb. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white stephanotis. Her only jewellery were diamond earrings, a gift of the groom.

Attending the bride were her sister, Lillian Tweedy as maid of honour; Debra Bussey, friend of the bride; and Marion Armstrong, cousin of the groom, as bridesmaids. They wore identical dusty rose A-line gowns with printed floral capes in co-ordinating colours.

The groom was attired in a burgundy tuxedo and white ruffled shirt with a pink rose boutonniere. His attendants also were burgundy tuxedos, but had pink ruffled shirts and white rose boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride wore a salmon-coloured, floor-length gown with bell sleeves while the groom's mother was dressed in a gown of pink polyester with a sheer pink. Their corsages were of gold-trimmed white roses.

Ushering the guests were Harold Stephens, brother of the bride, and her cousin, Jim Clarke.

During the signing of the register, Ken Zink, accompanied by his brother Keith on the guitar, sang "The Wedding Song."

A reception was held in the Sedgewick Community Hall, where the guests enjoyed a delicious meal prepared and served by the United Church Women. Rev. R. Chappell asked the blessing.

The head table was centred by a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink silk roses and flanked on each side by pink tapers set in circles of flowers.

Gerald Stephens, brother of the bride, acted as master of ceremonies and proposed the toast to the bridal couple. Ed Ward proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom replied.

In charge of the guest book was Diane Videsjorden, sister of the bride. Attending to the refreshments were Ray Radcliffe and Fred McKee.

After the reception, an open house and dance followed in the hall. Music was supplied by the bride's cousins, "Ken and Keith" of Grand Centre.

For her going away, Cathy wore a three-piece suit of navy blue pinstripe with a white rose corsage. Dave was dressed in a beige ultrasuede jacket with rust vest and pants.

Out-of-town guests attended from Vancouver, Kamloops, Edmonton, Calgary, Sylvan Lake, Rocky Mountain House, Provost, Hanna, Camrose, Boyle, Cereal, Grand Centre, Winfield, Ryley and Lougheed. Congratulation messages were received from relatives in Florida and Kelowna.

At present, the newlyweds are making their home in Edmonton.

Hardisty Legion Auxiliary

The February meeting of the Hardisty Legion Auxiliary was held in the hut on Monday evening, February 5 with eight members present.

Following the opening ceremony a roll call, minutes of the previous meeting and executive meetings were read and approved as was a most satisfactory financial report.

The catering convenor, Mrs. Lil Grainger, reported on the district curling banquet. On Saturday evening, a roast beef dinner was served to 40 curlers in the hut. On Sunday afternoon following the final game, members and curlers met at the hut for lunch and a social hour. One and all declared it the most enjoyable weekend of the series.

The date for the visit to Flagstaff Lodge was set for March 13. Details for entertainment were discussed and will be finalized at the March meeting.

Tickets were distributed for the quilt raffle.

A donation was made to the Flagstaff Therapy Fund.

During lunch, Mrs. Margaret McClements' birthday was remembered with a cake, and although she could not be present, a card was signed by all to be sent to her.

Kindergarten busy on tours

The Sedgewick Kindergarten has been very busy these last few weeks. Every Friday afternoon the kids and some mothers get fresh air by walking over to the Rec Centre for an hour or so of skating. The kids will continue to go skating as long as possible. This is one afternoon the kids really look forward to.

On January 9, we all motored by bus to Killam to tour the hospital. When our tour came to an end, the nurse gave us all an ice cream bar for our little snack. We all thank you.

While the weather is holding out for us we aren't going to quit, so on January 30 we were off again. This time the kids, along with mothers, strolled downtown to The Community Press. Here, they saw just how our paper is printed and made ready for the mail.

On we went to the bakery. Here, Herta showed us how she makes donuts and buns. To finish our tour, Herta supplied us with our snack, which included a can of pop and a donut. We all thank you, Herta.

When we got back to the school, we had some pretty tired kids, but all was enjoyed by all.

Sedgewick and District News Items

Get well wishes to Mrs. Helga Williamsen, who on Friday entered the University Hospital to undergo surgery.

The Zone 3 Curling Playoffs of the Kinsmen Bonspiel was held at the Rec Centre here on the weekend. Winner in the B event was the rink skipped by Colin Cumberland, with Hall Sparrow, Dale Johnson and Doug McClements. They will now be going on to compete in Jasper in March.

Attending the Canadian Cancer Society Convention at Edmonton on February 1 and 2 were Doreen French, Gerry Hanson, Barbara Pottage, Barbara Cumberland, Evelyn Meer and Jeanette Harris. They report a very interesting convention and express the hope for a successful campaign for this very worthy cause.

At the home of Mrs. Molly Magee on Monday night, eight ladies helped Mrs. Magee and Mrs. Thordis Taylor celebrate their birthdays. Included in those present were Mrs. Pat Magee and children of Bawif.

Eight tables of whist players enjoyed the Senior Citizens' Card Party at their Drop-In Centre on Wednesday afternoon. Prizes for the highest scores were won by Mrs. Minnie Djea and Mr. David Black. Consolation awards went to Mrs. Bessie Russell and Mr. E. Freeman.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Freeman for Sunday dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacKinnon and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh. Dropping in for a brief visit were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Denham of Camrose.

I see that Mr. and Mrs. Werner Howeihe are back on the job after a three-week stay in Ontario.

Welcome home from the Dayaland Hospital to Mrs. Mary Cameron.

Miss Gretchen Howeihe has returned to her home in Whitehorse after visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Howeihe.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson and Adele arrived home on Sunday from a two-week Caribbean cruise. Guess the shock of returning to this weather was too much for Bill as he is now a patient in the Killam Hospital. Get well soon, Bill.

Mrs. Vivian Sparrow, Ardith Gould, Helen Tanton and Miss Mavis Shaw are curling in Red Deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Davison are in Edmonton, where Jim is receiving medical attention.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Leeb went to Edmonton on Saturday. Pat entered the University Hospital, where he will undergo surgery. Mrs. Mary Simons is looking after things at the Leeb home while they are away.

A few folk from here are attending the Christopher Public Speaking Course at Castor and are thoroughly enjoying it.

Get well wishes go to Mrs. Tena Blakeney, who is recovering in hospital from a fall suffered at her home.

I wonder how many folk watching the opening ceremonies of the Canada Winter Games recognized the young man who carried the flag for the Yukon. He was Glen Lewis, youngest son of the Rev. and Mrs. D. Lewis, who lived here a few years ago when Rev. Lewis was the United Church minister.

A good crowd enjoyed the very amusing play put on by the Flagstaff Drama Club at the school on Saturday evening.

Hobby Club meets

Wednesday, January 17, the Amalgamated Hobbyists of Flagstaff met in the Sedgewick United Church Hall with 19 present. President R. Patterson chaired the short business meeting.

The Battle River Art Club requested that the Hobby Club and Art Club present the annual art show in April as a joint venture and the Hobby Club agreed to do so.

Mr. Patterson introduced the guest speakers from the Sedgewick Pottery Group, Ray and Bev Niebergall, Miss Hampshire and Doris Lee. These four presented an entertaining and informative program with demonstrations and talks on various aspects of pottery.

Ray Niebergall's demonstration on the pottery wheel was fascinating. There were a number of beautiful exhibits of their work on display and all four were much in demand to answer questions put forth by the group. Lunch and social hour concluded a most interesting program.

The next Hobby Club meeting will be Wednesday, February 21 in the Sedgewick United Church Hall at 8 p.m. Exhibits will be shown and other items will be on view.

Questionaire in mail

Ralph Sorenson, social credit candidate in the Camrose constituency, has pledged that, if elected, he will represent his constituency's views in the coming election campaign as well as in the legislature. He announced that this week he will be sending a mail questionnaire to every home in the constituency. It deals with several key issues in Alberta, as well as giving an opportunity to raise others.

When asked why he feels this questionnaire is so important, he cited several reasons. "The views of individual people are important. The questionnaire gives all individuals and families direct input regardless of their political position, or whether or not they will be able to meet the candidates," Mr. Sorenson explains.

He said he also feels that it is the Opposition which is responsible for making changes in government policies because the government reacts to Opposition pressure. The questionnaire's results will be pressure exerted on the government both before and after the election.

When MLA for Sedgewick-Coronation, Mr. Sorenson used questionnaires on several occasions and reports having an overwhelming response of more than 30 per cent return, giving him an accurate measure of his constituents' views.

April blitz planned

The Canadian Cancer Society, Alberta Division, held its annual meeting and 1979 campaign conference on February 1, 2 and 3 in Edmonton as a prelude to its April campaign against cancer.

Representatives from Flagstaff Unit 18 – Doreen French, Barbara Pottage, Evelyn Meer, Barbara Cumberland, Gerrie Hansen and Jeanette Harris, who is a member of the Alberta Division Board of Directors – attended the meetings.

Reuben Hamm, 1979 Alberta division campaign chairman, was introduced by retiring Chairman Brian Sommerville. Mrs. Pat McVean, public information chairman, gave a preview of the public information material and campaign advertising material to be used for 1979. Dr. D.F. Cameron, dean of the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Alberta, was guest speaker at the Friday morning session.

Following the luncheon, Dr. B.A. MacBeth gave a talk on "The Origin and Meaning of the Canadian Cancer Society Symbol". The session then broke into small groups. Each was able to discuss the problems, and try to find solutions for those problems encountered in conducting a campaign.

Friday evening, the finals in the Miss Hope 1979 contest were held. There were three student nurses competing. Miss Heather Backer from Calgary's Holy Cross Hospital was chosen as Alberta's 1979 Miss Hope.

Saturday morning, the annual meeting was held and annual reports read from each unit in the province. Following the annual meeting, a meeting was held by the newly-elected Alberta Division Board of Directors.

Convention upcoming

The Central East Alberta Teachers Convention will be held in Edmonton on March 1 and 2. Teachers in the area encompassed by Camrose, Castor, Provost and Vermilion will be attending both general and specialist sessions during these two days.

School will be cancelled for all students in the Central East area, including the County of Flagstaff School Division, the Wainwright School Division and the County of Beaver, for the duration of the convention.

The theme for this year's convention is "Connection: The Year, The Child and You". Major addresses will be given by Dr. George Mager of McGill University, Jack Farrell of Saskatoon, and Rabbi Lewis N. Ginsburg of Calgary.

Throughout the two days at the Edmonton Plaza Hotel, many specialist sessions will also be conducted. These workshops range from the use of picture books from kindergarten to Grade 8 to the teachers as counsellor to workshops in upper-elementary and junior high mathematics. As well, various tours will be provided to major educational points of interest.

Guide-Brownies hold service

To mark Guide-Brownie Week, the Sedgewick Brownies and Guides attended the morning service at St. John's Anglican Church. Rev. Conrad conducted an interdenominational service and used the "Beatitudes of Children" as a basis for his message.

Prior to the service, the group flags were presented and blessed by Rev. Conrad. The Canadian flag was carried by Pat McArthur and the Brownie flag was carried by Tracy Pelzer.

Reading the lessons were Brownie Jennifer Affolder and Guide Mickey Harris.

During the service, the Brownies sang, "This Little Brownie Light of Mine," and the Guides sang, "Reach Out in Love," a song composed for International Year of the Child.

Following the service, members of the girls served lunch in the hall and a cake in blue and gold was enjoyed, marking the birthdays of the founders of the Girl Guide organization, Lord and Lady Baden Powell.

The open offering taken will be sent to the Canadian Friendship Fund, which is used in countries around the world.

Election Fever starting

Only the yellow rose on Premier Peter Lougheed's lapel and the date were the same when he marked the anniversary of his last election call by launching the March 14 campaign.

Social Crediters, New Democrats and Liberals were optimistic that Lougheed failed to pull off another Valentine's Day massacre of their prospects at the polls.

Openly relieved, Socred leader Bob Clark, NDP chief Grant Notley and the Liberals' Nick Taylor predicted that their chances would be better to make gains on issues in the Tories' back yard, Alberta.

The Conservatives crushed their opponents with 62 per cent of the vote and 69 of 75 legislature seats in the last election, which Lougheed called for March 26 four years ago February 14.

In 1975, Lougheed demanded a mandate to be tough with central Canada in energy pricing negotiations that were only two months off, and to create the Heritage Fund with the winnings.

The Tories' bogeyman of their last campaign – Ottawa and Toronto – took a back seat in Lougheed's 1979 election kick-off. Times have changed and the premier's platform reflected new circumstances.

The agreement last fall to postpone a $1-a-barrel oil price hike, which was scheduled for January 1, in favour of two $1 increases July 1 and next new year's, cleared the air of a potentially serious dispute.

Only a week before the election call, Lougheed returned from the first ministers' Ottawa constitutional talks warning of "confrontation" in future, even if fellow Tories were the next federal governments.

But Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau's plans were subservient when Lougheed called the vote. Alberta's contentious constitutional position dropped to fourth place in the premier's six-point 1979 platform.

Lougheed served notice at a Vegreville rally his Tories' record in office since 1971 was his "number one" issue. He was "just amazed at what we've been able to accomplish" and, "I don't intend to be bashful."

His platform was his record, the Heritage Fund, promised new programs, the constitutional stand, economic strategy and "the need – now more than ever – for a strong Alberta government."

Clark said he had "an outside chance" to become premier. He vowed to challenge the government and make his four-MLA opposition spearhead a march to 15 seats, if not power, in the new, redistributed 79-seat house.

Notley, the NDP's sole MLA, said he would not "daydream" and wanted to be taken seriously. He vowed to go "one step at a time" and lead his better organized party past the Socreds into the official opposition spot.

Taylor expected his Liberals, who held no seats, to pull far more than their five per cent of the vote in 1975 with a party and policies which are independent and "new, right from the ground up."

Precautions taken

Due to recent warnings on the dangers of watching the February 26 eclipse, all schools in the County of Flagstaff will start classes at 8:25 a.m., announced Dale Erickson, superintendent of schools. The eclipse is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. in this area.

Because the possibility of sustaining permanent eye damage by watching the eclipse is so great, Mr. Erickson said it was though best that school children be indoors and supervised in the correct method of viewing the event.

Rural buses will begin their routes a half hour earlier than usual, Mr. Erickson added, and school children will be dismissed one hour earlier at the end of the day.

The Canadian Association of Optometrists (CAO) and the Alberta branch of the organization have been warning people as to the danger of watching the eclipse improperly. Even though science has discovered certain safe ways to view the eclipse, said Dr. Roy Brown, president of CAO, "we are concerned people may misunderstand those methods and suffer permanent retinal burns or other eye damage. This could mean elimination of the central point of vision."

Because the burn is painless and can happen in seconds, there is no warning that damage is taking place. In fact, eye damage from an eclipse may not be noticeable for several hours, or even days. For this reason, the Canadian Association of Optometrists recommends the use of only safe, indirect viewing methods. These include viewing the eclipse on television or with the aid of a "sunscope" that projects an image of the eclipse through a small hole onto a screen. The CAO is providing its members with instruction leaflets on how to build a simple sunscope. In Alberta, copies of these instructions are being sent to most school division offices, or may be picked up at any optometrist's office.

Eclipses are a dangerous phenomena, said Dr. Brown, because as they approach total obliteration of the sun, only the quantity of harmful rays is reduced, not the intensity. Unfortunately, this makes it easier to look at the sun but does not remove the risk of burn from the remaining bright rays. For this reason, the moments just be-

People in Profile: A salute to Guides and Scouts -- and those in command

This week -- National Scout-Guide Week -- is a specially-remembered time around the John and Sonja Frank household; they and their family of four have been actively involved in Guides and Scouts for years. In fact, both John and Sonja are commissioners in the Guide and Scout movements. John is entering his third year as commissioner for the Flagstaff District of the Alberta Boy Scouts' Central Region while Sonja undertook her position last September as commissioner of the Flagstaff District for the Girl Guides' Michener Region.

Surprisingly enough, it isn't unusual for a married couple to both be so involved, says John as he lists off several other husband-wife teams in Alberta.

Scouts and Guides have been family affairs since Lord Baden Powell and his wife, Olive, founded the organizations in 1907 and 1909 respectively. As special commemoration to the Powells, the week of the founders' birthdays is the only time set aside for National Scout-Guide Week.

Not many changes have occured during the past 70 years. The age group of Scouts and Guides has broadened, but they still remain youth-oriented groups to develop personal and community-minded growth of boys and girls, young men and Guides and Scouts, says Sonja, "builds good character. The kids may not always show it," she adds with a smile, "but it comes out in the end".

It's good involvement for kids, says John, and helps in all areas of development: "physically, mentally and spiritually."

The main thrust of Guides and Scouts has always been the outdoors but emphasis is also placed on community involvement, which includes community tours, how to conduct business meetings, even fun things like games and songs. And individual projects are always being worked on and badges being earned, adds Sonja.

There are as many kinds of badges to achieve as there are number of them, explains Sonja, naming community service, art, sports, outdoors, cooking, citizenship, religion and life. There's even a specialty badge available, says John, where the kids decide themselves how it can be earned. For example, some Forestburg Scouts received the go-ahead from their leaders this year to study archaeology in the Battle River area, "digging up fossils and bones".

Scouts and Guides are always striving to earn more badges, not only for personal satisfaction, explains Sonja, but a certain number of badges have to be earned before obtaining higher awards. For Guides, it's the All Around Cord and the coveted Canada Cord. For Scouts, it's the Gold Challenge Award and the Chief Scout Award.

Guides and Scouts involve young people from five to 21, the Franks explain. As commissioner, they're responsible for all these young people in the area. Sonja's district runs from Viking to Alliance and east from Hardisty to Daysland and also includes Ryley and Holden. It's a big area, but there's only eight towns in it with active Guide or Brownie groups. Unfortunately, says John, his district has even less towns with Cub or Scouts -- and both districts are close in size. The husband and wife team have their home in Forestburg, having lived in that town for nine years.

The "big push" has started now, however, to have the Venturer age-group of Scouts (14 to 18) become more active in Alberta. John's already attended organizational meetings and plans to be in on the training sessions when prospective leaders can be lined up.

But how great the activity of Scouts and Guides is depends on the area, says John. Forestburg, for example, has had a thriving Scout pack for four or five years now. What usually happens, he explains, is that people get behind the groups and really make them work. Once the 'packs' prove successful, the common assumption is made that they are self-supporting. It doesn't take long, he adds, for something to fall apart if no one keeps it going.

Finding leaders is the most difficult area of the Franks' work as Guide and Scout commissioners. Once that's accomplished, providing guidance, answering questions and solving problems is the biggest concern. Commissioners also provide the liaison between leaders and their divisions. For Guides, the division commissioner is located in Camrose; for Scouts, the regional commissioner can be found in Red Deer.

A lot of miles are covered travelling to all the groups, Sonja notes, adding she's like to get around to them more. "You like to do a lot more," but it's hard, she says, when there's distant towns with only a couple Guide groups. "You know they have problems and questions," but it's difficult to spread yourself that thin. All their time is volunteer as well, but mileage and phone calls are reimbursed, Sonja adds.

Ideally, John explains, commissioners visit groups in their district a couple times a year. That helps those leaders "not feel so isolated any more," and helps commissioners to pick up ideas to carry to other groups. As well, says Sonja, she likes to attend each group's enrollment service when girls enter Brownies or Guides and receive their pins.

Having helpful leaders in your district is a big plus, adds Sonja, such as the Sedgewick and Killam leaders who helped start a Brownie and Guide group in Strome.

It's not uncommon to be a leader as well as a commissioner either, the couple says, even though it's not encouraged much in Guides because the position carries enough work as it is, Sonja explains.

At present, however, Sonja leads a girls' Ranger groups (age 14 to 18), "but for the most part, they take care of themselves. I'm more of an advisor." John hasn't taken on any leader responsibilities although he'd "like to be one," he says, especially if a Venturer gets started in the area.

It's not difficult to become a leader as long as a person is interested and capable, says Sonja. Having been a Scout or Guide isn't a prerequisite for leadership either, the couple explains, as training is offered.

An extensive 60-hour Scout training program spread over a two-year period is available for men, but John hastens to add, taking the course isn't a requirement to be a Scout leader. They aren't about to turn anyone away, he says with a smile.

Guide leaders, on the other hand, do require training for outdoor activities, such as camping, before they can take the younger-aged girls on an expedition. Sonja plans to finish her training for this special "licence" soon, as well as attend other training sessions in March: a one-day affair for leaders which she's conducting and a weekend in Edmonton for her own training.

It all takes time, the couple agrees, but if you believe in something enough, or want to do something badly enough, you find the time, says Sonja. So far, Sonja's found time to drive one of Forestburg's school buses "only part-time", figure skate, play basketball and hockey (she's on defence) and be involved in a three-piece band. John keeps more than busy with baseball in the summer, hunting in the fall, being on town council, chairman of the Forestburg Youth Centre and on that town's committee to develop a community recreation plan.

SHAME IS SOMETHING that most of us care not to display, especially in front of others. Yet, for the very, very first time in my life, I am becoming ashamed of my country, the land of by birth, and those who are supposed to be operating its affairs.

HAVING WATCHED AND WITNESSED the nation "rally round" the cause of freedom and right during two world wars in opposition to those who would destroy our way of life, offering themselves as sacrifices on the altar of liberty; having watched and lived through a period of the most distressing times in the history of the nation, when fortitude and determination were the victors; having seen my country agonizing in the pains of both extremes of fortune yet maintaining its equanimity and not disturbed by either situation, I have become disillusioned with the way my country is going. I am shaken by the trend toward fragmentation of the nation, by the possible regionalising of the various areas of the country, by the possibility of the balkanization of parts of Canada into independent entities. If it were not for my ever-present hope that all will right itself eventually, I might well throw in the towel.

THERE WAS ONCE A HORSE TRADER who told a customer that his horse was a real worker, gentle and obedient, even though it didn't look so good. When the customer got home, he discovered that the horse was blind. Going back with his complaint, he was told, "Well, I told you he didn't look so good." That's the way our 10 first ministers are trading today. They don't look so good. Each one is attempting to become a "Little Napoleon". If you want agreement from me, I want this in return, an attitude, which if carried to the extreme, could strip the central government bare. Then what do we have? Ten little Napoleons, each manipulating for power over each other. A situation which would be unacceptable and unbearable to the people of this country.

BEING A FED, I am a strong exponent of a strong federal government, and this continual hacking away at its authority will do nothing but erode its position and destroy the visibility of Canada.

WATCHING THE LATEST machinations of the first ministers' conference in Ottawa was a complete exercise in disgust. What this country has is an excess of politicians and a dearth of statesmen. For more than 50 years, we have been harping away at bringing the constitution home where it belongs, and for that same 50 years, we have been limping along like a lame duck. Frankly, I am fed up with the most childish approach our leaders are taking. I hope most Canadians are fed up as well, and will finally tell our politicians to get on with the thing or shut up. I, for one, have had it. Our problem is that we are afraid to grow up. Let's get on with it. After all, we are more than 100 years old. We should have some sense by that time.

LET'S GET THIS COUNTRY back together. Let's think like Canadians and not like regionalists. Let us not invite outside interference by way of default in conducting our own affairs. Let us all wake up and realize what is happening; not wait until it happens, and it's too late to remedy. Hard words you say? Yes, they are. But if you don't want to hear them, then do something about it, and help me get rid of my shame.

KILLAM 4-H BEEF CLUB

Public speaking was the main topic on the agenda for the February meeting of the Killam 4-H Beef Club at the home of Lawrence Dammann.

The first-place winner of the junior section of the club was Freddy Wilson, and the winner of the senior section was Lee Wilson. The club would like to give special thanks to Mr. Ed Fee, Mrs. Irene Fossen and Mrs. Marge Boutin, the judges for these speakoffs.

The public speaking was preceded by a short meeting in which tour day was discussed and tabled. The club decided to make halters at our meetings for the month of March. A committee was formed to make arrangements to challenge for the Dip Henderson Cup.

After the speakoffs were finished, the hostess served lunch. -Stuart Wilson

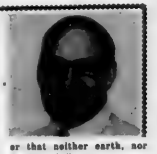
COME ALIVE . . .



-by Curtis Johnson

"These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." (John 16:33)

Christ did not fail, neither was He discouraged, and His followers are to manifest a faith of the same enduring nature. They are to live as He lived, and work as He worked, because they depend on Him as the great master worker.

Courage, energy and perseverance they must possess. Though apparent impossibilities obstruct their way, by His grace they are to go forward. Instead of deploring difficulties, they are called upon to surmount them. They are to dispare of nothing, and to hope for everything. With the golden chain of His matchless love, Christ has bound them to the throne of God. It is His purpose that the highest influence in the universe, emenating from the source of all power, shall be theirs. They are to have power to resist evil, power that neither earth, nor death, nor hell can master, power that will enable them to over come as Christ overcame.

Inspiration faithfully records the faults of good men, those who were distinguished by the favour of God; indeed, their faults are more fully presented than their virtues. Moses, David, Abraham, all had their sins marked down a lesson for you and I.

Men whom God favoured, and to whom He entrusted great responsibility, were sometimes overcome by temptation and committed sin, even as we at the present day strive, waver, and frequently fall into error. Their lives, with all their faults and follies, are open to us, both for our encouragement and warning. If they had been represented as without fault, we, with our sinful nature, might despair at our own mistakes and failures. But seeing where others struggled through discouragement like our own, where they fell under temptation as we have done, and yet took heart again and conquered through the grace of God, we are encouraged in our striving after righteousness. As they, though sometimes beaten back, recovered their ground, and were blessed of God, so we too may be overcomers in the strength of Jesus.

The life of Christ's disciples is to be like His, a series of uninterrupted victories, not seen to be such here, but recognized as such in the great hereafter.

Bethania women worship

"What Will You Do With Jesus?" was the theme of the Bible Study presented by Molly Magee at the meeting of the Bethania Lutheran Ladies the evening of February 13. By God's grace, we are offered abundant life and a new unbroken fellowship with him, but because of sin, human beings are alienated from God. Jesus is the bridge of love and salvation between God and his creation. We are undeserving of his love and mercy, but he asks us to accept his gift in Christ because he longs for fellowship and communication with us. Even when faced with this total love, Jesus Christ, people in their sin may hesitate, even reject it, but each person MUST face the question "What Will You Do With Jesus?"

A beautiful and challenging solo was sung by Christine Myrehaug and a time of prayer was had, specially remembering the Spiritual Life Mission to be held in Sedgewick March 4 to 11.

Several items of business, tabled at the January meeting were discussed, and monies are to be sent to the Canadian Lutheran Bible Institute for hymnbooks, to the Seminary Library, the Department of Youth (Youth Staffer). New and necessary physio-therapy equipment has been asked for at the hospital and a motion was passed to forward a donation to this worthy cause.

Plans were finalized for the Valentine party at the Flagstaff Lodge.

The meeting adjourned and table grace was sung after which a delicious lunch was served by hostesses Mavis Danielson and Bev Neibergall.

Mrs. Betty Hill visited her mother, Caroline Robinson, at Kerrobert, Saskatchewan last week. Mrs. Janet Hill accompanied Betty and visited around Kerrobert and Dodsland, Saskatchewan to see her brothers and sisters and their families. While there, she was able to help her brother, Sandy Hogg, celebrate his birthday.

There was a regular meeting of the Dayland and District Recreation Board in the school staff room January 24. The Rec Board is looking for used band instruments in reasonable condition. Contact the D & D Rec Board, Box 374, Dayland.

The following shows are coming to Dayland: Stettler Gilbert & Sullivan on Friday, February 23; Bim Bom Boom on Monday, March 19; and Klondike Dixie Band on Friday, April 27. Advance tickets may be bought from Rec Board members.

Once again, the Recreation Board is sponsoring the pet parade and the Frackle Face Contest in D & D Agricultural Fair. This year, there will also be a Bubble Gum Blowing Contest.

Discussion took place on the rent or purchase of a building for the senior citizens.

A proposed budget for 1979 was drawn up to be presented to the Town of Dayland and to the County of Flagstaff.

The next meeting is to be February 28.

Valentine Day was a very special occasion for members of the Dayland Kindergarten as they entertained their grandmothers for a grandmother's tea that afternoon. The children did a nice job of decorating their classroom as well as table covers, napkin holders, cookies and a special Valentine cake. They made and served the lunch by themselves after presenting a short program.

Many mothers and younger children also attended but it was an honour for the children to be able to show grandma their abilities and the many in attendance made it well worthwhile.

Mrs. Anna Boggs, accompanied by her son Arthur from Vermilion, spent a week in Las Vegas visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Thom.

While there, they met Mr. and Mrs. Alex Candlish and Mr. and Mrs. Mel Wolbeck, who spent a few days in Las Vegas.

They also met Mr. and Mrs. Jos Swoboda, who are in Phoenix for the winter, but came to Las Vegas for a few days.

Sorry to hear that Mrs. Esther Whirth is in an Edmonton hospital and has undergone surgery. Hope you are better soon, Esther.

DAYLAND 4-H BEEF CLUB HAS PUBLIC SPEAKATHON

On February 14, the Dayland 4-H Beef Club held the public speakoffs for the junior and senior members. In the juniors, winners were: Lyanne Klutz, first place for A Salute To 4-H; Shelley Waldorf, second for A Trip To The Dentist; Colleen Welsbeck, third for My Friend.

In seniors, winners were: Murray Klutz, first for How Well Do You Know Canada?; Jackie Waldorf, second for A Challenge That Led To Death; and David Berg, third for Food Additives.

The speakoff was held in the Roman Catholic Church basement.

On Sunday, February 25, Murray and Lyanne Klutz will go down to Galahad for the District Speakoffs.

On January 27, there was a 4-H workshop held at the Dayland Auction Mart with Gordon and Wendy Henderson showing how to groom and train your calf. Gordon also told how to judge a calf. This was all sponsored by the Hereford Association.

The next 4-H meeting will be held Wednesday, March 14

WINDOW TREATMENTS

Due to the inclement weather, the Window Treatment Awareness Session was postponed. The new date is February 28 at 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the United Church basement. This will be your last chance to sign up for the Window Treatment Course, which runs April 2, 3, 9, 10 from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day.

HOUSEHOLD STORAGE

These hints on household storage come from Betty Birch, DHE at Stettler.

Storage is a most important part of planning any home. We seem to accumulate more belongings these days than in the past and organization of all these things is essential to an efficiently run home.

There are six basic principles of storage planning to keep in mind:

1. Store items where they will be used first.

2. Items used together should be stored together.

3. Stored items should be easily located at a glance.

4. Items regularly used should be stored within easiest reach and removal.

5. Heavy equipment should be stored at or near floor level.

6. All space should be utilized for utmost efficiency.

This applies to all items we have to store in the home from food supplies, cooking utensils, sewing equipment, sports gear, garden tools, clothing, toys, and hobby supplies to farm records.

As you are planning the storage facilities in your home, think through the activities involved in using each item to be stored. For example, where do you store your jewellery? Usually a mirror is used when putting jewellery on, so storage should be near the bathroom mirror perhaps. If you don't wear jewellery very often, it could be stored in a lower drawer of the vanity. But the drawer should be shallow so that the jewellery is easily accessible when you do want it. If your jewellery is valuable, plan a lock on the drawer.

That seems like quite an exercise to go through for every single thing you store in your home, but that's what planning is all about. Time spent now saves frustration later on.

Household square footage is expensive so every inch should be used efficiently. What about the eight inches above your plates before the next shelf. You could hang cups there, or even put in another shelf. Have you used all that space above the stairway? Even if the cupboard isn't full height, it can still holds lots of cleaning supplies - particularly if there's lots of shelves in it.

What about the four feet of space under hanging children's clothes in the closet? Or the four feet above? Consider extra shelves and even an extra lower rod. Think about all the empty spaces and consider them as storage possibilities - the space just under upper kitchen cabinets - how about the space under the bed?

If you aren't a family of travellers, perhaps seasonal clothing could be stored in suitcases which are taking up spaces anyway.

A factsheet with additional storage ideas is available from my office.

KEEPING IN TOUCH

by Arnold Malone, M.P.

TOILET PAPER AND PANTYHOSE

The federal government is at it again. This time, they are prying into your private life, demanding your time, and wasting your tax dollars.

At issue is "The Survey of Family Expenditures in 1978". This booklet of finegrain questions utilizes no less than 48 pages on 8½ inch by 11 inch format. The questions are not only silly, the represent a gross invasion of individual freedom and liberty.

The survey, conducted by Statistics Canada under the direction of the Department of Industry, Trade and Commerce, will at best yield inaccurate results and, at worst, lead to public harassment.

The survey is questionable beyond belief. Can you imagine your feelings is you were threatened to respond to questions such as: how much did you spend in 1978 for hair nets, hair pins, pantyhose, sanitary napkins, scented soap, razor blades, shampoo, eyebrow pencils, hair tinting, barber shop service, hair styling (men's), hair styling (ladies'), and the list goes on and on. Even if the information were important, the validity must certainly be questioned. Do you really know how many bars of soap you bought last year?

Surely the question must arise as to whether or not there is any possible accuracy in asking "how many cloth diapers did you buy?", or "how many disposable diapers did you buy last year?" The government also wants to know how many pyjamas you purchased, how many brassieres, blouses, T-shirts, and pages and pages of more superfluous questions.

Then the government almighty asks other questions, like how many meals did you eat in cafeterias, restaurants, canteens, or drive-ins. (By the way, do you honestly remember?) And, do you remember how many paper towels you purchased in 1978, or paper bags, or paper plates, or wrapping paper, or greeting cards, or newspapers, or string?

Then mother government also quizzes you on the amount of liquid detergent, fabric softener, and toilet paper used in 1978. Moreover, it examines your purchase record on furniture, automobiles, fuel, and virtually all household and family items.

The survey would take three to four hours of your time in the presence of a government interviewer. And on this survey, that scene is repeated in 14,000 households across Canada. Some surveys interview as many as 25,000 households.

This survey, which amounts to a massive invasion into personal privacy, is conducted by the Ministry of Industry, Trade and Commerce. They not only want to know how much you spent for funeral flowers, lottery tickets, lawyer's fees, etc., but also your personal cash loans, bank-sponsored credit cards, life insurance companies, other installment debts and all other debts.

In total, 45 pages of fine print snooping into the lives of private Canadians. And what is the power of the Ministry of Industry, Trade and Commerce should you decide not to answer the questionnaire? The following is quoted from the Statutes of Canada relating to Statistics Canada surveys:

"Every person who, without lawful excuse, (a) refuses or neglects to answer, or wilfully answers falsely, any question requisite for obtaining any information sought in respect of the objects of this act . . . or (b) refuses or neglects to furnish any information or to fill in to the best of his knowledge and belief any schedule or form that has been required to be filled in . . . is, for every such refusal or neglect, or false answer deception, guilty of an offence and is liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $500 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months or to both."

This survey is an insensitive affront to freedom and an inexcusable method for keeping in touch.

Tilda Knutson's birthday honoured

Not too many of us reach the ripe age of 90, but Tilda Knutson, or "Aunt Tillie" as she is fondly called by all her friends, did just that on February 15. She was the guest of honour at the Bethesis Lutheran Ladies' Valentine Party at Flagstaff Lodge February 14.

Guests were welcomed by Pastor Neibergall, who also led the group in the hyma-singing.

Suitable musical selections were sung by Christine Myrehaug and Molly Magee, who also celebrated her birthday that day.

The Likness children and Darren Metz brought a lively number and guests were invited to sing along. A comparative newcomer to the field of instrumental music is Mark Myrehaug, and he favoured the gathering with a fine trumpet solo accompanied by Glenyce Rott at the piano.

A Message of Love, consisting of a humourous reading on the difficulties involved in finding a suitable Valentine for one's husband, and the true meaning of love as it appears in I Cor:13 was brought by Inga Jacobsen, president of the LCW. It was deeply appreciated by all in attendance.

Beverly Neibergall presented Aunt Tillie with a beautiful corsage, a gift from the ladies, and our honoured guest responded with a gracious thanks for being remembered in this way.

Two selections, "My Jesus I Love Thee", a favourite of Tillie's, and "Leaning On The Everlasting Arms" were sung by the ladies' chorus. The benediction, pronounced by Pastor Neibergall, brought the program to a close.

A beautifully-decorated birthday cake was brought by Tillie's daughter, Mildred, and this, together with refreshments and Valentine favours, was served by the ladies. It was a lovely evening and we hope that we can celebrate Aunt Tillie's birthday for a few more years.

Luella Johnson passes

In memory of Luella Helena Johnson (nee Olson), who passed away January 30, 1979 at the age of 67 in the Killam Hospital. She was predeceased by her loving husband, Carl Johnson, on September 23, 1975. Luella was born in Ohaton in 1912 on January 5.

In 1935, she married Carl Johnson of Sedgewick and resided on a farm in the Sedgewick area. To this marriage was born six children, four sons: Clayton, Keith and Dale of Sedgewick and Roy of Edmonton, and two daughters, Mrs. Norman (Ann) Walsh of Edmonton and Mrs. Cliff (Edith) Cookson of Lougheed, and 16 grandchildren.

Also left to mourn her passing are two brothers, John Olson of Ohaton and Roy Olson of Camrose, and two sisters, Mrs. Hiram (Olive) Brager of Camrose and Mrs. Cliff (Hilda) Simpson of Sedgewick, as well as many nephews, nieces and friends.

Luella was predeceased by one brother, Ed Olson, of Ohaton and one sister, Ethel Roggeveen, of Sedgewick.

Funeral services were held at Sedgewick United Church on February 3, 1979 and conducted by Rev. Chappell.

Pallbearers were nephews: Larry Olson, Dan Olson, David Olson, Elmer Olson, Marinus Roggeveen and Allan Roggeveen.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mrs. Luella Johnson extends appreciation and thanks to Dr. Meer and staff of the Killam Hospital. Also, thanks to Rev. Chappell and the UCW for their kind services. Sincere thanks also is extended to those who in many varied ways expressed sympathy and understanding a the time of her passing. Special thanks for flowers, donations, baking and cards received.

R. Bricker passes

On January 28, 1979, Mr. Ralph Bricker of Killam, Alberta passed away at the age of 82 years. He was born March 30, 1896 at Labette County, Kansas.

Mr. Bricker homesteaded in the Strome area then moved into Strome, where he operated a business. Later, he moved to Killam, where he operated a coin wash and trailer court. On retirement, he continued to make his home in Killam.

He is survived by his loving wife Peggy, three grandsons and several great grandchildren, as well as numerous other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, January 30 at 2 p.m. from the Knox United Church at Killam. Fee and Sons were in charge of arrangements.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to friends and neighbours for messages of sympathy and for flowers and food which were sent to the house during the time of our recent bereavement.

A special thanks to the pall bearers, Rev. McLaughlin, the organist, the choir and the UCW for the lovely lunch they served following the service.

Galahad District News Items

The Home Economics room at the Galahad School was the scene of a bridal shower on Wednesday evening, February 14 when about 55 ladies gathered to wish Cheryl Lenhart happiness in her new home.

Cheryl was seated at the head table with her mother and her mother-in-law to be, Mrs. Rita Blumhagen. A musical number was presented when Sue Frank and Sharon Wilton sang, accompanied by Mrs. Frank on the guitar.

The gifts were presented by Terry Borgel and Marilyn Holben after they were opened and passed around for all to see.

Cheryl thanked her school friends for putting on the shower. She also thanked each one for the beautiful and useful gifts which she received and invited them to visit her in the new home in Camrose.

A delicious lunch brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bittermas, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cordel and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Matier were guests at the Dick Dean home near Red Deer on February 10, where they joined in the 40th wedding anniversary celebration for Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dean. — Advt Red Times

The Missionary Church W.M.S. met for the February meeting on Wednesday afternoon with 11 ladies present. They quilted in the work period.

Ethel Black and Carol Jackson were in charge of the devotional. It was a continuation of the year's study on "Discipleship."

The business meeting followed, after which Maggie Fulmes and Ethel Black served a delicious lunch.

We were happy to have Mrs. Clara Dewitt back at our meetings. She is just back from a six-week holiday with her daughter Opal and family in the U.S.

The Presbyterian Church folk held their annual business meeting on Wednesday evening.

The Missionary Church held its annual business meeting on Friday evening. In spite of the cold weather, there was a good attendance at both meetings.

The meeting with Ron Williams was cancelled at the Senior Citizens' Centre on Tuesday, February 13 as storm warnings and cold weather were forecast. The meeting will take place on Tuesday, February 20, weather permitting.

Heisler altar boys honoured

Sunday, February 11 was the date chosen to pay tribute to the Heisler, Spring Lake and St. Peter's altar boys for the past year's service. The three retiring altar boys, Brent Kunta, Neil Martz and James Martz, were presented with framed altar boy awards in appreciation for their service by Rev. Father Becz.

The awards were donated by Providence Council Knights of Columbus, council # 4008, and framed by the Heisler Catholic Women's League. The three Grade 5 lads were welcomed by Father Becz on behalf of the parish as new servers, and they are Jackie Allers, Mickey Smith and Darren Zimmer. Each boy was presented with a gold lapel pin in the form of a cross.

The remaining altar boys are Grade 6ers, Lee Badry, Mark Klein, Neil Leeb, Dennis Meyer, Ted Smith, Mark Volk, Raymond Zimmer and Grade 7 students, Dan Roth, George Roth and Trent Sullivan. It is estimated some five names will be added to the directory after the new school term in September when the boys in Grade 5 will be accepted as alcolytes.

Mrs. Barb Bambers of Edmonton came down with Lorna Kroetsch of Camrose to visit with the Norm Lasso family.

The Norwegian whist card party was held at the home of Mrs. Irene Fankhanel on Monday evening. The prize for high score went to Mrs. Philip Hauck and second high went to Agnes Kunta.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fankhanel were weekend visitors with Lee and Joan Fankhanel and family near Edmonton. Recent visitors were Lucy and Don Bieganek and boys and Mary and Norm Twitchell of Edmonton. Mary and Norm were also visitors at the Elmer Twitchell home.

Ricky and Nolan Hoyme of Camrose were visitors over the weekend with their parents, Mr and Mrs. Del Kwasnick and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reuther, Earl, Kathy and Darcy Nelson and Mary and Ken Reuther were recent visitors with Leona and Gary Linde and family in Bretton.

The Birthday Club gathered at the club house to help Mrs. Marie Dobbs celebrate her birthday. Hostesses were Rita and Margaret Sunderman.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Niehaus were last Sunday visitors with Joyce and Lloyd George and family in Killam.

Reinald Kruchten is a patient in the University Hospital in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kruchten and family of Red Deer were home over the weekend with their mother, Mrs. Louise Kruchten.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Blumhagen of Alliance were Sunday visitors at the Reinald Kruchten home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lasso, with Steve and Michael, were Sunday visitors with Roseanne and Herman Freadrich and family near Forestburg. The occasion was also the birthday of their grandson Jade, who celebrated his second birthday.

The first firemen's banquet was held in Strome with the Heisler Fire Department winning first in the 1st event. Players were Leo Jepsen, skip; Mickey Heisler, third; Robert Lasso, second; and Brian Martz, lead.

Second in the 1st event went to the Ray Rawcliffe rink of Sedgewick. The 2nd event was won by the Ron Damburger rink of Dayaland, and second place was won by Ken Mazure of Strome.

First in the 3rd event went to the Larry Gehring rink with second in the 3rd event going to the Bruce Zimmer rink of Strome.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Kuntz and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Badry were Sunday visitors with Joan and Corey Kroetsch and family in Coronation.

Al Badry and little daughter Jocelyn of Drayton Valley were home over the weekend at the Herb Badry's.

Jim Schatz of Sedgewick spent a few days with his sister and brother-in-law, Rose and Albert Kroetsch.

Flagstaff Auxiliary enjoys visit from kindergarten

Due to the severeness of the weather, visiting has been lessened and the patients are looking forward to spring, which we hope is just around the corner.

The Killam kindergarten, with their teachers and helpers, brought Valentine cookies for everyone, after which they entertained with their sweet music. David Handley, our physiotherapist, led in an exercise program to music and with the children, patients and staff participated and had a most enjoyable time. David does this every morning and all look forward to it.

Mable Markwart visited with Mrs. Markwart.

Danny Dambrowsky was in to see his dad, Walter.

Greg, Vivian and Tam were in to see their dad, Jerry Richardson.

Russell Grant came in many times to see dad, Joe Grant.

Toby Schweitzer is also a most faithful visitor of Tom Lien and Gerry Richardson. Tom Lien enjoyed his outing to watch curling in Lougheed thanks to Bob Ness of Sedgewick.

Mary Sather of Dayaland and Van Dietz of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan visited with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Karchut. She also had the pleasure of seeing her great grandson, Leslie Dietz of Prince Albert.

Mrs. Wenzink enjoyed seeing Paul and Flora Vanderwoude of Sedgewick.

In to see Mrs. Black were Mrs. Essie Drager, Mrs. R. Drager and Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Alexander, and Dvid, Ida and John Black.

Carl Farvolden of Forestburg visited with Matthias Farvolden and Hogan Saur.

The patients and staff enjoyed their visit with Joe, Brenda, Myste, Michelle and Eran Gramlick of Stettler. Joe and Brenda are now employed at the General and Auxiliary Hospital there.

Rudolf Gross visited his sister, Mrs. Martha Wittwer.

Paige and Rae Fisher were in to see their mother, Mr. Fisher, and Vivian Hampshire was in to see her mother, Mrs. Kells.

Stanley Smith of Alliance visited with all his friends and neighbours.

John Pitts enjoyed seeing Mrs. H. Pitts of Forestburg and John H. Pitts of Forestburg.

Thank you once again to our faithful entertainers, Dora Klinger and Cora Paulsen.

Mabel Robson, Peggy Richmond and Jeannette Robson were in to see Nessie Seward.

Happy birthday greetings to Hogan Saur, who was 90 years old on February 11.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

GROWING PAINS

Do we ever grow up? Get over that demoralizing fear that if we do what we feel like doing, we're going to make somebody mad at us? Do we ever get over being insecure enough to think that just because someone is too busy or too tired to talk, that we offended them in some way? I have been saying we, but I'm really talking about ME, I, MYSELF. Will I ever feel secure enough, or grow up enough, not to care what other people may or may not think about me?

I've known people who seem not to care what anyone thinks of them or of what they do. Most of the people that I know that are as self-assured as to not care also seem to be very alone, and even brittle, as though they would split open if they should allow themselves the weakness of being insecure.

Is caring what others think being insecure or weak? Would we be able to respond to the needs of others if we could not care what they are feeling? Sometimes I think I could live without caring what someone else is thinking about me, but very soon I know that I cannot. I find myself apologizing or explaining myself to people who could probably care less. Will I ever get to the point in my life where it won't matter any more? Maybe that's what senility is, just not giving a hoot what anybody thinks.

I recall a lady, a widow, with whom I had been acquainted for years who started to do things just as she pleased. She remarked on this one day as we sat in her back garden having tea. She was trying things she would have been afraid of before because these things would have meaned up her image. Being on her own, now, for possibly the first time in her life, she could not hurt anyone else's image either.

"I've having the time of my life," she said, "I can try lots of things and if I feel up, people just chalk it up to senility."

Do I have to wait that long before I'm sure enough of myself not to care? Maybe we don't grow up, we only grow old!

Flagstaff Lodge

The Bethania LCW ladies were in on February 14 to entertain the residents at the Lodge and brought a very nice lunch. They also brought a nice birthday cake for Mrs. Tillie Knutson, who was 90 years young. It was Mrs. Molly Magee's birthday also. She told us she was 39 years old. Ha!

Get well wishes go out to Mrs. Emma Bergey and Mrs. A. Richardson.

Jennie McConnell was over for supper at the George Anderson home on Sunday and stayed overnight.

Gordon and Dolores Costen of Lougheed took George Hotz to Lougheed to watch the men hoopin'.

Cliff and Edith Cookson of Lougheed brought mum back last Monday.

Ruth and Gilbert Tillmar of Hardisty were in to visit Grandma White.

Charlene Heffel of Alliance and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Costall and boys of Irma were in to visit Dad Costall.

Darrin Holben, Phillip Misner and Lorene Holben, all of Galahad School, were in to visit Grandma Fink.

Lindsey, Susan and children of Pine Point, NWT were down to visit Granma Knutson on her 90th birthday and brought her a nice plant.

Cheryl Finseth and Donna Haugen of Tofield were in to visit Aunt Tillie Knutson.

Lyman and Lavina Baird and Nan Kueffler and Lily Kirschman, all of Forestburg, were in to visit Rose Kirschman and W. McMahon.

Hans and Paddy Osback of Killam were in to visit Mrs. Knutson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Etty and little Kevin of Galahad were in to visit Grandma Etty.

Rita Storbakken of Lougheed was in to visit Valda Storbakken and friends.

Mrs. McFadden's son Everett of Edmonton came down and took his mother to Alliance on Sunday to visit her other son, Galt McFadden.

Killam sees lottery win

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hager and Mr. and Mrs. S. Komperda, who were lucky winners of $5,000 on the Western Lottery. Another $25 was also won on another ticket. Pretty nice win.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bob James, who are the proud parents of a baby girl born February 12, weighing 5 pounds, 13 ounces. Her name will be Katrina Irene. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sid James. She's a baby sister for Kimy.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid James returned home from Arizona. It must have been quite a change in temperature for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fedunec and family of Edmonton and Mrs. Gertie Brodie returned home from a most enjoyable two weeks in Hawaii.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Don Stoven, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smolski, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Lang and Mr. and Mrs. Colin Kisser, who were the lucky ones to have their names drawn through Flagstaff Implements for a trip to Florida.

Nice to see Mrs. Art Anderson home from Edmonton after her bad fall at the curling rink, causing a broken shoulder. Although Dorothy won't finish the bowling season this year, there's next year, Dorothy.

Word was received Tuesday of the passing of Mrs. Fred Hall, who had undergone surgery in Edmonton. Sympathy is expressed to her family at this time.

Miss Cindy Newton of Hanna spent a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Brian Morgan and Holly.

Mrs. Vern Schuls returned home after an enjoyable AMA tour to Australia, New Zealand and the Fiji Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Erickson were Edmonton visitors this week.

Nice to hear Mrs. Bill Brodie is home from Edmonton Hospital.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

BATTLE RIVER BEEF CLUB

"Mr. Chairman, Honourable judges, fellow 4-H members, ladies and gentlemen . . ." were the words spoken by all the members from the Battle River Beef Club.

The speakoffs took place at Alliance School February 11 starting at 1:30 p.m. along with Bits and Spurs Horse Club.

The afternoon was controlled by our master of ceremonies, Travis Spady. The speeches were timed by Bruce Barnes and winners were declared by Bill Ekrast.

A total of 18 speakers spoke, consisting of four peewees, 10 juniors and four seniors. The winners of the Battle River Beef Club for seniors was Sherri Spady with a topic called "Energy Guzzlers", and for juniors was Lorraine Barnes with a topic called "Are You Being Pushed".

The club would like to thank the judges, Mrs. Ilene Wagenaar, Mr. Ray McClure, Mr. and Mr. Henry Scott for judging juniors; Mrs. Laura Towers, Mr. Peter Spady and Mr. Emery Trann for juding seniors.

After a rather late coffee break, everyone went home with a relieved face that club speakoffs were over for another year. -Lorraine Barnes

MERNA 4-H BEEF CLUB

The regular meeting of the Merna 4-H Beef Club was held Thursday, February 1 at the home of Ron Fossen.

The meeting was brought to order at 8 p.m. with 13 members present. The first discussed was the speak-offs to be held Sunday, February 25 at the Galahad School.

A discussion was held on obtaining matching shirts for the Achievement Day. It was decided the senior members have the 4-H sport shirt and the junior members the 4-H t-shirt.

A family bonspiel is to be held on Sunday, February 18 with the parents taking part in the curling also. A committee was set up to organize the teams and games. The bonspiel will be held in the Galahad Curling Rink.

Impromptu talks were given by Lyle Buchholz, Darren Buchholz, Clint Fossen and Jane Christensen. The meeting was adjourned and lunch was served. -Judy Gamroth

Talk to us first if you need a 1st (or a 2nd) residential mortgage

A small difference in the interest rate you pay on a mortgage may not look like much — but does it ever add up over the full term of the mortgage! So if you're not familiar with our current rates, come in and discuss them with me or my staff. We think you'll like what you hear.

Residential First Mortgages for:
- Building a new home
- Buying an existing home
- Refinancing an existing mortgage or for any worthwhile purpose.

Our Terms:
- Up to 25 years to repay, with interest rate reviewed every five years.
- Monthly mortgage payments to be within 30% of your gross income.
- Financing up to 80% of the lower of appraised value, cost or purchase price to a maximum of $44,800.
- Prepayment in full may be made at any time without penalty or bonus.
- Lump-sum payments permitted on each loan anniversary.

Residential Second Mortgages for:
- Major renovations or additions to your home
- Debt consolidation
- Any other worthwhile purpose

Our Terms:
- Up to 15 years to repay, with interest rate reviewed every 5 years.
- Monthly mortgage payments (first & second) to be within 30% of your gross income.
- Financing up to 80% (all encumbrances combined) of the appraised value of the property to be mortgaged to a maximum of $25,000.
- Prepayment in full may be made at any time without penalty or bonus.
- Lump-sum payments permitted on each loan anniversary.

PROPANE REBATE

If you used propane last fall to dry damp grain, you may be entitled to a cash rebate. Application for the grain drying program rebate must be made by February 28, 1979.

The program applies to farmers whose grain drying fuel requirements could not be met by a rural gas distributor, and it provides for a 10 cent per gallon rebate on all propane purchased for the purpose of drying grain. The period of time covers grain dried between September 1 and December 31, 1978. To obtain this rebate, farmers must apply on an individual basis, and they must submit receipts for propane purchased between September 1 and December 31.

Application forms are available from district agriculturist offices throughout the province. However, you will require a signature from your local rural gas co-op before submitting your claim. All claims must be submitted by February 28, 1979.

CROW RATES

There's been a lot of crowing about the crow rates for grain shipments in recent months. To add to the confusion is the talk about statutory rates. Which is what, and how much are each?

To help answer these questions, the Alberta Wheat Pool has prepared a booklet entitled Crow's Nest Agreement - How It All Began. This 16-page booklet examines the historical buildup to the agreement in 1897 and briefly describes what has happened since.

It's a well-prepared, factual booklet, with no editorializing or bias, and best of all, it's free. Alberta Wheat Pool has sent us a supply, which you may have by picking up at our office. Be sure to get a copy before you go to the Canadian Wheat Board meeting in Camrose on February 22. At least you'll have some facts, and make sure the board representatives give you some others.

The Canadian Wheat Board District Meeting is open to anyone. It's being held at the Crystal Springs Hotel in Camrose, beginning at 10 a.m. This is your chance to find out what's happening in the grain market business, and tell them what you think!

Diane Latham attends meet of Heisler 4-H

The five Heisler 4-H clubs hosted a very successful workshop for public speaking in the Heisler Elks Hall on a very cold Monday, February 15, from 7 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

After the 4-H pledge and O Canada, Shelly Sommer introduced the guest speaker, Diane Latham, from the 4-H branch in Edmonton. She is well-known over Alberta for her great work with 4-Hers in the field of public speaking and debates.

Grant Fletcher from 4-H Clubtime, Bruce Berzuik and Wendy Polynchuk also helped with the workshop. Diane worked with the group to show speakers and potential speakers that speaking can be fun.

About 140 4-Hers, parents and interested people attended from all over Flagstaff District. Theresa Erickson thanked Diane and her helpers for coming and everyone enjoyed a super lunch put on by the five Heisler clubs. -Jane Martz

Flagstaff Further Education HIGHLIGHTS

In spite of the recent cold spell, the adult education courses are experiencing fair attendance.

The 'Craft' program at Sedgewick, completed on February 19, had 15 adults registered.

The 'PreNatal' course at Killam Hospital, with Instructor Leona Dicken, registered eight expectant mothers and some of the expectant fathers attended. This course is planned in conjunction with the Health Unit.

The 'Business Management' courses offered by Lakeland College were cancelled due to lack of enrolment, as we do have our disappointments.

'Ceramics, Macrame and Crocheting' are the highlights of adult learning in the Stromo area. Your concerns directed to Dorothy Wiesehoefer will assist us in planning future programs.

Plans for the course 'Skills in Communicating' are now complete, to be held in Killam's Manitou Manor the end of March. Inquiries, please phone 385-3975.

The Home Economist is planning an 'Awareness Session' for the 'Window Treatment' workshop. Housewives should plan to attend this evening, then register if the program appeals to them. We are fortunate to have such programs available in the rural areas.

'Furniture Refinishing', instructed by Sue Sparrow, was well received at the Galahad School – a second time around for that area.

'Landscaping and Horticulture' are planned for Heisler and Forestburg in March. Nice thoughts for the kind of weather we're experiencing.

In Hardisty, contact Lis Szoke, and in Lougheed, Ardis Davis. Let them know your thoughts on adult education. They are working hard to serve the needs of their areas.

Watch for further announcements regarding 'Stress Information' night March 8 in Sedgewick.

News, Views & Reviews

From "Trails Grown Over", "The enveloping softness of a snowy day; huge soundless snowflakes shifting from a smothering puffy sky through air as still as sleep amid tall trees so motionless and silent – and all the world turns white."

It has been mild there used to fall during the past week, so this should make our skiing and skidooing enthusiasts quite happy. Lougheed Ski Hill's snow conditions are fairly good.

Lougheed bonspiel curling results will be available for next week.

Several rinks will probably be bonspieling at Killam this week.

Due to the cold and other sports activities, all scheduled hockey games had a fair attendance. Fortunately, the weather conditions did improve slightly, so it wasn't as bitterly cold.

Rec hockey results: the game played against the Sedgewick Raiders ended with a 5-4 score in favour of Sedgewick. On Friday, the visiting Camrose team scored 6-5 in their favour. The Stromo PeeWee visited Lougheed on Saturday and were defeated 6-0 by the Lougheed team. In the afternoon, the eight-and-unders (Mighty Mites) entertained the fans with a victory of 4-3 against Sedgewick. Dates for several hockey tournaments will soon be announced.

There are about 60 skaters in our figure and power skating club. Badge testing will begin on Monday, February 26 during lesson time. The 14 badges in the National Skating tests are for the following skills: beginner, stroking, elementary, basic, novice I, dance I, novice II, speed, jump, dance II, figures, freestyle, freestyle II, and dance III. The culmination to all training will be the March 4 ice carnival. With 1979 declared as the "Year of the Child", the theme chosen for this carnival is "Children Around the World." See you there!

Tuesday, February 27 should be an evening of fun at our arena. Do come and have your pancake and sausage supper, and then cheer for your favourite hockey players when the father-play the PeeWee team (12 (12-and-unders). Then at 7:30, the Coyotes Rec team will play against the Forestburg Ladies team!

February is nearly over and "sunny days now and then show that spring's not far off."

'Til then, happy winter sports!

Lougheed District News

Born to Nancy and Deane Dennis of Ponoka on January 26, a son, Damien John Carson, weighing 8 pounds, 2 ounces. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Art Muckleston of Acme and Dr. and Mrs. Warren Dennis of Victoria, B.C.

A family gathering met at the Ed Swainson home on Sunday, February 11 to celebrate two family birthdays and two anniversaries. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter White were among the guests.

The Women's World Day of Prayer will be held in the Lougheed United Church on March 2 at 2:30 this year. This is on a Friday.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Storbakken on the passing of Rita's uncle and also to Mrs. Margaret Denham on the death of her brother-in-law, Mr. R.N. Denham, in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Potter of Calgary are staying a couple weeks at their son's home, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Potter while they are vacationing in New Zealand.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Paterson are home after spending a month in the United States visiting relatives and friends. They were ahead of the bad storms, but cold weather here welcomed them home.

The Lougheed Curling Rink is a very busy place with the men's bonspiel on. The women are also busy with serving meals, etc., for them, too. Good luck to the winners.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter O'Rielly of Sedgewick and Helen's sister-in-law, Mrs. Lucy Messel of Edmonton, were Friday evening dinner guests at Hunter White's home. Molly Ferneyhough stayed for supper.

Mrs. Verna Bish of Hinton and Mrs. Gerry Kruse of Swan Hills were visiting with Tom Horrick and their mother, Mrs. Ellen Horricks, in the Auxiliary Hospital in Killam recently.

Margaret Denham was a recent visitor with daughter Betty and Joe Tradler and family in Bashaw.

Joan Wright of Edmonton was home last weekend visiting her mother, Mrs. Agnes Wright.

The usual whist drive was held at Bells Hill on Friday, February 16 with nine tables playing. Prize winners were: First - Mrs. John Brunner and Vernon Simpson; Sweep - Mr. and Mrs. Russell Morris; Mystery - Mrs. B.A. Davidson and Darrell Mathews; Travelling - Mrs. Art Armstrong and Darrell Mathews; Consolation - Mrs. Ralph Steil and Porter O'Reilly.

Get well wishes go to Mrs. John (Marie) Martin, who is in the University Hospital in Edmonton.

UCW meets with 11

The Lougheed St. Andrew's UCW held its February meeting in the church basement February 4 with 11 members and three visitors present. Mrs. J. Burden gave devotional. Minutes were read and adopted.

Material for the World Day of Prayer was received. This is to be held by us at St. Andrew's March 2 at 2:30 p.m. A letter was read from our fosterchild, Budi, and a letter from the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge requesting a donation to help in their campaign to buy three pieces of therapy equipment for the Killam Hospital. We agreed to send at $25 donation at present.

The card convenor had sent seven cards during the month of January.

We are planning to make terry slippers for the Hardisty Hospital who are in need of large and children's size slippers. Next meeting, members are to come prepared to do some sewing.

Mrs. C. Horricks is to contact the minister of anyone hospitalized for him to visit.

Mrs. H. Skoberg gave a report on the Presbyterial meeting she and a few others attended.

A committee to make up another UCW news bulletin was formed. In it is to be survey on having a television awareness workshop.

Our annual stew supper is to be held March 19. A committee was formed to plan the supper.

The Stewardship and Mission Education Committee have asked us if we would take a mission service some Sunday this year in all three charges. We agreed to.

Mrs. E. Drager said the museum co-ordinator was holding a meeting in mid-February and would like as many representatives from the different organizations to attend.

The meeting closed with the Mispah Benediction and lunch followed.

CARDS OF THANKS

Jean, Irene and Craig wish to thank all the people from Red Arm who so willingly participated in the Killam Winter Snowflake '79 Carnival. Special thanks to our queen, Gertie Brodie, for being such a good sport. We know you will all be ready to challenge Killam again next year. Thanks again. 25-1c

A special thank you to the many kind friends for the memorials, flowers and cards, sympathy and thoughtfulness at the time when it was deeply appreciated. To those who attended the service and called at the home, thank you.
The Link Families. 25-1c

I would like to thank Dr. Meer and the staff of the Killam Hospital for the excellent care I received while a patient in hospital. Sincere thanks to those who visited me, sent cards and gifts. Also, thanks to those who looked after my home and fed my feathered friends while I was away. Your kindness will not soon be forgotten. Tina Blakeney. 25-1c

We wish to express our sincere thanks to relatives and friends for their acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, floral tributes and donations during the loss of our loved one. A special thanks to Rev. McLaughlin, U.C.W. for the lunch, the pallbearers and Fee & Sons. Your acts of kindness will always be remembered.
the Bricker Family 25-1p

Participate in Canada's Employment Tax Credit Program.

The Employment Tax Credit Program was introduced by the Government of Canada to stimulate employment in the private sector.

In essence, we're encouraging you to expand your work force by providing a tax break for your business.

The potential annual tax credit for each new employee is over $3,000. And there is no limit to the number of new employees you can hire.

Now, by using the experience we've gained so far, we've changed the program to make it even more attractive.

Up to 33⅓% more tax credit.

The maximum term for the tax credit has been increased from nine to 12 months for each new employee. That means up to 33⅓% more tax credit.

Greater eligibility.

We have expanded the number and types of businesses eligible to benefit. Now almost every business that's been operating in Canada for a year or more can join in.

Wider choice of new employees.

Now, almost anyone who's unemployed and registered at a Canada Employment Centre for a minimum of two weeks is eligible.

A minimum of red tape.

We've simplified the procedure, so you can do the whole thing, from beginning to end, with just two single-page forms.

For full details on the program, contact any Canada Employment Centre/Canada Manpower Centre.

fore and after total eclipse are especially hazardous and may leave small crescent-shaped burns on viewers' eyes.

"Invisible infra-red rays are especially tricky," he said, because they are not eliminated by most screening devices people try to use. In the U.S. in 1970, one-third of the 145 cases of eye damage reported were from people who had tried to use some kind of device."

One of the worst dangers is that people may try to screen out harmful rays with sunglasses or improperly exposed photographic negatives. "These will not work," said Dr. Brown, "nor will polaroid filters or smoked glasses."

One study from the U.S. indicates that even certain so-called "safe" devices were associated with eye damage case. Dr. Brown also warned of the dangers of using binoculars, telescopes, cameras and other devices that concentrate the sun's rays.

Only those Canadians living in a narrow strip stretching across parts of Saskatchewan, Manitoba and north-western Ontario will experience a total eclipse February 26. In the rest of Canada, the eclipse will only be partial. However, during past eclipses eye damage has been reported from areas of both total and partial eclipse. Although the partially-eclipsed sun was still very bright, people tried to look directly at it to see the moon's silouette. Others used devices incorrectly.

The difficulty arises because the eye's natural defences against sunlight do not react as strongly when part of the sun is obscurred. In Vancouver, for example, the moon will cover 97 per cent of the sun but the remaining three per cent – while easier to look at – can still burn the eyes.

"Children are especially vulnerable," said Dr. Brown, "and should be closely supervised."

While the moon will cover better than 90 per cent of the sun in most of western Canada, coverage will decrease to 70 to 80 per cent in central Canada and 50 to 60 per cent in the Maritimes. Lasting slightly more than two hours, the eclipse will begin just after 7 a.m. in the Pacific Standard region, around 11 a.m. in the Eastern Standard region, and not until afternoon in the Atlantic Standard time zone.

At Edmonton, Alberta, the eclipse will begin at 9:30 a.m., will reach maximum coverage of 93 per cent at 9:35 a.m., and will be over by 10:44 a.m.

Sedgewick

The placings in the Sedgewick 4-H Multi Club's public speaking were: Seniors - Shannon Mackey, first; Pat Hogg, second. PeeWees - Darlene Hogg was the only peewee taking part in our public speaking and did very well.

The business meeting was later called to order by President Shannon Mackey and the pledge was led by Clint Sorken. The secretary's minutes and treasurer's report were adopted as read.

The Regional Fun Day was discussed at the meeting. The Fun Day was held at the Sedgewick Rec Centre on February 17 at 10 a.m.

4-H Multi

The Multi Club has decided to sponsor Sina Mackey as a candidate for the Agri Days queen contest to be held on August 19 and 20 in Sedgewick, also to be held at the Rec Centre.

Pat Hogg, one of our club members, will be attending the district speakoffs held on February 25 at the school in Galahad.

The next 4-H Multi Club meeting will be held March 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the Sedgewick Lutheran Church. -Sina Mackey

SOCIAL CREDIT SC
THE ALBERTA PARTY

Hello! I'm Doug Livingstone, the Social Credit candidate for Vermilion-Viking. My family and I farm with my parents west of Vermilion. I am concerned about people, this province and the future of both. I am an Alberta Wheat Pool delegate, a private pilot and have belonged to various community organizations. My concerns have prompted me to seek election as your representative in this constituency on March 14.

SOCIAL CREDIT BELIEVES:
In open, responsible and limited government. That individual initiative should thrive and flourish. Private, competitive enterprise is a people's right. In equal opportunity and social justice.

I BELIEVE:
Quality education and adequate funding is essential. Local health care facilities are priorities. Revenue sharing for municipal financing is necessary. Viable communities should be encouraged and guaranteed.

VOTE: Doug LIVINGSTONE Social Credit X

4-H CLUB Activities

MERNA 4-H CLUB

Knocking knees, churning stomachs and public speaking.

The Merna 4-H Horse Club met at the Brandisgen home February 11 at 7:30 p.m. for their meeting. Roll call was answered by giving the breed of horse and two characteristics about it. Did you know the Welsh Pony is noted for its endurance and the White Horse has always been a sign of affluence and high position.

Next, we discussed whether or not to get club shirts and decided it would be a good idea. However, nothing was set for certain but a committee was formed to look into the prices and styles available.

Finally, the scary part came. Our public speaking. For some it was quite easy; they could stand up in front of everyone and talk without the slightest sign of nervousness. Then there was some of us who shook so hard we couldn't read. However, everybody's topic was interesting and their speeches were good. We had three people come to judge and we would like to thank them for coming. The placings were as follows: PeeWees - Everett Alderdice, first; Wes Whitbeck, second. Juniors - Kirby Whitbeck, first; Scotty Alderdice, second. Seniors - Deb Elder, first; Paul Alderdice, second.

After, everyone enjoyed coffee and doughnuts. -Deb Elder

Hardisty News

The Gerald Fairfields at Gunn call their young daughter Trisha Ann.

When people send orders to Alberta Nurseries at Bowden, a niece of Marjorie Alderdice's will be helping fill orders. Her brother, Doug Maxwell, is going to acquire Jack Eryggren of Bowden as a son-in-law. The elder Mr. Eryggren is retiring from the nursery business so the young couple will be taking over.

We are surely sorry to hear that Lawrence MacIntyre has had such an unpleasant winter, spending quite a bit of it in hospitals. But he came home on February 1. We wish him better health very soon.

We send sympathy to Leo Croteau and family on the passing away of his mother, Mrs. Aurore Marie Croteau, on February 1. She was buried in the Westlawn Memorial Park Cemetery in Edmonton.

Ginny Pregitzer, Doreniee and Meredith have moved to a trailer in Camrose, not too far from her mother, Mrs. Kent.

Congratulations to Vera Hendricks on winning the Elks jackpot bingo is 61 numbers. Then, four tied on the Bonanza Bingo.

The Cihart family is back from the Phillipines and, although it was very different, they like Canada best.

Four ladies entered their rinks in an Amisk bonspiel. The skips were Shirley Campbell, Laura Blue, Bonnie Whidden and Elsie Dewald.

Congratulations to Shirley's rink for winning f'rst in the 1st event. Her rink consisted of Bev Suntjens, lead; Carol Reid, second; and Pauline Cateley, third. Their rink brought home the trophy.

Laura Blue and her rink were third in the 2nd event and Bonnie Whidden's rink placed second in the 3rd event.

We judge it must have been very competitive with Elsie not being recognized this time.

Hardisty Silver Saddle 4-H

The Hardisty Silver Saddle 4-H Club held its meeting on February 7. The meeting was called to order with the roll call, which was giving the name, age, height, breed and colour of your horse.

It was planned to have a tubing from the nursery business so the young couple will be taking over.

On Saturday, February 17, we planned to attend the regional fun days at Sedgewick.

The members decided to make tack boxes this year.

We all agreed to purchase t-shirts for members.

Each member was given a breed of horse to speak on at the next meeting for roll call.

After the meeting was adjourned, a demonstration was given on public speaking. Our speakoffs were February 16.

The regional speakoffs are in Hardisty this year on March 4, 1979. -Douglas Alderdice

Battle Bend

Mrs. Virginia Johnson accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Chave to Camrose last Friday.

Congratulations to David Koughnett, who celebrated his birthday last weekend. May you celebrate many more happy birthdays, David.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cihart returned from a very enjoyable trip to the Philippine Islands, Tokyo, Manila, where they visited brother Lloyd, Hong Kong, where they enjoyed shopping and the area. In Manila, they visited the Mayon Volcano and brought home some volcanic rock. They also visited the Island Negros, where there is a large sugar refinery, and the Island Corigador, where they have martial law with soldiers everywhere. They had a 24-hour boat tour and the climate was very hot.

Mr. Ben Cihart is in Winnipeg attending the C.I.L. convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Sakaluk were in Edmonton on Monday and dropped in to see Daryl Livingston, who is in the Glenview Extended Care Centre.

The regular Battle Bend card party was held in the School last Saturday evening with 6½ tables in play. Prizes were won by: First - Mrs. Florence Van Koughnett and Will Johnson, Sweep - Mrs. Daisy Jensen and Walter Chinnery, Mystery - Rodney Peterson, playing as a lady and Adolph Doering, Low - Mrs. Vera Morris and Darrell Matthews, and Travelling - Ernest Polege, playing as a lady, and Eldon Woody.

The next card party will be February 24.

HARDISTY STAMPEDERS vs HINTON - FRI., FEB. 23

PROVINCIAL PLAYOFFS - Final Game of 2 game series. 8:30 p.m.

Fish & Game hears speakers

The Iron Creek Fish & Game Association held its February meeting in Lougheed on Tuesday, February 13.

Members were pleased to have as their guests, Mr. Keith Williams, Alberta supervisor for Ducks Unlimited, and his assistant, Mr. Allan Warner. These gentlemen brought with them two films which were very much enjoyed by those present. One film was on the lifecycle of the pintail duck and the other was about the Canada Goose.

Following the films, Mr. Williams explained to those present some of the work Ducks Unlimited does and also some of the projects it hopes to carry on in this area. After answering many interesting questions from the floor, President Ed Davidson presented Mr. Williams with a small gift in appreciation of his interest in attending our meeting on such a cold night.

Membership Chairman Ab Martin reported the volume of memberships up considerably over last year with many new members and thanked the membership sellers for a good job done so far in 1979.

Plans were finalized to send four delegates to the annual convention, which will be held this year in Edmonton from February 22 to 25. The club will once again donate a Johnson Citation fishing reel for the big raffle, which is held in conjunction with the convention. We will also be constructing a display outlining some of the club's projects, which will be on display for delegates attending this year's convention.

Final plans were made regarding the Trophy Ball, which will be held this year on Saturday, March 3 in the Lougheed Community Hall. After adjournment, everyone enjoyed lunch and coffee.

Sedgewick District News

Eight tables of card players enjoyed Norwegian whist at the Senior Citizens' Drop-In Centre on Friday evening. Mrs. Lois Erickson and Mr. Ernest Koehli won prizes for the high-est scores after Mr. Koehli and Mr. George Hotz, who were tied, cut for the prize. Mrs. Gunda Storbakken and Mr. Harry Pottage received the consolation awards.

Last week, I reported that Mrs. Helga Williamsen was en-tering the University Hospital in Edmonton, but I have been told that she went for medical attention but is home. Sorry about that. Every so often, I get left in the wrong places.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hansen and children of Calgary were weekend guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Beairsto.

Mrs. Jean Muirhead spent a long weekend in Edmonton visiting with Mrs. Robins Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Truss and daughter Megan and Derek Truss, all of Calgary, visited with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Truss over the week-end. Mrs. Boyd, who is staying with the Truss', is back after spending a few days visiting relatives in Edmonton.

Mrs. Ruth Eriksson and Mrs. Gunda Storbakken spent a re-cent weekend in Red Deer vis-iting.

There were six tables of whist players at the Wednes-day afternoon Senior Citizens' card party at their Drop-In Centre. Prizes for the highest scores were won by Mrs. E. Muirhead and Mr. Steve Pot-tage. Mrs. Hazel MacKinnon and Mr. Ernest Koehli were awarded consolation prizes. A highlight of the lunch which fol-lowed the card games was a de-licious Valentine's Day cake which was made and decorated by Mrs. Pat MacKinnon. Every-one enjoyed this extra treat.

A few friends gathered at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Culbert on Saturday night to hold a housewarming party for them.

Spending a long weekend at the home of Mrs. Gwyn Gibbs were her son Bill of Sylvan Lake and his friend, Mr. Kan-ten.

Mrs. Jim Walsh went by bus to Edmonton on Wednesday evening and returned on Sun-day after spending a few days at the home of her son and fam-ily, the Jim Walshes at St. Al-bert.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke James and children of Elnora were weekend visitors at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke James.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Erickson, Dawn and Doug and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schmutz were in Edmonton on February 10 to help Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Schmutz celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. Congrat-ulations and many more anni-versaries, folks.

Mrs. Lois Erickson and Dawn and Mrs. Holly Andersen and Kerry took Ritchie Erickson to the University Hospital on Sat-urday for further surgery on his foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Barker are staying at the Eric Hagen home for awhile.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Andersen were home for the weekend, then Don returned to Mundare where he is employed.

Mr. Brian Barker from Lake, Germany is here visiting with his brothers, Jim and Wayde.

Happy to report that Mrs. Tina Blakeney is home after a stay in the Killam Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Platz were in Swan Hills and St. Paul visiting their sons during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barclay spent the weekend in Edmon-ton.

Mr. Pat Loeb is recovering nicely from his operation in the University Hospital. In Edmon-ton to visit him on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Simons, Mrs. Helen Loeb and two of their daughters. On Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gould and Mrs. Helen Loeb were his visitors. Best wishes for a speedy re-covery, Pat.

Mrs. Beth Blaeser and sons of Heisler were Tuesday afternoon visitors at the home of her parents, the Jim [illegible]

The Community Press

A Weekly Newspaper Serving the Communities of Hardisty, Lougheed, Sedgewick, Killam and Strome.

Single Copies — 25¢ WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1979 Volume 78—No. 26

The 4-h District Speakoff was held in Gal-ahad Sunday, February 25 Shown above are winners in the two speaking classes.

In the back row, Syd Walker (left) pre-sents the top senior award to Merle Jahns. Second place went to Jane Martz and third to Murray Klutz

Oilmen's Bonspiel held
44 rinks compete

Curling in four communities started Friday, February 23 as 44 rinks gathered for the An-nual East-Central Oilmen's Bonspiel. Sedgewick, Hardisty, Lougheed and Amisk curling clubs were the scene of much activity, and many good games. The majority of the curlers were oilmen, one non-oilman being allowed per rink.

In addition to the curling, a highlight of the bonspiel was the Saturday evening banquet and stag night held in the Har-disty Elks Hall.

Final games took place at the Sedgewick Rec Centre Sunday with Rob Hipkin's rink from Edmonton taking top honours. The complete list of winners in-1st Event - Conco Dist., Ed-monton, first; Home Oil, Har-disty, second; A & B #2, Sedge-wick, third; and Sparrow Elec-tric, Coronation, fourth.

2nd Event - Wilf's Well Ser-vice, Coronation, first (skipped by J. Brandingen); Porta Test Systems, Edmonton, second; Pack Line Inspection, White-court, third; and Petro Canada, Calgary, fourth.

3rd Event - A & B #1, Sedge-wick, first; Catalytic Enter-prises, Hardisty, second; Black Gold Electric, Red Deer, se-third; and Loram, Hardisty, fourth.

4th Event - McLarty Welding Coronation, first; C & G Oil-field Service, Camrose, second; A & B #3, Sedgewick, third; and Mapco, Inc., Coronation, fourth.

Much of the credit for a suc-cessful bonspiel goes to the hard-working president of the East-Central Oilmen's Bon-spiel Association, Jim Thom-son, and members of his com-mittee. Pictures on pages 25, 26 and 27.

Social Credit Leader Clark visited Killam

The Social Credit mobile, car-rying party leader Bob Clark and his entourage, arrived in Killam on the afternoon of Thursday, February 22, where he was joined for the remainder of the tour by Ralph Sorenson, Camrose candidate, and Ralph's wife, Jean.

Several members of the pro-vincial press were following the tour also. The group met infor-mally with more than 60 consti-tuents in the Killam Elks Hall during the brief stopover.

Then it was on to Daysland, where Messrs. Clark and Sor-enson met with the town coun-cil to discuss the many local concerns there. Later, the group travelled to Camrose for evening meetings.

Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce receives report on watch program

A well-attended meeting of the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce was held in the Lu-theran Hall Tuesday, February [illegible]

Reporting on the Neighbour-hood Watch meeting, Ray Pot-tage stated that although at-tendance was not large, a good presentation was made.

It was pointed out by the RCMP that even though we live in a small town, we are not im-mune to the crimes generally committed in the larger cities. Because of the increased pres-sure on such activities in the larger centres, this criminal el-ement is being forced out into the rural areas.

Valuables should be marked for easy identification in case of theft and engraving tools and violet ray pens are available on loan from the police. Also, on request, the police will inspect anyone's property for adequate locks and other safety features.

A request for a donation to the Central High Graduation Society was discussed and tabled. Mrs. Lorna Offord vol-unteered to obtain further clari-fication of the handling of this fund.

Melvin Kapicki reported on lighting from the highway to the tracks and it was recom-mended that the committee take a proposal for under-ground lighting to the town coun-cil.

Mayor Koehli reported that the town now has clear title to all lots in the new subdivision and that a new storage building for public works equipment was being constructed south of the fire hall.

A letter from Travel Al-berta requesting a list of major events in the town this summer was read. These would include the Canada Day celebration, Agri-Days and the Men's Open Golf Tournament. Money for the playschool was pledged and a donation to the Lougheed Re-bekah Lodge was delayed for the time being.

Work to obtain an emergency railway crossing is continuing. Flowers were to be sent to two new businesses in town with the good wishes of the cham-ber.

A change in the date of the annual meeting was discussed and it was decided that June, rather than March, would be a more suitable time. Member-ships are to run the calendar year.

The next meeting of the chamber will be Tuesday, March 20.

Your PSS Program

In January, the PSS program hired a playschool co-ordinator to assist communities in setting up a local playschool program. Wendy Archbold has since vis-ited Hardisty, Sedgewick, Kil-lam, Strome, Daysland, Al-liance and Lougheed talking to parents and providing them with information on play-schools. She plans to visit all towns in the county before Ap-ril 30.

Playschool is a non-academic program for children that pro-vides support for families rais-ing children, and provides chil-dren with an opportunity to so-cialize with other children. This experience better prepares children for school and other learning experiences. Research has shown that children learn more while they are having fun and that the more experiences the young child is exposed to in early stages the more he or she is able to learn in later years.

Our society is becoming so complicated and fast-moving that we would like to give our children every opportunity to cope with future changes. Play-school is one way to do this. Please get involved - call the PSS office at 385-3976. This is Your PSS Program!

COME ALIVE . . .

by Curtis Johnson

In heaven, God is all in all. There, holiness reigns supreme; there is nothing to mar the perfect harmony with God. If we are indeed journeying there, the Spirit of heaven will dwell in our hearts here. But if we find no pleasure now in the contemplation of heavenly things; if we have no interest in seeking the knowledge of God, no delight in beholding the character of Christ; if holiness has no attractions for us; then we may be sure that our hope of heaven is vain. Perfect conformity to the will of God is the high aim to be constantly before the Christian. He will love to talk of God, of Jesus, of the home of bliss and purity which Christ has prepared for them that love Him. The contemplation of these themes, when the soul feasts upon the blessed assurance of God, the apostle represents as tasting "the powers of the world to come."

The knowledge of God revealed in Christ is the knowledge that all who are saved must have. It is the knowledge that works transformation of character. This knowledge received, will recreate the soul in the image of God. It will impart to the whole being a spiritual power that is divine, for God's word is the voice of the Holy Spirit to your soul.

"For this cause," Paul says, "I bow my knees unto the father of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom the family in heaven and earth is named, that He would grant you, according to the riches of His glory, to be strengthened with might His Spirit in the inner man; that Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; and to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God.

What love, what matchless love, that sinners and aliens as we are, we may be brought back to God and adopted into His family! We may address Him by the endearing name, "OUR FATHER", which is a sign of our affection for Him and a pledge of His tender regard and relationship to us. And the Son of God, beholding the heirs of grace," is not ashamed to call them brethren. They have even a more sacred relationship to God than have the angels who have never fallen.

All the paternal love which has come down from generation to generation through the channel of human hearts, all the springs of tenderness which have opened in the souls of men, are but as a tiny ril to the boundless ocean when compared with the infinite, exhaustless love of God. Tongue can not utter it; pen cannot portray it. You may meditate upon it every day of your life; you may search the scriptures diligently in order to understand it; you may summon every power and capability that God has given you in the endeavour to comprehend the love and compassion of the heavenly Father; and yet, there is an infinity beyond.

In all His children, God beholds the image of His only-begotten Son. He looks upon them with a love greater than any language can express. He enfolds them in the arms of His love. The Lord rejoices over His people.

He has redeemed us out of the careless world and has chosen us to become members of the royal family, sons and daughters of the heavenly King. He invites us to trust in Him with a trust deeper and stronger than that of a child in his earthly father.

God is to us a tender, compassionate, heavenly Father. (I John 3:1), (Isa 46:9)

Poor Perrenscus, Prosperous Perrenscus

Perrenscus Q. Poppymas was a Lawyer. He was good at divorces, but there was just one problem, not enough divorces for him. He didn't know what to do. Business was really getting bad, mostly because there were fewer and fewer marriages going bad, and that was because most people were living in Common Law arrangements that weren't legal marriages. This way, you see, when they couldn't hack it anymore, they just ran home to another acquaintance.

Anyway, poor Perrenscus had to figure out a way to get more business. He thought that there were two ways to do this: a) Make people marry someone they can't stand, or, b) advertise to let people know that the services of a lawyer were now available (as if nobody knew such a thing even existed).

Perrenscus decided to use the latter method because he figured that it would be easier, I mean, what kind of money would he have to pay to get people together, like a person who hates someone isn't going to marry that someone just to turn around and pay a fee to the person that got them together to begin with. It appeared to Perrenscus that this was the best way, and he was properly proud of himself.

Then along came Brilliant C. Brainchild, and said, "Oh poor Perrenscus, don't you know that it is illegal for you to advertise??? Oh poor Perrenscus!"

"No, I didn't," cried poor Perrenscus. "What ever shall I do?"

"Well, I can help you," said Brilliant slyly. "I throw some weight at the legislature, and when I'm done that, I go and use my influence on the MLAs and get them to do what I want."

"So," said Perrenscus, "How is that going to help me with this problem?"

"Well, dummy, we change the law and make it legal for you to advertise. I think that we can swing it."

"I'm game for that!" exclaimed Perrenscus, extremely delighted and all that. "Let's try it!"

"Okay," said Brilliant, "and I'll do it for only 50 per cent of the take."

Well, that caught Perrenscus off guard, but then he figured that if there were two of them, and one was getting 50 per cent, he must be getting the same (arithmetic was always one of his best subjects). That was some take. Poor Perrenscus could see that he would soon be Prosperous Perrenscus.

So Brilliant C. Brainchild threw his weight in the legislature and set about making the MLAs see things his way. Let me tell you that took some doing, but he finally swung it.

It was now law that lawyers could advertise, but there were, of course, some restrictions. For instance, they were not allowed to mention their fees, so, honest as he was, Perrenscus just said that his fees were cheap.

Another no-no was using the electronic media to advertise. This was a problem for Perrenscus because he felt that his media would make more people aware of his services. But he overcame the problem with his great lawyer's mind . . . he advertised marriages. He told lonelosely people to out and find just any old body and get married up right away. The chances of a perfect match were slim and since there were two ways out of a bad marriage (one of them being murder), he would have a great career.

Poor Perrenscus was soon Prosperous Perrenscus because there were more divorces than ever. He put his success down to advertising, but he was wrong . . . the cause of the great increase in divorces was all the good movies on late at night when . . . well, you know.

Daysland News Items

Last weekend, the Daysland Curling Club held a mixed bonspiel with winners: 1st Event - H. Jacobsen, Bawlf, first; Roy Carlson, Daysland, second; G. Loesch, Strome, third; and Art Twitchell, Daysland, fourth.

2nd Event - D. Anderson, Daysland, first; G. Blaesser, Heisler, second; T. Blake, Daysland, third; and L. Blatz, Daysland, fourth.

3rd Event - M. Holmes, Forestburg, first; J. Candlish, Daysland, second; M. Olsen, Daysland, third; and N. Marts, Heisler, fourth.

The Friendship Club held its annual meeting in the United Church social room February 20 with President Anna Boggs opening the meeting with a welcome. Alma Koetke read the devotion of Meditative Thought and Self Control. The hymn sung was Beautiful Garden of Prayer.

The secretary's minutes and treasurer's report were given by Swea Midbo. The roll call was answered by 21 members and one visitor present. A letter was read from the Rebekah Lodge in Lougheed and a motion made to send a donation.

Three get well cards were passed around for us to sign our names on for Esther Wirth, Edna Pryor and Gustie Brown. Devotion for March will be read by Anne Dolans and lunch will be by Eleanor Davidson, Emily and Janet Hill and Rose Kishkewich. A practice of singing Irish songs was done to get ready to entertain the patients at the hospital March 15.

For the program, Rev. Mina Pool showed slides of her trip to Norway, which was very interesting. A lovely lunch was then served.

The Daysland High School is trying to raise money for its upcoming graduation by having a Ukrainian supper March 4.

The World Day of Prayer is to be held in the Ukrainian Catholic Church March 2 at 2 p.m. Everyone is welcome to join in the service.

Daysland council gathers

The February meeting of Daysland town council was held Tuesday, Feburary 13. Councillors Damberger, Lindseth, Dickaw, Sather, Turney and Larson were in attendance with Mayor Lisseck presiding.

Paul Bujold, newly-appointed director of Flagstaff Preventive Social Services, was present to meet council and discuss the 1979-80 budget. A good discussion on the role of PSS was held and it was thought that PSS pehaps needed to raise its profile a little as many people are still unaware of its usefulness to the community.

Mr. Bujold said he hoped to expand the PSS programs this year and continue the Summer Playground Program and Youth Travelling Theatre, which were such a success last year.

There was a very disappointing attendance at the Neighbourhood Watch meeting, however, much was gained by those who did attend. The presentation included films, pamphlets, lock displays and demonstrations on the use of the 'invisible marker'. There had been advice and tips on security in general and a further discussion on local problems and policing.

Constable Bangle took the name of those people interested in using the engraving pencil and invisible marker and the tools will be made available. Anyone not at the meeting who is interested in using the identification tools may leave their name at the town office.

Councillors Dickau and Lindseth reported on their visit to a Hardisty council meeting in accordance with the town's policy to exchange information and views with other municipalities. They found Hardisty council has many similar problems, for example dogs, and recommended the experience to other [illegible].

There is now a new Senior Citizen Facility Committee in existence for Daysland and surrounding area which, at the moment, is engaged in updating the statistics before formulating a definite brief.

Citizens of Daysland are reminded that all regular council meetings are open to the public and still held on the second Tuesday of the month at 7 p.m. in the town's office. There has been a change in the March meeting date, however, it will be on March 20 instead of March 13.

Class C status granted

The Daysland Agriculture Society is pleased to announce its fair now has a Class "C" status. Norman Nickerson, president of the Agriculture Society, was informed of this by letter from Marvin Moore, minister of Agriculture.

In order to qualify for a C status, the society has paid out sufficient prize money for a D class fair held during the last three consecutive years. Plans are already underway for the 1979 fair to be held August 11 and 12. The new fair books are being planned with a few new classes added.

The Agriculture Society is sponsoring a bull sale March 13 with the show beginning at 10 a.m. The annual supper and dance is to be held March 17, featuring an Irish stew supper with entertainment during the supper also. The society will also sponsor a seed stock sale June 13 and will have a rodeo September 7, 8 and 9.

Mr. Nickerson and Lil Klutz, secretary and Patrick Gartner, treasurer, attended an executive workshop held in Vegreville. They reported a learning experience as the theme was How to Conduct a Meeting Properly.

An agricultural societies' annual meeting and seminar is being held in Edmonton February 28 and March 1. Mr. Nickerson, Herb Robinson and Oswald Koehli expect to attend.

BIT 'N SPURS HORSE CLUB

On Friday evening, February 2, the Alliance Bit 'n Spurs Horse Club held another of its monthly meetings. The meeting was brought to order at 7:30 p.m. in the Alliance School with 23 members present.

Brenda Heffel started the meeting off by leading in the 4-H pledge. Following this was the club roll call, where members were required to stand and describe a specific grooming tool used on horses, and its purpose.

The next issue on the agenda was that of public speakoffs. The speakoffs were to be held Sunday afternoon, February 11, at 1:30 p.m. These speeches would be combined with the beef club speeches to make the day a little more full and interesting.

Next, Club Leader Verlene Spady gave members a few helpful tips on preparing and giving a good speech and how to give an impromptu. Each new member then had a chance to give an impromptu and Verlene's tips were put to good use.

The program ended with a delightful game where all members participated.

It Belongs to You!

4th Largest in Alberta

In just less than 30 years of operation, the Camrose Savings and Credit Union Limited has grown to over 11,000 members with assets in excess of $50 million. This growth has placed Camrose Savings as the 4th largest Credit Union in Alberta. This phenomenal growth is mainly attributable to our members, WORKING TOGETHER TODAY FOR A BETTER TOMORROW.

How Safe Are My Savings?

Your deposits are secured without limit at three levels within the structure of a Credit Union.

1. The Credit Union Act of Alberta legislates that a Credit Union maintain a guarantee reserve to underwrite losses resulting from uncollectible loans, a contingency inherent in any financial institution.
2. In addition, the Camrose Savings and Credit Union Limited contributes annually to a fund held with the C.U. Stabilization Corporation. This fund guarantees the solvency of the Credit Union to ensure the members' deposits are ALWAYS worth 100¢ on the dollar, plus accured interest. NO PERSON IN ALBERTA HAS SUFFERED ANY LOSS ON DEPOSITS IN CREDIT UNIONS SINCE INCEPTION OF THE STABILIZATION FUND YEARS AGO.
3. In addition to the above protective devices, the Credit Unions have an agreement with the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation which in turn insures the C.U. Stabilization Corp.

Kindergarten keeps learning

February could be considered an educational month for the Killam Kindergarten children. To encourage a further understanding of the Monarch butterfly, curly worms and egg carton caterpillers were made.

Most exciting, a "store" was set up. It was furnished with empty cans and cartons brought from home. Play money was made and "buying" and "selling" became a game.

The Killam Co-op also gave the children a tour of their new store. Different departments were shown and discussed. Very fascinating was the meat-cutting department. Hearty chuckles burst out when the sausage machine turned out curly sausage. Meat inspection was passed by the youngsters after some sausage sampling — some wanted more! The cafeteria was the last stop and lunch, doughnuts and juice, was served.

While in the co-op, Mel Ebelshauser, an organist from Edmonton, was there. He entertained the children by playing their favourite tunes and they inturn sang along. All in all, it was a profitable day and encouraged a remodelling of the kindergarten store. Now there exists a grocery department, a toy department and a lumber department. Goods received price tags and real money was exchanged for paper money. Thank-you to the Killam Co-op!

The "money" theme was even carried into the Valentine party. After the children presented their program of a few fingerplays and songs, mothers were served a cafeteria-style lunch in which prices were placed on different foods. They were then given money and each had to pay their own youngsters for their purchases. Gifts for mom had been made and best of all, valentines were passed out.

The Auxiliary Hospital received a visit, too. A big valentine was made on which the children wrote their name. Decorated cookies were passed out to the patients and a short program was given. Then, would you believe kids running out of energy? They did when Dave Handley, the physiotherapist, got out the exercise records and put the patients and children through their daily exercise routine. It was very enjoyable. Thanks for your co-operation Mr. Handley.

The highlight for the month was when the children, under the supervision of Mrs. Mary Pederson, made their own pancakes and fried sausages and everyone stayed for dinner.

Besides doing number drills and alphabet drills, kindergarten has proved itself to be an educational and very fun place.

In Profile: Home care comes to Flagstaff

Home care in the County of Flagstaff came into effect the first of the month. Sharon Howell (left) and Liz Werner, nurses for the program in the area, take inventory of their supplies as they finish organizing for home care in Flagstaff

Home care, a new program in the Alberta East-Central Health Unit, became available the beginning of February for residents in the County of Flagstaff. Under the program, medical treatment will be brought into the home for persons requiring it, but who don't need to be hospitalized.

Two nurses travel the county's boundaries offering the new health service. Sharon Howell is responsible for the residents in the south-western region of Flagstaff, including Strome, Dayaland, Heisler, Alliance and Forestburg. Liz Werner covers the remaining territory, including the town of Hardisty, Lougheed, Sedgewick, Killam and Galahad. Residents of Galahad probably will see Mrs. Howell in their town as well, the nurses added.

The first home care nurses for the area, Mrs. Werner and Mrs. Howell act on referrals from any concerned citizen, family member, doctor or health unit, who feel someone could benefit from in-home care or health treatment. The prospective patient is notified within 24 working hours "before we go knocking on their door."

After receiving permission, either nurse visits the person to assess whether or not home care is needed. As with any other type of program, Mrs. Werner explained, basic requirements must be met before people qualify for the service. These include being a resident of Alberta (particularly within the Alberta East-Central Health Unit boundaries) with an Alberta Health Care registration, and having a suitable home in which safe and effective treatment may be given.

The patient's eligibility, as well as need for home care, is determined at the time of the nurse's assessment visit. Even though the nurses don't require a doctor's referral for this initial visit, they do require the medical practitioner's approval before a patient can receive any care through the home care program.

Once a person is receiving home care, visits should be no more than twice a week, said Mrs. Werner, although this is easily changed depending on the needs of the patient. For example, she explained, a patient who has recently become a diabetic would probably need daily visits for the first week for help in administering insulin treatment. And patients needn't worry that visits will take all day, she added; they'll probably be no longer than 1½ hours.

After being on the program for 30 days, a patient is reassessed to determine whether home care needs to continue. "The goal is to make the patient independent of the program," explained Mrs. Werner, adding this isn't always possible when patients are elderly or chronically ill.

At present, home care in Flagstaff only involves treatment given by Nurses Howell and Werner. In other areas, however, non-medical support services, such as heavy housecleaning, are part of the program also.

Mrs. Werner and Mrs. Howell are hoping Meals-On-Wheels will be available to Flagstaff residents soon, as well as other services presently being worked on with Preventive Social Services. And home care does not include mental health treatment or counselling, the nurses say, although they can help direct anyone to the right channels.

For the first stages of home care in Flagstaff, the priority will be given to those physically handicapped and to senior citizens: those on waiting lists for nursing homes or auxiliary hospitals and elderly people living alone who just need some extra help in their everyday care. "They don't have to be really sick to need us," Mrs. Howell notes.

Although home care is new to the area and a great deal of organization is still required, Mrs. Howell reported that "everybody you talk to thinks it's a great idea." But, adds Mrs. Werner, since it is a relatively new concept, people are naturally cautious. The difficulty lies in getting people "committed and involved."

In other areas of the province where home care has been introduced, it's "mushroomed" and the nurses' caseloads have quickly grown. It is expected that all other areas of Alberta presently without the home care program will have it within a year.

Even though home care is being administered though the province's health units, it is a program unto its own with its own budget. There is no charge for receiving home care, the nurses explain, and in spite of its similarity to agencies, such as the Victorian Order of Nurses(VON), the difference, Mrs. Werner stresses, is "home care is free."

Non-medical support services are not covered in the program, however, and when and if offered to Flagstaff home care residents, will be charged "on a sliding scale basis," according to each individual's income, explains Mrs. Howell.

The nurses' medical training and experience qualified them for their positions as first home care nurses in the county. Being a registered nurse is compulsory as well as having at least one year's recent hospital experience. Geriatric nursing experience is preferred, they point out, and both were required to attend a two-week orientation course in Stettler before assuming their duties.

Both Mrs. Werner and Mrs. Howell work 2½ days of the week's five work days, planning their visits as much as possible, they say, around each patient's schedule. And of course, the nurses add, special consideration will be made if a patient requires care or treatment on a weekend.

Flagstaff's home care nurses have established offices in two areas of the county in order to best service its residents. Mrs. Howell's headquarters are in the Forestburg Provincial Building and she can be reached at 582 3606. Mrs. Werner is located in the county building in Sedgewick, phone number 384 3652.

CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends, neighbors and relatives for their many acts of kindness to both of us, during Merlin's long stay in hospitals, as well as Phyllis' stay in Viking Hospital. The many cards and words of encouragement and goodies received were a great help.
Our gracious thanks also to Dr. Cunningham, Drs. and staff of Viking Hospital, Dr. O'Callihan and staff of 8th floor of the General Hospital. Last but not least Drs. and staff of station 30 of W.W. Cross Institute.
Merlin and Phylis McBride. 26-1p

I wish to thank the Bethania L.C.W. for the fine program they presented at the ledge on the evening of St. Valentines in honor of my birthday, for the beautiful corsage I was given by the L.C.W. and presented to me by Mrs. Nisbergall. Thanks to my daughter for the nicely decorated birthday cake, for all the phone calls and lovely cards and congratulations I received throughout the day and to any friends who helped in any way to make it such a memorable day for me. God bless you all. Tilda Knutson. 26-1p

CARDS OF THANKS

The members of Trinity L.C.W. want to thank everyone who patronized our Tea and Bake Sale on February 10. We appreciate your support. Also congratulations to Mrs. Agnes Wright on winning the Valentines cake. 26-1c

We wish to thank the Lougheed Ladies Curling Club for looking after the booth. A thankyou to all the members and non-members that helped in any way to make our open bonspiel a success this this year.

Changes in effect for farm lending

Modifications have been made to the Farm Home Lending Program, a mortgage loan program designed to assist farmers in obtaining new farm living accommodation or to upgrade existing farm homes, announced Tom Chambers, minister of Housing and Public Works.

Effective immediately, the Alberta Home Mortgage Corporation (AHMC) will increase the maximum annual subsidy to $1,716 per year (or $143 per month), an increase from the previous maximum monthly assistance of $112 per month.

In addition, the maximum house price would be raised to $62,000 for both new and existing housing units. The maximum mortgage available also was raised to $40,000 from $35,000 for new homes and from $30,000 for existing homes.

Eligible applicants include bonafide farmers – individuals, corporations, partnerships or co-operatives – where the main source of income is derived from the operation of a farm or farms.

The AHMC's conventional lending rate is currently 10 3/4 per cent and with the monthly subsidy will be reduced to as low as 5 7/8 per cent. This means that a farmer with, for example, an annual income of $9,500 could obtain a mortgage of $40,000 and would only have to make payments of $213 a month. The remainder, or $143 a month, would be covered by the corporation.

The changes to the program would increase the affordability of housing for rural Albertan families, said Mr. Chambers, and that it was quite likely the program take-up would also be enhanced. He projected a take-up of possibly 50 units in the 1979/80 fiscal year, up from the estimated 25 units to be financed in the 1978/79 year.

SOCIAL CREDIT
THE ALBERTA PARTY

In my introduction to you, I underlined some basic and general principles and beliefs of Social Credit and myself. I would like to give my views on an MLA's responsibility and how I will act on your behalf if elected as your representative in this constituency and in Edmonton.

SOCIAL CREDIT PROMISES:
An MLA's responsibility is to his constituents first and to the party second.
AS YOUR MLA IT WOULD BE MY DUTY:
To explore the needs of my constituents, to be accessible to constituent concerns, opinions and interests, to represent your needs in the Legislature and to pursue nothing more nor less than what is fair and just for the constituency.

Sedgewick News Items

Mrs. Mary Simons, Margaret Kobsar, Vivian Sparrow and Miss Pam Leeb were curling at Provost over the weekend. Congratulations on winning third prize in the 3rd event, ladies.

Happy to hear that Mr. Pat Leeb returned home on Thursday after surgery in the University Hospital. We wish you a speedy recovery, Pat.

Little Miss Margaret Martin is spending a week in Penhold with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Martin, while her parents, the Greg Martins, attend the teachers' convention in Edmonton.

I think at least half of Sedgewick folk and quite a lot from Killam were in Camrose on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh were supper guests at the Grant Blaeser home in Heisler on Friday.

Bob Scott of Sedgewick (left) stands proudly beside his son, Sandy, who was promoted to drill instructor with the navy cadet corp in Edmonton. Lt. Commander LCDR Linford officiated at the presentation.

Local cadet honoured

At a ceremony January 9, Mr. R. Scott of Sedgewick presented a tie to the ships company of RCSCC WARRIOR in Edmonton from LCDR H. Mills and the RSCC of northwest England. This represents a tie between RCSCC Warrior and the RSCC of northwest England. A suitable return gift is being sent to LCDR Mills to complete the tie.

RCSCC Warrior was formed approximately 40 years ago. The corp teaches leadership, survival, sailing, athletics, navigation, signals, as well as basic military training.

The boys parade every Tuesday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. at C.F.B. Edmonton at Greisbach. Each parade starts with a colour ceremony, a march pass and usually an inspection of each division, the guard and the band by the commanding officer.

Each parade ends with a sunset ceremony, comments from the commanding officer and any announcements regarding future exercises, such as a weekend back-pack trip or a sailing weekend, where they practice the skills they have learned in class.

Sandy Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Scott of Sedgewick is a 7O2 in the corp. He has recently been promoted to the position of gunner or drill instructor.

Sandy has attended summer camps in CFB Cornwallis, N.S., CFB Borden and HMCS Quadra at CFB Comox. He qualified as drill instructor and athletic instructor at CFB Borden. At HMCS Quadra, he successfully completed a course in practical leadership. This course is considered by the Canadian Forces to be the toughest course a cadet can take. The courses run from six to nine weeks each summer.

SECOND SECTION — WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1979

Sedgewick Kinsmen curlers leave March 9 for a three-day Kinsmen 'Spiel at Jasper for the District Finals. Winners of the event will go to the Canadian Finals. Sedgewick's representatives are (left to right): Colin Cumberland, Hal Sparrow, Dale Johnson and lead Doug McClements. The foursome competed against 17 other Kinsmen rinks from the north-central region. The playdowns were held here February 10.

BRTA membership travels to Leduc for February meet

No fewer than 26 people turned out the cold night of February 15 meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association (BRTA) in the Leduc's Elks Hall. Members attending from Provost, Hardisty, Lougheed, Killam, Camrose, Castor, Stettler, Half Moon Lake, Devon, Wetaskiwin, Millet and Leduc were rewarded with a steak supper sponsored by the Town of Leduc and welcomed by Acting Mayor Elsie Johns.

Members first dealt with the terms of reference of the various committees which President Bob Ruttan had put before the previous meeting held at Bawlf. These were adopted without alteration.

It has come to the attention of the association that a number of giant-sized stumps of petrified trees are located south of Rosalind in and along the Battle River. For some, it was news that we have a "Petrified Forest" in this tourist zone. However, the meeting decided to find out who owned the land on which the petrified trees are located, before listing them as an attraction.

In her manager's report, Sylvia Clemens reported the registration for the "Trainers' Training Course" to be held in Camrose on February 23, 24 and 25 had reached the maximum of 20, and there was every indication it would be a success.

Plans are already being made in connection with the operation of various information centres during July and August.

No problems are anticipated at Stettler, Bashaw, Viking, Sherwood Park, Killam or Castor. The facility at Consort is still uncertain, and new arrangements are being worked out for the operation of the unit at Leduc. The Camrose and Wetaskiwin Chambers of Commerce of course have permanent facilities.

It was reported that any community with a summer event coming up could get a limited supply of free bumper stickers to promote their stampede, fair or other function through the BRTA. Orders for these must be placed by March 15, 1979. Further in this regard, communities can get a good deal of free publicity for their local events through the Stamp Around Alberta program, provided they keep BRTA informed well in advance.

Motor decisions were made in connection with the Annual Cavalcade. This will take place May 26 and 27 and will assemble in the Camrose Exhibition Grounds at 8:30 a.m. A registration charge of $10 per family will be made, which means that if two couples intend to take part in one recreation vehicle, $20 charge will be made. The cavalcade will be limited to 60 units, so anyone interested is advised to contact Battle River Tourist Association as soon as possible.

Len Dutton of Killam reported there are 64 volumes in the Historical Library, but no new books had come in last month.

Gertrude Thieme of Stettler cautioned the meeting in regard to finances. As finance chairman, she felt that the project to lay in a stock of slides for resale by drugstores and other business would have to be set aside for awhile because of the lack of funds. Members approved her suggestion.

The next meeting of the BRTA will be held in Coronation March 15. This will be the first time the association has ever met in that town.

Lougheed's Bonspiel sees 40 rinks enter

The Lougheed Open Bonspiel, held February 12 to 18, saw 40 rinks step onto the ice to compete for top honours in four events.

Winners were: 1st Event - J. Cheram, first; A. Cook, second; L. Marks, third; and C. Oakes, fourth.

In the 2nd Event - C. Maxwell, first; K. Johnson, second; C. Johnson, third; and J. Richardson, fourth.

In the 3rd Event - R. Mann, first; D. Herle, second; A. Martin, third; and J. Routledge, fourth.

And in the 4th Event - D. McClements, first; D. McKinnon, second; B. Ness, third; and W. Frost, fourth.

Lougheed News

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Johnson and family of Edmonton were recent visitors a couple weekends ago at the home of Chuck and Carol Mareschal and family.

Harold and Gladys Erickson had his brother, Walter, and his daughter, Ramona, and thre children, Carson, Carla and Cory, in for breakfast on Thursday morning. Also, Tom Clouston came over in the afternoon.

Derek Probst was down from Edmonton a few days last weekend. The teachers' convention was on so the children had a little break from school. Derek returned home on Sunday with Auntie Valda.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Horricks and Kathy McNalley attended a U.F.A. business meeting in Sherwood Park a couple days last week.

Mrs. Sadie Marlow is home now after a long stay in the hospital in Edmonton. Keep on improving, Sadie. Spring isn't too far away now.

Pat Kroetch was an afternoon visitor last Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Hunter White.

Belated birthday greetings to Mr. George Hotz of the Flagstaff Lodge. George had a birthday last Thursday. He visited with Mr. and Mrs. Gordie Coates and family. In the evening, he took in the whist drive at the Lougheed Senior Citizen Welcome Center. George was down to look in on the men's curling bonspiel, too. Keep up the good work, George. That's what keeps you young.

I see Mrs. Rosemary Kampen and Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Hepworth have returned from a wonderful trip to the Orient. Welcome home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schmidt had Louise's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Johnson, and two daughters of Vauxhall visiting them a couple days last week.

Word has been received that Mr. Theodore (Ted) Hertel passed away in Edmonton on February 22. The funeral was Monday, February 26 with burial in the Lougheed Cemetery. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Larson had their two grandsons from Red Deer and Brandi Horinek of Sedgewick visiting them recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bovencamp of Edmonton were home a couple weekends ago.

A whist drive was held at Goose Creek on Friday night, February 23, with nine tables played. Winners were: First - Stella Kneeland and Porter O'Rielly; Sweep - Molly Anderson and Dave Livingston; Mystery - Margaret Simpson and John Brunner; Travelling - Emily McKenzie Rod McKinnon; Consolation - Mary Cameron and John Black. The next whist drive will be at Bells Hill March 2.

Mrs. Warren Waite and Molly Ferneyhough spent last Friday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rancier (nee Shireen Waite) of Killam. A very lovely afternoon was enjoyed.

Mr. Mort Odegard and family were recent visitors in the Lougheed area.

Miss Joan Wright of Edmonton spent a few days with her mother, Agnes Wright, and other relaives last weekend.

Edward and Stephen Toppe of Red Deer spent a few days with Uncle Jack and Aunt Elsie and Brandie Rae Horinek was visiting grandma and grandpa Larson while their parents holidayed in Las Vegas.

Responsibility and Consideration

Travelling throughout this fair county during past weeks, one couldn't help notice the lack of snow on our major highways - and byways - even though it's piled high everywhere else. So often, in other areas, complaints are loudly voiced on the lack of snow removal while we are able to enjoy relatively clear roads.

It's good to see the old work ethic still practiced – in this case by the Department of Highway's crew in our area. Their's is an important job and those men obviously take pride in not shirking it.

It would have been understandable if the heavy snowfalls we've experienced in recent weeks had slowed our crew. But they didn't. Why, in the last couple weeks when snowfalls were daily, this driver came upon one of highway snowplows four times just outside Killam – each time right after receiving snow. Those men were clearing the roads within 12 hours of the snow's landing. And it was gratifying to also note that the advertisements are correct – snowplow drivers do pull over at regular intervals to let vehicles pass.

If you haven't driven it recently, try Highway 13 west to Camrose. Outside Daysland, you'll quickly discover where our highway crew leaves off and the Camrose crew doesn't take up. And it's not just in that area; poor road conditions continue to and in to the cities.

Our towns and town foremen deserve a big bouquet of gratitude, too, for their attention to duty. Funny, isn't it, how these men can clear our streets so quickly with a truck and a backhoe while cities like Edmonton and Calgary have trouble just getting their fancy equipment out of the garages?

Some town crews have even attempted to keep their icy streets sanded – a difficult task since new snow either covers it or traffic reduces its effectiveness. But their efforts are appreciated.

We would be remiss if we didn't extend this appreciation to include the business people in the various towns of our county for clearing the sidewalks in front of their businesses of winter's white stuff. We pedestrians thank you.

In the final analysis, we're thanking people for being responsible and considerate. Is it that long ago when special mention was made when it wasn't this way?

What is brotherhood? Brotherhood is giving to others the rights you want to keep for yourself . . . giving to the individual in another group the same dignity, the same full appreciation that you want to have yourself

What Others Say

Not that stupid

Premier Lougheed disappoints us. With an election only days away, throws the lock away on the public moneybags, and seems to be hunting for new ways to distribute the stuff that's been piling up for years.

Probably there isn't one of his most recent examples of public funding that isn't welcome, and probably there isn't one that won't be highly appreciated by Albertans.

But surely we can't all be so naive as to vote for him just because all of these plums were delivered in the last few weeks before we cast our votes. Surely they can't all have been developed since the last sitting of the legislature . . . if they were, what were the members doing during the other sittings? And if they took a good deal of time to develop, as any reasonable person must feel, why weren't they allowed to come on stream in some sort of orderly fashion, rather than like the family spree of gift-giving at Christmas.

Is it, indeed, to follow the pattern recently voiced by Grant Notley, NDP, leader when he spoke here about Santa before the election and Scrooge after?

Really, we've been supportive of Premier Lougheed's programs of restraint, as we watched the superheated economy of Alberta pointing toward the stratosphere, while some members of the workforce develop distorted and unhealthy views over the limitless health of the economy, and its ability to support them forever.

There has probably been a need to cut off some of the fat and the waste in recent years, even though it brought some suffering with it.

But it's insulting to be told in so many words that all the wraps and restraints can be taken off at election time, that we can be bought with our own money, and that programs and policies which weren't possible as recently as last fall are suddenly not only possible but desirable.

We have no doubt whatever that the Lougheed machine will roll to victory again this time, because we believe that in the main it has given relatively good government, and because we believe that many Albertans will not want to indicate splintered support when it comes to the national arena.

That doesn't mean a lot of voters won't feel insulted. Camrose Canadian

The Third Column

by Truncate

THOSE OF US who have been entertaining the hope that at long last man has seen the error of his ways, and is at last going to turn his thoughts to co-operation with his fellow men, have rudely had that vain thought "knocked into a cocked hat" not only by what is actually taking place in the world at present, but by loud hustings of further troubles for the year.

THE PROBLEMS IN IRAN are not just their's alone for the results are to be felt over most of the world. Oil has become an important element in production and many other aspects of living and its curtailment to consumers will be deeply penetrating in effect. Not only to consumers the world over but to the producers as well, whose people are to suffer as a net results. Strife-torn Iran has a long road to hoe before the situation is righted and the situation is stabilized. Yet, we suppose that there is always a flicker of hope, for it's a long road that has no turning and a long alley that has no ash can, as the saying goes. Yet, there is no telling just how far any ruler or dictator will go to prove his situation. Resorting to bloodshed and murder to rid self of opposition is a cool and calculated risk and could very easily boomerang at the least provocation. Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown. You can only push people so far.

ADD TO THIS the push by Peking into Vietnam and you have the makings of another global conflagration. How long will Russia sit by and watch the affair? Could we be seeing the makings of an all-out encounter between two mighty communist empires? This would drag in the entire Asian world, and then could we sit by and just watch it happen? We would certainly become involved in some way and surely we do not want to see that happen.

FROM THE HUSTINGS we now hear that we are going to be in for our own brand of trouble this summer. Rumblings are starting about strikes, slow-downs and other means of obtaining what is wanted. Why wait until summer? Because weather like we had in February would freeze up the mediocre brain cells of picketers and destroy the whole object of the thing. Nobody really wins a strike but its a very difficult thing to put across to an angry bunch of union members who are stirred up by a cozy bunch of leaders who must justify their positions by continually keeping the pot boiling. The strike is a deadly weapon and we wait patiently to see if ever a legislator or group of the same will ever have the guts to abolish the right. Strike is now evil in our day.

GETTING OFF FROM FACT to more or less fiction and supposition, here is a bit of humour which crossed my desk not long ago from an unknown author, and we can draw a sigh of relief at its truthful facts:

IT'S JUST A GOOD THING that God above has never gone on strike; Because He wasn't treated fair, Or things He didn't like. If He had ever once sat down and said, "That's it! I'm though. I've had enough of those on earth, So this is what I'll do:

I'LL GIVE MY ORDERS to the sun, Cut off your heat supply, And to the Moon: Give no light; And run those oceans dry. Then just to make it really tough, And put the pressure on, Turn off the air and oxygen, 'Til every breath is gone".

"DO YOU KNOW He's be justified, If fairness was the game, For no one has been more abused, Or treated with distain, Than God. And yet He carries on supplying you and me with all the favours of His grace. And everything for free."

"MEN SAY THEY WANT a better deal, And so on strike they go. But what a deal we've given God, To whom everything we owe. We don't care whom we hurt or harm, To gain the things we like, But what a mess we'd all be in, If God should go on strike." Worth thinking about, isn't it?

Letters to the Editor

Several women from the County of Flagstaff have recently met to discuss women's issues in the upcoming provincial election.

They have formulated five questions that will be sent to all the candidates running the constituencies that encompass the County of Flagstaff.

The questions asked are:

1. A woman between the age of 60 and 65 receives a pension if her husband is over 65. However, is she is widowed before she reaches the age of 65, her pension benefits stop. Do you feel this should be changed and how?

2. Do you feel day care facilities, funding and standards are adequate?

3. How do you and your party plan to protect the interests of farm wives in divorce settlements?

4. How do you and your party plan to recognize the contribution of women to their families and to society?

5. Advisory councils for the status of women have been formed in other provinces as well as in the federal government. Do you and your party feel the need to establish one in Alberta?

All the candidates in the county will be asked to respond to the questions. If received in time, replies will be printed in The Community Press.

Developing Your Lower Level

Is your basement a cold, dark, damp, subterranean chamber in need of a new use and a new look?

Depending on the condition of the basement (lower level), development of this space for livability is more economical than adding on to the home. Also, it will be cheaper to heat in the long run.

With good planning, proper heating and an exciting choice of finishing materials and excellent artificial lighting, the basement can be a desirable place to use.

Families enjoy bright, clean, attractive surroundings. The lower level should be planned with the same comfort and good looks of the main floor.

The best way to start is to bring the family together and discuss the immediate and long-range needs of the family. Plan the whole lower level even if you decide you can't afford to finish the entire basement. Decide what special rooms you require. Do you need an extra bedroom? Maybe you require a playroom or exercise room? Possibly, you would like a study, workshop or studio. Once you have decided on the type of development, draw your plan to scale. It is important that you show the exact location of immovable objects, such as pipes, furnace, hot water heater, window and stair locations. Zoning is also an important aspect of the plan. It is desirable to keep the living, working and sleeping areas similar to that of the main floor, for example, the sleeping area upstairs over the sleeping area downstairs.

The important factor to consider when decorating the lower level is the finishing materials. To achieve a comfortable setting, choose bright colours, vary the textures and add interesting lighting effects. This will make your lower level an attractive livable space.

Stress Information

In today's fast-moving society, we are constantly involved in stressful situations. We all experience "stress" in our personal relationships, our work, in travelling, even in worrying about the weather and watching TV programs.

A certain amount of stress is necessary, even beneficial, in that it helps us meet challenges and changes in our life. But when stress becomes overwhelming in that we lack the skills to cope with it, it becomes your enemy and perhaps endangers your life.

If you would like to know more about stress, plan to attend the information meeting sponsored by PSS and PFEC and Alberta Agriculture in late March. Details will be in future columns.

METRIC MADNESS

Under the initiative and direction of the Department of Industry, Trade and Commerce, the metric system has been imposed upon the Canadian way of life. For some, it was a genuine blessing. They argue the system is simpler and more logical than the use of imperial units of measure. For many, particularly our senior citizens, the new experiment was a divorce from an established tradition and shrouded our country in confusion and discord.

Whatever your opinion is of the metric system of measurements, you now may have cause for alarm since word has it that the Department of Industry, Trade and Commerce is considering regulatory changes that affect, not only the units of measure, but also the basic rights of free Canadians.

The word around Parliament Hill is that the Department is giving consideration to prohibiting the broadcast media or printed press from using imperial expressions after 1981. As an example, a radio station that broadcasts the weather in both Celsius and Fahrenheit units could be found to be in breach of regulations and subject to a fine of $1,000.

A section of the regulations printed in the February 3, 1979 Canada Gazette reads as follows: "388. (1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3) and section 340, in each area described in column I of an item of the table in section 341, on and after the date set out in column II of that item, only metric units of measurement shall be used for advertising a commodity for retail trade in terms of price per unit of measurement".

The ambiguity in the above regulation leaves one to ponder whether or not a farm implement dealer advertising to use a specific number of millilitres to spray concentrate in a 200 gallon sprayer tank would be deemed illegal for the use of the word "gallon". (Perhaps I should feel fortunate that I am writing this column prior to 1981.)

Then there is the question of regulatory compulsion. On February 13, 1979, the minister defended in the House the intentions of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to require that all construction utilizing their support adopt a total metric blueprint commencing in the spring of 1979. That position is being taken irrespective of the fact that many of the components used in construction are manufactured in the United States and are, therefore, constructed in accord with imperial measures.

And, just to be sure that all Canadian tradition is cast to the wind, it is said the department has embarked upon a concept of developing metric money. The following exchange on this subject took place during the House of Commons "Question Period" on February 13, 1979:

Mr. Bill Kempling (Halton-Wentworth): Will the minister advise if the government is proceeding with its plan to produce metric coinage? As I understand it, coins have been designed and samples approved in the 20-cent, 40-cent and 80-cent denominations. Would the minister advise if a timetable for the release of these coins has been determined?

Hon. Pierre De Bane (Minister of Supply and Serives): Mr. Speaker, I am not in a position to provide detailed information concerning these issues. It is clear, however, that in view of the rising costs of metals, we shall have to come to a decision concerning, for instance, the one- and five-cent coins, whose nominal values are less than the costs of production. I shall be very shortly in a position to announce the necessary decisions.

Accordingly, the 25-cent coin and the 75-cent expression could disappear. In replacement would be Canadian funny money. A one-cent piece, a 10-cent piece, a 20-cent piece, a 40-cent piece and an 80-cent piece. GOOD GRIEF!

To the government, keeping in touch is the art of confusion.

Gretna Goodwill Club

On February 20, the Gretna Goodwill Club meeting was held at Christie Armstrong's home. In attendance were seven members, two silent sisters and two visitors, Mrs. Lucy Nessell and Valerie Adamson with Janelle and Jennifer. Joy Armstrong was a late coffee caller.

Minutes from our lengthy meeting last month were read but no business discussion was held except that we had held a nice shower at Bells Hill Hall for Mrs. Donna McBride.

A letter of thanks was received from the Sedgewick Central High Graduation Society for our donation of $30. A letter of thanks was received also from Grandma Adamson for her card that we all had signed. A verbal thank-you was received from Melba on behalf of her mother, Mrs. Zimmerman, for the cards we had sent her.

The treasurer gave her report and the sick convenor reported having sent four cards to the hospitalized and shut-ins since the last meeting.

We decided to send for a Regal surprise package. Helen O. read a really cute Valentine poem.

The roll call was an exchange of paper valentines. There was a lovely variety; no one thinks alike because everyone was so different and yet so valentine-like – so cheery with "I love you".

Helen Sutherland is having the next meeting at Bells Hill Hall March 13 in the evening. We're having a pot luck supper and social evening. It should be fun being held on the 13th, and the day before the election. Chrissie is to assist Helen as co-hostess with the lunch. The meeting was then adjourned very early because some had to leave.

The hostess, assisted by Mary A. as co-hostess, served lunch early. The lunch was made especially for Valentine's Day. There were red and white checkerboard-style sandwiches joined with cheese whis and red bread egg sandwiches. These were something different in our sandwich line so were a great conversational piece for a little while. A delightful, scrumptious-looking and tasting angel food cake split in half and filled with red cherry filling and heaped high with dream whip was served on tea plates. There was also another cherry cake. All in all, it was the best of Valentine teas. Thank-yous, Mary.

Fay Davidson won the hostess prize and Valerie Adamson the lucky tea cup prize. The prizes were also wrapped in red paper and bows.

Hope to see all you gals at the next meeting.

-Chrissie Armstrong

Livingstone acclaimed Social Credit candidate

Doug Livingstone, well-known young farmer and cattleman who resides six miles south of Claysmore in the Mannville-Vermilion district, was acclaimed the candidate for the Alberta Social Credit Party in the forthcoming provincial election for the Vermilion-Viking constituency.

Doug was elected a s a well-attended and highly enthusiastic nomination meeting held at the Innisfree I.O.O.F. Hall on Wednesday, February 7.

The meeting was chaired by Angus MacMillan, the constituency president, with former MLA Ashley Cooper as secretary. The nomination was conducted by Eric Lingnau, executive director of the Alberta Social Credity party.

Ashley Cooper nominated the young candidate. In his speech of acceptance, Doug stressed individuality, availability and attention to constituency projects and constituents' problems.

Robert Robert, Social Credit candidate for the Vegreville constituency, was in attendance and spoke briefly, congratulating Doug and emphasizing he fact that every person present must get out and work to elect the new candidate.

Guest speaker was Dr. Walter Buck, MLA for Clover Bar and a 12-year veteran of the legislature. He gave a rousing talk, mixing the serious thoughts with humourous ones, and succeeded in enlightening and entertaining the crowd.

We're looking for young people in Alberta who have achieved greatness.

Right now, you're probably thinking of a certain young person or group of young people in your community. Their courage, initiative, selflessness, or responsibility makes you feel proud to know them. They are an inspiration to all of us -- the kind of young people who foster hope and joy in others. And who win Alberta Junior Citizens of the Year Awards.

Help us recognize them! Nominate someone between the ages of six and eighteen for an award this year. Winners receive Canada Savings Bonds as well as Alberta Junior Citizens of the Year Awards. And they receive the greatest reward of all for their contribution to the community — appreciation! From all Albertans.

The deadline for nominations is June 30, 1979. Send in your nomination now. Send the coupon below to the editor of this newspaper.

Hardisty District News Items

After mailing the news on Monday, I called on Doris and Perry Powell to see what they were up to. They were going dancing at Amisk so asked me to go along. A very enjoyable evening was spent in the Amisk Hall visiting friends and enjoying two games of dancing.

Tuesday night, Adrie and Bennie Cibart called to pick up Allen Lawson and it surely was interesting to hear about their trip to the Philippines. They do things the hard way, but there is no unemployment there either.

They saw families planting rice in the paddies with the water buffalo. Adrie was impressed with the many varieties of lovely fruit and Bennie mentioned orchids growing wild and quite high, too, and this was their winter.

Of course, there were other things not so good. The sanitation in many places was much to be desired.

They were overnight in Hong Kong and enjoyed very much of what they saw there.

Congratulations to Ian McKinnon on winning the cribbage tournament at Wipe Out Day. Ian took home a trophy as a result of his winning.

Last year, it was Neal Nelson who won, but he was near the end of the line this year.

We are glad to hear that Melford Sampson is recuperating nicely after surgery in Moose Jaw.

Glad to see Perry Powell home again after a day or two in the hospital. When that flu bug bites, it seems to bite very hard and very quickly.

The Hinton hockey team came by bus to play the Hardisty Stampeders, but Hardisty was the loser in that series as they had already played this team in Hinton. It was played Friday night and the score was 9-2.

Mr. Jim Preece, a former Hardisty resident, is not well in B.C. He is 91 years old now.

The card party at the Drop-In Centre on February 17 was attended by enough people for seven tables of whist.

The ladies' high was won by Mrs. Stappord and consolation was won by Eleanor Moody.

Gents' high was won by George Krozser and consolation by Lloyd Gravert.

We hope to see our Amisk friends again on March 3 for the next card party.

Sonny Wells, while passing through Lamont, stopped to see Dick Mah and his wife. Leigan recognized him right away and he had a nice chat with them and lunch. Dick asked him about everybody and everything down Hardisty way.

A letter from Sister Elizabeth Veitch was received wishing to thank everyone for the card received. To quote her, "You know, a card greeting like that really raises one's spirits, and I did need encouragement at times."

Mary Goodrich has returned from visiting her brother, Wallace Showman, and his wife in Tampa, Florida. It was down to 33 degrees once, which is cool for there.

LIGHTS FLASHING

DO NOT PASS

Every school day, more than 115,000 young Albertans will be getting on and off those familiar yellow buses when travelling to and from school.

As a driver you must not pass a school bus displaying alternately flashing red lights. Except of course if you are approaching on the other side of a divided highway.

Know and obey school bus safety rules for our children's sake.

"The stormy March has come at last, With wind, and cloud, and changing skies; I hear the rushing of the blast That through the snowy valley flies."
-W. Cullen Bryant

Now that March is here, some of our winter sports activities will soon be terminated while others will continue depending on snow and ice conditions.

The curling summary for the week: some of the games of the East-Central Oilmen's Bonspiel were scheduled for Lougheed during the weekend.

Of the 40 entries at Lougheed in the men's 'spiel, five local rinks qualified for the prizes.

Several men's rinks competed at Killam's 'spiel, one ladies' rink at Sirome and some of our high school students participated in the Junior 'Spiel at Killam.

The ladies' rink, skipped by Gladys Lien, with Delores Coates, third, Yvonne Rawlik second and Susan Ness playing lead qualified for a prize in the 1st event. The students' rink won a prize in the 2nd event at Alliance. Lougheed's men's rinks will be entering the 'spiel at Hardisty this week.

The past week's hockey results: No games were played by the eight-and-under team. The 12-and-under team had an exhibition game at Killam. The score was 6-3 in favour of Killam.

Several of our boys playing with the Sedgewick Midget hockey team are in the provincial playoffs. The game at Consort was 9-5 in their favour. Good luck, boys!

Rec hockey scores: The game played at Strome was won by the Lougheed Coyotes with a score of 8-3. Alliance defeated the team with a score of 6-1 on home ice. Four teams competed in the tournament on Sunday. The A event was won by Killam against Strome. In the B event, Sedgewick defeated Lougheed.

When testing begins this week, the power skaters will be eligible for seven badges for their skills.

The high school students from Lougheed playing with the Sedgewick Central High team in the Girls' Basketball Regional games at Coronation ranked first. Their next games will be at the zone playoffs at Morinville.

At our Lougheed senior citizens' Welcome Club, there are excellent facilities for playing pool, shuffleboard, table tennis and dancing. Other citizens 14 years of age and over (holding memberships) are always welcome at the club. With spring coming, ice activities will be on the decline so it'll be time for dining, shuffleboard and table tennis tournaments. Do come and have an afternoon or evening of fun - watching the games, playing or chatting, or perhaps assisting with the supervision, which would be greatly appreciated.

Additional space will soon be available at the centre for interested groups or anyone wishing to work on their projects - quilt making, handicrafts, etc. More specific information regarding this accommodation is available from the senior citizens' executive. The centre is also available for meetings of organizations. Card parties are held at the centre as well. So, "Welcome to the club!"

Trophy winners for 1978 in the fishing and hunting categories will be announced this Saturday at the annual Fish and Game banquet and trophy night.

Welcome all to the carnival, Sunday, March 4 at 2:30 is the date when "Children Around the World" will skate. At the Lougheed arena, this will be. A great ice show for you and me! (We'll see you there!)

How Free is Freedom, What is Life, Energy Guzzlers. These are some of the titles that were spoken on at the Flagstaff District 4-H Public Speaking Contest held at Galahad February 18.

There were 12 seniors and 11 juniors who read their speeches from 12 different 4-H clubs in Flagstaff District. Some were informative and some were funny. One speech told us how to milk a cow. He told us to make sure to go to the right end of the cow!

I thought the speeches were very good and was glad I wasn't the judge because it would have been a hard decision. The winner for the seniors was Marie Jahns and the first junior was Lana Lorenson. They now go to the Regional Speak Offs at Hardisty March 4.

Alberta - and what it means to me

When I think of our great province, I experience a feeling of pride, a sense of fulfillment, a promise of greatness. And I believe most Albertans feel this way. But you and I know that this is a new experience. There was a time when Alberta was just one of the western provinces, and it has taken good management, courage, and conviction to gain the proper recognition we now have as a strong province, working for a strong, united Canada. Alberta today is a good place to live, and I want to share this experience with future generations. But the quality of life they will experience will depend on the plans we make today. Now, more than ever, we must continue to manage our resources wisely; and we must be willing to put aside a portion of today's success as a saving for tomorrow. Today is just the beginning - an indication of the great potential of our province and our people. And I want to play a part in meeting the challenges that lie ahead of us.

Gas billing system proposed

Killam and Sedgewick residents are being asked their opinions on a new system of billing for natural gas consumption. The system, Payment Equalization Plan, means the annual gas bill of a resident's household would be divided into 12 equal payments. In that way, residents would pay the same amount each month and not be faced with higher heating bills in winter – January and February represent 35 per cent of the year's total gas consumption – and low ones in winter.

Paying equal payments would build up a credit during the summer months to cover the increase in gas consumption come winter, explained Sharon Kuprowsky, Killam secretary-treasurer. An added advantage of the budget plan, she said, is that it would greatly reduce labour costs brought about by monthly meter reading. By doing so, gas prices might not increase as much and/or as often.

If, when meters are read at the end of the year, it is apparent that the gas consumption of a resident's household was over-estimated, the difference would be credited to his account. In the event gas consumption is under-estimated, the resident would be billed for the difference. It is unlikely this would occur, however, added Miss Kuprowsky, since the estimations are being based on each household's past gas consumption.

An underestimation could be brought about, for example, by adding another gas appliance to a household. By notifying the applicable town office of any such change, a resident's monthly payment would be adjusted to cover the extra consumption, according to the proposal.

By the same token, monthly gas payments would be adjusted by either town whenever there is a change in natural gas rates. That would further eliminate the chances of an account having a large, unpaid balance at the end of the year.

Miss Kuprowsky said she expects the new billing system to be of special benefit to residents on fixed incomes who aren't always able to afford winter's exceptionally high heating bills, or who didn't consider the higher winter payments when calculating their monthly budgets.

All Killam and Sedgewick households which use natural gas have received the proposal for the Payment Equalization Plan, which includes a tear-off portion on which residents are asked to indicate their preference in billing systems and return to the respective town offices.

SURPRISE YOURSELF!

In most cases, filling out your own income tax return is easier than you may think.

It's largely a matter of simple arithmetic. You don't have to pay someone to do something you can do yourself.

Just follow the six basic steps in the Guide you received with your income tax return. Don't forget to attach all the proper receipts, and double check your return before mailing it.

It's that easy. So go ahead. Surprise yourself.

You can do it!

Legislative Report:

Campaign fever continues

The Conservatives were able to restore some of the fighting edge to their re-election campaign – courtesy of the federal government – after the softselling of the early going.

Premier Peter Lougheed and Energy Minister Don Getty wasted no time in finding something to protest in proposed federal energy emergency legislation as soon as they got a copy of the bill.

No objection was made to stepping up oil production to counteract shortages in central Canada if shipments from politically-troubled Iran continued to be held up.

Getty said Alberta production could be hiked about 80 per cent, or 300,000 to 400,000 barrels a day, for six months to a year. He reported that work had already begun on emergency planning.

But Lougheed sent Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau a stern Telex. It was promptly released publicly. It opened by saying, told you so, and concluded with a warning that Alberta might be threatened.

Getty said he did not suspect Trudeau of using the supply problem as a pretext to raid resource rights. He was optimistic that agreement was possible. He cited co-operation during the 1973-74 Middle East crisis.

Getty reported the bill would authorize the federal cabinet to take control of distribution and potential prices of oil in an emergency. Federal officials showed no interest in cutting prices and promised consultations.

The energy minister said the bill made the federal cabinet emergency powers expire one year after they were invoked. A new emergency would have to be declared to continue national action.

But Lougheed told Trudeau that the bill had been "hurriedly introduced" with too little consultation. A delay was sought in its passage until safeguards of provincial resource jurisdiction were added.

The premier wrote, "Our government has been monitoring recent national and international energy developments with some concern.

"You may recall that I forecast the potential for such occurrences (shortages due to the political turmoil in Iran) when I returned from my Middle-East tour in 1977," he reminded Trudeau.

Lougheed told Trudeau to "ensure that any perceived emergency or problems . . . be valid and credible, and not merely capable of being used as a guise for further economic domination of the west by central Canadian interests."

Getty claimed that the Telex was not meant to form part of the Tories' re-election platform. He said its timing was "coincidence" owed to the problems of Iran and Ottawa.

But Lougheed told Trudeau he was making his Telex public immediately "because of the interest of Albertans."

VERMILION/VIKING NEW DEMOCRAT

To express my concern that 80% of the Heritage Trust Fund is controlled by cabinet and not by the legislature, I would like to quote Eric Musgreave (PC -- Calgary McKnight), during a house debate

"One area of concern" said Musgreave, "is that the purse strings which control the power of the province, are controlled in the legislature.

"It took us hundreds of years to get that control away from the king and his nobles and, with the greatest of respect, we don't want to give it up to the executive council. So if you took more money and put it into the Heritage Fund, in effect you are weakening the ability of the legislative assembly to control expending the people's money."

Sedgewick News Items

Congratulations to Mrs. Elsie Cookson, who was fortunate enough to win $1,000 in a contest at the Bank of Montreal.

On Wednesday, February 21, Mr. Pat Douglas saw a gopher sitting on a snowbank just south of the Willie Hallum residence. So maybe spring is nearer than we think.

Mrs. Bessie Russell and Mr. Art Falla had the highest scores of the nine tables of card players at the senior citizens' Wednesday afternoon card party. Mrs. Elsie Cookson and Mr. Ed Sarasin received consolation awards.

Mrs. Lloyd Rathwell of Red Deer spent Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Tina Blakeney. Mrs. Rathwell is the former Miss Jean Robson of Killam, who was a teacher in the public school here around 20 years ago.

The sympathy of the community is expressed to the family of Mrs. Peter (Pearl) Listhaliz, who passed away at the Killam General Hospital in the early hours of February 25 after a long illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Jacobsen, Mr. and Mrs. Gudmann Eriksen and Mr. and Mrs. Nels Djos attended the wedding reception for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reid in Camrose on Saturday.

Sunday visitors at the L. Arntzen home were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sorenson and Carl of Viking.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Taylor left on Tuesday for a visit to daughter Marilyn and family's home, the Gene McKinleys in Lethbridge.

Hope everyone remembers March is Red Cross month.

At the regular Sunday morning service at the United Church, Sandra Lynn, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Simpson of Sherwood Park was christened by the Rev. Robert Chappell.

Get well wishes go to Mrs. Helga Willumsen, who recently underwent surgery at the University Hospital. In Edmonton to visit her on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Leif Osbeck.

There was some very good curling at the Recreation Centre over the weekend as the Gilmen's Bonspiel was played. Several games were very close and the result not decided until the very last rock was thrown. Two of our local rinks won prizes. In the 2nd event, the rink of John Brandingen, Don MacKinnon, Tom Cookson and Jack Potter took first place while first place in the 3rd event was won by the foursome of Doug Bury, John Muirhead, Jimmie Hopkins and Wayne Schmutz.

Mr. Cliff Pope is home after undergoing surgery on his eye in the Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton last week.

Scouts and Guides hold special Thinking Day

The week before Guides and Scouts' Thinking Day, I met with three former Guiders of Forestburg, who had consented to be judges for our Flagstaff District Poster Contest.

They are Olga Bendfeld, retired Brown Owl of the early 1960s and her Tawny Owl, Amy Laing. My third honoured person is Irene (Tull) Crawford, who used to be Guide Captain in 1962.

The "girls" reminisced of their early years in Guiding and looked at scrapbooks and notebooks of their Guiding years. Olga is looking for pictures and news items from those early years from anyone that was connected with Guides and would be overly appreciative if they would please send copies to her. This year celebrates Forestburg's 60th anniversary and Olga would like to have her "scrapbook" as complete as possible.

Judging of the poster contest concluded as follows: winners of the Busy Bees Happy Birthday contest were Carla Dutton, Killam, first; Tammi Gair, Killam, second; and Dawne Hobbs, Killam, third. Winners of the Brownies' "Brownies Around the World" contest were Shirley Wisschorster, Strome, first; Kellie Ross, Forestburg, second; and Tammy Booth, Ryley, third. Winners of the Guides' "International Year of the Child" contest were Micky Harris, Sedgewick, first; Susie Harris, Sedgewick, second; and Pat McArthur, Sedgewick, third.

It was very rewarding to see former Guiders together and to have them do the judging as I felt they would put the right meaning into it having been in it themselves in the years past.

I think all the former leaders of Scouts and Guides should not be forgotten and should be honoured every year on Thinking Day Week because of the time and interest they've put into it out of the goodness of their hearts.

Fish and game trophies honour local sportsmen

The Iron Creek Fish and Game Association's annual trophy dinner took place Saturday, March 3 in Lougheed with nine awards and one award of appreciation presented.

Trophy winners were: Allan Cookson for a 3 lb. 6 oz. duck, Don Parsons for a 12 lb. 1½ oz. goose, Don Parsons with 177 1/8 points for a Mule Deer, Lloyd Cox Jr. for a 1 lb. 14 oz. Rainbow Trout in the junior competition, Perry Mayne for a 3 lb. 3 oz. Rainbow Trout in the senior competition, James McClements for a 19 lb. 13½ oz. Lake Trout, Keith Cameron with 167.5 points for a non-typical Whitetail Deer, and Steve Saruga with 170.4 points for a Whitetail Deer. Eber Waite was recognized for bringing the highest number of memberships into the association during the past year. Trophy Committee Chairman Leo Markwart made the presentations.

Fish and Game President Ed Davidson called on Francis Bovencamp, past president, to receive an award for service to the association.

Guest speaker at the dinner was George Matthews of Hardisty, who displayed his collection of 13 of 14 species of fish and talked on the catching and mounting of them.

The Iron Creek Fish and Game Association is a provincial association with chapters throughout Alberta. In this area, the conservation-minded association covers approximately the same area as does the County of Flagstaff – close to 1,800 miles. Last year, 274 members were involved.

Hardisty hosts 4-H speakoff

Hardisty was the site of the east-central Alberta 4-H public speaking finals Sunday, March 4 as 20 young people competed for top honours in their region.

Carmen Brown of the Paintearth Beef Club placed first in the seniors' class, placing her in even more speaking competition as she travels to Red Deer for the North Central 4-H speakoffs March 9.

Helen Schwenk of the Brownfield Beef Club placed second in the senior division, with third and fourth place going to Betty Ann Pratt, Sounding Creek Beef Club, and Brenda Muhlbach, Stettler Sunset Riders, respectively.

Youngstown Beef Club's Tim Andrew was named alternate in the event any of the top four finishers is unable to attend the Red Deer competition. The top three winners in Red Deer continue on to Calgary for the provincial speakoff March 16.

In the junior division, Kathy Minor of the Bindloss River Riders received the first-place trophy. Kathy and Heather Brown, who represented the Big Valley Beef Club, were tied for first. Both gave a second impromptu to break the tie. Heather received second-place honours.

Third place in the junior age group also saw a tie as Lana Lorenson, Dayaland Clothing Club, and Melody Baird, Bothe 4-H Horse Club, spoke off to fill third and fourth place.

Sunday was the last day of public speaking competition for the junior winners. Only the seniors compete in Red Deer, marking the fourth consecutive weekend they present prepared and impromptu speeches.

Six judges officiated at the speakoff. For the senior division, they were Kay Grimes, Dayaland; Barbara Grover, Brownfield; and Wilbur Stewart, Big Valley. Junior judges were Lorraine Pearson, Amisk; Jim Stoll, Youngstown; and Val Bunbury, Castor.

World Day of Prayer remembered by women

"The teachings of Jesus Christ contained a message of love and wisdom that men can never forget, and neither can women, for His words and actions liberated them from a position of inferiority and brought to them a sense of dignity that was unprecendented in the history of mankind. None are more aware of this than the christian women of Africa; still they long for a land free from injustice, poverty, illiteracy and denial of human rights."

Ladies from the four congregations in Sedgewick shared their African sisters' concerns as they gathered at Bethania Lutheran Church Friday afternoon, March 2, for their part in the World Day of Prayer. The theme, Spiritual Growth, had been prepared by African women students at Mendolo Ecumenical Foundation in Kitwe, Zambia, and it embraced the desire for spiritual growth in knowledge, faith, hope and love.

In many countries in Africa, as women come to worship together, they enter the sanctuary singing and dancing in praises to God. The custom was adopted here as three of the leaders entered and took their places, dancing to an African hymn of joy, following the welcome and introduction by Inga Jacobsen.

These ladies led in the opening prayer, the scripture reading and prayers for growth in knowledge and faith. Ladies from the Nazarene Church, who were also the musicians for the day, led in scripture reading and prayers for growth in hope and love. They also brought a beautiful duet entitled "Jesus."

Speaker for the afternoon was Christine Myrehaug and she chose to enlarge on the theme, Spiritual Growth, by displaying beautiful homemade quilts and discussing the similarities involved in this workmanship and the labours of grace which God employs in shaping His new creation, His eternal hope for us. Just as an otherwise useless bag of scraps is useful to the quiltmaker, so does God make use of the "bits and pieces" that are our lives.

Often, the material used for the "backing" of a quilt is not very attractive, and neither are the things that we hide from others that are so much a part of us. The filling of a quilt is very important for it provides warmth, making it serviceable, and so do we need the infilling of the Holy Spirit to make us warm and loveable also.

Lastly, she pointed out that the tying of a quilt is necessary to hold it together; and how very important it is for the children of God to be "tied together" in bonds of fellowship and love. Our Lord Jesus Christ is the uniting factor, regardless of church affiliation, and we would do well to remember this in the days ahead for without him, we can do nothing.

The Bethania ladies served refreshments and a lovely hour of fellowship was enjoyed by all.

Good Deed Club meets

The February meeting of the Hazelwood Good Deed Club was held at the home of Adelaide McClements. The meeting was called to order by Vice-President Vi Metz.

After welcoming visitors and members, minutes of the last meeting were read, as well as the treasurer's report, and both were approved.

Roll call was answered by nine members and two visitors, Molly Ferneyhough and Alvina Mendsker.

Old business was taken care of with money handed in for pillow cases and quilts.

Pillow cases and tea towels were passed out to be finished. Adelaide had all the layettes packed. Kay took them home to mail at a later date.

A letter from the Rebekah Lodge was read and a motion made to send money to the therapy room at the Killam Hospital.

Vi and Inga were the birthday girls. Connie won the hostess gift.

The meeting adjourned and we all enjoyed a lovely lunch and birthday cake.

COME ALIVE . . .

The Psalmist David said that we were to turn from evil speaking and to seek good. Is this practical advice to the Twentieth Century church?

"Keep your tongue from evil, And your lips from speaking deceit. Depart from evil, and do good; Seek peace and pursue it." (Psalm 34:13, 14)

Though we live in a world that does not always appreciate honesty and integrity, the Word of God commands us to follow that course. One command to be followed if the christian is to live an exemplary life involves guarding one's speech. Passing on bits of gossip is never helpful. Guarding the tongue is a big job as James tells us in the book bearing his name.

However, it is not enough merely to restrain one's tongue. One must also be a positive force. To resist evil and temptation is fine, but it is only part of the whole picture. David's pleas continue. He asks the righteous christian to not only turn away from evil but to seek good -- to crave for peace and other positive virtues and to do something to obtain it.

David, here, touches on a very vital topic. Many christians find life to be frustrating and not really meeting their expectations. I believe that often the reason stems from the fact that they have only heeded half of the command to holy living. In their attempts to avoid evil and sin, they leave a vacuum. A vacuum leaves frustration. It ought to be filled with positive actions for God and for good.

Let us depart from evil and do good! -Ken Quiring

Strome holds fun event

The Strome Skating Club held its enjoyable Fun Night on Friday evening, March 2. Tracy Campo and Russell Hill were selected Snow Queen and Snow King. Congratulations!

Sympathy is extended from the community to relatives of the late Mrs. Wanda Golden, who passed away February 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carter, and Danny and Tina of Hayter spent an afternoon with Allan and Ruth Auburn. Leo is Ruth's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith McDougall, and Cheryl and Allan spent a week in Disneyland.

Mr. Johnny Kruse and two grandsons, Darcy and Kelly Knull of Wetaskiwin, spent a couple days with Geo. Curtis. Johnny also visited Errie and Susie Auburn, and also dropped in at the senior citizens' centre and visited old acquaintances.

Mrs. Evelyn Thorburn and Mr. Osmond Nielson of Edmonton visited relatives for a couple of days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Vic Carlson and daughter Treena from Provost were coffee guests with Allan and Ruth Auburn on Thursday.

Whist was played at the senior citizens' Drop-In Centre last Thursday night with five tables played. Winners were: Bill Ziesel, men's high; Alex Robbins, low; Frances Robbins, ladies' high; Peggy Wheller, low.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Wieschorster, Mrs. Ziesel and Mrs. Zimmel. The next card party will be held March 15 at 8 p.m. Everybody welcome.

St. Paul's United Church pancake supper was quite successful last Tuesday evening.

World Day of Prayer was held March 1 in St. Paul's United Church with a good attendance.

Donna Slavik and Beverly Steiger spent last week visiting Bev's sister and family at Athabasca.

Mrs. Ann Hill and Darren bussed to Edmonton last Thursday morning for medical care and visited Mr. and Mrs. N.S. Cramton. Mrs. Dyann Breckenridge, accompanied by Ken Hill, brought them home last Friday evening.

Mrs. Dyann Breckenridge, Rosalie Auburn and Teena visited Mrs. Somers in the Killam Auxiliary last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Basil Smith-Gander of Camrose spent last weekend with Mary Smith-Gander.

Supper guests with Earl and Marge McDougall last Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Clark and children of Camrose, Elmer and Bev McDougall and Ken and Iona McDougall.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wilson and Beryl Stevens of Breton spent last Saturday night and Sunday with Earl and Marge McDougall.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Golden and son of Vegreville were dinner guests with Johnny and Hat Hauck last Sunday.

Get well wishes are extended to Mrs. Theresa Scheelar, who is a patient in the Camrose hospital.

Sympathy is extended to relatives of the late Mrs. Muriel Brodie, who passed away in the Dayland Hospital. Service was held in the Killam Anglican Church and burial was in the Rosevale Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Olson and baby of Camrose were weekend guests with her grandmother, Mrs. Katie May. On Sunday, they, along with Mrs. Rod May, went to Edmonton to see Clayton May in the Aberhart Memorial Hospital.

Get well wishes are extended to Mr. Herman Rawe and Mr. John Gehring, who are patients in the Dayland Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. David Wesley and family of Edgerton and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ziesel visited relatives in Calgary last weekend.

Notes from Agriculture Canada

Sulfa drug limited

The federal government recently announced new limits on the use of sulfa drugs in swine feed.

Sulfa drugs can no longer be included in grower and finisher feeds for market hogs.

The change will extend the time to eliminate drug residues prior to slaughter to about 80 days.

The law formerly required the use of sulfa drugs to be discontinued not later than 10 days before slaughter.

The drug is still considered to be valuable in the prevention and treatment of respiratory diseases in young pigs.

Recently, some shipments of hogs to the United States were found to contain sulfa residues higher than the U.S. tolerance limits. The shipments were returned to Canada.

The new limits will reduce the possibility of sulfa residues remaining in pork meat at the time of slaughter. In addition, Agriculture Canada meat inspectors will take samples at slaughterhouses and meat-packing plants. These will be sent to laboratories for analysis.

Studies have shown that most known cases of sulfa residues in hog carcasses were caused by accidental cross-contamination of livestock feed. Non-medicated feed used during the final 10-day finishing period was placed in the same auger or storage bin that contained sulfa-medicated feed.

There are several steps producers can take to make sure residues do not occur.

To eliminate the cross-contaminated feed problem, all feed-handling equipment should be flushed with non-medicated feed between the handling of medicated and non-medicated feed.

The two kinds of feed should never be stored in a common bin.

It is also good practice to clean pens or move hogs to a clean pen 48 hours after the removal of medicated feed. This will prevent cross-contamination from waste material.

Farmers who mix their own feed should be particularly careful. It is a good idea to keep a sample of all mixed finishing feeds. If problems do occur with residues, the sample and feed records can then be checked.

Galahad District News

While playing Crib with Ricky McFaull recently, Trevor Williams had the rare good fortune to have a 29 count. He had three fives and a jack in his hand. When the cards were cut, the other five was turned up. This is something all Crib players hope for but few ever achieve.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Alan Bownes of Hinton. Their son, Nathan Alan, arrived February 26 at the Hinton Hospital weighing 9 lbs. 6 oz.

Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bownes. Margaret is up helping out while Mrs. Alan Bownes is in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Willis were dinner guests with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Farnquist and Mrs. Farnquist Sr. on Thursday at Camrose.

Get well wishes go to Mr. Gerald Oberg, a patient of the Galahad General Hospital.

On Sunday, February 18, Barbara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Etty, was dedicated at the Missionary Church by Pastor Gene Whitehead. The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Etty and Mr. and Mrs. Bud McFarland, accompanied Keith and Laura at the dedication.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Blumhagen, who were married at the Missionary Church on Saturday, February 24. Rev. Wayne Snyder of Castor was the officiating minister, assisted by Pastor Whitehead. Bruce and Cheryle will make their home in Camrose.

Dick Huber of the Intercollegiate Press met with a few of the persons responsible for the history book to give his guidance as to how to continue with the material which has been gathered and filed.

We are not able to estimate the size of price of the books at present as all material is not on file yet, but we would appreciate a deposit from those wishing to buy a copy.

We are grateful to those who have been such willing helpers. Annie Strachan visited the Archives for us. She is only one of many who have taken on hard tasks so that the book maybe a success. When you start working on a community project of this type, you realize the same spirit of cooperations still exists that made the pioneers able to succeed.

The Galahad Lions Club held a very successful skidoo poker rally on Sunday. The winners were Grant Kuefler, first; Brenda Borgel, second; and Roger Felzien, third.

Lynn Dietz and Debbie Whitehead of Mountain View Bible College, Didsbury spent the weekend visiting relatives in Galahad.

Mrs. Edith Lambrith visited Tom Mundle and Anne Wise, patients at the General Hospital in Galahad.

Mr. Bill Wise was a business visitor to Stettler on Monday.

Mr. Howard Doan of New Norway was a Galahad visitor on Friday of last week. He took his mother, Eva Doan, and aunt, Muriel Wright, to his home at New Norway to spend the weekend.

We were sorry to learn that Mrs. Allen McGhie of Alliance had the misfortune to fall while in Camrose, breaking her arm.

Mr. Hugh Bownes and Carrie were Friday afternoon callers at the Raymond Muyres home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Jackson are home from a holiday spent in Arizona and other points in the U.S.

Brenda Buchholz and Anne Bernard of Edmonton spent last weekend at Galahad.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Gamroth of Edmonton spent the weekend at the Domonic Gamroth home.

Social Credit Right Again For All Albertans

- Social Credit was born right here in Alberta. We are the only Alberta Party.
- Social Credit, The Alberta Party is the only party in Alberta that believes in private enterprise, but at the same time places an equally high priority on equal opportunity and social justice for all citizens.
- Social Credit has a proven record of achievement. We provided the best government in Canada for over 30 years because we listened to the concerns of the people.
- Social Credit believes the true Heritage of Alberta does not lie in bank accounts, oil or gas, but in its human resources – people – you and me!

Bob Clark
Leader With Exceptional Background

Since being elected leader of Social Credit, the Alberta Party other the last provincial election in 1975, Bob has revitalized the Party to make it the only credible alternative to the present government. Bob Clark brings a team of experience to the job with over years of service in the legislature, several portfolios and four years in the present position as leader of the Official Opposition.

Bob has an exceptional background for the job, teacher, former businessman, family man. He has earned the trust and respect of his constituents during the past two decades of service as MLA for Drumheller.

At 42 years of age Bob Clark is the most youthful opposing leader in Alberta's Bob Clark is the man for the 1980's.

BILLIONS BILLIONS

On more than one occasion since being elected to parliament, we have been asked by the government to approve borrowing authority without estimates being presented to parliament to indicate need. Most recently, the House of Commons debated an income tax bill titled C-37. In clause 70 of this bill, the minister of Finance is asking for power to borrow an additional $10 billion for what he broadly and singularly described as "general purposes". It has always been my understanding that the role of parliament was to govern. I find it unbelievable that any government would ask, on more than one occasion, for the right to borrow large sums of money without a statement of intent for the citizens.

Bill C-37 is a dilemma bill. It has put members of the opposition into a most awkward situation; the reason being that there are many parts of the bill which we wish to embrace. A number of incentives included in the bill would stimulate development. Those portions of the bill should be passed quickly so the nation may regain some of the productivity we enjoyed in earlier years.

However, when a specific clause asks for an unqualified right to borrow $10 billion, we necessarily must question whether or not the government should be able to put this bill to a vote without further explanation.

There are several other sections of Bill C-37 that give rise to great concerns. For the first time in Canadian history, Bill C-37, if passed, would allow for changes in taxation to take place by regulation. When I write the word "regulation" I mean that power is being requested to allow the cabinet to effect certain taxation policies without a reference to parliament. As an example, the bill would give the cabinet the power to change, at will, the definition of "small business". That unfortunate clause gives the government the prerogative to have senior civil servants decide who should be taxed what amounts in the field of small business.

Moreover, we are considerably concerned about the fact that specific tax exemptions are made under the category "small business" for employers who employ five persons or more. I find it utterly appalling that a sole employee in a small business enterprise, such as many farmers, would not qualify for small business exemptions while those who employ five or more would. Moreover, the question rises, what happens to the small business person who employs five people and then, because of improved efficiencies in his operation, finds that he is able to manage with a staff of four? Is he then no longer in small business? He would now have to consider that he doesn't require, or alternatively reduce his staff in accordance with his judgement and suffer a tax penalty because he is no longer classified as a small business person.

I have written about Bill C-37 for a particular reason – not only to inform you about some of the specific issues that are contained in the legislature, but importantly to reflect upon the conflict that a member of parliament finds himself in when he reviews a bill and finds that he is in agreement with a large portion of the initiatives, but on the other hand notes many clauses that are totally unacceptable. In the example given above, Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition finds itself in the awkward situation of wanting to hurry the bill through so that a number of incentives can be granted to the business community of Canada while at the same time feeling a very strong obligation to attempt to correct a number of serious abnormalities that could have a long-term negative impact.

It is not our intention to unduly delay the bill. It is, however, our obligation to focus on the clauses of concern long enough to let the public know that this was a bill that required a greater degree of keeping in touch. Hopefully, amendments can be made.

bers from Killam, Sedgewick and Lougheed, is seeing representation from the southern area of the county as well, according to Ken Affolder, principal of Sedgewick's Elementary School, one of the band's organizers and also its secretary-treasurer.

He and the band's president, Ron Doody, were the chief instigators in starting the county-wide musical activity. "Some of us were wanting other cultural activities available," said Mr. Affolder, "and after it got going in talk, other people started thinking it would be a good thing."

The real organizational step came, however, when the Sedgewick Agricultural Society offered support. That support was directly translated into paying for the band's entire rhythm section: console, amplifiers and drums.

As well, the band has received financial help from Flagstaff Further Education, which helps pay the cost of the band's instructor, Everett Norris, who comes from Viking.

Other funds needed have been raised by band members themselves. Mr. Affolder explained. Expenses for a certain period are divided among them, but this amount varies as does the number of members and expenses incurred, he added.

A good cross-section of talents and instrument variety are represented in the county band, even though the horn section could use some building up, said the principal. Having previous musical training is not a prerequisite to joining. Band members include people who, before joining the weekly instruction and practice sessions, had never played an instrument before.

All ages are represented as well, said Mr. Affolder, who pointed out that from its beginning, the band was planned with no age barrier in mind. And for members who don't own their own instruments, band organizers arranged for rentals at $7 a month. This saves people the inconvenience of travelling to the city and trying to find the best deal.

Hopefully, Mr. Affolder said, it should evolve that the band will take care of its own administration, adding that this shouldn't be any problem if its present strength is any indication.

The ideal situation, he said, would be if the band was coordinated into the high school program. Children in the elementary grades are introduced to music and taught the basics of some beginning instruments, but it doesn't lead to anything in the higher grades.

The band's March 10 concert will be its first real performance, even though it played two numbers at the Sedgewick school's Christmas program shortly after band members were organized.

Also participating will be the Viking Community Stage Band, conducted by Mr. Norris as well; a country band, Timothy Bridge; and soloists, Arlene Norris and Harry Anderson. The "Beethoven to the Beatles" concert will be held at the Sedgewick Elementary School Gym.

KILLAM 4-H HORSE CLUB

The Killam 4-H Horse Club had a very interesting weekend last week. First, on Friday, March 2, there were balls flying all over in the Killam Public School Gym as the 4-H Horse and Beef clubs competed in a volleyball game. The beef club won 15-10 and won a silver cup.

After the game, we had a meeting and the mothers served lunch. And on Sunday, March 4, we had a sleigh ride that Mr. and Mrs. Hampshire volunteered to give. We thanked them very much for the ride because it was very thrilling.

The 4-H club apreciated these activities and hope to do it again some time.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

YOUR TIME – WASTED OR SPENT?

As human beings, we almost all share one curious trait – we are continually complaining about lack of time. Every man, woman and child lives for exactly 168 hours each week. Why, then, are some able to accomplish so much while others of us have a difficult time getting even the most necessary task completed? The trick lies in learning to use our time wisely.

We cannot save time by storing it up the way we can material possessions so we must learn to save it by getting the most out of each moment that passes by. Organization is the key to spending time productively. Two methods of organizing time have proven most valuable to me.

I can think of no better way to organize time than by following a schedule. Business people are certainly aware of the value of schedules but I have found that, even as a housewife, a schedule of some sort is an indispensable tool. Time has a nasty habit of disappearing while we are trying to decide what to do with it. A well-planned schedule helps to eliminate this problem. It gives us a place to start and a path to follow.

I find that if I stick to my schedule, I can complete practically all the essential household tasks by noon and am left with the afternoon to spend or waste as I see fit. I am also left with the real feeling of accomplishment which often motivates me to use the rest of the day productively. If, however, as so often happens, I deviate too much and too often from the schedule that I have constructed for myself, I begin to find myself spending more and more time accomplishing less and less. Soon I am back in the rut of wondering where all my time is disappearing to and wishing that there were more hours in each day.

The second time-saving tool is the list. I begin by recording all the tasks that need to be done but are not part of my usual schedule. Then, whenever I have time to spare, I look over the list and choose the most important one. Many tasks that initially appear urgent are not. Establishing priorities ensures that time is not spent on those until the more important ones have been taken care of. Finally, I find that doing one thing at a time and staying with it until it is finished works best. When a job is completed, I cross it off the list. This again gives me a real sense of accomplishment and serves as a motivator encouraging me to get started on another of the listed tasks.

Now that I have figured out how to organize and use my time so wisely, why am I sitting here amidst a myriad of undone and half-finished jobs? Ah, that too is part of being a human!

Vertical integration

AGRI INSIGHT

Prepared by Alta Wheat Pool

One of the hottest issues amongst marketing thinkers at the present is a process known as vertical integration. There are several forms of integration but the system most feared by agricultural producers is vertical. For example, in the poultry industry, combining under a single contract the hatching, growing and processing of broiler chickens by a company or association of companies constitutes a common form of vertical integration.

To some businessmen vertical integration is simply one more good business practice. For instance, it provides a packing plant with an assured supply. If the company owns large-scale hog-feeding facilities it can regulate the flow of hogs over the killing floor, thus matching the market to economise on labour.

Another example is the retail store which owns the canning factory. It in turn contracts vegetables to be canned. This system assures the retailer of supply. It also gives him control of quality in the canning factory and permits the number of acres grown to be stimulated or discouraged.

Buse and Bromley describe vertical integration as a method of coercion. E.B. Weiss of New York observes that integrated agricultural operations have a disruptive effect on the traditional distribution system in rural communities.

Dr. Murray Hawkins of the University of Alberta Department of Rural Economy observes that: "With a highly concentrated retail market and a rapidly growing vertically integrated marketing system, food processing faces a dim future in western Canada."

The question we ask is whether vertical integration is spreading in Canada. The answer appears to be yes. Some authorities suggest that between 80 and 90 per cent of the hogs produced in the province of Quebec are owned throughout their lives by processors.

When we note that Quebec produces 30 per cent of Canadian hogs, the impact on all stages of the pork industry can be imagined. Broiler producers led other agricultural commodities in being integrated in Alberta. A very few companies own and control all stages of the industry. Reference has already been made to the domination of the vegetable canning industry in southern Alberta by Canada Safeway Ltd.

Daysland District News

The parents of the Daysland Kindergarten children held their monthly meeting Tuesday, February 20. Discussion regarding the east-central ECS Workshop, to be held in Daysland on March 15, was held and preparations seem to be complete.

An interesting day is lined up with the theme of modelling materials with Bev Church demonstrating and a hot turkey meal served at lunch.

It was also decided that the parents would serve a hot lunch to the children on March 9 in honour of Education Week as a similar project to what the teachers are doing for their students in school.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 13 and will be a joint meeting for both this year's parents and parents of next year's kindergarten group. Any parent who will have a child ready for kindergarten in the 1979-80 term is cordially invited to attend the meeting in the kindergarten room of the school at 8 p.m.

With the month of March on its way, the children are working on lions and lambs, waiting impatiently to see which one is correct for March 1. They have also done finger painting with pudding and enjoyed every minute of their work.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendlin Gartner returned home Thursday from a very enjoyable four days holiday to Reno, Nevada. While there, they toured the world's largest antique automobile collection. There were more than 1,100 cars dating back to 1902.

There were three carloads of ladies that went to Camrose March 1 to attend our UCW meeting at Rev. and Mrs. Armstrong's home, which we all enjoyed very much.

The president, Betty Koshli, chaired the meeting. The devotion was read by Norma Hanrahan of Mrs. Kruse's life and love for her church. The roll call was answered by 15 members and there were two visitors present with 42 visits to the sick. The minutes were read by Betty Hill in Phyllis Gabruck's absence and the treasurer's report given by Emily Hill. Both were approved. Betty Hill read the correspondence and the different committees gave their reports.

Two motions were made, first that we cater to the school graduation banquet this year and, second, that we cater to Heather Candlish's wedding on July 21. The meeting adjourned.

For the program, Zerah Candlish let us listen to a tape and then she asked questions on it and a discussion period followed.

A lovely lunch was served with Ruth Armstrong as hostess and her helpers were Betty Hill and Betty Koshli.

Due to Mrs. Golden's funeral being in Camrose March 1, there were a few ladies who missed the meeting.

The Sunbeam Club met in the Daysland Hall February 28 with 32 members present. There were eight tables of whist played with high score going to Mrs. Manning and low score to Mrs. Agnes Twitchell. The next card game is March 7 at 1:30 p.m. as they play cards every Wednesday afternoon now.

Emily Hill received a phone call from her cousin Ruth in B.C. letting her know that her uncle, J.H. Davison, had passed away at the age of 94. He was her father's youngest brother.

She also received word of a cousin that had passed away at Dodsland, Saskatchewan.

Mr. Bill Davison of Killam is in the University Hospital in Edmonton having undergone surgery, but he is coming on fine now. Ruth Davison is also in the Killam Hospital for a few days also. Get well soon, folks.

Sedgewick girl married at sea

The Titan Lounge of the M.V. Jupiter Cruise ship sailing in the Caribbean was the setting for the ceremony in which Lillian May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tweedy of Sedgewick, Alberta, was united in marriage to Robert Gregory Maughan, son of Mr. and Mrs. N.H. Alexander of Edmonton, Alberta.

On February 18, 1979 at 6 p.m., Captain George Assanakis, master of the Greek ship Jupiter, performed the ceremony assisted by his six officers.

The bride, dressed in a floor-length gown of pale blue Indian cotton accented by champagne-coloured lace bodice and sleeves, was escorted to the alter by a friend, Joe Schriber. She carried a spray of assorted coloured mums.

The maid of honour was Sandra Schriber, friend of the bride and groom.

The groom was attired in a black velvet tuxedo with a red mum boutonniere. His attendant was Joe Schriber, friend of the bride and groom.

The traditional wedding march for the bride was played by the ship's band.

Pictures were taken of the bridal party after the ceremony in the Garden Veranda followed by a champagne reception with the captain and his officers in a private lounge.

The wedding party were guests of the captain at a cocktail party and dinner at his table.

The three-tiered Greek-styled wedding cake was made by the ship's chief chef.

The happy couple spent their honeymoon aboard the ship and on the island of Barbados, West Indies. They will be making their home in Edmonton.

TOPS celebrates three years

The members of TOPS AB#2204, Sedgewick celebrated their third anniversary. Teen and pre-teen mothers also joined in the celebration on February 26 when, after weighin, we gathered at the Keith home.

Verna, Judy and Bonnie were recognized as divisional winners at the local level for our club as certificates were presented to these very deserving members. Our present leader, Joyce, is still holidaying in the sunny south, so in her absence Co Leader Mary Ann presented a certificate and charm to Hedrun N. as runner-up to the Queen of Sedgewick Chapter for 1978. Mary Ann was also privileged to crown her mother, Minnie D., as Queen of the Chapter for 1978. She was also presented with a crown pin, a gift of the chapter, and a certificate.

Co-Leader Mary Ann then presented a Turtle of the Year award to Minnie D., which was a turtle pin.

Barb S. had been presented with a certificate for being runner-up to the Queen of the Red Deer Chapter when she attended there.

In the past three years, we have had 101 members join our chapter, shedding 1,122 pounds, and award 286 charms for weight losses and executive positions.

Co-Leader Mary Ann read a letter, with the help of Terri, about our most outstanding members of our chapter for 1978. Being as Mary Ann declined to let her name stand for nomination, she wrote the resume about our outstanding member and presented the TOPS Trophy to our very deserving weight recorder, Eleanor T. It was stated that "we can never catch her with her bit toe on the scale while she weighs us in." Congratulations, Eleanor, you really did deserve the honour. Eleanor graciously thanked the chapter for the lovely trophy.

Hedrun N. very fittingly thanked Mary Ann for everything she did for all in the past year with many thanks with everyone joining in.

The rest of the evening was spent playing a very wide variety of games from ping pong to Husker Du. Minnie and Hedrun prepared the lunch consisting of coffee, punch, cheese, crackers, celery, carrot sticks and pickles. Many thanks Hedrun, Minnie and everyone who brought games, and especially to Elaine for opening her home to us and being such an excellent hostess.

To all the executive who we are indebted to for their hard work, much credit is due for having made these past three years such a success.

Life Skills sees first grad

The first Life Skills graduation in Flagstaff county and district was held at the Sedgewick Bethania Lutheran Church February 23 at 8 p.m. with a capacity crowd in attendance.

The program for the evening was chaired very well by Harold Hepp from Heisler. The guest speaker, Harvey Senft, employment councillor of the Wetaskiwin regional office for Alberta Social Services, gave a most interesting and challenging address which was responded to by Valerie Bone of Lougheed in a very impressive way.

Margaret Thompson, who was chosen as valedictorian, graciously gave a positive and informative talk about the course.

Acknowledgements and thanks were cordially extended by James Clement to different agencies which financed and supported the students and the course. The graduates were presented with their certificates by Coach Sophie Abel and the guest speaker, Mr. Senft.

Those graduating were: Al Bereziuk, Killam; Mary Blanch, Wainwright; Valerie Bone, Lougheed; Carol Clausen, Killam; James Clement, Viking; Lawrence Dunn, Killam; Margaret Glennie, Sedgewick; Harold Hepp, Heisler; Malcolm McDonald, Viking; Rick Preston, Killam; Terry Sutter, Killam; Margaret Thompson, Sedgewick; Melda Holler, Viking; Carol Holler, Viking; and Louise Machel, Killam.

The class is very proud to announce that out of 17 students, 15 graduated. Carol Holler, on behalf of the class, presented Coach Sophie Abel with a most-gorgeous and lovely bouquet of red roses, who responded in a very warm and gracious manner.

A beautiful corsage was presented by Al Bereziuk to Grace Davis, councillor for Canada Manpower of Camrose. In appreciation to Bethania Lutheran Church, the Life Skills class presented Leif Osback, president of the congregation, with a lovely plant for the church. Carol Clausen very graciously made the presentation.

The entire evening program was videotaped very well by graduate Rick Preston. An elaborate meal was served to all by the class. Those in charge of food were Melda Holler, Carol Holler, Carol Clausen and Al Bereziuk. The ushers were Mac McDonald, Terry Sutter and the hostess was Mary Blanch.

Out-of-town guests were from Edmonton, Wainwright, Wetaskiwin, Camrose, Leduc, Viking, Bawlf, Jarrow and Irma. The graduates were pleased by the warm and overwhelming response of the community and district.

Wood stoves make comeback

Coal and wood cookstoves – for many of today, thoughts of these stoves bring back many memories. Fond memories probably include the feel of that special warmth on icy fingers when held over the stove top, or the sound and smells of crackling wood in the firebox. Or, maybe you remember the homey black stove and the endless ashes and wood you had to carry.

If you have the desire to rekindle these memories by installing a wood or coal cookstove, you need not visit a second-hand store or antique shop to acquire one. Many new traditional-looking wood stoves are on display in larger department stores. These stoves have found a place in summer cottages, in cosy, decorated family rooms and basement recreation rooms.

If you are considering purchasing a wood-burning stove, the Canadian Standards Association has the following information for you. The first wood stoves that have been tested and certified for safety are now appearing on the market. Stoves that have passed CSA's tests will bear a CSA mark. Before certification is granted, the furnace, boiler or wood stove must pass temperature tests and conform to the manufacturer's marking. In other words, if the marking says the stove should have a clearance of two feet, the surrounding construction is checked to ascertain if there is a possible fire hazard two feet away from the appliance. Since most boiler or wood-burning furnaces are electrically equipped, the electric components are also tested for fire and shock hazard, especially after being exposed to the heat from the wood fire. Knobs and other controls are also checked to make sure they are not too hot to handle.

STRESS AND THE FAMILY

What are the issues facing families today? The Parent Resource Unit of Alberta Social Services and Community Health is sponsoring a three-day workshop in an attempt to find out. The workshop of the family and stress is designed for parents across Alberta and is slated for March 13 to 15 at the MacDonald Hotel in Edmonton. Discussions will focus on how families are affected by stress situations from within the family and by society.

Trophies Awarded

The Hardisty Stampeders hockey club received "The Lions'" share of the Battle River hockey trophies at a presentation made in Hardisty on Monday, February 26.

The middle photo shows Mr. Waldorf presenting the Boyd Gray memorial trophy to Dave McConnel as best goalie in the league.

FINALS BEST OF SEVEN

Hardisty and Viking are playing a best-of-seven series for the Battle River Hockey playoffs. The first game on Saturday, March 3 saw Viking win by one point in overtime, 3-2. The second game played at Viking Monday saw the home team win by a 7-2 score.

Further games are scheduled for Hardisty on Wednesday, March 7 and on Saturday, March 10 in Viking.

Crusade continues through week

After weeks of planning, the Flagstaff Spiritual Life Crusade is, this week, drawing folks from throughout the County of Flagstaff and beyond. The Crusade is being held in Sedgewick under the chairmanship of Flagstaff Ministerial.

Sunday, February 11, a large crowd turned out for the Crusade Kickoff Rally held in the Sedgewick Community Hall. Rev. Richard Conrad spoke briefly about the coming crusade and then introduced the guest speaker, Stan Hitchman of Crusade Evangelism International, who was in Sedgewick for a few days prior to the crusade to assist those involved in its planning.

The crusade began Sunday, March 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the Sedgewick Community Hall. It continues throughout the week with meetings at 7:30 each evening. Monday, March 5, was a special Youth Night, as will be Friday, March 9.

In addition to the nightly meetings, other special events are taking place during the crusade week also. These include a men's lunch, which was held Monday, March 5, and a ladies' luncheon, held Tuesday, March 6. The crusade team attended and was involved in both functions. They also visited the high schools in the County, where they were received with a good deal of enthusiasm by the younger generation.

The team includes Rev. Alf Rees, speaker, and two musicians, Art Ferri and Doug Bell. Mr. Rees currently is the vice-president of Ministries for Crusade Evangelism International. Mr. Perri is the associate director of music.

Mr. Perri began his singing career at nine years of age, starring on television in Philadelphia. He was the youngest soloist ever to sing with Eugene Ormandy and the famous Philadelphia Orchestra. He studied opera at Temple University, PA, and music at MGM Studios in Hollywood. He has performed in numerous nightclubs. In April, 1967, he dedicated his life and talents to Christ and now uses his voice entirely in gospel singing.

A local choir, under the direction of Messrs. Perri and Bell is involved in the evening meetings. This choir meets at the Sedgewick Community Hall at 6:30 each evening during the crusade to spend an hour practicing the songs for that evening.

Group home proposed

Jim Allers of the Strome area has been working for six months on a proposal for a group home for troubled teenagers. He was invited to come to the area in July, 1978 by the former Preventive Social Services director, Richard Cohen.

The East-Central Alberta Association for the Treatment and Care of Youth has been set up to operate the group home. The association was officially incorporated February 23, 1979 and can now work on programs involving youth. One of the association's programs is the group home, which will be named Battle River Group Home.

The provincial government has given approval in principle after seeing the proposal, and it is now in the final stages.

The plan was to begin operation in April, however, a problem has arisen regarding the location. The community selected as the site of the home is now expressing reservations regarding a group home in its area. Three alternate communities are now being considered.

The association is governed by a board of directors, who come from the area. There is also a resource bank of professional people and tradesmen, who come from the east-central region.

Election centers around fund

Conservatives' plans for the Heritage Fund became an open question as Social Crediters, New Democrats and Liberals unveiled their ideas for it in the March 14 election campaign.

In advertising Premier Peter Lougheed helped prepare, the Tories overhauled their version of their 1975 mandate to create the multi-billion-dollar energy revenue savings account.

No basic revisions were announced officially. Lougheed did his best to deny making any. The credibility of the fund and his request for a continued majority to resist using it up were at stake.

But the ambitions he had for the fund when he called the 1975 election over it in a speech to the legislature were being tempered with a new message. Money could be available sooner than anyone guessed.

In 1975, he wanted "to put aside substantial sums of current revenues from the sale of nonreplaceable crude oil production . . . for our children and our grandchildren."

He further vowed that the fund would be used "to diversify the economy of this province so we become less reliant upon the sale of oil to sustain our economy."

In their 1979 advertising, the Tories offer to start using the fund by spending its interest earnings -- already in the $200 million a year range -- in a little as eight to 10 years.

Lougheed conceded the legislation, which set up the fund in 1976, would have to be changed to let the cabinet transfer money back into the general revenue account for routine spending.

Meanwhile, the advertising mentions economic diversification only in passing as "legal restriction on investment."

Under the 1976 fund law, uses of the fund besides capital spending that could claim no more than 20 per cent of total assets have to "strengthen and diversify" the economy.

For the future, Tories now promise the fund will provide "medical research, quality of life, education, forests, parks" and "prosperity" -- but not an economy less dependent on farm export markets and once-only oil and gas reserves.

The new advertising only confirms a major revision of the administration's official economic thinking which began to unfold during last fall's legislature sitting.

Dependence on farming and petroleum resources, which had been called "precarious," has now become described as natural reliance on the traditional pillars of Alberta prosperity.

At a Red Deer election rally, Lougheed slammed the door against calls by his opponents to save assets by limiting oil and gas production. Earlier, he urged Ottawa to step up gas exports to the United States.

Lougheed said proposals to bank once-only energy resources in the ground instead of holding cash earned by selling them in the fund are "not a very bright idea."

The premier warned that attempts to withhold production would worsen relations with the rest of Canada and that the petroleum industry must be kept working at capacity to provide jobs and energy supplies.

Horner visits Central High

Students and staff at the Central High School in Sedgewick were visited last Wednesday, February 28, by Jack Horner, federal minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce.

Mr. Horner gave a slide presentation on his recent trip to China and other parts of call and was on hand to answer any questions from his audience.

Editorially

Education vs election

It's started – the 'week before election fever' when all we read, see and hear is the good guy versus the bad guy. Previous government mistakes are held high and someone else's intentions raised higher. Yes, the campaign fever strikes even the most unsuspecting by-stander who discovers that even he has an opinion, and no, an election is hard to ignore. Like cupid, the arrows aren't shot often but they seldom miss their mark!

It gets confusing, though, trying to keep up with each candidate's campaign: where he's been, who he's talked to or what he's said. And this election, we seem to be confronted with even more issues to consider than ever before. We're especially concerned with one.

This week is Education Week. Our children are working on special projects and 'fairs' to commemmorate this, the most-important time of their lives, and teachers were off last week to attend (hopefully) their convention for "professional development".

We're surprised the political parties of the province haven't used this timely occasion as part of the political bandwagon. What better way to appeal to voters than to promise bright futures for their children, or in this case, the best education possible to ensure the good future of our offspring. But not too much has been said concerning education, and not because it's doing just fine the way it is.

We, in Alberta, are sending our children off each morning into an educational environment which used to be the best in the country. It isn't any longer. In almost as many years, education in Alberta has dropped to number three. That's not bad, you say, there's still nine others below us. Well, it's that attitude of "as long as we're not the worst, don't worry if we're not the best" that's contributed to our depreciating standard of education.

It's especially negligent of the powers that be to allow this to occur in Alberta, of all places, which has so much money it's become an embarrassment. Surely we can afford to have the freeze on educational spending lifted.

We appreciate that the Heritage Trust Fund is a good idea, saving for Alberta's tomorrow, but our children are tomorrow. Teaching them Canadian history out of 15 year old American textbooks isn't much of an investment either.

Perhaps the standard of education in Alberta has been allowed to slip because it began so gradually. We all assume that education has improved because our children have the benefit of modern facilities – quite a step above the "one-room schoolroom". But surely the physical aspect is not the only priority: the number of unbroken beakers in the science lab, or having a television and film screen in each classroom for "educational viewing". Are our children having the benefit of the best in teaching as well?

How often we've heard a high school student say, "I guess I'll take education at university. I don't know what else to take – besides, my marks aren't high enough for much else." Or, perhaps you remember a well-meaning mother comment: "Take education, dear, it's a good thing to fall back on."

It's sad to note that it doesn't take a great deal of over-intelligence or personal attributes to become a teacher – perhaps one of the hardest jobs there is yet the easiest in which to get a degree. We realize there are teachers today who are committed to their profession, but there's an increasing number who prefer the two-month summer holiday and the mid-year breaks. In fact, a survey was conducted last week in Jasper at the time of the Edmonton teachers' convention – 70 per cent of the skiers at that resort admitted to being teachers. Maybe it's time to make the teaching profession harder to get into.

We feel it's time our government, whatever party forms it, minds its "p's and q's", "got back to basics", "gives us our money's worth" or whatever you want to call it. We just want our children to receive the best education possible. If we can afford to make it fancy, we can afford to make it good.

The Third Column

by Truncate

BACKWARD TURN BACKWARD O Time in your Flight; make me a child again just for tonight. These lines were penned many, many years ago and probably by one who wished to relive for a short time only the abundant and luxurious life a care-free person void of the responsibilities of individual living. But dreaming the impossible dream does not make it so, for there is no going back. Life demands that we keep going forward and those who have done so without taking too many branches or forks in the road, controlled their desires and maintained their equanimity under stress or strain, have no desire to retreat into the past, even for 24 hours. They have learned to accept the advancing years with grace. Yet, there are those even today who would turn time back and return to the barbaric rituals of bygone generations.

WE HAVE SUCH A ONE in the person of President Zia ul-Haq of Islamabad, who has announced a return to the strict Islamic legal system and the punishment administered to those who break the rules. It is harsh in the extreme and will be the means of either correcting social misbehaviour or provoking mass rebellion against overly restrictive and antiquated laws. There is always the happy medium between severity and laxity.

IN OUR PERMISSIVE SOCIETY of today the trend is toward laxity in punishment. We no longer really make the punishment fit the crime, and even in crimes of similarity the verdicts vary beyond reason, depending on the feelings and attitudes of those who judge and the circumstances surrounding the case.

JUST READ HERE some of the laws to be enforced in this Islamic State and consider your fortunate situation in the western world:

PROHIBITION of alcoholic beverages for all of Moslem faith. No more collisions between camels guided by a drunken driver. Probably the only good rule in the entire set, there is also allowance for 80 LASHES FOR DRINKING, LIBEL AND DEFAMATION. Human beings detest the lash so this should be a real deterrent;

BUT HERE'S THE CLINCHER. Stoning will be the punishment for rapists and adulterers. A harkening back to the days of darkness when barbaric means of putting to death were in vogue. With each stone tossed, the people could shout rapist, rapist, rapist, until the victim expired (or adulterer as the case may be). A certain reminder for those looking on to mend their ways and their thoughts, and send them home in a serious frame of mind. In our western world, we would have a problem though in this way of doing things. We would run out of rocks. Good way to clear the land though and thus the wear and tear on machinery, and cutting down the overhead for farmers. Not to mention a new market for the stones and increased income:

WHIPPING for some offences will be invoked, and here is one that people everywhere abhor. It not only bruises your pride but lacerates your hide. Suicide is the only alternative for this;

CUTTING OFF THE HAND for stealing. That should certainly cut down the theft rate. The guilty will not only have a constant reminder of misdeed, but also will be deprived of the means of any repitition of the act. No hand, no theft.

IF WE CONTEMPLATE with horror on the atrociousness of these very stringent laws, then let us remind ourselves that even though we live in a permissive society, we are still maintaining a good degree of compassion, and be thankful that we are not retreating into the far distant past, but advancing into the future. Wrong as we may be in many respects, show us a better system anywhere.

Election Thoughts

Here we are another time
Election planned on Valentine.

The Heritage Fund that grows by day
To some would like to melt away.

Bob, he says, well share we will
If ever we get our hands on the till.

Then NDP who shows such power
Could end up like the Babel Tower.

Old Nicky Taylor
Like the rest
Would like some seats

Would like a toe hold

To you and those who have some dough
Be wise and vote Peter

It is among the profound convictions of a free society that the last word is never left with evil, that God never gets in a blind alley, and that even from the conspiracies of malevolence some good may be drawn, because importunity wins its consent even against the most reluctant. -James H. Robinson: Tomorrow Is Today

Kinross Legion Auxiliary meets

At the January meeting of the Lougheed Kinross Legion Auxiliary held on January 16, officers for the legion and auxiliary for 1979 were installed by commander for the legion, Arnold Gilroy, and District Commander Allison Barton.

Madam Barton installed Hannah Oakes, Sergeant at Arms; Ida Whyte, secretary; Vesta Cookson, treasurer; Jerry Johnson, vice-president; Barbara Kunst, past president; Olive Grieve, president; and Essie Loonees, Hazel Swainson and Irene Potter, executive. Edna Duffield and Hazel Swainson were installed to the colour party.

Madam Barton installed Mrs. Potter at the February meeting.

An executive meeting was held at the home of Olive Grieve February 13. Plans were made for the new year. New work lists were revised and a polio tea is to be planned for later. Entertainment to be tried after regular business meetings.

The regular meeting was held February 20 with 12 members present.

A recognition star will be put on file cards for perfect attendance.

A receipt box and cards have been purchased and all members' names of one year have been typed on these cards.

Correspondence was read and dealt with. The joint rally is to be held at St. Paul April 8th.

President Olive Grieve presented Madam Barton with a gift for the installation of officers. She also presented Eunice and Barb with appreciation for auditing the books.

The birthday girl was Ida Whyte. Mabel won the kitchen raffle and meeting was adjourned. Hostesses for the meeting were Eunice and Sunny.

Stampede's rodeo sees dual matches

Professional team rodeo will make its Canadian debut in the Calgary Stampede Corral March 21 to 25, pitting teams from Alberta, British Columbia, Saskatchewan and the United States against each other in a playdown series for the brand new Rodeo Royal Invitational Cup.

"Fans at Rodeo Royal last year were tremendously impressed with the special dual competition staged in the calf-roping, and this year, all timed events will be run in dual competition," said Rodeo Royal Committee Chairman Bob Poffenroth. The excitement of two competitors striving to defeat each other in the arena at the same time will be expanded to all events of steer wrestling, calf roping and, for the first time, barrel racing.

Poffenroth added that each team is comprised of up to 18 of the top ranked cowboys and cowgirls in regional associations under the auspices of the North American Rodeo Finals Commission, which comprises some 16 associations in Canada and the United States, and about 16,000 competitors. They will compete in saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bull riding, steer wrestling, calf roping and ladies' barrel racing.

Each performances of Rodeo Royal will be 2½ hours, divided into a first and second half. In each event, a team member will be matched against a member of the other team. The audience will know each team's score following each match. The winning ride or time in any one match will score two points for his or her team with the score cumulative to the end of the performance. The losing ride or time, providing it qualifies, will receive one point for the team.

The only events to be run dual with two competitors in the arena simultaneously, are the timed events. Three matched competitions of six cowboys and cowgirls in each event will ride, rope, wrestle or race at Rodeo Royal. The six official events in each half of the performance will be complemented with extras such as boys' steer riding, novice bareback riding, the Stampede Queen competition and a new specialty event this year, sheep riding.

"Team rodeo is much easier for the audience to follow and understand and will bring the excitement, competitiveness and sheer fun of team sports to rodeo," stated Poffenroth.

Alliance Legion auxiliary meets

March 1 saw 11 members present at the regular meeting of the Alliance Legion Auxiliary.

Notice was received of a joint rally at St. Paul on April 28.

There have been several donations made to various organizations in recent months: $25 was sent to the telethon for the blind in Calgary, $25 was donated to the bursary fund for provincial high school students and $500 was given to the Legion men to be used for maintenance of the Alliance Cemetery.

The Pay-What-You-Pull draw was made and Teresa Clarke of Alliance was the winner of $15.

The ladies would like to thank all people who have participated in their recent fund-raising projects.

A SPECIAL BOY

God gave us in our neighbourhood
A very special boy.
At times we don't do all we could
To make his life a joy.

His special kind of happiness
Rubs off on all his friends
Through all his hurts and sickness,
His brave spirit never ends.

God knew the special family
That such a boy would need,
And a school with super faculty
So all of us - take heed.

This boy, this special blessing
In our neighbourhood does stay.
Take some of your time, investing
To know a special child today.

LINK, Robert August

Robert August Link passed away suddenly at his home near Enderby, B.C. on February 2, 1979 at the age of 51 years. Born in 1928 at Emerson, Manitoba, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Link. The family moved to Forestburg, where Bob grew up and received his education.

In 1947, he joined the RCMP and in 1949 was united in marriage to Patricia Stein of Edmonton. He was stationed in Ottawa, Saskatoon, Rose Valley and Regina before retiring to Enderby in 1966. Besides his ranch, he was sheriff of Salmon Arm District.

He is survived by his wife Pat and two sons, Mark at home and David and his wife, Linda, and one granddaughter of Vernon, B.C.; two brothers, Arthur of Forestburg and Reuben of Killam; four sisters, Agnes Pallenzoh of Elmira, Ontario, Meta Whitaker of Spokane, Washington, Addie Pilschka of Portland, Oregon and Joyce Waite of Spokane, Washington.

RCMP funeral services were held from St. Andrew's United Church, Enderby on February 6 with Rev. David Hoops officiating. Interment followed in the Enderby Cemetery.

HALL, Rachel

Mrs. Rachel Hall, pioneer settler of Wavy Lake and Killam districts, died February 19, 1979 at the age of 91. She was the widow of the late Fred Hall and resided at their farm until her final illness.

Mrs. Hall was born in Ontario. She came to Alberta in 1908, homesteading with her parents, the Sam Aasleys, at Wavy Lake in 1905. She was of a family of nine, all who came west and have preceded her in death.

Mrs. Hall married Fred Hall in 1908 and lived on their homestead at Selby until they moved to the present home north of Killam. She was the mother of Wesley, deceased in 1949, and Leonard and Harold, both of Killam. Also surviving are three daughters, Marguerite (Mrs. Ross York) of Killam, Freda (Mrs. Frank Seifert) of Portland, Oregon, and Lillian (Mrs. Merlin Kelley) of Edmonton. Bernice (Mrs. Grant Murray) of Vernon, B.C. is the daughter of Fred Hall by a previous marriage. Also surviving is one daughter-in-law, Marjorie (Mrs. J. Nephew) of Killam.

Mrs. Hall also leaves 18 grandchildren, 27 great grandchildren, four great great grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

She will be well remembered by the many Raggedy Ann dolls she made and generously gave to all.

Funeral services were held February 22 from the Baptist Church with the Reverend Abe Funk officiating. Interment was in the Killam Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Max and Dennis Busse, David Cramton, Walter Erickson, Everett Fox and Norman Rancier.

Food processor being recalled

The Canadian Standards Association (CSA) is urging consumers who have "Le Gourmet Food Processor" Model 6000 to return them to their retail store because of potential hazards.

About 1,800 of these appliances have been sold in retail stores across Canada since May, 1978. Imported by GENII Products of Lachine Quebec appears on the bottom of 1,800 and Made in U.S.A. by American Electric Corporation, Culver City, California is stamped on 500. The CSA monogram appears on all of these units and the units are not identical or do not conform to the units originally examined by CSA under file number LR41716-1.

CSA has initiated this recall because the appliances fail to meet the requirements of the Canadian Electrical Code standards.

All the machines were manufactured in the U.S. by American Electric Corporation, Culver City, California.

New child tax credit plan explained

How can less money mean more money? For many Canadian families in the low and middle income ranges, the reduction in family allowance payments that began in January will result in not less, but more money in 1979.

By following three basic steps, mothers whose net family income falls within a certain range, will be able to collect a child tax credit of up to $200 for each eligible child, as a supplement to their family allowance payments.

The three steps include filing an income tax return, completing the application form, Schedule 10, that was included with the January family allowance cheque, and enclosing a copy of the information slip (TFAI) that was also included with the January cheque. The required information should then be mailed in the self-addressed return envelope included with the income tax return.

Revenue Canada, Taxation estimates that at least 2.8 million Canadians, mainly women, will be eligible to apply for at least some or all of the $200 credit for their eligible children. Families whose net family income is $18,000 or less will receive the full $200 credit for each eligible child. Families whose net income is above $18,000 may also be eligible although the benefits will be reduced as family income rises.

Generally, eligible children include all those born in 1961 or later for whom a family allowance payment was received last December.

Because the credit is intended for the parent who normally receives the family allowance cheque, in most cases the mother will apply for it. In a single-parent home where the father has custody of the children and receives the family allowance payments, he would then be eligible to apply for the credit.

Many women not employed outside the home who have no taxable income tax return, Child Tax Credit Application Form (Schedule 10) and the information slip TFAI that you will need if you are applying for the credit. Other forms that you may need are also explained.

1978 Income Tax Return - If you filed a tax return in 1977, you have already received your personalized 1978 tax return in the mail.

For those who did not file in 1977, Revenue Canada, Taxation mailed a special Child Tax Credit package to family allowance recipients identified as new income tax filers. The package contains an income tax return (in both languages), a self-addressed return envelope, a copy of the special schedule, and complete instructions on how to claim your child tax credit.

If you haven't received this package by the end of February, you should pick up an income tax booklet at any post office or district taxation office.

Child Tax Credit Application Form, Schedule 10 - Copies of this special schedule were enclosed with the January family allowance cheques. They are also available at District Taxation Offices and regional family allowance offices.

Social insurance number- Where Health and Welfare have no record of a social insurance number for family allowance recipients, they are mailing out a reminder explaining how to obtain the number.

Application forms are available in some post offices and at all Canada Employment Centres (Unemployment insurance and manpower services). You will get your number faster if you go in person to the nearest Canada Employment Centre, equipped with the required documents: a birth or baptismal certificate, as well as secondary identification such as a copy of your driver's licence.

TFAI, Statement of family allowance paid - You received this information slip with your January family allowance cheque. It comes in three copies: one to be included with the tax return of the person who is reporting family allowances in income, one to be included with the return of the person claiming the child tax credit, and one to keep as a record.

If you do not receive a TFAI information slip or if you have lost yours, get in touch with a regional family allowance office and explain your situation.

T4-Statement of income from employment — You will receive this from your employer, usually at the end of February. If you were legally married and living with your spouse as of last December 31, you will need the income of both yourself and your spouse in order to calculate net family income. If you were not employed, and have no other income, you will include only the income of your spouse. You do not have to include a copy of your spouse's T4 when you apply for the credit, but if you were employed, you must include your own T4 with your income tax return.

Award letter -- There are cases where a parent was not entitled to receive family allowance for a child last December but may still be entitled to claim the child tax credit, for example, a child born in December. If you are in this category or think you are, and you do not have an award letter, check with your regional family allowance office.

Printed information to help you -- District Taxation Offices have available a leaflet "You were asking about child tax credits" explaining the provisions of the program and a simple graphic guide on "How to apply for the Child Tax Credits".

For information on eligibility for family allowance, ask for the pamphlet "Family Allowances" from Health & Welfare Canada.

Killam District News

Deepest sympathy of the community goes out to Mr. Bill Brodie and all Brodie and Graham relations in their loss of Muriel Brodie, who passed away at the age of 61 after a lengthly illness in the Daysland Hospital on March 3. Funeral services were held from the Killam Anglican Church March 6, 1979.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McMahon are babysitting granddaughter Laurie while parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Vilner, are on a fishing trip to B.C. Mr. Jim McMahon of Edmonton is also visiting parents.

Sympathy of the community goes to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lockhart in the loss of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jack Golden, (nee Wanda Dose).

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Konicki and Steven were weekend visiters with mother, Mrs. Jean Bonar, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Semrau and boys of Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lockhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ball of Leduc, and Mrs. Catheryn James of Sherwood Park were weekend visitors with mother, Mrs. Annie Kinaer, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Toby Schweitzer were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Billard and family in Dallard, Saskatchewan.

Mr. Oscar Pederson was a lucky winner of a $500 draw at Sherwood Park last week sponsored by the Kinsmen. Nice win, Oscar.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Storbakken. Miss Lana Pederson and Mr. Lyn Storbakken have left for a holiday to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Garry Oberg and daughter of Edmonton were visitors with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fee.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Larson of Hinton were weekend visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gair and family and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bownes and family and were attending Hilma Sue's shower.

Mrs. Ivy Compo and baby Peggy are visiting at the Bob McGowan home. Blanche and Bob drove to Edmonton to pick them up on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Cramton visited with the Dave Cramtons recently. Myron and Monique have just returned from a two-week holiday in Delhi, India and report a very enjoyable trip.

Belated birthday greetings to Dave Cramton on March 3. A group of friends and neighbours dropped in Saturday evening to wish him well. Edon Cramton of Fort Saskatchewan spent the weekend at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Ham of Vegreville were supper guests at the Dave Cramton home on Tuesday, having also attended the funeral of Muriel Brodie.

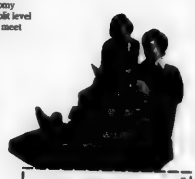
WESTWOOD wrote the book on manufactured home design

WESTWOOD is one company that really cares about how a home looks. In fact when it comes to design, we feel we lead the industry.

To see for yourself, just mail us the completed coupon. You can put your feet up and go house hunting among dozens of beautiful homes and floor plans.

We have large homes, economy homes, homes for narrow lots, split level homes, bungalows — a design to meet every need.



...yours for the asking!

The brochure also explains in detail all the advantages of the component system — how it saves time and money — and how WESTWOOD can help in every way to build your dream.

At WESTWOOD we have a 17-year reputation for consistently making homes that not only look good, but are good. From top to bottom. Inside and out.

So, if you're looking for the ideal home, send us the coupon today. Or, contact the WESTWOOD representative in your area.

Getting ready

March 5 to 9 is Education Week. Here, students at the Sedgewick Public School get ready for its annual fair to commemmorate the special occasion.

Displayed at the fair March 9 are individual and group projects on which the students have spent countless hours -- at school and home. Most are projects of a scientific nature, but some are also included on history, literature and mathematics, and give each student the opportunity to study in more detail topics which especially interest them.

Everyone is invited to the fair, where the students' hard work can be viewed and questions answered.

News, Views & Reviews

With the ice carnival and pancake supper past.
Curling and hockey will too end fast.
Skiing and skidooing on the hills will go.
'Til that spring sun melts all the snow.

During the week three hockey games were played.
The PeeWees won one and in second place stayed.
The exhibition game at Irma was a defeat, 5-4.
At the rate they were going, they could have scored more.

On Thursday the "Stars on Ice" did play.
'Twas a Coyote and Roadrunner pickup game, they say.
All played the rec rules of the game.
So no one went home all crippled and lame.

Two ladies' rinks to the Irma bonspiel went.
And with eight prizes all home were sent.
To the men's Hardisty bonspiel went rinks five.
Three lost out, while two stayed alive.

(To date we're sure that the two won prizes.
You see this curling is full of surprises.)

Remember you must curl with skill and zeal.
If you ever want to win at a bonspiel.
You have to make the shots that count.
Or else the opposition's score might really mount.

We hope you'll read this verse and rhyme.
And thank you all for taking the time!

Other Sports Briefs:

Lougheed PeeWees scored 6-5 against Sedgewick. The ladies' rinks curling at Irma: Kim Martin, skip; Jackie Coates, third; Deb Martin, second; and Brenda Martin, lead, won prizes in the 1st event. Vivian Firkus, skip; Yvonne Rawluk, third; Helga Barker, second; and Virgina Welsh, lead; won prizes in the 2nd event. Congratulations!

The Lougheed Ladies' Bonspiel is this weekend. Figure and power skaters receive their badges this week. PeeWee hockey playoffs begin soon. Another "star" game is this week. Plans are for a possible weekend junior bonspiel. Rinks are competing at the Sedgewick men's bonspiel.

Ice carnival held

The Lougheed Figure and Power Skating Club held its 3rd annual ice carnival in the Lougheed Arena Sunday, March 4 before a capacity crowd. This year's theme was "Children Around the World" in salute to the Year of the Child.

Fifty-eight skaters performed many different numbers representing many countries. The boards around the ice were beautifully decorated with hand-painted and different decorations from around the world.

We were favoured with skating solos from Rhonda Tanton of Sedgewick, Shelley Dion of Hardisty and a duet from Dianne and Karrie Fossum. Our two clowns added enjoyment for young and old alike.

Mr. Meding's Grade 5 to 8 art class in the Lougheed school designed the cover for our program. Only one cover design could be chosen, however, the rest are on display in the Lougheed Arena. Thanks to the art class.

Henry Lien acted as our master of ceremonies for the day. Just before intermission, several presentations were made by the president to figure and power skating teachers and to John Carter and Lori Elm, who were chosen king and queen for of the carnival.

Brian Berg, on behalf of the 4-H Beef Club, presented Tom Clouston, arena chairman, with the skate-a-thon money which was more than $2,000.

Skate-a-Thon trophies were given to Derek Ness, the youngest skater raising the most money. Connie Stoodley received her trophy for the girl bringing in the most money. Scott Cookson received the boys' trophy and Ralph Smith earned his trophy for the adult raising the most money.

Thank-you skaters and sponsors for making this skate-a-thon a success.

Thank-you parents, skaters and teachers for making our annual ice carnival such a success.

You can help keep electricity costs in line.

We don't like rising energy costs any more than you do. But the costs of building and operating additional facilities are escalating, and we must use Alberta's non-renewable resources to generate your electricity.
The more you do to manage energy at home, the more you can save on your electricity bill now — and help to keep future cost increases to a manageable level.
There are many things you can do to keep these costs in line, yet still enjoy a good lifestyle.

Good energy management can be as simple as:
- using a timer for your block heater
- using your frypan as a "mini-oven" for small amounts of cooking. Generally, small appliances such as broiler ovens, crockpots and toasters use less electricity than your range.

Remember — use what you need — but need what you use!

Conserve. It's worth the energy!

Lougheed News Items

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Barthel of Calgary were here to attend the funeral of Mr. Theodor Hertel on Monday, February 26 and stayed a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Graham Beatie.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wylie and Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Wylie and family were recent visitors with Rev. and Mrs. Les Smith and family at Gwynne.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Swainson on the birth of a son last week.

Welcome home to the holiday people who have been to Hawaii. Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Johnson went with Mr. and Mrs. Gary Acres of Edmonton. Roberta Riddock went up to stay with Delores' family and Jerry Johnson stayed with Brandi. They all had a nice time although it did rain some while they were in Hawaii.

Tora-Lea and Jacques from Edmonton were down on the weekend visiting with the Forbergs.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Schmidt of Weyburn, Saskatchewan spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schmidt and family.

Mrs. John (Marie) Martin is home after a stay in the hospital in Edmonton. Glad to hear you are feeling much better.

Mary and Paddy Dutton and daughter Sherry of Edmonton spent the past weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pope and family.

World Day of Prayer was held in the United Church last Friday. Not too many came. Mrs. Ida May Black had a very good and understanding meditation. Too bad more didn't get out to hear her speak.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Peter (Pearl) Lindballe of the Flagstaff Lodge, who passed away last week.

Don and Verona Cookson and daughter Wendy and her husband David returned from Kuauli, Hawaii. Donald got some really bad frostbites before leaving, and then over in Hawaii, he got sunburn in the same parts. They reported having a really good holiday.

By the time the paper gets out, the Lougheed Ice Carnival will be over and the Ladies' Bonspiel will be getting underway.

A whist drive was held at Bells Hill Friday, March 2 with 12 tables. Prize winners were: Chrissie Armstrong and Leonard Wold, first; Stella Koseland and Ralph Stoll, sweep; Shirley Simpson and Allie Westmore, mystery; Mary Albrecht and Duncan Cameron, travelling; and Dorothy Gollan and Gus Johnson, consolation.

See you next week on Friday, March 9 at Goose Creek.

Miss Muriel Collier is home after a long stay in the Killam Hospital. Now that the days are longer and spring is around the corner, it makes a person feel better.

We were happy to welcome nine complete tables of whist players at the Welcome Centre on February 22. Prize winners were: Rita Scorbakken and John Black, first; Essie Drager and Lawrence Kneeland, sweep; Hazel McKinnon and Harold Probst, mystery; Jerry Johnson and John Hallman, consolation; and Stella Kneeland and Ivan Downie, travelling. See you all March 8.

Mr. Ben Kilgran won $15 on the letter H at a bingo in Daysland Wednesday, February 27.

A capacity crowd enjoyed the delicious pancake and sausage supper last Tuesday. Then the fathers challenged the 12-and-under hockey team, and the Forestburg Ladies hockey team against the Coyotes entertained the fans with their games. In spite of the unfavourable weather conditions, we hope that all had fun!

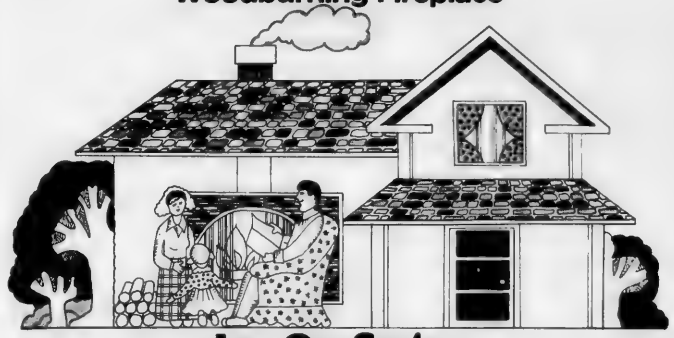
The Right Way to Enjoy Your Woodburning Fireplace



In Safety.

Used properly, your woodburning fireplace is a cheery feature of your home.
But used improperly, it can become a fire hazard to you and your family.
And if not given an extra supply of fresh air, it can cause a gas hazard by robbing your gas appliances of the oxygen needed for complete combustion.

Use Your Fireplace Efficiently
To get the best use from your fireplace, be sure to:
- open a window for that extra fresh air supply
- prevent heat loss by closing dampers when the fireplace is not in use

Use Your Fireplace Safely
A few simple safety steps can prevent unnecessary accidents. When your fireplace is in use, make sure:
- a screen is placed in front of the fire to stop flying sparks
- kindling and fire starting materials are stored at a safe distance
- no chemicals, batteries or household wastes which could release toxic gases are thrown into the fire

For more information on proper fireplace use and other home safety measures, visit your nearest gas company office and pick up a copy of our free pamphlets "Take Time For Home Heating Safely" and "Home Safe Home."

IN MEMORIUM

LIEN — Loving memories of our very dear mother and father who passed away:
Mother on January 31, 1977.
Father on April 18, 1978.
Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled the heart.
That loved us well and true.
Ah, bitter was the trail to part
From one so good as you.
You are not forgotten loved ones dear
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore
As time goes by we miss you more
Your loving smile, your gentle face
No one can fill your vacant place.
Always remembered by Rozanne, Russell and grandchildren. 27-1p

CARDS OF THANKS

The Strome Skating Club had a very enjoyable "Fun Night" on Friday evening March 2. The president would like to thank: the executive for their help; Theresa Steil and Janet Albers for the good job done on the banner and King and Queen outfits; Alvin Steil for being M.C.; the caretaker; the group leaders, both workers and fathers who helped and everyone else who contributed to its success. Congratulations to the new Snow Queen and Snow King, Tracy Camps and Russell Hill whose lucky names were drawn from all of the rest. 27-1c

CARDS OF THANKS

Thanks to parents, skaters and teachers for making our annual ice carnival a success. Thank you everyone whether it be helpers or spectators for your support. Lougheed Figure and Power Skating Club. 27-1c

The Lougheed Arena Boards wish to thank everyone who skated in the recent Skate-A-Thon, those who participated by sponsoring the skaters, and those who participated in planning this enjoyable annual event in Lougheed. Over $2,000.00 was presented to the Building Fund at the March 4 carnival. 27-1p

Sedgewick Figure Skating Club and Minor Hockey wish to thank the skaters and sponsors who took part in the Skate-A Thon, Sunday, February 25. Special thanks to all others who made themselves and to all organizers and coaches.

45 skaters skated 266.6 miles and raised nearly $2,000.00. Proceeds to be used towards ice rental for these clubs. 27-1c

A sincere thank you to the Kinettes and Kinsmen Clubs, the United Church women and the Anglican Church women for their donations. Sedgewick Playschool. 27-1c

On behalf of the Life Skills graduates and coach we would like to express our thanks to all the people who attended our graduation and for making it a very successful evening. 27-1p

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and family for their thoughtfulness by way of letters, cards, flowers, visits and prayers during my stay in Daysland and University Hospital.

Thanks also to Doctors and staff of both hospitals for the kindness and care.
Marie Martin.

We would like to thank our many friends and neighbors for their loving concern on the recent death of our mother, Mrs. Fred Hall. Special thanks to Dr. Amin, the Sisters and the staff of Killam General Hospital. The Baptist Church services were greatly appreciated including the Reverend Funk. The Cherale group and the ladies who served the delicious lunch. The many many friends who gave food, time, flowers, donations to cemetery and charities are greatly loved for their concern for us at this time. Our neighbors who were pallbearers have our thanks also.

Your many acts of love have indeed lightened our sorrow.
The Hall Family.

The Strome Ladies Curling Club would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helped in anyway to make our bonspiel such a success. Special thanks to the men who so capably managed the booth, etc., everyone who donated pies and to our fertilizer dealers for our dinner wine. Also thanks very much to the ladies who helped and worked at our banquet and a very special thanks to our draw master, George Bergel who did such a good job and put up with all our wishes.

YELLOW-BELLIED SAPSUCKER

SPHYRAPICUS VARIUS (M)

This colourful bird with a red cap occurs in most of the forested areas of Canada and together with the flicker is one of the few species of woodpeckers that occur in this country. The males also have a very distinct red patch on the throat, while the same area in the females is white. They feed to a great extent on sap and cambium, (the inner bark) which they obtain by drilling holes in the trunks of trees. These peculiar holes indicate their presence in a certain region (see inset).

Insects are also part of this bird's diet and are captured as is the sap, by means of a long, barbly tongue.

News from Hardisty district

We offer sincere congratulations to Dr. and Doodie Cahill on the arrival of their chosen son. Not everyone is so fortunate as to have their order filled so satisfactorily.

The little son is named Ronan John Gearold and arrived February 24 weighing 8 lbs. four oz.

With doting parents and three sisters, the little fellow will receive much loving care.

During the Hughenden dancing bonspiel, two rinks, Perry Powell's and Bill Chaves', brought home prizes to the Hardisty area.

Isabel Nelson accompanied Ken and Freda Blackwell to Edmonton last Tuesday. Isabel just dropped in on Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stoner as their phone was not working properly. Here's hoping the calls are coming through now.

Had a good visit with Lawrence and Betty MacIntyre via phone. Lawrence always enjoys hearing the news from Hardisty and east.

Stopped in Camrose and stayed for a few days. Attended the Golden Age Club with Ruth Brynlund, Marjorie Small and Irene Lyster, former Clouston girls from Czar. The club sang happy birthday to Art Wiklaks.

Gertie Gibson was discing, as were the rest of us. Everyone is so friendly and they gather every Friday afternoon.

Another nice happening was that one of Isabel's Manitoba cousins and his wife arrived at Ferintosh and came to Camrose to visit and to meet Mary Brown.

They plan to come to Hardisty soon, and as Manitoba had the coldest winter for 40 years, we sure welcome this weather now. Just a touch of sunny Alberta to welcome them.

Just got a call to look after two little boys while son Allen and Joan work on the house.

Sunday, too, was a lovely gathering at the Anna and Joe Saruga home. Henry and Teresa Oppenorth (nee Banach) with children Gregory, Jackie and Claudia and Teresa's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Banach from Poland, were there for dinner.

Later, Isabel Nelson arrived as Teresa had stayed here while she worked in the hospital. Then, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Probst, with their daughter, son-in-law and little girl, came, too.

It was such a joy to meet Teresa's parents, but that language barrier is so frustrating. I would love to have talked to Mrs. Banach and she wanted to talk, too, so Teresa was our interpreter. Thanks, Anna and Joe.

Toddlers meet

Hardisty Toddlers' Inn opened February 27 in the Catholic Church hall with three girls and eight boys attending. Three mothers were present and each day the schedule rotates so all of them get a turn.

All three- and four-year-olds are welcome and registration is set at $5 a month.

REACH FOR THE TOP

On Sunday, February 25, Sedgewick Central High's Reach for the Top team went to Edmonton to tape three Reach for the Top games.

Team members James Hansen, Kelinda Sax, Barry Bagdan and Garnet Eckstrand were accompanied by Manfred Jesswein, the team coach, and Barbara Bratlund and Bruno Bagdan.

The first game Central played was against Lacombe High and will be broadcast on CBC television March 31 and April 2. The team's second game against Vegreville High will be shown April 7 and April 9 and the third game played against Peace River High will be aired April 21 and April 23.

The team is reported to have done "very well" against its competition, however, local citizens will have to watch the Reach for the Top programs on those days to see the results.

Sedgewick News

There were two card parties at the senior citizens' Drop-In Centre last week. The regular weekly one was held on Thursday afternoon instead of Wednesday and eight tables of players enjoyed the whist.

Mrs. Tina Blakeney and Mr. Harry Potiage won prizes for the highest score while Mrs. Bessie Russell and Mr. Art Fala received consolation awards.

There were eight tables of players for the Friday evening Norwegian whist. Mrs. Lois Erickson and Mr. Eldon Ferrier won prizes for the highest scores and Mrs. Margaret Pederson and Mr. Ernie Koehli were awarded consolation prizes.

On Tuesday, February 27, Mrs. Georgina Brandingen, Mrs. Helen Whitten and Mrs. Janice Arntzen took Cathy Whitten, Glenda Brandingen, Denise Hagen and Dorothy Djos to Vermilion for skating tests. The girsl all did very well and congratulations go to them and to Mrs. Arntzen, who is their instructor. We understand that the journey home wasn't very pleasant and took a good bit longer than usual as that was the night that snow storm blew up.

Miss Carol Ann Bergum, Miss Pat Ross, Mr. Neal McHardy and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davignon of Edmonton and Mrs. Sandra Schneider of Calgary joined with the Bergum families for a turkey dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Watkins on Saturday. The occasion was to celebrate Nelson and Lois' wedding anniversary and Del's birthday. Congratulations, Nelson and Lois, and many happy returns of the day, Del.

Happy to see Mr. Frank Mayne and Mr. Bill Johnson out and about again after stays in the Killam Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh were in Heisler on Tuesday to help grandson Jeff celebrate his seventh birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Stuart of Edam, Saskatchewan are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Truss. Mrs. Stuart is a sister of Mrs. Truss.

Cars and kids don't make a good match

In Sedgewick last week, a car was left running and unattended on Main Street with two young children in it. Unfortunately, the car didn't stay where it was left and ran into a pillar in front of one of the stores. Only a small dent in the metal covering of the pillar resulted, as well as surprise at what can easily happen.

Killam senior citizens hold meet

The March meeting of the Killam Senior Citizens was held in the lounge with 30 members in attendance. President Emma George welcomed the group and had the minutes of the previous meeting read and adopted.

The treasurer gave the financial statement. A motion to pay utility and other bills was accepted. Correspondence included a letter explaining how the paper salvage van is covered with insurance, and also a request from town for senior citizens to take over the planting and caring of bedding plants in parks and other areas on streets.

Reporting on the Alberta Council on Aging (ACA), an organization working 13 years and growing and having undertaken many projects: education information, health service workshops, arts, church, booklet titled Senior Citizens in Action, and home care support have been introduced. Transportation services have been developed for the handicapped and seniors without transportation. More than 100 signatures on a petition will be presented to town council to apply for a government grant for a minibus for this purpose.

Killam's share of the last paper salvage shipment was $123.52, while cheques were given to three or four other towns for their share.

Visits to the sick and shutins were reported and get well cards sent. Happy birthday was sung for five members. The membership committee would appreciate your dues shortly.

Superintendent appointed

A new school superintendent was appointed by the Westlock School Division trustees at the school board meeting Wednesday evening, March 7.

Subject to approval by the minister of Education, A.A. (Al) Cleveland assumes the superintendency of the division immediately.

Mr. Cleveland's appointment is the result of a joint agreement between the Westlock school board and the Alberta School Trustees Association (ASTA). Mr. Cleveland, seconded to ASTA last August from the County of Flagstaff superintendency, will be Westlock's chief executive officer through June 30, 1979.

Under the terms of the agreement with ASTA, Westlock trustees agreed that Mr. Cleveland would be accountable for the total operation of the division. All existing standing committees have been abolished.

The chairman of the board and the new superintendent are responsible as the authorized board spokesmen. It was also agreed that school board members would attend a special skill development workshop outside the division following the trustee by-election in April.

Commenting on his appointment, Superintendent Cleveland indicated that with the cooperation of board employees, parents, media and the general electorate, the division's problems would be resolved.

"In providing leadership and assistance to the Westlock school board, ASTA is confident the Westlock trustee will, in turn, provide sound educational services to the children and leadership and direction in educational affairs to division ratepayers."

Co-op annual meet held

On March 8, the Anglican Church ladies catered to a full house, after which the local Co-op Implements depot held its annual meeting.

Chairman Eugene Elm piloted us through a long agenda of reports and discussion. Manager Claude Piche reported he had a much better year as far as sales, service and revenue were concerned.

The outlook for the coming year looks even better. He hopes to add some extra lines of supply if the demand materializes.

Regional Manager Boyd Grieve presented the broader view (his region extends from Saskatchewan to our south border). He outlined new marketing strategies, parts supply program, the introduction of a new line of Deutz tractors. He complimented our local manager for running the most successful depot in his district.

Benth Paulsen, our member on the board of directors, gave a slide presentation depicting CI's financial fluctuations and the affect it has on equity and hence control.

He recently improved performance leaves room for optimism, the policy is caution. He stated we now have a stable line-of-credit, making long-range planning possible.

Delegate Cibart traced the progress of CI from last year's near demise to what has turned into this year's pleasant surprise. At the annual meeting in Winnipeg, he toured the CI factory. Everything is humming again. Carefully-laid long-range plans are being made. Research and development programs are a priority.

Top priority is to increase factory utilization. To move more products, we are increasing our sales base by making use of franchised dealers. The reecne operation by the Co-ops and the government is bearing fruit.

Four members were elected to our advisory committee as follows: Zane Parsons for a two-year term, replacing George Hagen; Werner Koehli re-elected for a three-year term; Eugene Elm re-elected for a three-year term; Roy Langille newly elected for a three-year term, replacing long-time, faithful Bert Friend.

From Where I Stand

Last Saturday, March 10, the Killam Pee Wees made their annual trip to Two Hills to compete in their 12-and-under tournament.

In their first game, Killam defeated Saddle Lake 4-3. In the second game, Killam had to defeat Elk Point in order to play Two Hills, who had defeated Belvedere from Edmonton 3-2 and received the bye.

Killam and Elk Point were involved in a close game until about midway through the second period when Killam blew the game open, scoring four goals and taking the lead 5-1. Elk Point added two unanswered goals late in the second period, but it was not enough and Killam scored one more to win 6-4.

In the final game of the "A" Event, Killam played hometown Two Hill's Bil-Mac Construction Hawks. Killam led 2-1 after the first period and kept the lead until 32 seconds remained. Two Hills scored, forcing suddendeath overtime. With 59 seconds into overtime, Two Hills scored, giving them the trophy for the first time.

The Killam Pee Wees are coached by Brion Sorenson and managed by Reg Fee.

In the Mites, 10-and-under, finals last Saturday, which were played in Killam, fans saw the favoured home team defeated.

In the first game of the tournament, Killam defeated Daysland 18-0, giving them a berth in the finals. In the second game of the tournament, Viking defeated Forestburg 6-3, giving them the right to play in the finals of the tournament.

In the finals of the tourney, Killam, after opening up a four-point lead, were defeated 7-5 by the Viking club.

The Mites are coached by Ken Lang and managed by Dan Lewis and Dennis Busse.

Let's Clean Up

Despite what our ever-present doubters say, it sure feels like spring has arrived! We can only hope. But we should plan, too.

It's usually this time of year when people begin planning their summer flower and vegetable gardens, think about pruning the old tree in the front yard, and seeding those ragged patches in the lawn.

In addition to thinking of what we'll put in, perhaps some of us should consider what should be taken out, or pulled down. There isn't one town in our county that doesn't possess at least one old barn of a garage – one that's never been painted, leans sideways and has all its windows broken. It would sure be nice if such monstrosities didn't exist. Not only are they eyesores, buy many are safety hazards as well.

We don't feel that's an overstatement. Looking at these two and three-storey buildings reminds us of the nine-year boy killed a few years back in another part of the province. He was playing among the beams on the upper story, the rotted wood gave way and he fell three flights to his death.

And what of the car wrecks gracing some of our ditches, back yards and empty lots. Is there any reason they can't be removed? Scrap metal fetches a good price these days, and I'm sure we wouldn't have to look too far to find a safety hazard in them either.

Perhaps we should follow our children's footsteps, particularly those in youth groups which are involved in massive clean-up projects every spring. Sure they receive money for their efforts, but it all goes into the club's funds in the end. They're certainly not out there for personal gain.

It would be nice to see our communities rid of these eyesores. It would be a good project for one of our service organizations to tackle, or maybe just the residents themselves could band together to make their neighbourhood a little prettier and a little safer. All it would take is some nice weekend, a few trucks, and some of that community enthusiasm so common in our area.

We live in such a pretty area of the province – especially in the summer. Let's keep it that way and not let our towns run to ruin.

There are nine requisites for contented living: health enough to make work a pleasure; wealth enough to support your needs; strength to battle with difficulties and overcome them; grace enough to confess your sins and forsake them; patience enough to toil until some good is accomplished; charity enough to see some good in your neighbour; love enough to move you to be useful and helpful to others; faith enough to make real the things of God; hope enough to remove all anxious fears concerning the future. -Johann Wolfgang von Goethe

Students protest

Dear Sir:

Recently, a local band known as Huckalbuck played for a high school teen dance. They charged the Grad Society a sum of $600. They explained that they were supposed to be as good as a band from the city. Even if they would have been, the $600 a city band charges covers their mileage, meals and rooms for the night. Huckalbuck, being local residents, had, at the most, seven or eight miles to travel.

Why is it that when this band is book by other organizations or places, they only charge half or a third as much? If they felt they were helping the Grad Society, they were far from it!

There seems to have been a great injustice done in this situation. We as consumers are being taken for a "ride"!-S.A.M.

Farmers protest

Dear Editor:

Farmers of western Canada are sending letters of protest, with grain enclosed. The object is to focus attention on the poor performance of the grain transportation system.

We represent farmers of western Canada who hold quota books, ie., we produce grain for sale.

The Problem: We are unable to sell our grain.

The Question: Why is the grain not being sold?

The Answer: The railroads are not moving it to export positions, to the ports, although they have signed statutory documents guaranteeing to move the grain.

The Situation: We have invested our time and money and produced crops to the best of our ability. Now we cannot sell it to get the deserved payment for our labours. The railroads are not stepping up their activities to keep pace with our production.

The Result: The loss of money through demurrage and actual loss of sales is carried directly by the farmers, grain companies and railroads themselves, and indirectly by the people of Canada because of the farmers' restricted income and subsequent limited buying power. This restricted grain movement has prohibited Canada from maintaining a healthy balance of payments with the rest of the world.

The Villains: We believe the railroads are shirking their responsibility, are not living up to their commitments, commitments which they guaranteed in writing with the Crow Rate Agreement.

The Challenge: 1. What are our politicians planning to do to alleviate this situation? and 2. Can the railroads justify, both legally and morally, their demeaning slowdown. Can they not do their job as well as we farmers believe we are doing ours?

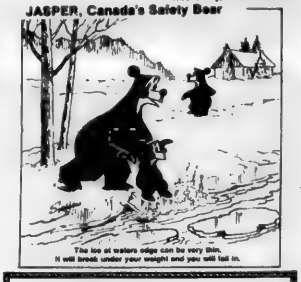
JASPER, Canada's Safety Bear



The ice at waters edge can be very thin.
It will break under your weight and you will fall in.

The Third Column

by Truncate

HELL KNOWS NO WRATH like an angry woman. If that sounds fearsome, just think for a moment what havoc could be created by thousands of women banding together to bring order out of chaos. It is no idle cliche that "the hand that rocks the cradle also pushes the shopping cart." Some 2,000 or more women in Canada have banded together, and in protest of high food prices have vowed to boycott some foods they believe to be overpriced; foodstuffs that they believe they are being "Ripped off" on. In answer to their threat, which has already been put into effect, some chain stores are putting on sale and specials on the very foods the women are complaining about.

NOW JUST THINK FOR A MOMENT what this could do to the wholesale and retail food trade if this movement were to spread and become nation wide; if this protestation were to extend to all foods(suffs considered to highly priced. Governments could back off and turn price control over to the cradle rockers. It would work, too, for big business, if it doesn't heed anything else, will pay attention when their products do not sell. When supply runs ahead of demand something will be done and quickly, and that something is a reduction in price. This movement has our blessing.

SO RISE UP ye cradle rockers; STAND UP ye shopping cart pushers. VENT YOUR ANGER at the check-out counters ye cheque writers; protest at the market place ye feeders of the nation. Your protests will be heard and felt in high places, and once heard will be heeded with respect, and may God have mercy on their greedy souls.

SINCE THIS IS a women's column, we may justly go on to another item of (dis)interest to the nation. How about the squeamy utterances of "Maggie" Trudeau? While you are fighting to bring reason to the feeding of the people and justice in the market, this one of your "breed" is going overboard to bring disrespect to your sex. It's low dad you couldn't form another group of protest and flood this odd ball with letters of protest telling her to keep her mouth shut. Tell her she has already made herself look so silly and ridiculous as to bring disrespect to her kind everywhere. We understand quite well what she is about right now, and that is publicity for her upcoming book from which she anticipates revenues of half a million dollars. She may well make it too, but at a price of total loss of respect.

BUT THEN, some people don't care about respect or anything else if the purse is full. We once heard a person say, "give me all the money I want and I don't care if I don't have a friend in the world." Money is no good without friends, but then perhaps the woman in question doesn't care about that. Some people don't. So maybe it's better to let her stew in her own stupidity. That way, she may maure some day and come to realize that there are more and better things in life than her present activities.

IN CLOSING THIS OFF, we feel obliged to bring man into the picture, just to illustrate a differnces. Whatever one may say about Pierre Trudeau in the fields of his life, we have to admit that he has displayed the true aspects of a gentleman throughout his marital ordeal. For this he deserves a three-star award. As he himself has said, when asked, words to this effect: "Of course it bothers me, but I will keep my thought to myself." A display of dignity certainly not displayed by his estranged wife. A boycott of her upcoming book would be the thing that would sting her pride the deepest. If she has any pride left.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Johnson motored to Bashaw last Sunday to visit Einar and Agnes Johnson.

The Strome Men's Open Bonspiel started last Sunday evening with 28 rinks entering.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken McDougall and Marge McDougall went to the airport last Wednesday to pick up Keith and family, who had spent a week at Disneyland.

Norwen Stevens and son of Leduc visited with her aunt and uncle, Earl and Marge McDougall, last Saturday.

Cheryl McDougall and Shelly Thorburn went with Mr. Munro to Camrose last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken McDougall were visitors in Drayton Valley on Sunday.

Mrs. Mary Smith-Gander and Joey were dinner guests at Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams in Killam last Sunday.

Strome senior citizens

The Strome Senior Citizens' Club met on Thursday, March 8 at 2 p.m. for the business meeting.

The meeting opened with Ann Johnson in the chair in the absence of our president, Honey Curtis. The secretary and treasurer's reports were given. Correspondence was given. Geo. Curtis resigned as vice-president and a renewal to the Council of Aging paper is to be sent.

Nominations were called for a vice-president. Mr. Cram offered, providing the nomination committee is unable to fill the position.

Mr. Cram came and gave us a report on our duplex and informed us that a letter had been sent to the wrong department but hoped to get things straightened out.

A discussion also took place in regard to our gas prices and petition as been set up in the Drop-In Centre. Anyone interested in signing may do so.

Mr. Paul Bujold, PSS director, was our guest speaker. Anyone needing help can get in touch with him.

It was decided to have an Irish pot luck supper preceding the regular open card party on March 15 at 6 p.m.

Pete Stasske moved the meeting adjourn, after which lunch was served and a happy birthday sung to Ann on her birthday.

Kindergarten very busy

A number of activities have kept the Strome kindergarten class busy the last while. Along with several birthday parties various number drills and alphabet bingo, kindergarten is becoming quite a learning experience.

February brought Valentine's Day and our party was a great success. The children exchanged valentines and sang some new songs for the moms. Then, some games were played and a delicious lunch was served.

Our skating afternoons seemed few and far between, however, anytime we did go it was enjoyed by all.

One day, the children drew and painted life-size pictures of themselves and they now decorate the classroom, where they look very interesting and colourful.

Now that it has warmed up outside, we spent some time building snowmen of various shapes and sizes and did some snow painting.

Mrs. Polege has returned after a lengthy illness and we are happy to have her back.

Former Strome resident passes at 66 years.

Merle Thelma Boyes, a former school teacher, died in Edmonton last month. She was 66.

Born in Vankoughnet, Ontario, she was a daughter of the late John Arthur and Sarah Anne (nee McAll) Boyes.

She moved to Strome in 1913 with her parents and five brothers.

After completing her education, she taught school for a number of years at Hardisty, Peace River and Forestburg.

In 1928, she joined the land titles office in Edmonton, where she worked for 39 years.

She is survived by three brothers, Leslie, Milton and Bert, all of Edmonton.

COME ALIVE

Have you ever stopped to meditate, even briefly, on the beauties of the evening? The hymn writer, when referring to the end of day, penned these beautiful words: "Day is dying in the west, heaven is touching earth with rest; wait and worship while the night sets her evening lamps alight, through all the sky."

Truly, eventide is a beautiful time of day. It is God's thoughtful provision for the earth and its inhabitants to rest. We usually picture the "perfect" evening as being a calm, quiet, twilight scene. A time of limited activity -- a time of rest and repose.

As we do reminisce, we should be careful to meditate upon the good things that God has done for us during the day. It should be a time of thanksgiving. The sin of ingratitude is so common now.

The Psalmist wrote: "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord." Do you stop to thank the Lord for the many physical and material blessings which He so freely showers upon us?

We, in our land of plenty, enjoy many comforts which are in reality luxuries. If we were to take time to contrast our standard of living with that of many people in different lands, we would be thankful for all that we have. Think for a moment of those who live in a land where starvation is common, where there is insufficient food to feed a family. Think for a moment of those whose land is plagued with the inner frustration of civil disorders, or torn by the ravages of war. Surely, when we think of the poor conditions of millions of the people in the world today and our own condition of plenty, our hearts -- our entire being must well up in praise to our good God.

We live in a land of peace and freedom. A land of political and religious freedom, where we can worship as we please. May I challenge you to take time to thank God for all the blessings and benefits of this life?

-Ken Quiring

Theodore Hertel passes

On February 22, 1979, Theodore S. Hertel (Ted or Pats) of 10642 63rd Avenue, Edmonton, passed away peacefully at the General Hospital in Edmonton.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his loving wife, Mary, one son, Theodore Kenneth, and his wife, Marisa, and their children, Karen, Kim and Kevin, living Calgary. Also, one daughter, Betty-Anne Chapman, her husband, Grant, and their children, Chris and Kerry, living in Singapore.

Ted was born in Perham, Minnesota on October 20, 1896. He came to a homestead in the Lougheed district in 1906 with his parents and two brothers, who predecessed him. He lived in this area until 1937. He received his education at Park Hill school and later at Hemphill Motor school in Edmonton.

He then started farming in the local district. He was well-known and liked in all the local districts, where he started as a teenager playing for the country dances. He later became the drummer in a popular orchestra. In 1927, he married a Lethbridge girl, Mary McLeod, who had come to teach at Park Hill school. This marriage lasted 52 years. His son, Ted Jr., was born in 1933.

In 1937, the family bought a farm in the Tomahawk district and farmed there until 1946. Their daugher, Betty-Ann, was born in 1943.

In 1946, the family moved to Cavanagh, where his wife operated the small general store and post office until 1961.

During this period, Ted first operated a local trucking service until the Leduc Oilfield was discovered when he went to work for Scurry-Rainbow Oil Co. Ltd. He worked for this company until he retired in 1968.

He lived in retirement at 10642 63rd Avenue, Edmonton until his death.

A memorial service for Mr. Hertel was held on February 24 in St. Agnes Curch, Edmonton - the church he attended in his retirement years.

The burial service was conducted from St. Joseph's Church, Killam on February 26 and he was laid to rest in the family plot in the Lougheed Cemetery among relatives and old friends.

The family wishes to express their gratitude for all the thoughful kindnesses that made their loss easier to bear and to Fee & Sons, Killam, who handled the funeral arrangements so capably.

SUMMERFALLOW IN '79?

The past few days of spring-like weather have brought about a good deal of discussion on seeding, crop rotations, and even summerfallow. A basic question I would like to ask of you is: Should you even be considering summerfallow this year?"

Over the past few years, I've collected a number of reasons why farmers summerfallow. Here are some: "Father always did, and he got good crops." "Fertilizer is too expensive." "Have to control the weeds." "I've got too much land to get it seeded in time," and "you have to give the soil a rest at least once every three years."

I won't bother discussing these reasons here, however, I will suggest two very good reasons for fallowing. First of all, fallowing may be considered in order to control difficult perennial weeds. I specify perennial because most annuals are controlable with common chemicals. Problems like Canada Thistle and Quack Grass may require the use of summerfallow, along with chemicals to obtain an effective control.

Secondly, when spring moisture conditions are poor and there isn't 20 inches of moist soil, considerations should be given to fallow.

The other side of the debate is why should one NOT summerfallow. There are a number of good reasons: first of all, economics. The price of land and the costs of working it cannot be adequately offset by the increased yield in the following crop. It's cheaper to use chemicals and fertilizers and raise a crop every year. I've not convinced that we should summerfallow because if we raise wheat we cannot sell it. Anyway, who says we have to grow just wheat?

Secondly, contrary to popular belief, summerfallow actually does the soil more harm than good. All soil requires organic matter in order to stay mellow and workable. Soil without organic matter becomes hard, and summerfallow rapidly reduces the amount of organic matter in the soils, whereas cropping actually builds it up.

Thirdly, soil can only hold so much water. If it is not used, it either runs out the bottom (goes down below root zone) or runs off (down the slopes just under the surface). In the first case, if it goes down, it takes valuable fertilizer with it, nitrogen which you will never be able to use to raise a crop. If it goes sideways down the slopes, this water will come to the surface in a lower part of the field. Often, when it does this, it evaporates and leaves the white salts behind - we've all seen those white patches grow in size.

Finally, there are other good reasons for not fallowing, wind and water erosion problems, as well as various chemical charges to mention some others without detail.

Yes, fallow does have a place, but unless the reasons are valid, I feel the price is too high. With this spring's moisture reserve, the price we'll pay for fallow will be even higher. Our land is worth too much too much to see it turn to salt - before you fallow this spring, be sure you know why!

RITERS RAMBLINGS

WHERE DID ALL THE MONEY GO?

"Where did all the money go?" is the national whisper that is seeping from the walls of houses all across the country. While inside, families bicker, lie and say hateful things about who spent the most during the 1978 fiscal period.

Yes, you guessed it! It's that time of year again! The blight of taxation is officially upon us.

Ever since biblical times, taxation has been with us to reduce the almighty rich to the groveling poor and the grovelling poor to the chronic destitute. But some managed to beat the taxation cycle even if it was by holy means . . . after all, look at the tax rebate Mary and Joseph came home with.

Despite its rather impressive history, taxation has been perfected from a loathsome occupation where burly-type collectors travel from log cabin to log cabin to maul the occupants for the few pence they had left . . . to an art form where smartly-dressed tax assessors motor from condominium to condominium to maul the occupants for their last few bucks.

It is from this annual event that many "up" things happen . . . marriages split up, families break up, minds crack up, and tempers flare up. The only thing that ever goes down is the idea that you'll ever move up and out of poverty. It is indeed a shame that the children from such families should witness their once sane mothers and fathers accuse each other of squandering their hard-earned funds on trivial items like food and shelter.

It is indeed interesting to note the character change that occurs by the mere mention of "Tax Assessor". Happy, cheerful, honest people metamorphose into depraved, demented cheats. It is sad to watch a once-successful family scurry like pack rats, hauling the china cabinet, piano and microwave oven into neighbouring bedrooms, take down the curtains and paper the windows with old newsprint, let the quack grass conquer the once-well manicured lawn, and refuse the family bathing privileges for three weeks just to drive home the idea they are so poor they can only eat on holidays.

It is also sad to watch a once-intelligent married couple sit around the kitchen table and desperately try to translate the income tax guide. It doesn't take long before they are reduced to a heap of mindless vegetable matter. For example, do you understand "Debentures bought garner eligible dividends if and only if any offsetting deductions coincide with the income averaging annuity contract payments providing the super annuation payments do not exceed 50 per cent of the last fiscal periods eligible taxible captial gains?" If you didn't . . . good, you weren't supposed to for we have, from reliable sources, determined that Sigmund Freud co-authored this masterpiece of bewilderment. We have reason to believe that his motives were to confuse the reader so badly that, while sporadically conscious, he would forget any ideas about cheating because he never understood what he was doing in the first place!

Never-the-less, whether you fill out your form yourself or take it to an accountant, or any other extra-terrestrial intelligence, the result is guaranteed a very moving experience as you walk over the hill to the poorhouse whistling, "Brother Can You Spare A Dime?"

HOUSE PAINTS AND PROCEDURES

Paint is the least expensive and easiest treatment for your walls. It can be applied to almost any wall in the home and is available in many colours and price ranges. Top quality paints are more expensive, but they are more durable, spread on easier and cover or conceal the existing surface better. Since the biggest investment is your labour, whether you have someone to do the painting or you do it yourself, it is wise to buy the best quality paint you can afford.

Basically, there are two types of paint – alkyd or oil base and latex or water base. Each are available in three finishes – flat, gloss and semi-gloss. Flat paint provides a subdued background suitable for most walls and ceilings. Semi-gloss and gloss finishes produce a smooth, shiny surface which cleans easily. Your choice of alkyd or latex paint depends on the area you plan to paint, the condition of the walls, the performance you want, and the ease of application you desire. The following compares the differences between alkyd and latex paints.

Alkyd Paints
-can be applied with brush, roller or sprayer;
-must be thinned with commercial preparation such as turpentine;
-has some odour, dries slowly;
-has good adhesion qualities;
-durable, withstands repeated washings;
-conceals existing wall surface well, requires two coats;
-resistant to soil, dirt, stains, abrasion, humidity and moisture;
-require commercial preparation for cleaning up after use.

Latex Paints
-can be applied with brush, roller or sprayer;
-can be thinned with water if necessary;
-little odour, dries quickly;
-fair adhesion, requires more surface preparation;
-fairly durable, can be washed;
-can conceal slightly better, two coats recommended;
-resistant to water spot, oil and grease stains;
-require water to clean equipment after painting.

STRESS INFORMATION MEETING

The stress information meeting will be held Thursday, March 29, 1979 at 7:30 p.m. in the Anglican Church Hall in Sedgewick. Guest speakers will include Dr. . Bill Gibson, family physician from Camrose; Barb Sirch, specialist with Alberta Agriculture; and Rev. Tom McLaughlin from Killam. At this meeting, we hope to achieve the following goals:
-define stress and some causes of stress;
-discuss the affects stress has on our physical and mental health; and
-examine effective and affective and ineffective ways of coping with stress.

This meeting is jointly sponsored by Preventive Social Services, Flagstaff Further Education Council, Alberta Agriculture and the Health Unit. Anyone wishing to attend may do so. You are encouraged to pre-register by calling 384-3737. Come along and invite a friend.

Daysland District News

The executive of the Daysland kindergarten wishes to draw your attention to an error in reporting the date of the next meeting of the Daysland kindergarten. Due to unforeseen circumstances the date of our regular meeting has been changed from March 13 to Monday, March 19 at 7 p.m., and will be held in the library of the Daysland high school. The parents of next year's kindergarten class will be receiving letters of invitation so that they may become acquainted with the kindergarten procedures.

Mr. Gerald Kolar of Killam, who is a child psychologist for the County of Camrose, will be our guest speaker following the meeting. Anyone interested in hearing Mr. Kolar speak is invited to attend at 8 p.m. in the Daysland high school library. A discussion period will be held following our speaker. We are sincerely sorry for any inconvenience caused by this change of date.

The Daysland Ladies Bonspiel was held February 28, March 1, 2 and 4 with winners: 1st Event - D. Petruk, Camrose, first; M. Malick, Holden, second; B. Koshli, Daysland, third; and P. Zimmer, Daysland, fourth. In the 2nd Event - M. Benson, Rosalind, first; D. Steiger, Strome, second; M. Dietrich, Edmonton, third; and K. Cole, Edberg, fourth. In the 3rd Event - J. Vroisen, Camrose, first; L. Davignon, Kelsey, second; H. Nikiforuk, Killam, third; and M. Martz, Heisler, fourth.

The men's bonspiel is following all this week.

In recognition of The Year of the Child and Education Week, the Daysland Elementary teachers served a lunch to their students on Wednesday, March 7. Teachers pitched in to buy hamburger meat and other items.

Each student's lunch consisted of one or two hamburgers, carrots and celery sticks, a jello dessert and milk or chocolate milk. The food was prepared by the staff and the hamburgers were heated up in the home economics room.

Each class had its lunch readied on a cart and teachers served the lunch. It was a nutritious lunch and students had ample time to eat.

The hospital auxiliary meeting was held March 8. The meeting opened by the members repeating the Auxiliary Prayer. The roll call was answered by 14 members and one visitor was present. The minutes and treasurer's report were given and approved. The correspondence was read.

A discussion was given on the flea market for March 21 in the hall. The members were given their tables to look after. Kay Reist gave in a number of posters to be mailed out.

Mrs. Woods then showed us the finished rug and said she had a sale for it, which we all agreed on. A motion was made to buy quilts and a few Fisher toys for the children's ward of the hospital. The meeting adjourned and a delicious lunch was served which was prepared by the hospital.

The library would like the public to know there is a number of new westerns on its shelf now.

Relatives that came for the funeral of Mrs. Muriel Brodie of Killam were Mrs. Velma MacLean of Hamilton, Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Davidson of Rimbey; Mr. and Mrs. Brian Swain of Grande Prairie, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Graham of Drumheller, Mrs. Joan Charbonneau of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Arkinstall of Peace River, and Mr. Guy Comeau of Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Thomson returned from spending five months in Las Vegas and visited their mother, Mrs. Anna Boggs on Sunday. Also visiting their grandmother were Mr. and Mrs. Brian Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cottrell of Edmonton.

Mrs. Maxine Fraser left this week to spend a few weeks with her mother in Elkhorn, Manitoba.

Mrs. Dorothy McDevitt has returned after spending two weeks in Calgary with her daughter, Leslie, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Coward.

Mr. and Mrs. Nord Pedersen spent an enjoyable two weeks holiday in the Barbados. They were accompanied by friends, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson.

Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Reist were accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Norman Hovan of Lethbridge on a holiday in Las Vegas.

Congratulations to Faye Candlish and Buck Brausen, who were married last weekend, March 3.

Mr. Gordon Keinderfer was a visitor with mother, Mrs. Theresa Keinderfer, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Erickson.

A number of friends attended a farewell party for Mr. Vern Anderson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Art Anderson. Vern has left to make his new home in Wetaskiwin, working with the Department of Highways. Good luck, Vern, and we know you will be missed but we'll see you often.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Roggenbuck of Sedgewick were weekend visitors in Calgary with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Erickson and family, Mrs. Gordon Keinderfer and family and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Shopet, Miss Kay Almquist, and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cair. The Cairs send greetings to all friends.

Miss Sandra Pederson and Mrs. Greg Hart of Edmonton were visitors with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Pederson and family.

The United Church men's pancake supper was, as usual, well attended. Pancakes, sausage and pies were enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson had as house guests, Mrs. Peterson's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dart of Glaslyn, Saskatchewan, who were on their way to Scotland.

Mr. Red Stewart of Calgary is visiting mother, Mrs. George Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Krasko and boys of Sherwood Park were visitors with dad, Mr. Ross Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morgan and family of Sherwood Park were weekend visitors with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kinzer, who have arrived home after a holiday in Hawaii.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cramton spent Sunday in Edmonton with their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Cramton, and also visited Grandpa Cramton in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Get well wishes go to Dave Cramton in the Daysland Hospital.

Happy birthday wishes go out to Mrs. Andrew Sorensen, who is celebrating her 80th birthday on Thursday, March 15.

Mrs. Esther Baker of Vancouver will be visiting her folks, the Andrew Sorensens, for a week to see her dad, who is the hospital.

Mrs. Clara McGowan was visiting the R.L. Peterson family for the weekend.

Dennis Peterson went with the Killam Grade 4 and 5 classes to tour Ft. Edmonton and museum. The kids enjoyed the visit very much.

Funeral services held for Mrs. Grace Heron

On March 5, 1979, Mrs. Grace Heron passed away in the Killam Auxiliary Hospital at the age of 97 years.

Predeceased by her husband, Robert, in 1940 and one son, John, in 1969, she leaves to mourn one son and daughter-in-law, Jim and Shurli Heron, one daughter and son-in-law, Margaret and Pete Lindquist, both of Taber, four grandchildren, seven great grandchildren and nieces and nephews.

The funeral service was held Friday, March 9 at 2 p.m. at the Lougheed United Church with Rev. T. McLaughlin of Killam officiating.

Pallbearers for the service were W. Routledge, D. Routledge, Martin Roggensack, A. Freeman, A. Grieve and F. Johnson.

Foe & Sons of Killam were in charge of arrangements. Interment followed at the Lougheed Cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to relatives and friends for the kind messages of sympathy, floral tributes and contributions to various organizations during the loss of our mother, grandmother and great grandmother, Mrs. Grace Heron. A special thanks to Dr. A. Meer and the sisters and staff of the Killam Auxiliary Hospital for their wonderful care. To the Rev. T. McLaughlin for his sincere message and the pallbearers and all the Lougheed ladies who served the lunch, thank you.

Your love and kindness will always be remembered.

-Margaret and Pete Lindquist, Jim and Shurli Heron and families

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

BATTLE RIVER BEEF CLUB

FIRE! The piercing, 85-decibel alarm horn of a smoke detector was heard at the Battle Bend School March 6 at the Battle River 4-H Beef Club meeting.

The topic of discussion was mainly tours. An educational tour was planned for March 29 when the club will tour a packing plant and attend the national rodeo in Edmonton. The members will see each other's calves on March 27 when the families tour from farm to farm, beginning at Tom Speely's at 12 noon. Ending the tour will include a judge competition, veterinary talk and a pot luck supper at Barnes'.

For communications, impromptus were given by Dwayne, Bruce and Travis.

Mr. Bill Sandmaier, fire chief of the County of Flagstaff, was our guest speaker. He gave us a very interesting and informative talk on fire prevention. He told us how to react to a fire and how to prevent one.

Everyone went home convinced smoke detectors are a must in every home.

The club thanks Mrs. Lear for baking and Mrs. Hudson for icing the raffle cake last month for our bake sale.

-Lorraine Barnes

HEENA 4-H BEEF CLUB

March 1 at Arnold Gamroth's another Heena Beef Club meeting was held.

It was brought to order with an interesting guest speaker. Constable Hodgson of the Forestburg RCMP Detachment gave a talk on safety of guns. He told us about the new laws that have come out on the control of guns. A question period followed for the members, leaders and parents.

After the talk, the meeting began with the main subject being the rodeo. We decided that we will go to the rodeo on Thursday, March 29. The judging competition held in Edmonton was discussed. The club leader asked if anyone wanted to go.

-Judy Gamroth

KILLAM NIMBLE THIMBLE

On February 19, the Killam 4-H Nimble Thimble Club held its speakoffs.

The three judges, Ms. L. Marty, Mrs. Christienson and Sr. Antoinette were impressed with the high quality of the speeches and congratulated the girls onthe amount of preparation and effort they expended on their speeches.

Fran Wilson was winner for the senior section and Catherine Brady for the junior section. Both Fran and Catherine ably represented the club in the district speakoffs at Galahad on February 25.

During their recent meeting on March 6, the members discussed the possibility of visiting a clothing manufacturer.

Mrs. Knievel showed the members of the group a swim suit she had made. She commented that it required less than an hour's sewing time. A bargain in time and money!

The remainder of the meeting was spent working on this year's projects.

KEEPING IN TOUCH

by Arnold Maione, M.P.

HOW BIG IS BIG?

On numerous occasions when I visited my constituency, I have been asked about the rapid growth of the federal government. When I indicate the extent of growth in fiscal expenditures, it becomes clear that two aspects of this cost are difficult to keep in proper perspective.

First, most local people do not function in the billion dollar league and therefore are unable to appreciate how great an amount of money that represents. Secondly, while they know the budget is large, they are unable to appreciate how rapidly it is growing.

To put the above two concepts in perspective, let me give two illustrations. First, how big is a billion dollars? It is almost an amount beyond belief. If you could imagine a mystical person who was alive at the time of Christ and was given a billion dollars and asked to spend a thousand dollars a day, that person would still, in 1979, have more than $300,000 remaining.

As to the question of how fast our federal budget is growing, take note of the following:

1867 (first budget)-	$15 million
1877-	$44 million
1887-	$90 million
1897-	$108 million
1907-	$306 million
1917-	$1 billion
1927-	$100 million
1937-	$503 million
1947-	$2 billion
1957-	$6 billion
1967-	$9 billion
1970-	$11 billion

It took until 1970, or 103 years since Confederation, to reach an annual budget of more than $10 billion. Now watch what happens in one decade! In just 10 years, the budget leaps from $11 billion to $62.3 billion. Whamy!

1971-	$13 billion
1972-	$14 billion
1973-	$16 billion
1974-	$22 billion
1975-	$29 billion
1976-	$34 billion
1977-	$39 billion
1978-	$42 billion
1979 (estimated)-	$62.3 billion

If, as a government, we do not learn to control our spending, soon we will be too bankrupt to keep in touch with the nation's affairs.

Flagstaff Further Education for Skills and enjoyment

Learning is not something which should end when a person finishes school. It should continue throughout a person's life, as he or she develops new interests and encounters new experiences. This is the philosophy behind the Further Education Program of the provincial government.

Grants are available from the government, which assists in the financing of programs sponsored by agencies or organizations under the local Further Education Council. Courses can range from teaching practical skills, such as cooking or upholstery, to basic literacy skills or conversational French or Norwegian, to recreation courses such as cross country skiing.

The major requirements for courses are that they are non-credit, non-profit, through which the grants from the government are channelled, and a local Further Education Council which approves and co-ordinates courses offered by the community.

In the County of Flagstaff, the Killam Separate Board is our local hosting authority. All government funding for the administrative grant is handled by this board and all funding for instructor fees and courses are monitored by the separate board as well.

Our council is made up of agency representatives, namely the Health Unit, Preventive Social Services, Alberta Agriculture, as well as local people who are interested in providing more opportunities for learning. Each town and their surrounding rural area has a contact who volunteers her time and puts a lot of effort into filling the needs of her area. These volunteers require a lot of positive feedback if they are to continue to fulfill their obligations.

The executive of Flagstaff Further Education Council meets each month to approve courses, etc., while the full council meets four times a year. If you are interested in serving on the council, please get in touch with the co-ordinator Tuesday or Thursday at 384-3772. At other times, she can be reached at 384-3834.

Your interest and input into Further Education is necessary if adult education is to be continued.

Galahad District News

Sorry we missed some of the names of folk who were pleased over the arrival of Nathan Alan Bownes, in our congratulations last week. Here they are: his sisters, Cara and Jenny, the other proud grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Fink of Forestburg, great grandparents, Hugh Bownes of Galahad, Mrs. Vella Lomness of Forestburg and Mrs. Elsie Fink of Flagstaff Lodge.

Sympathy is extended to the Sturges families of Athabasca and Lac La Biche in the tragic death of Lorne William Sturges on March 3, 1979. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sturges of Lac La Biche, the grandson of Mrs. Laura Sturges of Edmonton, nephew of Mrs. Lester Oberg of Forestburg. He leaves to mourn his passing, his wife Nancy and a daughter at Athabasca.

Get well wishes go to Arnold Kuefler in the University hospital and to Herschel and Marjorie Jackson, who were involved in a car accident in Mesa, Arizona.

Cliff Lyzne is home from his holiday as are Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Perreault. Barbara and Alphonse spent some time in Florida and other points in the U.S.A.

Mrs. Doreen Herle, Carolyn and Ellen, Angela Dietz and Ann Kuefler were Edmonton visitors on Thursday. They visited Arnold Kuefler in the University Hospital and Martha Badry at Glenrose Hospital. This spring-like weather is making Martha anxious to get out and home to her plants.

Pete Willis is spending the week at Wainwright. Seems like he can't resist taking off to help with the ranching whenever Ken Warriner has a problem.

We folk who are still writing history for the Galahad book had better be up and at it because the halfway mark is almost here. We would like it in by the middle of March and that means me also.

Galahad's 14-and-under hockey players, Daryl McMahon, David Merchant, and Ricky and Jimmy McFaull, accompanied the other players of the 16-and-under team of Forestburg to Edmonton last weekend where they played the Lauderdale 16-and-under team. Saturday's game was tied 3-3. The boys were billeted out for the night. Sunday afternoon saw the teams take to the ice again. This time, Forestburg won 5-4 and brought home the Challenge Cup.

The games were arranged by James Bergel, coach of the Lauderdale team. He also looked after the billeting. All had a grand time.

Lauderdale had hoped to come to Forestburg to try and win the cup back. However, the warm weather put a stop to the competition for awhile.

Wednesday evening, the Galahad School Auditorium was the scene of a very enjoyable concert put on by the students of the Union College of Lacombe.

The senior citizens held their meeting on Thursday, March 8. Quite a number enjoyed the pot luck supper. We were happy to have President Anne Wise with us for the business meeting. She had a two-hour pass from the hospital.

The usual business was transacted. The seniors plan to sponsor the collecting of the Red Cross and Cancer funds in April. Kay Pascod and Bill Wise were delegated to meet with other committees on Wednesday, March 14 at a luncheon in Alliance. They are to take others who wish to accompany them.

The village council asked the senior citizens to inform their members that Galahad has been booked as a possible place for persons caught in an emergency to take refuge. Three hundred persons could be accommodated in the village. This is being worked out in all towns and villages. The emergency that arose at Mill Woods recently reminds us that we need to be prepared.

Katie Gamroth and Polly Reister will act as hostess for the April meeting.

The Presbyterian WA met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gordon Stewart. There were eight members present. Olive Washburn led the short devotional service with readings.

The report of the annual Presbyterial meeting was read. Plans for the annual strawberry tea on April 7 were made. The meeting closed with prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Washburn returned home after spending two weeks in Calgary with friends and relatives enroute home. They spent three days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ted Washburn and Michael at Red Deer.

Mrs. Hunter Armstrong and daughters and Iva Kuefler of Edmonton were visitors at the Fred Kuefler home. Noreen and Iva took part in the ladies' banspiel. It was fortunate that Mrs. Armstrong was visiting at Galahad as her home in the city in in the area that had to be evacuated during the gas explosion and fire recently.

Hobby club meets with 25 present

On Wednesday evening, February 21, the Amalgamated Hobbyists of Flagstaff met in the Sedgewick United Church Hall with 25 present.

No business meeting was held. President R. Paterson introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Dick White from Killam, who showed a travelogue film on Israel which was much enjoyed by all present.

Lunch and social hour followed. The next meeting of the Hobby Club will be Wednesday, March 21 in the Sedgewick United Church Hall at 8 p.m. We are delighted to say we will have a return visit by the Coles from Brownfield, who will be showing slides on Europe. Everyone is welcome.

Winter Wipeout Days success

Winter Wipeout 1979 in Hardisty provided a variety of enjoyable activities in and around the Hardisty arena on February 16, 17 and 18.

Although the temperature was chilly, many families did brave the cold to enjoy the skating party and bean supper on Friday evening.

Following the skating party, a girls' hockey match was scheduled. When the opposition didn't turn up, the Hardisty Sweethearts challenged the Hardisty Bantams to a game. A well-refereed game came to the conclusion that the boys won the game and the girls won the trophy? ? ?

Saturday was a busy day on the arena ice with four minor hockey games in contention, all finishing in favour of the local boys. Out-of-town teams helping to make the day a success were Hughenden Mini Mites, Czar Mites, Hughenden Pee Wees and Paradis Sharpening Bantams from Edmonton.

Saturday afternoon a crib tournament was in progress in the club room. Ian MacKinnon won the championship.

Children lined up both Saturday and Sunday afternoons for the sleigh rides offered by the Cutter Club. Sunday, cartoons were another feature added for the children's enjoyment.

Bingo enthusiasts found their favourite games of chance being played in the club room Sunday afternoon. At the same time, the Curl-a-Golf tournament, nail driving and log sawing contest were in contention.

Curl-a-Golf winners were: Beth Schmidt for the ladies, Dalton Miller for the men, and Sharon Gately for the juniors.

The nail driving championships went to Ron Melin for the men, Koreen Golka for the ladies, Kenny Buelow for the boys, and Nicola Cahill for the girls.

The ladies' log sawing trophy went to Koreen Golka and Beth Swanson, the men's trophy to Jick Almberg and Ron Melin.

The recreation hockey tournament held on Sunday finished with the Paradis Sharpening Oldtimers victors over the Czar Hayshakers in the A section and Hardisty Longhorns winning the B section over the Hardisty Pipers.

Central students exchange with teachers

Many of the students at Central High School exchanged places with teachers on Wednesday, March 7 as a part of Education Week activities. Marvin Poyser acted as principal for the day, while 26 other students taught classes.

Students spent several weeks preparing for their teaching assignments and are to be complimented for the first class job they did. The participating students gained a new insight into the role of the teacher.

Many teachers spent the day taking classes and were reminded once again about note taking and being a participant from a student's point of view.

Central's girls' basketball team motored to Devon on Friday, March 9 to participate in the zone playoffs against teams from Provost, Devon and Bawlf. The girls defeated Bawlf and Provost but lost to Devon, thereby winning the consolation trophy.

Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Bratland, who chaperoned on Friday night, and all fans who supported the team throughout the year, are greatly appreciated by the girls and their coach, Mr. V. Meier.

All Central High supporters are reminded to watch the Central team in action on Reach for the Top on channel 5 March 31 and April 2.

All parents are urged to attend parent-teacher interviews Wednesday, March 21. The school phone number is 384-3817. -Manfred Jesswein

Lougheed District News

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, Doug and Brenda, and Miss Esther Dohlberg of Wetaskiwin were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wylie recently.

Mrs. Jack Stoodley of Wildwood spent a few days with her son, Ernie, and wife Sarah and family last week. Then she went to visit her daughters at Sedgewick.

Ardis Davis had her furniture refinishing course last week. I was over at the hall a couple times. There was some very nice furniture getting a new look. I'm sure when it was completed, they all took their furniture home with a well-spent week in their mind. It was very interesting to listen to what kind of finish should they use on various kinds of woods.

Mr. Jim Aldridge spent a weekend in Edmonton visiting his daughter and family.

The Home Creek school dance was held Friday night, March 9 with nine tables. The winners were: Ethel Ball and Clifford Simpson, first; Molly Anderson and Dave Livingston, sweep; Helen Sutherland and George Anderson, mystery; Gertie Wetmore and Lawrence Knee land, travelling; and Chrissie Armstrong and Leslie Ball, consolation.

See you next Friday evening, March 16, at Bells Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Marschal and sons were recently visiting Chuck's parents at Domremy, Saskatchewan.

Mrs. Grace Heron passed away last week at the age of 97. The funeral was in the United Church and burial in the Lougheed Cemetery. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Welcome back to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Swanson and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Potter after spending a couple weeks in New Zealand. They stayed with Doris' daughter, Kathy, and husband.

Joy Armstrong is home after spending a beautiful week in Hawaii.

We have had very nice weather here the last week. We had an odd shower of rain, which has melted some of our snow. Lots of water in some places.

The Lougheed Ladies Bonspiel is in full swing just now. It will not be long before the winter sports will be over, then the spring work will start.

Mr. and Mrs. Gruninger of Warburg were here this weekend visiting their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gruninger and family.

4-H CLUB Activities

LOUGHEED 4-H BEEF CLUB

The Lougheed 4-H Beef Club had its March meeting March 5 at the Lougheed Senior Citizens' Welcome Club Centre. Present were six members.

President Howard Ness opened the meeting with Dean Ness saying the 4-H pledge. Then on to old business about our tour day. We decided to have it May 19. Then, we discussed our junior bonspiel, which is to be held March 24, 25 and 26 for those 21 and younger.

Then we discussed new business. Leader Mr. B. Berg brought up Super Rodeo tickets. The club decided to go March 29. We had a report from Glen Snethun about training a calf and he gave some helpful hints.

After the meeting was adjourned, we practiced making rope halters. Mr. Berg showed us how. -Iris Cookson

NOTICE

The following information applies to By-Law No. 377, being a by-law amending By-Law No. 369, the Land Use by-law of the County of Flagstaff No. 29.

The Council of the County of Flagstaff No. 29 has prepared and given first reading to a By-Law February 22, 1979.

1. The purpose of this by-law is to amend the Land Use By-Law No. 369 which regulates and controls development of land and buildings within the County of Flagstaff. These proposed amendments update the present Land Use By-Law No. 369.

2. Copies of the proposed amendments may be inspected during normal business hours at the office of the Secretary-Treasurer, County of Flagstaff, Sedgewick, Alberta. Mr. Del Bergum, County Development Officer, will be pleased to answer any question at the office or by telephone at 384-3537.

3. At its meeting on Thursday, March 22, 1979 at 1:00 p.m. in the County of Flagstaff Building, Sedgewick, the County Council will hold a public hearing on the proposed amendments to the Land Use By-Law. All interested persons will be heard by the Council prior to the proposed amendment by-law being considered for third reading.

4. Normal use of parliamentary procedure will be followed at the public hearing, similar to the existing Council procedure.

O. W. Likness,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Secretary-Treasurer
County of Flagstaff No. 29

Hardisty Chamber of Commerce plan many summer activities

A good number of members and guests attended the regular February 28 meeting of the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce in the Parkland Manor. President Jim Thomson was in the chair.

Minutes of the previous meeting were adopted, as was the treasurer's report. A large amount of correspondence was dealt with.

Committee reports followed with Rose Marie Thompson reporting on publicity and the Devonian program. To date, offers of trees for this project are very disappointing.

Hospital Committee Chairman Alan Thompson reported on a meeting with MLA Henry Kroeger and Wainwright Constituency candidate Charlie Stewart, and stated that the present situation calls for a resubmission of the functional plan on June 1 when the government freeze is lifted. George Mathews, chairman of the hospital board, was also in attendance to give his views on the aforementioned meeting.

Doug Drever then reported 28 memberships have been sold by his committee.

Lucy Sydor, co-chairman of the Welcome Committee, reported on a meeting of that committee in which it recommends that chamber cease its sponsorship of the annual newcomers dinner as people have gotten out of hand. In its place, the committee is formulating plans for a Welcome Book containing all pertinent facts about the community. These books will be presented to newcomers on their arrival in Hardisty. The committee also recommended a continuance of the presentation of flowers on the occasion of official openings of new businesses.

Business Manager Darcy Broughton was absent but sent a report of the business people meeting that had been held a week earlier. This meeting dealt with their portion of Round-Up Days occuring Friday, July 6. Tentative plans are for a free puppet show for children, pony rides, free draws, one of which, it is hoped, will be a free trip for two, destination as yet undecided.

There will be another edition of the well-received Gong Show, which drew record crowds last year, to be followed by a CHED Disco Dance for the young crowd. The sidewalk sale will be continued again this year and plans are underway to get more participation from clubs and groups to set up booths, such as bake tables, rummage sales and game booths.

Continuing with Round-Up Days planning, Les Miller, representing the Agricultural Society, stated its intention to sponsor the Saturday night activities, which will consist of a barbecue, dine and dance Jim Bronson, representing Battle River Light Horse, confirmed their plans of having heavy horse pulling, chariot and chuckwagon races, as well as the all-new dog races. The Light Horse is also arranging for Crown Amusements to bring in a midway for Saturday and the Sunday rodeo. The club is going all out this year in celebrating its 25th anniversary, and indeed, this will be used as the theme for Round-Up Days.

Howard Doan of CFCW then addressed the meeting, having brought with him figures on an advertising package they are willing to offer this year. The chamber accepted one of the package deals similar to last years and was promised a good deal of free advertising from CFCW in addition to the paid advertising.

Joyce Harrison got the chamber's endorsement for a Chamber of Commerce parade float, and it is hoped this can be transported to neighbouring communities for inclusion in their parades during the summer.

In final business, Lucy Sydor offered space for the erection of the community bulletin board. Doris Yuskiw's invitation for chamber members to accompany her to the next Battle River Tourist Association meeting was taken up by President Thomson and Treasurer Harrison.

The next regular meeting will be March 28 and it is hoped all figures will be brought in so that a complete Round-Up Days budget may be finalized.

Hardisty and District News

While in Camrose, your reporter met an old friend, Ethel Stefaniuk (nee Paulson), who has lived in Camrose for about two years. Her husband works for AGT.

The Reg Johnsons, formerly of Hardisty, are grandparents again. Their youngest daughter, Gayle, and her husband, Ray, are proud parents of a young daughter born February 13 and named Janis Darlene Julie.

Little Jackie Opgenorth played the violin very nicely at Anne and Joe Sarnyn's on Sunday. Teresa, her mother, helped her along but it surely is nice to see one so young playing the violin.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. David Hooper on the arrival of a little daughter February 27, weighing 10 lbs. 3 oz. and named Tanya Lynne. Another granddaughter for Vera Hendricks.

Sympathy is sent to Mrs. Marion Elm and all her relatives on the passing away of her aunt, Mrs. Pearl Lindballe, in Killam hospital.

Pearl Bowen, as she was known in this area, lived with her husband, Jack, and family in the Choice district. After the family grew up, they moved where Marion Elm had lived in the Arnold district on the farm for some years.

After her husband passed on, she lived in the Sedgewick area, finally moving into the lodge and becoming Mrs. Lindballe.

The Bill Cooksons visited their son Horace and Eva and Robin on Thursday and were accompanied by Olaf Nelson, who visited his sister-in-law in Hardisty.

When a would-be parent jokingly says that a son is ordered and it arrives as a son, it has jokingly been ordered but in all sincerity, too. But a chosen child is an adopted one by choice. There is a difference. Please note regarding last week's item and the name is Ronan John Georoid.

Quite a number improvised their own patterns so there certainly was variety and sometimes several things going at once.

Others performed on the uneven bars so it was quite a workout for all the pupils involved and we hope that some day, Peter will have the opportunity of seeing some of these same pupils in the summer games before too many years. Hopefully, his own children will be among them as they too were active that night.

Wednesday evening, I received a phone call from Peter Gray wondering if I knew that there was to be a gymnastics display in the school gymnasium that evening and if I would like to come.

Fortunately, it wasn't icy as I walked there and back with a mild rain coming down.

Grades 1, 2 and 3, of about 30 children, did their gymnastics in the form of bend, stretch, sit and spin around; first one way, then reverse, as well as many other performances.

The elementary, partly directed by Peter Gray and the rest was done by the pupils, contriving their own movements.

The rings looked like steady hands were needed to go through all those gymnastics standing on their hands, turning somersault, and more. Some taking part in the rings were Mary, Helen and Dick Rogers, Sean and Heather Tillmar, Marcy Wadstein and many others whom I did not recognize.

Some of the pupils walking the beam were the Tillmars, Suzanne Cahill, Susan Syder, Tracy Oldfield, Crystal Roen, Sandra Allen, Bruce Johnson, Christine Hanson and Kent Drager. Many others, too, whom I did not recognize.

Hardisty clubs meet

HARDISTY LEGION AUX.

The Hardisty Legion Auxiliary held its March meeting in the hut on March 5 with 11 members present.

Following the opening ceremony, roll call and reading of minutes, business proceeded. Members were reminded that there will be an election for district commander at the rally in St. Paul, April 28.

The visit to Flagstaff Lodge is to be on March 21 and members are to bring lunch and a few program items in preparation.

It was decided to order a new picture of the Queen for the hut as the present one is out of date.

The new cupboards in the kitchen, made by Comrade J. Yuskiw, are finished and will be painted in the spring. These add greatly to the looks and convenience of the kitchen.

The meeting closed with the usual ceremony and lunch followed.

HARDISTY UCW NEWS

About 17 ladies attended the UCW meeting at the home of Mrs. Maryon Drager. A visitor of special interest to all was Mrs. Mary Ann Thomson's little three-month-old granddaughter, Andrea, one female who didn't have a word to say.

After reports on various subjects were read and the meeting adjourned, a lovely lunch was served by Maryon. Mrs. Cantlon's contribution to the meeting was a poem on prayer, which was enjoyed by all.

HARDISTY GUILD

Hardisty's St. Mark's Women's Guild met in the parish hall March 7 with Doris Yuskiw as hostess. Devotions were led by the hostess.

In reply to a letter received from the playschool secretary, it was decided to donate a sum toward this good effort. Members will also give any articles asked for.

The annual knit-a-thon was discussed and the date for this has been set for June 9. Wool is to be obtained and knitters may enrol at any time.

Future meetings will be held the second Wednesday of the month. The meeting closed with prayer, and a delicious lunch was enjoyed.

President of the Battle River Hockey League Eugene Waldorf presents the league trophy to Ron Nashlund, captain of the Viking Gas Kings, after his team won its fourth game in a best-of-seven final series against the Hardisty Stampeders.

Viking ended the series Monday in Hardisty with a 5-3 score.

The Gas Kings started the encounter with an early goal by Murray Quinton at 1:34 of the first period. Lee Laskosky put the Gas Kings ahead 2-0 five minutes later.

The Stampeders came back with a goal by D. Morrison, but Viking's Neil Fitzmaurice further advanced his team's lead by scoring at the period's 14:36 makr.

Gordie Rattray of Viking scored the team's fourth goal at 3:25 of the second period. Hardisty answered with its second goal by G. Miller 10 minutes into the second period.

At 15:18 of the third period, the Gas Kings again pulled ahead with a goal by Doug Palamarchuk. Hardisty completed the evening's scoring when D. Dion found the mark with only two minutes remaining in the game.

Sedgewick News

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Fisher and boys of Hardisty and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lane of Sedgewick spent the weekend in Edmonton, where they attended the Leedholm-Fisher wedding.

Seven tables of whist players and a couple crib players enjoyed the Wednesday afternoon card party at the senior citizens Drop-In Centre. Prizes for the highest scores were won by Mrs. Betty Walsh and Mr. Art Falls. Consolation awards went to Mrs. Rose Falls and Mr. Harry Pottage.

Mr. and Mrs. John McConnell are home after spending a few enjoyable days in Las Vegas.

Mrs. Mary Simons, with daughters Ardith Gould, Gardelene McPherson and Helen Leeb, curled in the bonspiel at Stettler over the weekend and came home with the third prize in the Grand Challenge Event. Nice going, ladies.

Don Sparrow was here on the weekend to pick up wife Maudie, who had been curling in Edmonton with some ladies from here. Before they left, she took in the Lougheed Ladies Bonspiel, along with Helen Tanton, Edith Eckstrand and Eileen Ness and came away with second prize in the 3rd Event.

Curling in the same bonspiel were Vivian Sparrow, Denny Bergum, Karen Schaupmeyer and Corinne Hogg. They won fourth prize in the Grand Challenge. Sounds as of our lady curlers had a busy and successful weekend.

Congratulations and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gregory Maughan (nee Lillian Tweedy), who were married on board ship in the Caribbean on Sunday, February 18.

The rink of Doug McClements at lead, Dale Johnson at second, Hal Sparrow at third and Colin Cumberland as skip curled at Jasper in the Kinsmen Bonspiel this weekend.

Quite a large crowd attended the band concert at the Sedgewick Elementary School Gym on Saturday evening. This is the first concert that the Flagstaff Community Band has participated in. I understand that they and the other bands taking part put on a very enjoyable performance. The band is under the leadership of Everett Norris of Viking.

The Drama Group has started readings in preparation for its next play. More people are needed and if you would like to be part of this group, Mr. G. Martin would be pleased to hear from you at 384-3544.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ward of Ponoka were weekend visitors with Edith and Gordon Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bradley and children of Rocky Mountain House were weekend guests at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mary Cameron.

The Play School is in full swing now with more than a dozen youngsters and parents meeting at the United Church Hall on Tuesday mornings.

The Evangelical Crusade came to an end with a final service on Sunday evening, which drew a large crowd.

Nazarene News

A busy and beneficial week has gone by under the ministry of Rev. Alf Rees and his team with the crucial message they presented to our county.

The young people are reminded that study and discussion of the Book of Revelation continues Wednesday evening, conducted by Lamar Graff.

Mrs. Sharron Kirby is a patient in Killam hospital. We look forward to having you back with us soon, Sharron.

Welcome home to Louis and Doris Swanson and Ruth and Cliff Potter, who recently returned from New Zealand. The Henry Potters stayed at Cliff's during their absence.

Sunday, we were happy to have as visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peacock of Edmonton, Julie Stover of Calgary, and Rev. Alf Rees.

Tuesday, March 20 to Sunday, March 25, we invite you to share in the ministry of Rev. C. Westhafer, pastor of Red Deer First Church of the Nazarene, who will be speaking each evening. Our young people appreciated his messages at camp this past summer at teen fireside services.

MEDIA MONITOR: 'Duchess of Hazzard' Catherine Bach

by Steve K. Walz

With many of its new shows falling victim to ABC's tinanically strong lineup of established hit series, CBS commissioned its Hollywood production companies to rush in a new set of mid-season replacements. The chances of success for secondary TV shows are limited because of the minimal amount of available promotion time.

One of the exceptions to the rule has been 'The Dukes of Hazzard,' a comedy-adventure series recounting the triumphs and misadventures of three cousins who fight corruption in the south's Hazzard County.

Some critics attribute the show's success to CBS's foresight to see the commercial success of 'Smokey and the Bandit' and 'White Lightning,' and spin-off the same concept for a TV series.

Going to Bat

Catherine Bach, who portrays the gorgeous Daisy Duke in the 'Hazzard' tele-series, thinks the basic ingredients for the program's success are there. "It's fun, nobody ever gets killed, and there are incredible stunts," said Bach, who grew up in South Dakota and now resides in sunny southern California.

Sometimes, with all the cards

Catherine Bach

seemingly stacked against a ne series, a negative attitude may pervade the cast, but not 'Dukes,' insists Catherine. "All of the actors have banded together to make sure that this thing is successful. Believe me, making this show is extremely hard work. I get up at 4 a.m. and I don't leave the set till sometime around 7 p.m. The concept of the show is obviously off-the-wall. It was never meant to be totally real," Bach replied, answering those critics who felt that the show demeaned the image of the "new south." She added, "This show wasn't supposed to paint a realistic picture of anything. Every story in 'Dukes,' though, is based on real characters and real life stories, but we've taken those stories a step further."

About Bach

Bach's staunch defense of the show underscores the intensity and devotion to the program by the network, which is trying to please the finicky viewers' appetites. Catherine, who is cast in a 'Lil Abner' type role, akin to the network fun-loving 'I and a' stereotype, is quick to point out that she has a list of screen credits ("Midnight Man," "Thunderbolt and Lightfoot' and "Hustle") and is an accomplished ballet and jazz dancer.

Said the brown-haired femme fatale, "I never thought that I'd do such a thing ('Hazzard'). The Daisy character is easy to stereotype, and if people want to draw a parallel to Lil Abner, that's OK by me. I just think that Daisy is a fun-loving country girl who wants to be Dolly Parton. Her sense of humor is similar to mine, but I do not see myself as a 't and a' character. You know, they (CBS) spent four months testing many girls for this part. Mind you, I don't mind having these things (good looks) on my side and I don't mind being my age (in her early 20's), but hopefully the critics will see my personality."

Hockey Playoff Preview

by Steve K. Walz

In two weeks the regular hockey season will end. The means by which the respective clubs earned a playoff berth will no longer apply, for this will be the beginning of the 'second season.'

Despite the mental and physical punishment of enduring an 80-game schedule, combatants from each team will rise to perform herculean efforts in order to propel their club one step further along in quest of either the Stanley Cup, emblematic of NHL superiority, or the Avco World Trophy, the WHA's championship symbol.

Predictions

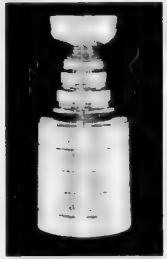
Based on what has transpired thus far, it would appear that the Montreal Canadiens and New York Islanders are bound to meet in the final climactic showdown in May.

The Canadiens, after suffering through front-off.ce bickering and then a series of crippling injuries to their front-line starters, rebounded to have another great year simply because of their enormous depth. Youngsters like Pat Hughes, Mark Napier and Brian Engblom gained invaluable experience filling in for Jacques Lemaire, Larry Robinson and Steve Shutt.

Montreal will be tough to beat, but the Islanders have matched the 'bleu, blanc, rouge' almost every step of the way during the course of the regular season. Last year the Islanders were upset in the quarterfinals by the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Since then, coach Al Arbour has added rugged John Tonelli to the lineup and has shored up his defenses. Obviously, Mike Bossy, Brian Trottier and Clark Gillies will score their share of goals, but if they are shadowed and held in check, Arbour plans to break up the trio and call upon people like Bob Bourne and Billy Harris to pick up the slack.

The Isles seem more mentally prepared than last year and are gearing themselves for a shootout with the Canadiens. If the Long Islanders 'choke' again in the preliminary rounds, Arbour intends to make radical changes since his farm team in the CHL is stocked with NHL-bound players.



The Stanley Cup, the NHL symbol of superiority.

The darkhorses for the Stanley Cup are teams that have made dramatic improvement since last year. Fred Shero's New York Rangers have regained the confidence they once had and lost under the previous regime. The 'Broadway Blues' have added backcheckers Pierre Plante and Dean Talafous, and have seen overnight improvement in their defensemen.

The line of Ulf Nilsson, Anders Hedberg and Pat Hickey has been temporarily disconnected while Nilsson recovers from a broken ankle. Once Nilsson returns (hopefully by the quarterfinals) the Rangers will have a key injection of offense. Ultimately, the Rangers will go as far as their goaltending (John Davidson, Wayne Thomas and Doug Soetaert) takes them.

The Atlanta Flames also loom as a Stanley Cup contender. As usual, they experienced a fuel shortage in their overall play during the middle part of the season, but since late January they've been as hot as a super-nova. The keys to the Flames' chances lie with Tom Lysiak's scoring, Dan Bouchard's netminding, and the backlines' ability to handle playoff pressure.

Finally, Boston's rough-and-tough Bruins are also in contention for the coveted silver cup, simply because their coach Don Cherry is a tactical genius. His players don't possess an abundance of talent, but they always give 110 percent. If Brad Park is nearly as effective as he was last year, if Gerry Cheevers plays well, and if the Bruins get balanced scoring up front, they will progress in the playoffs.

WHA Crystal Ball

The Edmonton Oilers and the New England Whalers will probably face each other in the Avco Trophy finals. The Alberta sextet has that rare blend of youth—Wayne Gretsky and Dennis Sobchuk, and veteran talents in Bill Flett, Stan Weir and Al Hamilton—to hone its eyes on the championship.

The Whalers, like their Canadian counterparts, also have that special blend of youth in Mark and Marty Howe and Mike Antonovich, and veteran flair in Gordie Howe, Andrew Lacroix and Dave Keon.

Other teams like Cincinnati and Winnipeg lack consistency while Quebec, which has a fine team, doesn't have the goaltending to carry them into the finals.

YOU ONLY LIVE TWICE

Russian and American space capsules that simply disappear a volcano ready to blow with only a little encouragement an undisciplined school of piranha fish and the arch-villain Blofeld all await Sean Connery (pictured) when he stars as James Bond in "You Only Live Twice

In this, Bond's fifth fearless adventure 007 is "murdered" and left at sea—or so they would like you to believe—before he reappears in Tokyo, only to be captured, treated most unpleasantly and left literally in the air in an airplane without a pilot.

Not so easily undone, Bond manages to land the plane himself and continues his search for the missing American space capsule. When a Russian capsule also vanishes, each side blames the other, and nuclear war seems only a button-push away. Unwilling to accept universal annihilation as a solution Bond tracks the missing capsules—and their astronaut passengers—to the international crime syndicate SPECTRE.

Up-and-coming Stars

by Steve K. Walz

Ice Chips

The Los Angeles Kings have always been nothing more than a mediocre NHL franchise. Unfortunately, this has hurt several players who have been overlooked by the mass media. Of course, equating sunny southern California's alluring beaches and pretty girls with hockey tends to melt away some interest in the game.

But surely, Marcel Dionne and Dave Taylor are worthy of more media attention. For the past few years, Dionne has been the Kings' franchise—scoring at a point per game clip—and is considered to be amongst the top 10 forwards in all of hockey.

Dionne's teammate Dave Taylor is probably one of the most improved players in the NHL. Coming out of the collegiate ranks, Taylor has blossomed into a hard-working forward who is headed for a 40-goal season.

To an extent, two of the Atlanta Flames stars have been singed by the media as well. Forwards Bob Macmillan and Guy Chouinard have been sizzling all year long with Macmillan finally becoming the player that everybody thought he could be. Bob will probably score close to 90 points.

In Chouinard's case, he is a major surprise. Everybody thought that Guy would be a star someday, but his overnight transformation caught everyone off-guard. Chouinard will score at least 30 goals and rack up an additional 60 assists before season's end.

THE FAMILY VIEWPOINT

Programs That Make You Think, and Teach You How

Can a show about a forensic medical examiner probing for the cause of death be entertaining and educational? 'Quincy,' a show that attempts week after week to see if foul play is involved in people's deaths, is both educational and fascinating.

The show's story revolves around the real, everyday mysteries that doctors solve the sort of problem-solving most young people don t have an opportunity to watch or experience firsthand. All of us, but particularly children, are exposed to many conclusions which we are asked to believe merely because professionals tell us so. A large part of children's school lives, for example, are spent learning "facts," but how these facts are discovered is rarely demonstrated.

One recent 'Quincy' telecast, about an escape artist's death by drowning, seemed to me especially appropriate for those 13 years and up, because it dealt with drugs—a subject we especially want young people to think about, long and well.

Manacled and locked in a box which was immersed in water, a young escape-artist loses consciousness before he can undo his chains. He drowns as the TV audience looks on in horror. Why should this happen after he has rehearsed it successfully many times? Quincy examines the young man's blood and tissues to find the reason.

He learns that he suffocated and lost consciousness, and concludes he must have hyperventilated, using up his available air too soon. But why should his respiration have increased? Checking with aides, Quincy learns that the young man usually took a tranquilizer which slowed his respiration and his metabolism before he went on stage. But this body had traces of an amphetamine ("speed") in the blood that caused him to use his oxygen faster.

There are other things about the use of drugs to be learned from the program. For example, that the effects of pills differ from person to person depending on the body's mass (the weight) of the taker, and that the relationship can be determined by formula. The metabolic slowup the escape artist was seeking through the tranquilizer can also be achieved through discipline, the tool of the old masters of such daring feats.

For people like myself, who have studied or are studying biology, 'Quincy' is one of the most engaging ways to review the subject. It is also a delightful way to learn how to problem solve—using disparate bits of information to come up with solutions or explanatory theories.

The process isn't all that different from that used by a good car mechanic, but I doubt that we'll get a problem-solving mechanic as the hero of the next TV series. But who knows? Would anyone have predicted the success of a program about a forensic doctor?

Beatrice Gross, author of 'Teaching Under Pressure,' has worked on Drug Prevention programs as consultant for the U.S. Office of Education.

Eight Is Enough

This comedy-drama about a couple with eight children manages to present situations that can provide amusement to a wide variety of families—and at the same time subjects for family examination of a host of problems, differences, rivalries or other difficulties of living under one roof.

The national PTA program review just published gave ABC's 'Eight Is Enough' four stars "Generally high caliber family entertainment," the PTA critics agreed. "No violence or sex exploitation, though sexual concerns of contemporary teens and young adults are not sidestepped."

A recent episode adroitly included two sexual themes in the hour. One concerned the pregnancy of a teenage girl who is the good friend of 16-year-old Tommy. Tommy is willing to take on the burdens of fatherhood—and marriage—of continuing in school and working weekends with his older brother.

The teleplay sensitively showed the dilemmas of an unmarried adolescent, who eventually decides not to take the "easy way out" of letting Tommy marry her.

The second plotline revolved around the older brother's return home with the young woman he has been living with. Father Bradford, played by Dick Van Patten, objects to their sharing a room—it would set a bad example for the younger Bradfords. The son's attempts to sneak into his girlfriend's room are inadvertently frustrated by other events in the busy household.

Varied attitudes and relationships are shown among the Bradfords, and viewers are free to consider a spectrum of approaches to events that come up. What 'Eight Is Enough' does make a statement about is the importance of the family lending support to its members in a crisis or when someone feels alone.

Other problems that this Wednesday evening series have covered include: one daughter venting her frustration on the family as she prepares for a difficult medical school exam, a son's emotional nosedive when a close friend dies, a daughter delivering a controversial speech on women's rights before the local school board and David's experimentation with pills.

The PTA comments: "Beneficial and recommended family viewing for ages six and up, with a salient contribution to teens."

Plus, we add, a good helping of laughs.

Star-lets—Barbara Eden, long remembered for her dazzling harem girl role in the classic 'I Dream of Jennie' TV series back in the late '60s, is still very much in demand by Hollywood producers. She recently enjoyed immense publicity for her 'Harper Valley PTA' movie and was featured in the made-for-TV film 'The Girls in the Office.' The 40-ish beauty is married to Chicago Sun-Times executive Charles Fegert. Ms. Eden says, "A long distance marriage may not be ideal, but it can work if necessary. Whenever I'm not working, I go to Chicago. And if I'm working anywhere near there, Chuck visits me." Barbara also maintains a home in sunny Southern California.

SILENT VICTORY: THE KITTY O'NEIL STORY

Stockard Channing (pictured left) stars as Kitty O'Neil in 'Silent Victory: The Kitty O'Neil Story,' the real-life account of a deaf girl's courage in becoming one of Hollywood's premier stuntwomen and holder of the women's world land speed record, a new motion-picture for television.

Also starring are James Farentino (right), Colleen Dewhurst and Edward Albert. Guest starring is Brian Dennehy.

The inspirational story traces Kitty's battle with adversity, from a difficult childhood helped by her mother's determination to conquer her handicap by encouraging an achievement on the piano and as an Olympic diving hopeful, to her ultimate success in the hazardous Hollywood stunt world.

In the film's final, exciting moments, Kitty earns acclaim as the "world's fastest woman" by driving a rocket-powered racing car to a new world record of 512 m.p.h. for a two-way run and achieving an incredible top speed of 600 m.p.h.

Star Tregs—Diminutive Ron Carey a.k.a. Officer Carl Levitt on 'Barney Miller,' will undoubtedly get a hefty raise in salary and many punch lines for his anxious and aggravating character portrayal Carey, who was elevated to the rank of Detective when the late Jack Soo (Sgt. Nick Yemana) entered the hospital, has also appeared in hundreds of TV commercials and Mel Brooks flicks, namely 'Silent Movie' and 'High Anxiety'

Star Nostalgia—"Out of all the mediums, theatre is the most satisfying. It gives you a chance to explore and use your craft. And this particular role that I'm playing now is a once-in-a-lifetime role, one that you can never really get tired of." The aforementioned quotes belong to a very special actress—Constance Towers. Ms. Towers stars in the musical extravaganza 'The King and I,' which made mega-bucks on Broadway in Chicago and now in Los Angeles. The 40-ish Towers has the title role of Miss Anna, the independent British teacher who is summoned by the King of Siam (portrayed by legendary actor Yul Brynner). Ms. Towers, who has also played opposite screen great John Wayne in 'The Horse Soldiers,' is married to veteran stage and TV star John Gavin.

Future Stars—ABC-TV has signed two 'name' stars to network development projects. Academy Award-winning actress Goldie Hawn will be associated with the 'web' on a long-term basis with development toward TV and theatrical motion pictures, while ex-'Hardy Boys' star Parker Stevenson has entered a two-year deal with ABC to appear in two specials to be produced by his own production company. . . O.J. Simpson's Orenthal Productions has joined forces with Columbia Pictures to do a two-hour movie for NBC entitled 'Goldie and the Boxer.' . . . Femme fatale Jessica Lange, who was featured in the 'King Kong' remake, will star in Bob Fosse's 'All That Jazz' flick. . . . Actor Tony Roberts is a busy man these days. He's lensing the Warner Brothers 'Just Tell Me What You Want' feature film with Alan King and Ali MacGraw, and will star in the Broadway production of 'Murder at the Howard Johnson's'

Future Stars—The long and winding road to stardom is chock full of ups and downs. For every star that has enamored the sweet smell of success, resplendent with lucrative contracts and plenty of press, there are a hundred others who have failed and are now out of show-biz. One aspiring actor, known as the 'Wizard of Ouz' because of his dual role as a magician and actor, won't stop trying until a Hollywood talent agent says, "You're the one that I'm looking for." The good-looking Israeli-born Ouz (short for Ouzi, his real first name), who has been seen on 'The Mike Douglas Show' and various other programs, feels that a combination of ethnicity and magic is "in" right now. "Just look at the successful programs on TV—'What's Happening,' 'Chico and the Man,' 'Mandrake the Magician.' These are all shows that deal with ethnicity and/or magic," said Ouzi. To date, the 'Wizard' has proposed several ideas to various talent agents where an ethnic theme could be used within the context of a prime-time situation comedy. But the drawbacks outnumber the possibilities, Ouzi adds, "Some producers still have a persecution complex. They are afraid to poke fun at somebody. Yet, I think it is time to familiarize America, especially mid-America, with an ethnically Jewish theme, where these people can laugh and be taught something at the same time."

Star-lets—What do Joy LeDuc and Lynn-Holly Johnson have in common? Answer: Both were professional ice skaters who caught the acting bug and have been successful in the transition. Currently, Lynn—a cute 19-year-old—is starring in 'Ice Castles,' a non-hyped flick that has captured the hearts of millions. In the film, Johnson plays 'Lexie,' a young farmer's daughter who aspires to skating championship success. The Illinois native explained the difference between skating for an arena audience and amateur competition. "For the Ice Capades you train with a choreographer and you play to the audience with eye contact. For amateur competition you need to take ballet and gymnastics, and practice six hours a day. In 'Ice Castles' I had to re-train myself for amateur competition and I had to convey that to the viewing audience," she said.

Future Stars—CBS-TV is preparing a two-hour special based on the Pulitzer Prize-winning Kaufman and Hart comedy 'You Can't Take It With You,' with Jean Stapleton and Art Carney starring as members of a slightly daft family. . . . Toni Tenille will be the star of a new daily talk show being developed by MCA-TV for the fall of '79. . . . Procter and Gamble and NBC-TV are developing a comedy-drama series for the '79-80 season in which Shirley Jones will headline as a mother struggling to survive in a new city with three children. . . . ABC will air a two-hour retrospective on the 1978-79 TV season in May using clips from all three 'webs.' It will be called 'The Television Annual.' . . . Producer Ed Friendly, fresh from his success with 'Backstairs at the White House,' is producing 'The Flame Is Love,' the first Barbara Cartland novel for NBC.

Star Extra—It's hard to believe, but ABBA, the Swedish rock quartet that took the North American continent by storm with their smash hit 'Waterloo' back in 1974-75, has sold more records than the Beatles. And according to reliable sources, ABBA is Sweden's most profitable commodity. ABBA, which stands for the first letter of each member's name—Anni-Frid, Benny, Bjorn and Agnetha—first established themselves as a local group, eventually branching out all over Europe and then the final hurdle, America. Since 'Waterloo,' ABBA has hit pay dirt with such 45's as 'Dancing Queen,' 'SOS,' 'Fernando,' 'I Do, I Do,' and others. Currently, they are back home putting the finishing touches on a new album, promoting their new film, and making final arrangements for their first-ever tour of America, scheduled for sometime in late 1979. Why has ABBA been such a consistent success over the years in a highly competitive record market? "We are a novelty group that produces good songs and good productions. The two girls are the key to the group's commercial success. And when we write an album we try and write each song as if each were being released as a single," said Benny Andersson. When asked why it has taken so long for ABBA to tour America, especially since the demand is there, Bjorn replied, "We've always taken the opposite view of other groups when it comes to touring. Most groups tour first to get big. We feel the groups' records should sell the people first, before we do a live concert."

St. Patrick's spiel sees Lougheed win

Winners in the Sedgewick Ladies St. Patrick's Bonspiel over the weekend were: 1st Event - Jackie Costas, Lougheed, first; G. Brandingyn, Sedgewick, second; Carol Bergum, Edmonton, third; and V. Firkus, Lougheed, fourth.

In the 2nd Event - Penny Rose, Sedgewick, first; S. Tatos, Lougheed, second; Fran Anderson, Sedgewick, third; and S. Wieschorster, Strome, fourth.

In the 3rd Event - Mary Simons, Sedgewick, first; A. Gould, Sedgewick, second; H. Loeb, Sedgewick, third; and V. Kortgaard, Edmonton, fourth.

At the banquet held Saturday night above the Rec Centre, Mary Simons was presented with an honourary membership and a small diamond stickpin from the Sedgewick Ladies Curling Club as a way of thanking Mary for all she's done for the club and for her many years of great curling and in the years [illegible].

Exchange announced

Twenty-five students from Sedgewick Central High hopefully will be going to Quebec on an exchange trip in May. Central has 'twinned' with Polyvalente Emile-Legault, a school in St. Laurent, Quebec. The students from both schools have applied for a government grant under the Open House Canada Program to cover travelling costs.

The Quebec students will stay a week in Alberta as guests of their twins, then the Alberta students will travel there under the same arrangement.

Tories carry on as before

Albertans brushed aside claims a lopsided legislature serves them poorly to re-elect Peter Lougheed premier with the bigger-than-ever Conservative majority that he wanted.

Only the five incumbent opposition MLAs – four Social Crediters and one New Democrat – hung on against the Tory sweep to victory in 74 of the 79 seats in the enlarged, redistributed house.

The sixth opposition MLA of the 1975-79 legislature, Drumheller Independent Gordon Taylor, had already gone over to the Tories to run for them in the next federal election.

Lougheed led 39 new Tory MLAs into the house, successfully replacing the 23 incumbents who quit while picking up five new Calgary and Edmonton seats created by redistribution as well as the Drumheller riding.

The premier was expected to appoint his next cabinet soon and repeated that he intends to shuffle it thoroughly. He was also due to call the house into session within weeks to deliver on campaign promises.

Election night, Lougheed went out of his way to remind his exulting party that not all Albertans are Tories. His first pledge was to keep alive "a sense of deep responsibility" – a conscience – in his majority.

"We will have to be responsive and sensitive to people, in all corners of this province, to all minority groups, all points of view that can and will be expressed.

"We give an undertaking to listen and be sensitive . . . and to take this mandate for what it means, that great sense of responsibility to all the people of Alberta, wherever they live."

Lougheed hinted at more financial aid for research to the tiny opposition, higher profiles for Tory caucus committees and some relaxation of party discipline in the legislature.

But his pledge of a government with a conscience only underlined a question that went unanswered at his Calgary campaign headquarters. Who will speak for it, at the price of an argument with the premier?

In 1975, when Lougheed won all but six seats in the then 75-MLA house, the answer was known before all the polls were counted. He did not have to go out of his way to pledge sensitivity.

Amid the celebrations four years ago, Calgary Buffalo Tory Ron Ghitter delivered a sombre warning: "there's a big job we have to do now." He said, "there is going to have to be some very careful scrutiny."

Ghitter lived up to that by becoming as prominent a critic of some major government policies as the Socred opposition. But Ghitter was one of the Tory incumbents who did not run again.

Observers were hopeful that some of the new Tories would take up Ghitter's mantle as a watchdog within the majority. Their backgrounds included interests in native affairs, social services, education and local government as well as business.

Viking IGA store destroyed by fire

A spectacular blaze which broke out at approximately 10:35 p.m. on Monday evening totally destroyed the Viking I.G.A. building. Once the fire was brought under control at 2:30 a.m., three firefighters remained at the scene to water down any hot spots which appeared throughout the night and Tuesday morning.

A spokesman for Horne and Pitfield estimated the loss of the building and contents to be over one-quarter of a million dollars. The spokesman also stated that, although it was much too early to give details, Viking residents would not be without the services of an I.G.A. food store for long.

Originally, the fire was limited to the front-end portion of the building, but efforts to contain it there were unsuccessful and the entire building became engulfed in flames.

Although the cause of the fire has not been officially determined, those involved felt the probable cause to be linked to problems with the chimney portion of the overhead furnace at the front of the building. The furnace provided a ready supply of fuel and, combined with items such as barbecue starter, windshield washer antifreeze and aerosol cans, the fire spread rapidly through the building. Once the fire was brought under control at 2:30 a.m., three firefighters remained at the scene to water down any hot spots which appeared throughout the night and Tuesday morning.

All that remained of the Viking IGA on Tuesday morning was a burned-out shell. Contents of the store were totally destroyed in the all-night blaze.

In Response

It's with a note of satisfaction that an editor sees his paper being read. Comments on the street, word-of-mouth, an increase in submissions and subscriptions all serve as guages on readership. But receiving a letter to the editor – favourable or critical – never fails to be a high point. This is especially true if the letter is in response to a certain editorial, as the page on which an editor's opinion appears always seems the most difficult undertaking of the week!

It's been awhile since The Community Press received an editorial-inspired letter to the editor, or any kind of editorial response for that matter. In fact, the last we heard was after we wrote our support for parent-teacher interviews and education in general. (The response was positive.) The latest we've heard also concerned our views on education – the editorial in question was published two weeks ago on March 7.

The letter we received is printed, in its entirity. Its author, Gary Spornitz, questions a few statements we made in the editorial: Education vs Election. We'd like to answer his questions and clarify any statements which, apparently, were not made clear enough.

First, when we spoke of Alberta's education having "dropped to number three" we were inferring to the quality of education in Alberta as opposed to other provinces. While many other provinces are improving their standards of education, ours has stayed the same during past years or, in some aspects, declined.

Mr. Spornitz agreed with the idea that the provincial government could spend more money on education. However, we have no figures to back up a statement that implies our government isn't spending as much as others. It is not the amount of money being spent that we find fault with, it's how and where it's being channelled.

We endeavoured to support that opinion by comparing the quality of facilities to that of educational material and curriculum, and suggested that instead of stocking the science lab with the most up-to-date facilities, that the priority for spending the money instead be on new resource material, ie: modern textbooks rather than "teaching them Canadian history out of 15-year-old American textbooks."

Mr. Spornitz seemed to feel our editorial was a personal attack on teachers. It was not meant to offend. The editorial did not read that "teachers do not possess a great deal of over-intelligence or personal attributes." Unfortunately, our reader must have read the line incorrectly. It read "it doesn't take a great deal of over-intelligence or personal attributes to become a teacher." We stick by that statement, and what followed it: "perhaps one of the hardest jobs there is (teaching) yet the easiest in which to get a degree." We believe that the importance of education is such that it should be one of the hardest in which to receive a degree.

The requirements needed to enter a faculty of education are little more than a Grade 12 diploma. Surely someone in the position of influencing our children should be required to meet moral and/or character standards as well. We don't believe any professional – in any field – would mind his profession being harder to enter, thus raising its credibility and quality. Our editorial merely posed the possibility that "maybe it's time to make the teaching profession harder to get into."

Mr. Spornitz says, "certainly some individuals are drawn by the illusion of many holidays and "easy" work but it's just that – an illusion." At the time of writing the editorial in question, we were very much aware that teachers aren't paid for July and August, that their salaries are based on 10 months' work and spread over 12. That doesn't change our opinion that a guaranteed two-month holiday every year must attract some people into the teaching profession. Many see the holiday benefits as more than compensation for less pay.

And lastly, not at any point in that editorial did we say teaching was "easy" work, as Mr. Spornitz quotes us. In fact, the word 'easy' does not appear at any time in the editorial. The only similar word is in the quote reiterated earlier: "perhaps one of the hardest jobs there is yet the easiest in which to get a degree."

We are sorry Mr. Spornitz found our statements to be "misleading and based, not upon actual knowledge, but upon supposition." Rather, the writer of the editorial based these statements and opinions on experience gained from working two years among teachers, administrators and government's representatives in education. And we support Mr. Spornitz praise of "most teachers I am acquainted with display a genuine desire to help the students they deal with day after day - they show a caring a professional attitude."

"Most" teachers we are acquainted with and, thankfully, taught by deserve similar credit. But "most" isn't 'all' – and it's the ones that don't deserve to be teachers that we're worried about.

The Third Column

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL in the human breast, and now that spring is with us once again that eternal hope gets a boost; for there is nothing which revives the spirit of man more than the retreat of winter with its accompanying cold, mountains of snow and ever-mounting fuel costs. Soon the ever-appearing pussy willow and then the beauty of the crocus, the harbingers of spring, will delight the hearts of the hopeful. The longjohns, the down-filled jackets, the mittens and the scarves will be carefully stored away to await the return of weather more suitable for their use. Windows will receive their annual spring cleaning, houses will be gone through thoroughly and to escape this arduous task, men will betake themselves to the golf course to escape involvement. Little Johnny will receive his annual spring tonic to clear out his system and prepare him for the mounting activity of the warmer months.

THE FARMER in whose breast hope really springs eternal, will be busily engaged in tuning up his machinery, getting his seed in shape and his land in condition for seedtime hopeful that the harvest will be the net result. Yes spring is the hopeful time, the time of renewal and the time of bountiful joy in the heart of man. It is also the time to be thankful that the "survival kit" of winter has brought us through another seasor. to the warmth of another spring.

LET US HOPE that the warmth of this spring will warm the hearts of Sadat and Begin, that with assistance of President Carter, they may be able to arrive at some conclusion to bring "peace at last" to the Middle East. Difficulties are serious and grave, yet they are not unsurmountable if the will is real and certain and the desire is honest. We know that peace is desired by both sides, but it seems that only on each one's terms. Peace is desirable and failure to resolve the conflict might well result in the escalation of feelings and bitterness, with the possibility of the resumption of armed conflict. That this should be allowed to take place is to the shame of all those who are involved. War mongers are no longer popular and those who promote such should be sanctioned against to the utmost by all the peace-loving nations of the world. Another all-out active conflict can not be tolerated. It is time we learned to live in peace. Man's inhumanity to man has run its course, and that is our hope for this new springtime.

IN SPITE OF ALL that has been said, there are with us still men who exert power over the masses. I believe it was Lord Acton who said, "All power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely." The very possession of power tempts men to pride and arrogance and a kind of cruel self-righteousness, for the evils of the exercise of power without accountability to the people are too evident. The responsible exercise of power involves both that it be used according to established rules and not arbitrarily and that those who exercise it must be accountable to the people for whom and over whom that power is exercised. That is why democracy is necessary for the taming of power. Political democracy does not insure good government to be sure, but by preventing the monopolization of power in the hands of one or a few, it will prevent the evils of slavery or serfdom for the many. An extension of democracy (control by the people) into the economic sphere and the social area, is necessary in modern civilisation to prevent the evils of economic exploitation of the many for the advantage of the few. The task of man is not to flee from power, but to use power for the material and social welfare of all men, rather than the exercise of power over men.

THAT IS WHY we may predict that the absolute power over people desired by and instituted by such people as Khomeini in Iran and Idi Amin will fail and they will be toppled from power by that self-same power of the masses. People the world over are emerging and will not tolerate any longer complete rule over their rights and freedoms.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

For some time now, the Christian Church has been greatly concerned with the tendency to schedule sporting events on Sundays.

We, the members of the Flagstaff Ministerial Association, are just as concerned about the same tendency within our county. We strongly urge everyone to consider this matter, and to take appropriate action by devoting Sunday mornings to the worship of God and not commencing sport activities until at least 1 p.m.

We realize the difficulty of scheduling sporting activities. However, we believe that at least one day a week should be devoted to the foundation of all families and all communities, the Church of Jesus Christ.

Yours in Christ,
Thomas McLaughlin, Lorne Fisher, Gordon Powell, Ray Niebergall, Mina Pool, Richard Conrad, Robert Chappell, Donald Carson, Melvin Dietrich, Stewart Abel.

If you discourage a dream, you have thus lost the right to praise or share in its success.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

This letter is in response to your editorial appearing in The Community Press, Wednesday, March 7, 1979. I feel that your statements are often misleading and based, not upon actual knowledge, but upon supposition.

When you speak of Alberta's education as having ". . . dropped to number three." you do not specify whether you mean that in a qualitative sense (other provinces having better students) or in a monetary sense (the dollars spent per student by our government). As it would be exceedingly difficult to measure student "quality" except in a very rough way, I presume your editorial to infer that the government is lax in its input into the field of education. If my supposition is true then I would agree with you - I believe this government could spend more money on educating its citizens. You, however, seem to change directions later in your editorial by berating the government for emphasizing the spending of money as opposed to improving the quality of the teacher.

The quality of teachers would appear to be your second area of attack in education. You infer that most teachers enter the profession for the sole purpose of gaining two months unemployment (teachers are not paid for the months of July and August; their salary for ten months is spread over twelve months by a mutual agreement with the County). Certainly, some individuals are drawn by the illusion of many holidays and "easy" work but it is just that - an illusion. Most teachers I am acquainted with display a genuine desire to help the students they deal with day after day; they show a caring and professional attitude. Dealing with a captive group of individuals who largely would not be there if the choice was theirs and who are not able (because of their inexperience) to see the real values in the education process is often a stress-filled situation. The vast majority of teachers, I believe, deal very well with the situations they encounter; situations often created outside the school.

To conclude, may I just say that your inference that most teachers do not possess ". . . a great deal of over-intelligence or personal attributes . . ." is uncalled for. I would, and do, fully support the teachers of Killam Public School, and to the best of my knowledge, the vast majority of teachers in the County of Flagstaff as concerned, professional individuals.

Yours truly,
Gary R. Spornitz
-Principal, Killam Public School

Strome senior citizens enjoy dinner and cards

The senior citizens enjoyed a lovely St. Patrick's pot luck supper last Thursday evening. Later on in the evening, cards were played. Five tables of whist were played and prizes for the highest scores were won by Mina Curtis for ladies and Annie Heisler, playing as a gent, for gents. The ladies' consolation award went to Mrs. Peggy Wheller and for gents to Mrs. Cora Paulson, playing as a gent. "500" will be played on Thursday, March 29 at 8 p.m.

By all reports, Mrs. Dot Johnson is coming along fine after having surgery on one knee and soon will be able to have surgery on the other one. Good luck, Dot.

COME ALIVE

-Ken Quiring

There are many perplexing problems which we must face in this life. Different people will cope with different situations, but we may rest assured that no one escapes trials or perplexities completely.

The Apostle Paul was bothered with a physical ailment of some sort. He is not specific. This ailment was a constant bother or nuisance to him. It did not stop him from preaching, but it did create a problem. Paul says he went to the Lord three times about it. But the Lord did not remove it. The Lord did answer though, with the words, "My grace is sufficient for thee."

With that, Paul gladly carried on, accepting this as from God. Dear friend, this day may have brought trials into your life – disappointment or pain.

Let us learn from Paul - go to God in prayer concerning it. Seek His face, discern His will. God in His love will answer you. He may not remove the trial, but rather give strength for the day. Learn to accept what God has for you. Please read the account of Paul's prayer.

"Concerning this, I entreated the Lord three times that it might depart from me. And He said to me, 'My grace is sufficient for you, for power is perfected in weakness.' Most gladly, therefore, I will rather boast about my weaknesses, that the power of Christ may dwell in me. Therefore, I am well content with weaknesses, with insults, with distresses, with persecutions, with difficulties, for Christ's sake; for when I am weak, then I am strong." II Corinthians 12:6-10

Pearl Lindballe passes

Mrs. Pearl Amelia Bowen Lindballe passed away in the Killam General Hospital on February 25, 1979 at the age of 85 years, after a lengthy illness.

She was born in Bowmanville, Ontario in 1894, where she lived until moving with her parents to Toronto.

In 1909, she was united in marriage to John Bowen of Toronto, where they lived until coming west to Alberta in 1915.

They farmed in the Alliance and Hardisty districts until 1948, at which time they moved to Sedgewick.

Eight children were born to this union, six daughters and two sons. She was predeceased by her husband in 1966, her eldest daughter Audrey in 1925 and one grandson in 1975.

She took up residence in the Flagstaff Lodge in Sedgewick in 1965. In 1972, she married Mr. Peter Lindballe, who was also a resident of the lodge, where they have lived happily these past seven years.

Mrs. Lindballe is survived by her loving husband, Peter Lindballe, five daughters and two sons: Lorraine Beairsto of Sedgewick, Carma Scott of Hinton, Mildred Tocher and Laverne McIsaac of Hamilton, Norma Angus of Detroit, Michigan, Stanley of Ferintosh and Alfred of Edmonton, 12 grandchildren, 27 great grandchildren and many nieces and nephews.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Robert Chappell in the Sedgewick United Church on February 28, 1979 with interment following in the Sedgewick Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Keith Hansen, Sonny Losness, Brian Beairsto, Floyd Elsasser, Walter Sorensen and Cliff Grove.

Fee & Sons of Killam were in charge of the funeral arrangements.

CARD OF THANKS

Peter Lindballe and the family of Mrs. Pearl Lindballe wish to express our sincere thanks to the many relatives and friends for their memorial donations to the Sedgewick United Church, Cemetery, Cancer and Heart Funds.

Thanks also to the United Church ladies, who served a lovely lunch following the service, to all who sent messages of sympathy and for the many acts of kindness shown us at a time when it was deeply appreciated.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

SOGGY POPCORN

Love stories. Strange how they affect us. I mean, there I was one night, alone, the lights down low, the cat curled up beside beside me, a dish of popcorn in my lap. I had turned on the TV and was nestled snugly into the comfort of the loveseat, a woolen afghan pulled around my shoulders. Cozy. But lonely. The movie came on and it was the usual routine: boy gets girl, boy loses girl, and so on. Yet somehow, it was unique.

There they were, hand-in-hand, Cupid's arrow poised above them, strolling down a sandy beach at sunset, the tide slowly rolling in. And there I was, huddled in the living room, stuffing myself to the brim, all alone. So they had me. I was trapped. Sure enough, two minutes later, great salty tears were running off my face into the popcorn.

At commercials, I would run out to get kleenex, blow my nose, wipe my eyes, and be back in time to settle and sniffle again. You, bring on the heartaches! And when she left him, I'd grab more kleenex. And when he threatened to end it all, more blowing power. And when she came back but he wouldn't take her in, more sniffling. Never chipped a beat.

So there I sat for two hours, in ecstatic misery. I never even cry that much at funerals! But the ol' love stories – they get me every time. They make me feel wretchedly sad, but after I wipe the tears away and console myself with the fact that it was only fiction, I feel myself wrapped up in yet another tearjerker.

I suppose it is the close relationship to our own lives that make love stories affect us so much. When our lover deserts us, we feel heartbroken, so we can sympathize with the person on the screen who is experiencing the same desertion. At the same time, what the character is going through reminds us of our own situation. So we cry. Because it hurts. Then why do we bother watching Romeo-Juliet-type shows? Because, although they're sad, they are also romantic and entertaining.

A lot of people are ol' romantics at heart. When we aren't in love with anyone, love stories remind us how nice it is to be in love. Like, there she is, saying, "No Kirk, we must let go of each other . . ." And I'm saying, "Hang on, Kirk, hang on!" while my eyes get redder and puffier. And she says, "I don't love you, Kirk." and I say, "You'll find someone else, Kirk," while my popcorn gets soggier and saltier. And still, I'm enjoying myself.

Somehow, love stories always turn out for the better in the end. They may not always be realistic, but because of this, they're entertaining. People don't always want to see things out of the real world on the screen. We like to escape from the cruelness of reality for a time and be made happy.

So Kirk says, "I'll be leaving then."

"Yes. Yes, it's better this way," she answers.

"Then this is good-bye."

"Yes, good-bye."

And I burst into a tumultuously agonizing round of tears as the scene fades away and the words "The End" appear on the screen.

But just as I'm thinking there is no purpose for living since poor Kirk lost his true love, the telephone rings and the person on the other end is the one person I had hoped would call.

Maybe happy endings aren't always realistic either, but lemme tell ya', they sure beat SOGGY popcorn!

Daysland News Items

The Sunbeam Club met in the Daysland Community Hall March 14 with seven tables of whist played. High score went to Mr. John Heck and low score to Mrs. Lois Cooper. At lunch time they had a lady come from Forestburg to speak on nursing licenses.

Thanks to the Sunbeam Club, the election poll clerks in the hall were served with coffee and lunch, which was very much appreciated.

Among the relatives and friends visiting at the Vic Gabruck's home last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cooper and family from Lloydminster, Sharon and Monty Sommer and family of Stettler, Ted and Eileen Koshii and family from Winterburn, Linda Gabruck from Edmonton, Grandpa Hartman from Camrose, Charlie and Linda Tulloch of Strome, Mary and Adam Gartner and family from Daysland, Doug and Doris Sharuga from Edmonton. The occasion was three birthdays that they were celebrating.

Charlie and Linda Tulloch, and Carol, Billy and Emily Hill visited Bill and Ruth Davison on Sunday and had coffee with them.

About 60 kindergarten teachers and helpers met in the United Church social room for a meeting March 15. Mrs. Kay Reist and Mrs. Linda Tulloch went to Edmonton Saturday for a one-day kindergarten workshop.

FOOD

Ours is an agricultural constituency. What is a farmer? He is a businessman in the field of food production. More importantly, he is the primary contributor to an advanced society.

Technology, leisure time, education and democratic governments are all ideals incumbent upon the presumption that an adequate food supply is available.

In 1979, at least 500 million people in the developing nations will suffer from an inadequate food supply. Global malnutrition looms as the most urgent socio-economic problem on the planet Earth. Unfortunately, for us, malnutrition and overnutrition is not just a problem of the Third World. Recent data indicates that North Americans are burdened with billions of dollars of unnecessary costs due to faulty nutrition or overnutrition.

As a farm-raised person, I find it both ironic and sad that it is possible to feed domestic livestock and pets exactly balanced rations while the quality of human food stuffs itself to guesswork or the knowledge of the scientifically inclined. By federal law, animal foods and feed additives must display a guaranteed nutritive analysis card. Human foods are not required to portray a nutritive analysis and have only the very limited obligation of listing composite ingredients in order, from largest volume to smallest volume.

The purchase of processed meats, as different from meat cuts, may leave the impression that one is buying a product high protein content and relatively low in fats or carbohydrates. The truth is, you don't know. The labelling of human food stuffs seldom gives adequate information upon which balanced nutritional planning can be made.

Virtually all farm-produced foods are of high nutritional value. The fundamental problem arises after food materials leave the farms, orchards and greenhouses. The processing of food stuffs has the principle objective of increasing sales; an objective that is reached by colourful packaging, flavour changes and adding preservatives. In this process, plant products often have the most valuable nutritional parts removed, such as the epidermis or germ ends on cereals.

It is my opinion that better direction could be given to agricultural research if the end product on the supermarket shelf reflected a genuine objective of achieving excellence in nutritional standards.

At the end of the day, what matters to your body is not how much "stuff" you consumed, but rather, your intake of protein, minerals, vitamins, carbohydrates, fats, and so on.

The farmer is doing an excellent job in food production. More effort must now be made to encourage the whole food chain to keep in touch with good nutrition. Inadequate nutrition is costing North Americans several billions of dollars every year.

Your PSS Program

Communication is a vital part of our lives. Good communication involves the ability to listen to another person so as to hear and really understand what they are saying, as well as being able to express ourselves so that we are understood. Without good communication with others, we often feel misunderstood, unheard and unable to get our message across. We've all felt the frustration of poor communication in our jobs, in our families, our community groups and our social activities. There are skills we can all learn that will help us communicate more clearly and effectively.

A workshop entitled "Skills in Communicating" is being held March 30, 31 and April 1 in Meridian Manor in Killam. Co-leaders for the weekend will be Leroy Nelson and Laverne Booth. Leroy farms in the Ohaton area and has had a great deal of experience with workshops in his position as chairman of the Family Life Education Committee in Camrose. Laverne is the program co-ordinator at Flagstaff Preventive Social Services. This workshop is co-sponsored by Further Education and PSS.

Registration fee is $15. Pre-register by phoning PSS at 385-3676, Margaret Manning at 386-3807, or Jean Johnson at 384-3772.

Gretna Goodwill meets

The Gretna Goodwill Club met at Bells Hills on Tuesday, March 13 at 6 p.m. with 30 people in attendances. Helen Sutherland was our gracious hostess with Chrissie Armstrong as assistant hostess. Instead of the regular meeting for members only, Helen decided she would like to give the members, families and friends a little treat in the form of a social evening.

This started out with everyone partaking of a sumptuous pot luck supper with a great variety of wonderful "culinary" arts to choose from.

When the dishes were done, the tables were arranged for a few hands of novelty whist with six tables playing. The prize winners for this were: Pat Kroetsch and Edwin Albrecht, first; Debbie Steil and Dan Adamson, mystery; and Hetty Cameron and Eddie Cameron, consolation.

The regular meeting will be held at the home of Etta Huse on April 11. For roll call, bring a small Easter novelty item.

Get to know it. You could save a life.

Carbon monoxide strikes quickly. Because you can't see, feel or smell it. But it can kill you or members of your family. Learning about carbon monoxide poisoning is the best way of fighting it.

Know the Symptoms

If you or members of your household develop these symptoms, get into the fresh air and notify your gas company immediately. Watch for:

- a headachy feeling
- tightness across the forehead and in the temples
- loss of muscular control
- watering and smarting of the eyes
- weariness, weakness, dizziness, vomiting

Know About Prevention

Carbon monoxide gas may be formed through faulty combustion in your gas appliances. You can prevent its formation by following these steps:

- use only approved gas appliances
- have qualified experts install gas appliances
- give gas appliances an abundant air supply
- keep gas appliances in good condition
- report excessive rusting and carbon on your water heater to the gas company
- report escaping fumes to the gas company
- keep the furnace fan compartment door closed and secure at all times
- clean furnace filters before the heating season begins and then as required
- report irregular flame patterns to the gas company

For more information on carbon monoxide poisoning and other household dangers, visit your nearest gas company office and pick up a copy of our free pamphlets "Take Time For Home Heating Safety" and "Home Safe Home".

NORTHWESTERN UTILITIES LIMITED

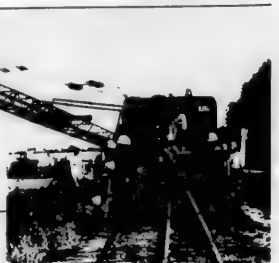
Can Canada really export 1¼ billion bushels of grain a year by 1985?



Rehabilitation of the Prescoville subdivision

Here's what's being done to get your grain moving faster.

Here's what's still needed.

This year and last year Canada exported 20 million tonnes of grain. By 1985 the Canadian Wheat Board believes Canada needs to export 30 million tonnes—or 1¼ billion bushels. That 1¼ billion bushels of grain is 50 per cent more than the record levels we've been exporting.

Increases that big don't come easy. Can we do it?

There are three concerns: Can farmers grow 1¼ billion bushels? Can the Canadian Wheat Board sell that much? Can our grain handling system get that much grain from the farms to the ships?

The answer to the first two questions is yes. Given quotas to deliver 1¼ billion bushels, prairie farmers will grow it. The Canadian Wheat Board has repeatedly promised that markets of the world are ready to buy as much as we can ship.

The big problem is getting the grain from country elevators to the ships. Right now we don't always get the grain onto ocean vessels in time. Our rail system just isn't good enough, and we need more terminal facilities to serve the growing West Coast markets.

Everyone agrees that rails and West Coast terminal space are the main stumbling blocks to exporting 1¼ billion bushels of grain. After the Prairie Premiers and the Minister Responsible for the Canadian Wheat Board met in Winnipeg in January, they agreed we must form a task force to help Canada reach that target. That target is now just over the horizon because most of the work has been done or is underway.

Problems affect each other

Grain handling companies don't spend money fixing elevators on rail lines that might be abandoned. Railways won't spend money rebuilding or upgrading lines—or buying hopper cars—if they lose money hauling grain.

Much of our branchline rail system needs upgrading so long trains of hopper cars can move fast and safely. It is only through straining the present system to the utmost that we are able to move the record quantities of grain we are moving.

The Government of Canada has put in place a permanent rail network which serves over 90 per cent of the prairie farmers. This means elevators on those lines are guaranteed to be served by rail into the next century.

Hundreds of millions of federal government dollars have been spent and will be spent to renovate these lines. The Government of Canada is committed to fix up all the branch lines and will ensure the rolling stock is there to move your grain. A lot has been done. But a lot more must be done to move 1¼ billion bushels a year.

Work is also going ahead to make sure that new West Coast terminal facilities, over and above Vancouver, are in place by 1985. Canada cannot afford future bottlenecks at Vancouver. Prince Rupert makes a fine alternate port.

Work on ports and terminals

The greatest efforts are being directed to making Pacific Ocean ports able to handle more exports because that is the direction Canada's markets are developing fastest.

- Vancouver. Capacity has increased by 10 million bushels. Altogether, it amounts to a 30 per cent improvement.
- Prince Rupert. A 30 million bushel terminal is being planned.
- Churchill. This port facility has been upgraded at a cost so far of $10.6 million.
- Co-ordinators for grain car allocations have been appointed at both Vancouver and Thunder Bay in order to speed up turnaround time for railway equipment.
- The firms Bocz-Allen and Hamilton and the IBI Group are now studying ways to get better service out of the facilities we now have by finding out how railways, elevator companies and ports and ships can work together in better ways.

Upgrading branch rail lines

Between 1971 and 1978, the Government of Canada put $530,000,000 into subsidies for branch lines. In 1977 and 1978, $100,000,000 was spent upgrading lines. More is coming: $70,000,000 is being spent this year and a further $630,000,000 expenditure is planned. This money will be used just to rebuild branch lines.

Planning which lines should get money spent on them became a priority job. The process had to be fast, so the railways and grain handling companies could go about their work and so farmers could make their plans. The process had to be non-political. The process had to permit everyone affected to be heard.

These decisions are still being made, but much has been done.

- 1974. The Federal Government guaranteed that 12,413 miles of branch lines would be protected for service until at least the year 2000.

Once rail lines are declared permanent, money can be spent improving them. There is no better proof that a line is permanent than the expenditure of millions of dollars improving it.

- 1975. The Hall Commission was appointed to look at the rest—about 6,293 miles. The Hall Commission recommended that 1,812 miles be added to the permanent network guaranteed to the next century, and the federal government did this.
- 1975. Meanwhile, the Snavely Commission set to work determining what it actually costs to haul grain by rail to Thunder Bay or Vancouver.
- 1977. The Hall Commission proposed that the future of the remaining 2,344 miles of branch lines be decided by 1990. But many farmers and elevator companies felt this was too long a wait. So, the federal government appointed the Prairie Rail Action Committee (PRAC) to do the job promptly.
- 1978. PRAC recommended that a further 1,041 miles of new and existing branch line track be added to the permanent network guaranteed to the year 2000. PRAC said extensive upgrading should be done to make this track useful, at the expense of the Government of Canada—estimated to cost $106,035,000. This action has put about 80 per cent of all track in the permanent network.

PRAC made one other major recommendation: that some 1,300 miles of track be abandoned. This could affect only 7 per cent of all Wheat Board permit holders.

- 1979. No lines can be abandoned without permission of the Canadian Transport Commission (CTC). It will likely hold hearings for each important line and add still more lines to the permanent network.

To bring the CTC closer to Western Canadians, the Minister of Transport has received agreement from the CTC to set up a Western Arm with Commissioners and offices located in Western Canada.

Rebuilding boxcars

In 1974, the federal government spent $3,300,000 to put 2,400 boxcars in both railways back to work hauling grain. A second program started in 1978: it will cost $7,300,000 and will rehabilitate 2,000 more boxcars. There is a possibility further renovations will be undertaken

Hopper cars

So far, the Government of Canada has spent $260,000,000 to provide 8,000 hopper cars to haul prairie grain. The Minister of Transport has proposed a federal-provincial task force to examine the need for 10,000 more hopper cars by 1985. The railways need them in order to get 1¼ billion bushels of grain to ports on time as the market grows.

Timely action

If work had not started five years ago, immense amounts of grain would now be stuck on farms, separated from ships by a paralyzed rail system. If money had not been spent rebuilding branch lines, buying hopper cars, and expanding terminals at the West Coast, we would have little hope of getting near record amounts of grain out to market as we did in 1978. We would be so far behind we could never meet the 1985 target of 1¼ billion bushels.

How much can we pay for grain transportation?

These are all expensive and important projects that will not only help farmers, but will strengthen Canada's economy and return benefits to the taxpayers who put up most of the money.

These are not acts of charity. They are investments in Western Canada which have been carefully studied and recommended on the basis of their long term return to Canada.

More decisions will have to be made leading to more investment of funds. The people affected will be asked for their opinions.

The reward promises to be that Western Canadian farmers will be in a position to grow and sell 50 per cent more grain than they do now. That's good for every farmer and for all Canadians.

What you can do if your closest rail line is proposed for abandonment

As you have seen, identifying the permanent rail network has been a careful process of analyzing each and every line through the Hall Commission, PRAC and the CTC. A lot has changed, however, over the past four years. Elevators have consolidated, grain delivery patterns have changed, and there are other reasons why lines recommended for abandonment could well be retained by the Western Arm of the CTC with proper representation.

You can fight for unprotected branch lines several ways, starting right now. Here is what you can do:

1. Form a local retention committee. Co-operate with other retention committees on the same rail line.
2. Study the reasons why the Hall Commission or PRAC recommended abandonment. You may find an important mistake or you may find the situation has changed.
3. Let the Western Arm of the CTC know you plan to defend a line. It will be alerted that people are interested in saving a line and want a hearing.
4. The Western Arm of the CTC can deny an application for abandonment for five years or so. The Western Arm of the CTC can also recommend to the Minister of Transport that a line should be added to the permanent network, guaranteed into the next century.

CONSERVING ENERGY IN THE HOME

Recently, I saw a commercial for a gas company which stated the most economical unit of energy is the one we save. The same is true for electrical energy. If rising electrical bills are troubling you, here are a few tips to help lower your bill, plus save on total electrical consumption.

Electrical companies, such as Alberta Power and Calgary Power, operate on a "peak load" system. Peak load is a term which means the amount of electricity used is the highest between 5 and 7 p.m. It is the time of evening when most people are at home, watching TV, cooking supper, washing clothes, and so on. All this extra activity puts an extra load on the electrical system, therefore the companies must gear up their production, resulting in higher costs. You can help by:

- turning off all unnecessary lights;
- doing laundry before or after the "Peak load" time;
- cooking with appliances that use less electricity, such as electric frying pan, microwave oven or slow cookers;
- let dishwasher accumulate until there's a full load, then wash after 7 p.m.

Other ways to save energy

1. Buy electrical appliances on the basis of initial cost plus operating cost rather than on the basis of purchase price alone. Often products that are energy efficient cost more to buy, but will save you more money in the long run.
2. Buy new light bulbs on the market which use less wattage but still give the same amount of light. Also available are four-watt bulbs to be used as night lights in bathrooms, bedrooms and hallways. These bulbs provide adequate light, but use little electricity and last longer, too. And, of course, turn lights out when not in use.
3. Invest in a timer - used to operate outdoor lights, Christmas lights, blockheaters, exterior warmers for your cars. They can also be used on thermostat instead.
4. Be sure all electric appliances are in good working order and regularly maintained.

STRESS INFORMATION MEETING

Plan to attend Thursday, March 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the Anglican Church Hall in Sedgewick. This is an information meeting open to the public. Guest speakers will include: Dr. Bill Gibson, Mrs. Barb Stroh and Rev. Tom McLaughlin. At this meeting, we hope to achieve the following goals:

- define stress and some causes of stress;
- discuss the effects stress has on our physical and mental health;
- examine effective and ineffective ways of coping with stress.

You are encouraged to pre-register by calling 384-3737. Why not come along and invite a friend.

It is sponsored by Alberta Agriculture, Further Ed, PSS, and the Health Unit.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

MENNA 4-H NEWS

On Monday, March 12, the Menna 4-H members gathered at the Whitbeck home for another meeting. Roll was answered by answering the question "How Can We Raise Some Money?" It was discussed after and decided that we would have a ride-a-thon and get people to sponsor us per mile. Hopefully, this can take place on the last Sunday in April. There was a 15-mile limit set on the sponsoring.

Other ways to raise money were brought up and it was decided that the club would take part in the highway clean-up again this May.

Next, it was decided that we get club shirts through the catalogue. They will be blue and white checked, with each member wearing a white tie with them.

Then one of the members brought in her saddle and gave a demonstration on how to clean it. It is quite important that one keeps their tack clean and it makes it quite easy if you get your club to take part in the demonstration and help.

Next, the record books were gone over, showing just how they should be filled out. After everyone enjoyed a delicious lunch of cookies, cake and hot chocolate.

Killam and District News Items

Congratulations to Mr. Greg Frederick and Miss Hilma Sue Larson, who were married on Saturday, March 17 in Killam United Church. An open house and dance were very well attended by friends and relatives.

Deepest sympathy goes out to all Childs relctions in their loss of an uncle, Mr. Harry Childs, who passed away at the age of 81 in Viking. Mr. Childs will be remembered by the oldtimers from Killam.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Villner, Laurie and Greg were weekend visitors with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McMahon and Mr. Bill McMahon.

Mrs. Evelyn Grant, Reg Grant and family spent the weekend at Swan Hills visiting the Carl Beairsto.

Congratulations to Mr. Colin Cole and Miss Annette Mann, who recently became engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Pederson, Mr. Roger Pederson and Mrs. Freda Frericks of Camrose were visitors to Edmonton with Mr. and Mrs. Elain Pederson. We send get well wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Pederson, who had the misfortune to be in a car accident at Innisfail. Margaret is out of Innisfail hospital while Ervin is in an Edmonton hospital in intensive care. We hope you are much improved, Ervin.

We congratulate Mr. Vern Erickson and Mr. Bruce Geir, who both received their pilot's licence on March 3. So if you see another plane up there, it could be Vern or Bruce.

Nice to hear Mr. Morris Lund is home after his stay in an Edmonton hospital, where he underwent surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill George spent a few days in Calgary visiting Mr. and Mrs. Philip Matthias and Mr. and Mrs. Darel George.

Mr. Maurice Hart and Mr. Jens Lindseth spent a few days at Yorktown, Saskatchewan attending a machinery convention. They reported lots of snow where they were at.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg Oulett of Edmonton spent a few days with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hart and family, and visiting their daughter, Trena, who is in Killam Hospital. Nice to see Sharon out of Edmonton hospital.

Olive Galletly returned home Sunday after spending a few days in Edmonton.

Leon Sorenson is taking engineering and Brent Lewis is taking agriculture, both at the University of Saskatoon. They spent the weekend at their parents' homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Dyck of Lethbridge were weekend visitors at the Albert Dyck home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bauer and family of Three Hills were Sunday visitors with Cecil and Betty Lewis and Al Strobels.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Erickson were in Rimbey to visit Anita and Al Debben and family and take in the Kinsmen's Talent Night, which Diane Erickson took part in. They were happy she won first prize.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meding on February 26, a son, Bryce Martin, a brother to Craig.

GRADE 4 NEWS FLASH

THE LONG TRIP

Miss Nelson and Mr. Boutin took Grades 4 and 5 to Edmonton to see Fort Edmonton and the provincial museum.

All the kids were kept busy on the trip with a booklet of questions for stuff on the way up to Edmonton. When they got to Edmonton, we went to Fort Edmonton. Most of the people had seen the fort but they enjoyed it anyways. They all enjoyed the museum and we'd like to say thanks to Mrs. Tiffen, Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. Busse, and Mrs. Lewis for supervising us.

HOUSE LEAGUES

Grades 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 would like to thank Mr. Zettle, Grade 6 teacher, for arranging the games we get to play and for being a super teacher, and we hope it continues.

SURPRISE YOURSELF!

In most cases, filling out your own income tax return is easier than you may think.

It's largely a matter of simple arithmetic. You don't have to pay someone to do something you can do yourself.

Just follow the six basic steps in the Guide you received with your income tax return. Don't forget to attach all the proper receipts, and double check your return before mailing it.

It's that easy. So go ahead. Surprise yourself.

You can do it!

WHO NEEDS YOU?

Red Cross volunteers come in all shapes, sizes and colours. They live in cities, on farms and in small towns.

They visit veterans in hospitals, they teach exercise classes to the elderly, they comfort the nervous first-time blood donor. They have talents that range from financial management to knowing how to listen.

They number just about two million and they are the reason why the Canadian Red Cross Society can offer so many services to so many communities right across the country.

They get no money for their work, but many say they do get a lot of satisfaction.

If you think you understand why volunteer work for the Red Cross might be satisfying, then you are the type of person the Red Cross needs.

Talk to the people in your local Red Cross. They'll tell you who needs you.

Book problems result

One year ago, Talking Books was introduced through the public libraries for Albertans who cannot read standard-style books, but the response fell far short of expectations.

The problem seems to be, according to Alberta Library Services to the Handicapped (ALSH), that because these people do not visit libraries, they find out about Talking Books only when volunteer or librarians seek them out. This problem is further complicated because many physically-handicapped persons who would qualify to borrow Talking Books think these cassette-taped books are only for the blind.

In truth, says the service, anyone who cannot read a standard kind of book, due to any type of disability, qualifies to use Talking Books. They are collected by ALSH, then passed on to the libraries.

To correct the communication problem presently leaving an estimated 8,000 Albertans without the stimulation and pleasure of literature, ALSH plans to launch a publicity campaign later this month.

The main thrust of the campaign will be aimed at therapists, nurses, doctors, and other professionals who could and should be telling their patients about Talking Books, but who may know very little about the program.

Although only 400 persons are now registered to borrow Talking Books, it is hoped this figure will rise dramatically during the next few months.

ALSH has 1,200 titles, ranging from fiction to biographies to collected short stories. Counting duplicates, that translates to more than 6,000 Talking Books. Four hundred additional titles will be added by 1981.

Three Killam residents win

Three Killam area residents recently were named in a cross-country Macleods draw, which saw a total of 360 prizes awarded.

The store's Appreciation Draw took place before Christmas, with winners notified just recently.

M.A. Fossen won a Mallory Lantern, Mrs. Ruth Granger received a battery booster cable and Fred Wimmer won a car blanket. Mr. and Mrs. Myron Worcachuk, managers of the Killam Macleods store, presented the three with their prizes.

Provincial 4-H advisory discusses

The Provincial 4-H Advisory meeting was called to order by Chairman Cecil Anderson of Delcour, Alberta on February 12. All the elected provincial 4-H advisory members were in attendance.

The chairman welcomed the group, stating that the council had a very heavy agenda for the following two days. Also in attendance were branch staff: Ted Yosek, Doug Boauet, Irene Leavitt and Assistant Deputy Minister Cl MacAndrews.

Regional reports by the regional representatives with all regions concerned about Highway Clean-Up safetly and what could be done to make it better. Also, some concern was expressed on job classification of our regional specialist and full-time secretaries in regional offices.

The branch report was given by Ted Yosek, informing the group that the number of 4-H clubs in the province is 986 with membership at 10,403.

The assistant deputy minister reported that support could be given at the regional and district level though 10 areas of improvement. These areas to be looked at are:
1. Transfer of some of head office staff to regional offices.
2. A review and adjustment of the function of head office.
3. Additional support from DHE and DA.
4. Assistance of 4-H alumni at 4-H functions.
5. Reclassification of status of head office and regional personnel.
6. Decentralization of summer assistants
7. Assessment of time being spent at 4-H functions
8. Employing lay people in the regions.
9. Relocating the training position from Region 1 to Region 2.
10. Employment of parttime assistant in Region 6.

There was some discussion by council and it was felt that this was a starting point and that some thought had been done as to how we could improve support to our 4-H clubs.

The 4-H foundation report was given by Allan Shenfield, foundation chairman. He thanked the membership and leaders for their firm support of the foundation and hoped it would continue.

In committee reports, the provincial beef show is to be held in Bashaw this July with the same format as other years.

There was also some discussion on Brucellosis testing. Dr. Vant of Alberta Agriculture joined the meeting and he suggested that perhaps the 60-day testing period could be lengthened to 120 days, which would include all of our 4-H activities.

Dr. Vant thought this would be very beneficial to the members and eliminate the cost of testing twice. This met favourably with council and Dr. Vant said he would see what could be done about it.

Past-President Dorothy Bigney gave a report on the 4-H alumni, stating that the Calgary region has a very successful one going. She also suggested that it be open to anyone interested in 4-H with a 4-H background, and maybe there would be more interest in the fall.

Mrs. Rigney suggested that we have a very valuable resource in our senior and ex-4-H members, and perhaps they could be utilized more for the benefit of 4-H.

The chairman informed the advisory council members that this year's theme for 4-H is "International Year of the Child."

Highway Clean-up was discussed very extensively with concern about last year's most unfortunate accident. This year's emphasis is to be put on safety.

The tentative date for the clean-up is May 5.

Leaders' conference will be held at the Banff Centre this year on November 29, 30 and December 1. There are 10 recommendations made by the leaders' conference committee, which were presented to the council. With these recommendations, we hope to have a better leader conference for 1979.

The council had the pleasure of meeting Lee Reid, director of the Farm Development Division of Alberta Agriculture. He has a program which tests farm machinery in the field and shop. This information is compiled at the Prairie Agriculture Machinery Institute and is available to the farmers.

The two-day meeting came to a close with the council going home with a lot of new ideas and enthusiasm. We, as an advisory council, hope we can help the members, leaders, clubs, districts and regions become more aware of 4-H and its objectives.

What's New in Further Education?

The weeks roll by and the Further Education Council members are planning fall programs with the help of your feedback. Have you expressed your wants to your local contact? In Alliance it's Bertha Rands and in Galahad it's Carol McFaull. From Forestburg, Fran Miller informs me that landscaping registrations are coming in very well. This course is scheduled for March 29 and 30, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Planned through the efforts of your district agriculturist, landscaping has been well received in other areas. What interest is there in photography in our county at this time of year?

Adult students in the Heisler area hopefully will be able to register for Chinese cooking. Contact, Rose Weller is in the planning stages with this course. Rose informs me there were 17 registered in landscaping and students were enthusiastic about the presentation. Contact Rose with your fall thoughts.

She has so far been unsuccessful in getting an instructor for yoga, although, as yet, she as not given up on the idea.

In Daysland, Mary Carlson, with assistant Bonnie Larson, reports the need of more students in Sewing a Blazer or cancellation will be necessary. Also planned for this area is Baking With Yeast and Exotic Breads. Chinese Cooking is finished with approximately 13 students enrolled.

Strome contact Dorothy Winchester is accepting registrations for Advanced Macrame and reports Crocheting just finished and Ceramics members working hard under instructor Mary McNaughton.

In Killam, Secretarial Skills registered 12 students. However, due to various reasons, attendance hasn't been that great. Contact Margaret Manning would be happy to talk to people in the Killam community with their interests for fall courses.

Adults in the Sedgewick area are involved in a Keep Fit program with our new and capable instructor, Cynthia Bajold, working in conjunction with the TOPS group.

Welding has been well received by the men and the concert band on Thursday evenings is a real enjoyment for the many students involved. Is anyone in Sedgewick interested in Furniture Refinishing?

Lougheed contact Ardis Davis has completed a course in Wood Refinishing and is looking for feedback for fall courses. Folks in the Hardisty area, thanks to the efforts of Liz Szuke, are busy with Ceramics, an afternoon and evening group, and Basic Accounting, under our capable instructor, Claude May, has just finished. Cake Decorating has been popular in Hardisty and well received.

All in all, I'm sure you'll agree Adult Education is serving a real need in the County of Flagstaff.

Did you get Unemployment Insurance in 1978?

If so, you have probably received a tax information slip (T4U) in the mail. You need it for your tax return.

If the slip hasn't arrived, you can apply in person...
If you didn't get a T4U, go to your local Canada Employment Centre (Unemployment Insurance or Manpower Services). Ask for a request card to apply for duplicates. Give the completed card, with some identification (like a credit card or driver's license), to the information counter clerk. The clerk will certify and send it off for you. You'll get your duplicate slip in time to file your tax return.

or by mail...
Phone or write your local Canada Employment Centre (Unemployment Insurance or Manpower Services). Ask them to send you a request card to apply for a duplicate. Complete the card and mail it to the address on it, along with a photocopy of identification (something with your name, like a credit card or driver's license). Please don't send original identification documents. You'll get a duplicate in the mail in time for filing your tax return.

If the slip has arrived...
If you did get a T4U but need a replacement for any reason, use the request card as described above.

If the slip has arrived but you need more information...
If you did get a T4U and still need an itemized statement, use the request card as described above. However, in this case, send identification only if your address now is different from the one on your T4U.

The Canadian Human Rights Act requires us to restrict access to personal information about you. This is why we must ask you for identification.

In Profile: 15 years working for kids

Carol Arntzen not only has been a 4-H leader for six years, but her involvement in the organization continues up the ladder of volunteer positions. She is president of the East-Central Alberta 4-H Region as well as a member of the Provincial 4-H Advisory Council. Needless to say, her involvement began when she was young and a 4-H member for nine years.

Under the auspices of the minister of Agriculture, 4-H has been active in Alberta since around 1913. The provincial departments of Recreation, Parks and Wildlife and Youth and Culture have had responsibility for the youth-oriented organization as well, but it returned to the government's agriculture branch three years ago. In addition to the minister of that portfolio, 4-H is looked after by the Director of 4-H and District Home Economists, explains Carol.

The Flagstaff District 4-H Council, which reports to the east-central region, numbers 18 clubs within its boundaries. These include almost every type of 4-H program – there is a total of 27 kinds of 4-H clubs in all.

Although considered a rural organization by many, eligibility in 4-H is not restricted, says Carol. In fact, cities such as Edmonton and Calgary are experiencing an increase in its number of 4-H groups. Horse or riding clubs are the most popular in the urban centres, she adds, especially among people living on city outskirts or nearby acreages.

And although many 4-H clubs are based on the animal aspect – horse, calf, pheasant – owning one isn't a prerequisite to joining a club, explains Carol. If a lot of interest is shown by a person wanting to join a 4-H pony club, for example, but who doesn't own an animal, a horse could more than likely be found for the youngster to use. If not, Carol says, the member could be assigned projects that don't require having an animal in order to be carried out.

Individual and club projects are emphasized and each member keeps an in-depth "project book" with records of their animal, newspaper clippings, reports of meetings, tours and guest speakers, as well as of their projects.

All together, members of 4-H number 10,403 in this province among 568 clubs. The average age is 13 – 4-H is open to young people from 10 to 21.

"By creating an atmosphere of learning, 4-H helps teach kids how to work with other people and promotes self-confidence and self expression," according to Carol. It encourages the development of the individual, she adds, as well as their development in the community and society.

Club meetings are held using parliamentary procedure, teaching 4-Hers the proper method of conducting a meeting. As well, executive positions within each club are elected annually, enabling members to experience leadership and administrative responsibilities.

These kinds of involvement have proven valuable to 4-H members when they've grown older, says Carol, explaining that employers often hire a person with a 4-H background over a person without it.

"It's a very accredited program in Alberta," Members can, however, realize its benefits even before they reach 21. 4-H has a "credit" system whereby a member's club involvement and projects, as well as community activities, participation in school committees and sports, all count favourably on his or her "record". The emphasis, Carol explains, is on participation and "takes in everything."

Each year, the top 4-Hers in the province are awarded with trophies and travelling bursaries based on their credits. The point system is also a cumulative one. "What they do at 10 isn't lost, but the credits they earned at that age are continued and count when they're 15 and 16." In addition to striving for the honour, she adds, 4-H members are developing themselves and being an asset to their community.

At present, Carol is working toward instigating the 4-H credit system into the County of Flagstaff's high school education program. If implemented, she explains, the credits these young people receive in 4-H could be counted toward high school credits. Such a system has been allowed in Alberta for two years and already has been incorporated into many other school districts.

"4-H gives kids a bunch of ideas to think about and a lot of things to be involved in." It keeps them involved, she adds, "and off the streets . . . It develops their energies."

Although financial support is provided by the provincial government, Alberta's 4-H program is funded heavily by the Wheat Pool, United Grain Growers and Unifarm as well. The money provided by these organizations is often in the form of educational bursaries, sponsorship of conferences and in trips awarded through the credit system.

Each club raises money through membership fees, too – usually $1 per member per year – and fund-raising drives, such as Highway Clean-Up.

Members hold meetings from November to June, but even though the formal get-togethers end come summer, their activities are year-round, Carol says.

In summer, 4-H activities include camping – the Flagstaff 4-H District has its own camp facilities, Happy Face, near Hardisty – and exchanges have been offered to 4-H members as well.

Last year, Flagstaff 4-Hers were involved in an exchange with a youth organizations from Quebec. Previous exchanges were conducted with Prince Edward Island and Salt Lake City, Nevada. This year, Carol hopes the arrangements she's working on will result in the district being able to offer 4-Hers an exchange with young people from Tennessee.

Clean air -- in the home

With spring coming on, attention turns to spring cleaning. Perhaps you've already given it some thought, or maybe even started. Whatever stage you're at, one area to remember is the furnace.

Take a look at the wall and floor areas surrounding the hot air registers in your home. Any dirt building up or dust marks apparent? If so, the furnace ducts may be another item to add to your spring cleaning list.

Take heart, though, it shouldn't become an annual chore. In fact, there's a good chance you'll be like every household and only need to clean the furnace every five years.

But if you're also one of the every other household that's never thought about cleaning the furnace, then spring certainly is the best time to make up for lost time!

There are two options available: clean it yourself or hire a professional. If you decide on the first option, your method of attack should be clearly outlined in the furnace manual. That's always the best place to start – and you may discover all that's needed is a minor clean-up that can be done with a vacuum cleaner. That's especially true if you're conscientious about regularly changing the air filters. Also, please pay particular attention to safety controls mentioned in the manual.

If you do not have a manual (which isn't unusual if you're not the first occupants in your home) simply write the manufacturer for a copy. Specify the model and serial number of your furnace to ensure you receive the correct one promptly.

You may, however, choose the professional route. They also use the vacuum system, but a much more powerful type. One thing to consider is the type of vacuum unit a firm offers. Some are truck-mounted, enabling them to clean the interior pipes running into the furnace as well as the vents. A smaller unit does an adequate job of cleaning the vents, but it is not likely to reach the interior pipes.

When looking for a professional furnace-cleaning firm, you shouldn't have far to look. Spring is one of their busiest seasons and many are beginning to advertise now for your business, so it won't hurt to be a little cautious before hiring.

Here's what to look for: if the company is classed as a direct seller, and most are, it should be licenced and bonded. Call Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs to check. Also, get a firm price in writing. The price you are quoted is the price you pay – after the work is completed to your satisfaction.

Red Cross remembered

March belongs to Red Cross. It's the month when branches across Canada reach out and try to tell the people around them the full extent of the work the Red Cross does.

It's no easy task.

Altogether, the Canadian Red Cross is almost 800 branches, many different programs and two million volunteers.

It is responsible for recruiting blood donors to ensure a sufficient supply of blood for hospitals.

The Red Cross is safety instruction – so that people can go out and teach others how to teach the safe way to swim or handle a small craft.

It also is the Sickroom Equipment Loan Service – and thousands of crutches, wheelchairs and walkers loaned out to those who need them every year.

It is programs which help veterans cope with their daily lives, courses instructing teachers of exercise classes for the elderly and home care courses helping people cope with illness in the home.

It is all this, and more, because Red Cross community activities and Red Cross volunteers add up to a symbol of a community caring for others.

Almost one million units of blood are collected by the Canadian Red Cross Society every year to meet and match the hospital's demand for the life-saving product.

IN MEMORIUM

HURR — In loving memory of Addie Burr, w/o, mother, grandmother and great grandmother, who passed away March 15, 1977.
What we would give if we could say
Hello Addie in the same old way
To hear your voice, to see your smile
And sit and chat with you awhile
With your loving smile... just one like none more
And a shake of your hand, Addie, I would adore
In our hearts you will always stay
Loved and remembered everyday.
Always remembered and sadly missed by her husband Richard, her family, grandchildren and great grandchildren. 29-1p

KENNY — In loving memory of my wife Sarah, who departed this life March 19, 1974.
Sadly missed and never forgotten by husband Tom and family.

NOTICE
The following information applies to By-Law No. 377, being a by-law amending By-Law No. 369, the Land Use by-law of the County of Flagstaff No. 29.
The Council of the County of Flagstaff No. 29 has prepared and gives first reading to a By-Law February 22, 1979.
1. The purpose of this by-law is to amend the Land Use By-Law No. 369 which regulates and controls development of land and buildings within the County of Flagstaff. These proposed amendments update the present Land Use By-Law No. 369.
2. Copies of the proposed amendments may be inspected during normal business hours at the office of the Secretary-Treasurer, County of Flagstaff, Sedgewick, Alberta. Mr. Del Bergum, County Development Officer, will be pleased to answer any question at the office or by telephone at 384-3537.
3. At its meeting on Thursday, March 22, 1979 at 1:00 p.m. in the County of Flagstaff Building, Sedgewick, the County Council will hold a public hearing on the proposed amendments to the Land Use By-Law. All interested persons will be heard by the Council prior to the proposed amendment by-law being considered for third reading.
4. Normal rule of parliamentary procedure will be followed at the public hearing, similar to the existing Council procedure.
O. W. Likness,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Lougheed and District News

Mr. and Mrs. T. Clouston spent a weekend in Picture Butte giving a hand to help Raymond and his wife to move into an apartment.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ramsden on the birth of a baby son last Thursday in the Killam hospital. Congratulations also to the grandparents, the Mel Larsons of Lougheed and the John Ramsdens of Dauphin, Manitoba.

Mrs. Hazel Skoberg attended a meeting in Red Deer last Wednesday. Brita Birchill and Molly Fernseyhough went along for the ride, not saying what we did.

Margaret Denham spent a few days in Galahad last week.

We had quite a snowstorm a week ago this past Monday. Not much of it left now. The weather is beautiful for this time of year. It's muddy underfoot, though.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Horricks have their grandson, Jeffery, from Edmonton staying with them a few days.

Recent visitors at the Lloyd Schmidt home were Dennis and Rita Edwards and family from Calgary, then last weekend, Louise's mother and dad, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bergun of Vauxhall came.

The March 8 whist drive at the Welcome Centre saw winners: Mrs. Lloyd Cameron and Harvey Simpson - high; Mrs. Mary Lario and John Black - sweep; Mrs. Hunter White and John Brunner - mystery; Mrs. Eldridge Freeman and Harold Probst - consolation; and Mrs. Lloyd Cameron and Mr. Chris (Mrs. Armstrong playing guest) - travelling. There were nine tables played.

A whist drive was held at Bells Hill March 16 with 9½ tables played. Winners were: Mrs. Chinnery and Floyd Wadstein - first; Chrissie Armstrong and Porter O'Reilly - sweep; Vera Moss, Debby and Duncan Cameron - mystery; Faye Davidson and John Baker - travelling; Helen Sutherland and Arnold Mariow - consolation. The next whist drive will be at Goose Creek March 23.

Mrs. Marie Moss, Debby and Kevin, and Sharon and Bob Hayes and children of Edmonton visited family and friends in Lougheed and Sedgewick recently.

ENGAGEMENTS ANNOUNCED

Sixteen sisters of the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge met in the lodge room on Wednesday evening, March 14. N.G. Sis. Verona Cookson was in the chair.

Lodge opened in form and regular business was dealt with. It was reported that Sis. Dolaney was unwell. Visiting had been done at a local hospital. Two get well cards had been sent.

N.G. Sis. Cookson asked for a round of applause for the committee which had worked so diligently on the promotion of assistance to the therapy unit at Killam.

Under Good of the Order, we were pleased to hear of the successful trip to Assembly, where a number of sisters had seated the officers. Sis. Allison Barton gave her report as delegate to Assembly.

It is hoped that the sisters will attend church as a group during Holy Week.

Following Penny Drill, Sis. Riddock was serenaded for having successfully coped with another year. Happy birthday.

Lodge closed in harmony and the sisters did justice to a delicious lunch.

Former Lougheed man passes

Anders Haugen of Gjerde, Sogn, Norway, formerly of Lougheed, passed away March 14, 1979 at the age of 75 after a period of failing health.

Anders came to Lougheed from Norway in 1927, where he worked for various people and later started farming. In 1963, he returned to the place of his birth and remained until his passing. He was active in farming until ill health forced him into retirement.

Anders was the sixth oldest in a family of 10. He is survived by one brother and four sisters and several nieces and nephews in Norway, Canada and the United States.

Funeral services are being held in the local church where he had been baptised and confirmed into the Lutheran faith so many years ago.

Iron Creek reports success

The March meeting of the Iron Creek Fish & Game Association was held Tuesday, March 13 in the Lougheed Legion Hut.

The Entertainment Committee reported that our trophy ball, which was held March 3, was a complete success both financially and from an entertainment point of view.

Those present were given a very thorough report on the provincial convention, which was held in Edmonton and attended by delegates John Baker and Ed Davidson. Mr. Davidson is now a member of the provincial executive, where he will serve as vice-chairman of the Non-Renewable Resources Committee.

In the year 1980, our club will be sponsoring a trophy for wildlife photography in the provincial trophy competition as well as for our local club trophy competition so all you outdoor enthusiasts keep your cameras handy for those elusive nature shots and win yourself a trophy.

Discussion took place in regards to increasing the water depthy of some of our local lakes and ponds whereby it would make them suitable for stocking fish. A fish biologist from Red Deer is to be in the area shortly to take tests of these locations. It is hoped the tests will prove favourable, thereby creating some much needed fishing holes locally.

After adjournment to a very lengthy meeting, a very good, but controversial film entitled The Whitetail Deer was shown while we enjoyed lunch and coffee.

Hardisty and District News

Mrs. Jean Lowe, with Heather and Wanda, also Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tredewell, were visitors at the Don Campbell home. The Tredewells of Lashburn, Saskatchewan are parents of Shirley Campbell and Jean Lowe, who, with her daughters, came from Greenwood, Nova Scotia.

Isabel Nelson has enjoyed her cousins' visit, the John Cairns of Oak Lake, Manitoba. They have had a long, cold winter in Manitoba - 126 days of below zero and when they posed to Brandon on March 14, the residents were recuperating from a four-day blizzard. They enjoyed Alberta and we hope to see them back again when summer comes.

It was nice to watch the dicing in the Amiak bonspiel on Friday and there were some close games.

Ruth Moor has been spending a few days in Calgary to keep an appointment and to visit her sister and her husband, Don and Audrey Horn, who drove her back from Calgary on Sunday.

There were five tables of cards played at the Drop-In Centre last Saturday with guests' high going to George Matthews and low to Leo McShane. The high ladies was a tie with Isabel Nelson and Erma Matthews with a cut for the prize having I. Nelson receiving it. Low was won by Val Johnston.

It is surely nice to see the roof back on Allen Nelson's house even though it is a different style to the original, not too different but minus the dormer windows.

Glad to learn that Melford Sampson is home again after surgery. His brother, Vernon Sampson of Irma, went down to Moose Jaw to check on his brother.

Many thanks to Claud May for those lovely score cards he made for the Drop-In card parties. They took a lot of Claud's time and are really super.

The Barney Matthews were pleasantly surprised on the weekend by a visit from their new great grandson and his parents, Debbi and Glen Rowland of Red Deer. Howard Mathews of Red Deer has also been home. He is servicing an oil rig south of town.

A birthday party was held at the Parkland Manor to honour Gertie McShane and Lawrence Reed on their birthdays. A beautiful birthday cake with candles was baked by Mary Duncan and a nice time was had by the residents of the manor.

The Hardisty Garden Club met in the Drop-In Centre on Tuesday, March 13 at 2 p.m. with a good attendance of members and guests.

Guest speaker was Mrs. F. Kibblewhite of Vermilion, who operates a very fine greenhouse there. She talked of the growing and handling of bedding plants and showed slides of some beautiful garden spots and flowers in parts of Alberta.

After the film, she was kept busy answering questions and giving advice, with helpful hints for many. Lunch was served by the club members.

It was agreed the April meeting would be held on Tuesday, April 10 at 2 p.m. All members, please note as this will be the annual meeting and plans must be underway for the summer flower show.

Hardisty family gathers Sunday

A gathering of the Todds, with Jim and Ida, Ronnie and Lottie and Frank, gathered at their sister's home last Sunday to honour their cousin and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Cairns of Oak Lake, Manitoba, along with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Benkas and Shannon, Darryl and Glenda of Ferintosh.

Jim had met John 20 years ago and Frank and Ronnie met him for the first time. A lovely time was had with Ronnie's daughter, Wanda, stopping to say hello as she and her friend played hockey in Hardisty that day.

4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

Hardisty Silver Saddle 4-H

The Hardisty Silver Saddle 4-H Horse Club meeting was held Wednesday, March 6. Roll call was answered with a short speech on a breed of horse.

Minutes of the last meeting were read, correspondence read and the treasurer's report was given. The club decided to go to the 4-H clinic that was in Killam March 10. On March 18, the club plans to get together at Ralph Manning's to have a work day and learn more about horses. We are going to start at 1 p.m. and follow with a weiner roast.

The club decided to go to the rodeo in Edmonton on March 31. We have set our achievement day to be July 15 and will start at 10 a.m. We plan on attending the rest of the 4-H clinics offered later on in the year.

On February 18 at our speak-offs, results were: Seniors - Tammy Anderson, first; Debbie Pelletier, second; Paul Alderdice, third. Juniors - Tina Mitchell, first; Karen Alderdice, second; Scott Alderdice, third. Karen also placed second in the juniors at the district speakoffs and also attended the regional speakoffs in Hardisty.

Battle River Light Horse Assoc

On March 13, the Battle River Light Horse Association held its regular monthly meeting at the Hardisty Drop-In Centre.

It was confirmed that we will be having dog races on July 7 along with heavy horse pulling and pony chariots and chuckwagons, and on Sunday, July 8, charriots and chuckwagons along with amateur rodeo.

Arrangements have been made for a midway for Saturday and Sunday.

It was agreed that we would let another organization put on the dance Saturday night.

Discussion was held in regard to repairs and improvements to grounds. Work days will be arranged when weather permits.

A motion was passed donating $100 to Drop-In Centre and $100 to Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary.

Since this is our 25th anniversary, it was decided to have an overnight trail ride June 9 and 10, starting at Hardisty Stampede Grounds at 10 a.m. Saturday morning. All members over the past years are invited. It was decided to have a rodeo queen contest at Hardisty this year.

Debbie Pelletier will the Battle River Light Horse Association candidate.

Invitations will be sent to all former members about 25-year celebrations. If anyone is missed, it would be appreciated if you would get in touch with me.

ANGLICAN CHURCH NEWS

All Saint's Church in Lougheed proudly announces the purchase of a new electric organ. The organ will be dedicated on Passion Sunday, April 1 at 11 a.m. A pot luck dinner will follow the service. All congregations please try to attend and share with Lougheed on this joyous occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Colvin Beairsto have now returned from an early spring foray to Vancouver, where they visited Colvin's mother, Mrs. Edna Beairsto, and Eleanor's mother, Mrs. Fenton.

Congratulations to Constable and Mrs. Ken Leaman of Killam, who were recently married in Moncton, New Brunswick. We wish Ken and Kathy a bright and happy future.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brodie and her son, Mr. Dick Brodie, have returned home after a warm, relaxing trip to Florida and the Bahamas.

A two-part lecture series entitled "Anglicanism: Is It A Four-Letter Word?" is to be given by Rev. Conrad on Tuesday, April 3 and Wednesday, April 4 at 8 p.m. at the Parish Hall in Sedgewick. The lectures will be followed by discussion. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Would you like to be a lay reader? It really isn't as complicated or as sobering as it sounds. For information, please contact Rev. Conrad at 384-3805.

Little Catherine Schlosser is spending a few days with her grandparents, Richard and Doreen Conrad.

Get well wishes are extended to Alex Farquharson, Mrs. Pat Zwack, Mr. Bill Russel and Mrs. C.W. McGee in Killam Hospital and Mrs. Mary Russel in the University Hospital in Edmonton.

Holy Week and Easter are fast approaching. Don't forget to check your schedule for special services.

NAZARENE NEWS

The public is cordially invited to enjoy the ministry of Rev. Chuck Westhaver at 7:30 p.m. each evening this week with the following special emphasis. Wednesday - youth, Thursday - old-fashioned song night, Friday - Sunday School night, Saturday - instrumental night, and closing services on Sunday, March 25.

Last Friday evening, Sedgewick hosted a Zone Rally with a gym night, slides, and special guest, Rev. Dale Hansen, district president of Nazarene Youth. Sunday morning, teens and guests met at the church for breakfast.

Tracy Arntzen, right, was named Queen at this year's skating carnival in Sedgewick and was presented the Joe Prince trophy by Mayor E Koehli.

In the background are last year's Queen, Maureen Booth, and Helen Whitten, hard-working president of the Sedgewick Skating Club.

BOXING

Unbeaten World Heavyweight Champion Larry Holmes defends his World Boxing Council title for the second time when he fights Osvaldo (Jaws) Ocasio, also unbeaten, in the 15-round main event of a prime-time TV heavyweight boxing special, Friday, March 23.

In a 12-round WBC title elimination bout on the same card, former WBC champion Ken Norton (pictured) ranked No. 1 challenger now by both the WBC and World Boxing Association, will face colorful, hard-punching Earnie Shavers of Warren, Ohio, rated No. 2 heavyweight challenger by the WBC. According to the WBC, the winner will fight the Holmes-Ocasio winner for the World Heavyweight Championship.

With Holmes, Norton, Shavers and Ocasio on the card, all four of the WBC's top-rated heavyweights worldwide will be in action. Ocasio is now rated No. 3 in the WBC rankings.

Howard Cosell will describe the action from ringside.

The housewife has never had the opportunity to realize her career ambitions, and the career woman has never tried the domestic scene. When the housewife's husband leaves on a business trip, they assume each other's roles.

The Hollywood Hustler– Steve Guttenberg

by Steve K. Walz

As a teenager growing up in Brooklyn, Steve Guttenberg dreamed of the storied good life in Hollywood, romancing many California starlets, an acting career resplendent with a studio office and a pick of prime TV and movie scripts. But Steve made sure that his fantasy would become reality, and at 18 he set sail for the promised land—'Tinseltown USA.'

Slow Flick Tactics

To make it in Hollywood these days, you have to have guile, persistence and lots of luck. Steve possessed all three, and then some. He bluffed his way through studio gates, tricked secretaries into false appointments, and thrust himself before a casting director who promptly tossed him out on his ear.

Undaunted, Steve learned how to slip into every studio in town and had the chutzpah to set up his own office in an unused portion of a studio lot. Believe it or not, Mr. Guttenberg returned to the same casting director's office and by sheer perserverance, he landed a role in 'Something For Joey.'

Now the ball was rolling, and after landing cameo spots in several TV series and a feature film, Steve unceremoniously returned to New York, enrolling in Albany State University in preparation for a pre-med career in Cornell. Steve had bowed to his parents whims.

But his impact in Hollywood was such that it was the Hollywood producers who were now chasing Steve, instead of the other way around. He was offered a substantial role in 'The Boys From Brazil,' which was being shot in Portugal. Steve accepted, but with one proviso—the film had to send a tutor in order to prepare him for med school. Sure enough, prestigious Cambridge University sent a tutor. 'The Boys From Brazil' was a moderate hit in which Steve received recognition and the offer to do 'Billy' for CBS.

Again Steve began to work on the series. 'Billy,' to an extent, is the life story of Steve Guttenberg. John Rich, one of the original producers of 'All in the Family,' adapted the story of 'Billy Liar,' a perpetual dreamer living between the worlds of Walter Mitty, embroidering truths and constructing larger-than-life pretentions for TV. At this writing, 'Billy' is struggling to gain credibility in the all-important Nielsen race, but chances are the show will continue in the fall, based on the enormous performance rendered by Guttenberg.

'Billy' star Steve Guttenberg 'muscled' his way into the hearts of Hollywood producers.

Recollection

The handsome 20-year-old who now is beginning to realize his dreams, recalled, "I was and still am a very hard worker who wants to be successful very, very badly. And I credit my current success to that want and some good old Yiddish chutzpah." Steve feels he is lucky to have landed this role. "I sit down and say, gee whiz, I'm such a lucky kid, Guttenberg.

And, he thinks that 'Billy' is something that TV needs. "Some of the stuff on TV is crap, and it's been done a million times over and over again. Look, everyone fantasizes I mean, let's face it, who doesn't fantasize about walking into a restaurant and attracting the sexy young waitress? In one particular episode of 'Billy,' I am delivering some food to Suzanne Somers' room and I get to fall in love with her and make-out with her I mean, hey, Suzanne Somers!

"Billy does crazy things. Steve Guttenberg fantasized that he'd be a star, and here I am. Billy, though, is a little more crazy than me. Billy is stuck working in a funeral parlor and wants out, so he fantasizes. He's enjoying it and so am I, but I'm not into the Hollywood scene yet. I've got to keep my head on straight," lubbitzed Guttenberg while assuming control behind a publicist's desk at CBS in New York.

Steve's brash approach to Hollywood and his subsequent meteoric rise has brought him the following realities

(a) Living out of his bachelor pad in Westwood, Calif., Guttenberg has a list of 'gorgeous' women jamming the telephone lines.

(b) He will be seen in a co-starring role in 'Players,' the Ali MacGraw, Dino Martin Jr. story of tennis hustling.

(c) He has made appearances on various talk and game shows and is now choosing from a choice list of TV and movie scripts.

Yet Steve is continuing his dental school studies. "I've still got four-and-a-half years of dental school left, but in show-business you never know what's going to happen next. So I want to be prepared," he quipped.

Gee, I wonder if he'd be willing to trade places with a hard-working young reporter who'd like to . . . Oops, just thinking out loud

America's most famous model, an ex-Miss America, goes to Las Vegas for a fashion layout and becomes the victim of an extortion plot involving obscene photos in an encore episode of 'Vega$,' starring Robert Urich.

Filmed entirely on location in the dazzling Nevada resort, 'Vega$' also stars Tony Curtis as Tanna's millionaire friend and client, Phillip Roth.

In 'Centerfold,' model-turned-actress Cristina Ferrare (pictured) guest stars as Shawn Adams, a superstar covergirl who hires Tanna to supervise security operations during her Vegas stay. Shortly after she has reluctantly terminated her devious personal manager, Nat Finer (Dane Clark), Shawn is drugged and abducted by two men posing as businessmen. She later recovers, alone in a dismal motel room from which she is rescued by Dan.

Behind the Scenes

Love, music and humor roll into 'Sooner or Later'

by Chuck Sims

If you listen, music is a little bit like love. The lyrics can shoot from the hip and speak straight to the heart. And it's more than just music that Jessie Walters hears when she first sees the Skye band, in 'Sooner or Later,' the NBC Big Event movie March 25th.

The film is a rock 'n' roll comedy-love story about a young girl on the brink of womanhood experiencing the passion and pain of her first romance. (Consult your listings for exact time and station.)

Fifteen-year-old Denise Miller (Tina of ABC-TV's 'Makin' It') stars as the young girl, Jessie Walters, and popular recording star Rex Smith, 22, makes his television acting debut as the rock singer, Michael Skye. Barbara Feldon and Judd Hirsch portray Jessie's parents, who can't decide which one of them should tell her about the finer points of love. Morey Amsterdam, Lilia Skala and Lynn Redgrave guest star.

With a $10.98 make-up job from Gimbels and a little encouragement from her sweet-toothed (dentist-loving) friend, 13-year-old Jessie is ready to tackle her budding emotions. After seeing the Skye band play at the shopping mall, she decides to take guitar lessons and coincidentally winds up with 17-year-old Michael Skye for a teacher. Her heart soars. She is struck "like a bolt of lightning" and feels "the ground drop away" just like in the romantic novels she's been reading.

The magnetism is there, and all systems are go for Michael when she tells him she's sixteen. But for Jessie the lie snowballs into a series of awkward excuses and cover-ups. What follows is a jellyroll of sticky situations. At one end Jessie is trying to sidestep Michael's advances without turning him off, and at the other she is trying to carry on her new-found relationship without arousing her parents' suspicion.

In a tense scene, just before her big 'Mandingo' movie date, Jessie tries to push her parents out the door before Michael arrives. Her parents dawdle. She tries to remain calm, but the minutes are ticking by. Her father fumbles with his bowtie ("you're gonna be late if you don't hurry"), and her grandmother considers changing out of her black gown into a lighter shade ("you look great, grandma").

'Sooner or Later,' created by the husband-and-wife team of Bruce and Carole Hart, features seven original songs by Stephen Lawrence (music) and Bruce Hart (lyrics). The songs all performed by Smith are: 'Sooner or Later,' 'Better Than It's Ever Been Before,' 'You Take My Breath Away,' 'Get 'It On,' 'Simply Jessie,' 'Shades of Blue' and 'RSVP—Please Respond to Me.'

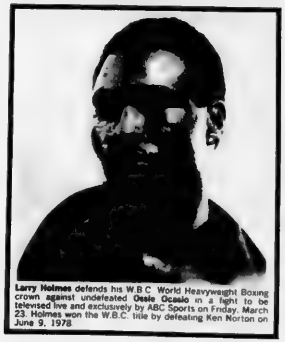
SPORTS SPECIAL—The 1978-79 NHL season is literally one for the books. Who would have thought that John Wensink, a little known 'enforcer,' would at this point in time be hovering around the 30-goal mark? And what about the Bruins in general? Minus star blueliner Brad Park, the Beantown ice-squad has still maintained its Adams Division lead, while the Buffalo Sabres wallow in a sea of discontent, trailing the New Englanders by some 20 points. The Sabres, who have changed the appearance of their front office, will probably have to trade off either center Gilbert Perreault who is struggling to score 25 goals or Richard Martin, a usually dependable high scoring forward who is way off his regular season offensive output. Another major disappointment has been the uninspired play of the Vancouver Canucks. For the past three years, they have regressed to the "point of no return." The addition of three Swedes has helped oh so slightly, which should indicate that a revamping of the whole team is in order. On a more positive note, the play of the Atlanta Flames and New York Rangers has helped the image of the NHL. Fred Shero's troops are waiting in the wings for a Stanley Cup showdown with their expressway rival, the New York Islanders.

Richard Martin



Larry Holmes defends his W.B.C. World Heavyweight Boxing crown against undefeated Osvaldo Ocasio in a fight to be televised live and exclusively by ABC Sports on Friday, March 23. Holmes won the W.B.C. title by defeating Ken Norton on June 9, 1978.

Sports Probe

by Steve K. Walz

You know, it's funny. Every year managers around the National and American Leagues send out their teams' pre-season prospectus to the media. The way every manager writes, extolling the virtues of his team, one may be inclined to think that each of the 26 major league teams has a shot at the divisional flag. But come two months later, and the obvious gaps on offense with on the mound become apparent.

Below is a sneak preview of what might happen in the American League races

East

New York Yankees—The World Champions of baseball have actually improved themselves. The addition of Luis Tiant and Tommy John will give Bob Lemon some veteran pitching savvy, just in case Catfish Hunter and Don Guillett fail to shake off their arm miseries. Ron Guidry is working on a changeup which could spell doom for the rest of the league. The Yanks also have plenty of young arms waiting for a chance to climb the 'hill.' Offensively, the Yanks have added Juan Beniquez and three capable backup catchers behind Thurman Munson in Brad Gulden, Bruce Robinson and Jerry Narron. Reggie Jackson should have another great year. With Bob Lemon at the helm, the Yankee clubhouse should be 'peachy.'

Boston Red Sox—Minus Bill Lee and Luis Tiant, the 'Beantown Nine' need their young pitchers, Bob Sprowl and Win Remmerswaal, to come through for them. If Butch Hooson and Fred Lynn can shake the injury jinx that has been plaguing them, it would take much of the pressure off of Jim Rice who could hit 55 hrs. this year. The Sox are strong on offense and defense, but the pitching staff if barely adequate. May make a race of it until July.

Milwaukee Brewers—The fans of Milwaukee were treated to an unexpected pennant drive last year due to the offensive production by Larry Hisle, Robin Yount and Sal Bando, Money. With the addition of budding star Paul Molitor and the veteran leadership provided by Sal Bando, the Brewers will do well offensively. The pitching staff is still a question mark. Young Moose Haas needs to pitch well, as does Garry Beare. And wasn't Mike Caldwell's 7B season a fluke? Time will tell.

Detroit Tigers—Lots of ifs here. If Mark Fidrych and Dave Rozema can rebound from their respective maladies, the Bengals should be a darkhorse contender. Detroit has the best young arms in baseball. All they need is a little more mound experience. If Jason Thompson, Lou Whitaker and Steve Kemp can improve upon their 1978 performances, the pressure will be off of veterans Ron LeFlore and Aurelio Rodriquez to carry the burden. The Tigers are spunky enough to make things interesting or awhile.

Baltimore Orioles—Feisty Earl Weaver knows how to light a fuse under his players, but the O's lack a little in the bullpen, and Jim Palmer, Mike Flanagan and Dennis Martinez are overworked. The O's need consistent offensive production out of Kiko Garcia, Rich Dauer and Larry Harlow—they young crown jewels Weaver's club will go as far as their offense takes them.

Cleveland Indians—The Indians improved offensively with the acquisition of Bobby Bonds. But despite other winter transactions that tightened up some of the Indians' holes with the bat and glove, it is akin to sticking a finger in a leaking dam. The pitching just isn't there and it will take a major overhaul of the team for Jeff Torborg to have a contending squad. They'll win a few more games than last year and may even flirt with .500 for awhile. But they are two years away from being a competitor.

Toronto Blue Jays—It's been a long arduous process for the Ontario batsmen, but the Jays are stocking up with prime young talent nurtured in their farm system and through subsequent trades. Rico Carty is the team leader, and his loose attitude may relax the Jays' youngsters. Key players to watch include Jerry Garvin, Jesse Jefferson and Bob Bailor.

West

California Angels—With the acquisition of Rod Carew, Dan Ford and Jim Barr, the Angels are the leading contenders to topple the Royals from their lofty perch. Jim Fregosi will have a starting mound corps of Frank Tanana, Nolan Ryan, Don Aase, Chris Knapp and Jim Barr with Dave Frost in reserve. Barring a complete collapse, the 'Anaheim Nine' should win the west title by early September.

Kansas City Royals—Whitey Herzog's crew can challenge the Angels if has starting five, consisting of Dennis Leonard, Paul Splittorff, Larry Gura, Rich Gale and Steve Busby can avoid arm problems. The bullpen is good and the catching adequate. The KC offense might be a thorn in the side of Herzog's pennant plans. George Brett has been operated on twice in the past year, Clint Hurdle and Willie Wilson need to be more relaxed with the bat, and Al Cowens and Amos Otis need to have big years.

Texas Rangers—A true darkhorse contender. With an outfield of Al Oliver, Rich Zisk, John Grubb, Oscar Gamble and rookie Billie Sample, the Rangers are deep. In the bullpen, Sparky Lyle and Jim Kern have been added, two of the best in the game. Jim Sundberg is reliable with the catchers mitt, and Buddy Bell and Bump Wills shore up the key infield defenses. The Rangers have the ingredients to challenge both the Royals and Angels offensively and defensively, but an aging starting staff of Fergie Jenkins, Doc Medich, Dock Ellis and Doyle Alexander doesn't augur much hope. Jon Matlack and Steve Comer must have productive years if the Arlington, Texas club is to contend.

Chicago White Sox—Manager Don Kessinger will have a frisky group of youngsters to lead in the coming months. Pitchers Ross Baumgarten, Steve Trout and Rich Wortham will have the opportunity to join veteran hurlers Ron Schueler, Ken Kravec and Francisco Barrios on the 'hill.' The infield competition will be fierce with Ron Blomberg itching to get back into the swing of things. Kevin Bell, Greg Pryor, Ittlie Harry Chappas, Mike Squires and Lamar Johnson all vying for a roster berth. Veterans Ralph Garr, Jorge Orta, Thad Bosley, Eric Soderholm and Chet Lemon will help immensely. The Sox might surprise a few people with their speed, and even have a shot at playing .500 ball. The pitching staff needs a leader, though, to show the youngsters how it's done.

Minnesota Twins—Gene Mauch lost Dan Ford and Rod Carew but gained Jerry Koosman and Paul Hartzell. Add those two pitchers to Dave Goltz, Roger Erickson and Geoff Zahn and you have a pretty deep starting corps, with Mike Marshall waiting in the bullpen. But the offense is crippled. Ken Landreaux and Ron Jackson, who came over from Anaheim, will have to pick up the slack—an almost insurmountable task. Roy Smalley and Butch Wynegar are the only other quality ballplayers on the squad. There's a chance that the Twins might be in the thick of things for awhile, but by July the lack of bench strength will take its ultimate toll.

Oakland A's—A starting staff of John Johnson, Matt Keough, Rick Langford and Alan Wirth looks promising, especially with a healthy bunch of youngsters like Mike Norris, Craig Mitchell and Steve Minetto looking for a chance to crack into the rotation. The bullpen with Bob Lacey and Dave Heaverlo is adequate. But there are many questions on offense. Mitchell Page and Dave Revering are the only proven power hitters with the rest of the team being an assortment of graduating minor leaguers and major league fringe players acquired by Charles Finley during the past year. It's going to be another rough season in Alameda County.

Seattle Mariners—Offensively, Leon Roberts, Dan Meyer, Ruppert Jones, Willie Horton, Bruce Bochte and Bobby Thompson will improve the Mariners' run production. But it's the pitching staff that needs to improve radically. Jim Colborn must rebound from a terrible 1978 season and Glenn Abbott, Paul Mitchell and Rick Honeycutt need to produce immediately. The Seattle Mariners will probably win 70-75 games if both offense and pitching departments mesh. Otherwise . . .

TV THE FAMILY VIEWPOINT

by Beatrice Gross

A Dramatic Model of Quiet Commitment

Part of the general attraction of most TV shows is that the heroes are loud and flashy. Programs about young people often depict a world that is frenetic, unserious and hyped-up. Yet the world of CBS-TV's 'The Paper Chase' is different. It does not rely on high-speed car chases for action, sexual innuendos for suspense, or far-removed settings for plot.

'The Paper Chase' is engaging without all that. True, it is not easy to get emotionally involved with a school course, and you can't make a pass at a contract. But for students who focus all day on books, 'The Paper Chase' may be the kind of refreshing program that will help them develop a curious attitude about their world.

The law students pictured in 'The Paper Chase' are many-faceted serious people. They are not the wisecracking uncaring bozos of the fraternity house as in the new rash of 'Animal House' remakes, or the gum-cracking unintellectuals of the street in 'Flatbush.' These are kids who want to master something that is hard to learn, who work long hours at difficult tasks and help each other study.

One other important human element of 'The Paper Chase' is the stern and pedantic character of Dr. Kingsley. The hero/villain of the program, Prof. Kingsley, is an advocate of principles of tradition and of justice, but rarely of people. He is the first "unstylish" central character I've seen on a TV serial who is not presented as merely a prig or a force to be overcome. He is someone feared at times, even hated, but he is also respected.

Whatever else it is, 'The Paper Chase' is about people, young and old, who care about abstract things like justice, tradition and scholarship. While my own children still enjoy a wild car chase, I'm delighted to say they also enjoy 'The Paper Chase' at least as much. And frankly, I'm relieved

Profile

Bridges comes from show-biz family

Todd Bridges is the youngest member of an "all-show business" family. His father, James Bridges, is a Hollywood agent. Also busy—at acting—are his mother, Betty, his older sister, Verda, 17, and brother James Jr., 18.

Todd, who stars as Willis Jackson on NBC-TV's 'Diff'rent Strokes,' began doing commercials at the age of six, and moved into TV comedy and drama when the family went to Hollywood in 1974.

One of his first big roles was on NBC-TV's 'Little House on the Prairie.' He played the small black child who offered to sell himself into slavery in order to get an education. He has also appeared on 'The Waltons,' 'The Love Boat' and 'Police Story,' and had a starring regular role in 'Fish.'

Todd, an eighth-grader, enjoys fishing, football, biking and snake hunting. He resides with his parents in the Baldwin Hills section of Los Angeles.

Stress meeting today, Thursday

An information meeting about the effects of stress is being held Thursday, March 29 in the Sedgewick Anglican Church Hall and open to all residents of the County of Flagstaff.

Three guest speakers will form a panel and a question period will follow it.

The meeting will deal with the symptoms of stress and how to deal with it. Symptoms can include irritability or depression, pounding of the heart, overpowering urge to cry or run and hide, inability to concentrate, accident proneness, fatigue, trembling, nervous ties, speech difficulties, as well as pains in the neck or lower back, sweating, queasiness in the stomach, increased smoking, migraine headaches and loss of or excessive appetite.

The meeting, which is sponsored jointly by the Health Unit, Preventive Social Services, Alberta Agriculture and Flagstaff Further Education, will get underway at 7:30 p.m. and continue to 10 p.m.

Henry Kroeger named to new Cabinet

"We're always doing things in a big way here in Alberta," Premier Peter Lougheed said as he unveiled his reorganized provincial cabinet.

Lougheed created six new posts, lengthening the cabinet membership list to 29 from 24, including himself, to highlight areas of responsibility that his re-elected government wants to give some priority.

The new Alberta cabinet is reputed to be the second biggest provincial executive in Canada. The largest is in Quebec, which has 31 members.

Lougheed's key new ministry is economic development, which went to Hugh Horner, who also remains official opposition leader in command as deputy premier.

Horner gets the business development department plus responsibility for work on freight rates, petrochemicals, agricultural processing and major new industrial projects.

Horner will chair the cabinet economic planning committee and be in charge of Pacific Western Airlines plus the government's proposed $100 million investment in the Prince Rupert grain port.

Other new portfolios are tourism and small business under Al Adair (Peace River), international trade for Horst Schmid (Edmonton Avonmore), personnel under Greg Stevens (Banff), worker health safety and compensation under Bill Diachuk (Edmonton Beverly) and an associate ministry for telephones for Neil Webber (Calgary Bow).

Lougheed promoted 11 veteran back-benchers to the cabinet. Only two of the 29 freshmen Conservative MLAs elected March 14 were given ministries. No cabinet incumbents who sought another term were dropped.

Alongside Diachuk and Webber, the promoted back benchers were Lee Young (Edmonton Jasper Place) to the labour ministry, Dave King (Edmonton Highlands) to education, Jim Horsman (Medicine Hat) to advanced education, Jack Cookson (Lacombe) to environment, Henry Kroeger (Chinook) to transport, Larry Shaben (Slave Lake) to utilities, Peter Trynchy (Whitecourt) to recreation, Bud Miller (Lloydminster) to public lands and Don McCrimmon (Ponoka) to native affairs.

Besides Stevens in the new personnel portfolio, the only other newcomer to the legislature, who jumped straight into the cabinet, was Mary LeMessurier, who was given Schmid's former responsibility for culture.

The only incumbent minister who did not change jobs in Lougheed's wholesale shuffle was Tom Chambers (Edmonton Calder), who stays in housing.

In the senior cabinet, Lou Hyndman became provincial-treasurer while his job as government house leader was transferred to Neil Crawford, who left the labour ministry to become attorney-general as well.

Dave Russell moved from the environment portfolio to become hospitals minister. Marv Moore was replaced in the agriculture post by Wetaskiwin area farmer Dallas Schmidt. Moore became municipal affairs minister.

Merv Leitch moved from the treasurer's job to the energy ministry. Lethbridge accountant Dick Johnston was promoted from the municipal affairs portfolio to become intergovernmental affairs minister in Hyndman's place.

The new jobs for other cabinet incumbents were consumer affairs for Julian Koziak (Edmonton Strathcona), social services for Bob Bogle (Taber), solicitor-general for Graham Harle (Stettler), government services for Stewart McCrae (Calgary Foothills).

Lougheed also planned to give back benchers more responsibility by appointing some to government boards, commissions and agencies. Caucus committee chairmen get new duties receiving public delegations.

COME ALIVE . .

In the well-known Sermon on the Mount, Jesus compared his disciples to lights. He said: "You are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hidden. Nor do men light a lamp and put it under the peck-measure, but on the lampstand; and it gives light to all who are in the house. Let your light shine before men in such a way that they may see your good works and glorify your Father, who is in heaven." (Matthew 5:14-16.)

I believe this comparison is a good one and just as applicable today.

Many fine Christian people today are almost ready to despair when they realize that the birthrate in the world is by far outstripping the missionary enterprises in the world. Others feel they are the only one — therefore so insignificant that their contribution is of no value.

It may be true that the darkness of this sinful world is becoming more prominent, but perhaps the modern day follower of Christ is at least partially to blame. Are we — are you truly shining brightly as a Christian today? Jesus said in verse 15 that this light should not be put under a bushel or hidden from public view. We need to be encouraged to let our light shine. What is it that makes us hesitant to shine for our Lord? Is it fear? Or are we ashamed of Jesus? If we want others to see the light, we must shine where it will be clearly visible.

For example, in your home, does not the light in the most prominent part of the room - such as the ceiling - dispel the most darkness?

May we be encouraged to "let our lights, or our faith if you like, shine before men - brightly." Remember: All the darkness of the world cannot put out a burning candle. -Ken Quiring

Bits & Pieces

Basic Accounting, Cake Decorating and two courses in Ceramics have been completed and evaluations are terrific. The people of Hardisty are taking advantage of Adult Education and enthusiasm couldn't be greater. Thanks to Liz Sooke, their very capable volunteer contact, the ball is really rolling. She has many plans in mind and encourages your getting in touch. What are your thoughts on Mean Cutting and how about Furniture Refinishing? Any thoughts on Oil Painting?

4-H CLUB Activities

KILLAM 4-H BEEF CLUB

The monthly meeting of the Killam 4-H Beef Club was held at the home of Fred Wilson. The club made bakers, which was preceded by a short meeting. The proposed Tennessee exchange trip and the garbage clean-up were discussed. After the bakers were made, a very good lunch was served.

The Beef Club played the Killam 4-H Horse Club at Volleyball and after a hard fought match, the Beef Club walked off with the Tip Henderson Challenge Cup. -Stuart Wilson

Busy week in Strome district

The Senior Citizens' Club held its monthly pot luck supper last Thursday, March 22 with a good attendance and a lovely supper enjoyed by all.

The evening was spent with Pete and Mina Curtis showing slides of their holiday in Scotland last summer, which were very interesting and enjoyed by all. The evening was closed with the hostesses serving lunch and coffee.

Word has been received of the passing of Mrs. John Lindsay of Richmond, B.C. She was a former teacher of the Rosevale School, where she taught for three years. She boarded with the Bob Lindsay and Clint Sprague families during that time. She also taught at Leith School the next three years and resided in the teacherage there. She is survived by her husband, a son and his family of Richmond, B.C., and a daughter and her family of Lamont, Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. David Curtis and girls of Heisler were supper guests with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Curtis recently.

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Curtis were Mina's sister, Mrs. Jean Cathcart, of Edmonton and her daughter of Vegreville.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Nichaus renewed acquaintance in Linen last Tuesday.

Get well wishes are extended to Mrs. Honey Curtis, who is a patient in the University Hospital.

Mrs. Evelyn Thorburn and Mr. Osmond Nielson of Edmonton visited with Mr. and Mrs. Earl McDougall last week.

Mrs. Mabel Robson, Mrs. Peggy Richmond and Mrs. Pearl Angus visited with Jack Angus, Barb Blesser, Charlie Auburn and Mrs. Haberlie in the Parkland Nursing Home last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Auburn and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Auburn visited at the Parkland Nursing Home last Saturday.

Get well wishes are extended to Mr. Earl McDougall, who is now a patient in the University Hospital.

Mrs. Mary Smith-Gander is a patient in the Dayland Hospital. Hope you are soon feeling better, Mary.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mohler and family motored to the coast to visit their parents during the spring break.

Mrs. Laura Ziesel and Mrs. Valerie Nichaus motored to St. Albert last Thursday to pick up Valerie's granddaughters and returned home on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Hastings of Camrose were supper guests with Mr. and Mrs. Allan Auburn last Sunday.

Mrs. Carol Woodhouse of Edmonton and girls visited with her mother, Mrs. Peggy Richmond, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Auburn motored to Provost last Monday to attend the funeral of an old neighbour.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith McDougall and family and Marge McDougall went up to the University Hospital to see Earl last Sunday. Marge will stay in the city for a few days.

The families of the Hill family helped their mother celebrate her birthday at Clifford and Joan Hill's last Saturday. They also celebrated Joan's father, Roman Dalsaeg's, birthday, which was on Wednesday.

Mr. Jerome Pawichmann of Drayton Valley was a Strome visitor one day last week.

Mrs. Bonnie Hill attended a bridal shower for her cousin, Michele Markovich, in Dayland last Friday evening.

Doug Wiesner visited with his parents last weekend.

Mr. Larry Gehring has been busy getting ready to go farming by moving a few things down to the farm.

Mr. Charles Hayes bussed to Edmonton last Friday evening to visit his daughter.

A homecoming parade led by bag pipers from Dayland and an honour guard of Guides and Brownies welcomed home the Dominion Champion Corby Cup Elks team. Following the parade down the main street, the community gathered in the hall for speeches by dignitaries and coffee and doughnuts. There is to be an appreciation night Friday evening, March 30.

Strome Willing Workers

The regular monthly meeting of the Strome Willing Workers was held at the Strome School March 26.

A bake sale and bazaar will be held Wednesday, April 11 from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the town office. Tree coffee will be served.

The constitution will be renewed at the next meeting.

The members will again be canvassing the community for the Red Cross.

NON-SMOKERS CAN BREATHE EASY ON INSURANCE

If you don't smoke, the chances are we can save you money. As an agent for Maplex General Insurance, we offer lower-than-average rates on car insurance and on homeowner and tenant policies. Why the savings. Because statistics prove non-smokers are generally more responsible people. So why should they get burned on their insurance?

Get well wishes go to Mr. Dave Andersen, who is in the Colonel Mewburn Hospital in Edmonton. Mrs. Anderson is in Edmonton to be near Dave. We hope you are home soon, Dave.

Killam kindergarten holds special night for fathers

Not just mothers have the privilege of visiting kindergarten, but fathers, too! The Killam Kindergarten planned a special night where all the dads could come and see what pre-school was all about.

The children planned games and worked hard on posters, drawing their fathers at work. A large poster on "Why I Like My Dad" was made and each child's comment was written down.

Gifts for dad were made, too. Finally, the day arrived. Fathers were caught elbow deep mixing playdough, playing bingo and making paper hats. Prizes were handed to bingo winners.

As a final treat, Dagwood sandwiches, finger jello, coffee and juice were served. The evening was a great success. Thanks to the almost 100 per cent turnout of fathers and the tremendous interaction between father and child.

Study for the month of March has been the different ways of travel - land, air and water. Each way of travel was discussed and pictures used and hung up accordingly. The AMA donated a package of safety booklets to each child, which have been used along with the travel theme. Then, the Killam RCMP gave a tour of their building and a car. The children were allowed to talk through the radio and turn on the lights and siren. Stamps, booklets and a safety colouring book were given to each child. Thank you to the RCMP for a very interesting time.

To conclude the study of travel, a trip to Camrose was made by bus. There, 27 children, 12 moms and one dad bought tickets at the train depot. For many of the children, it was their first train ride, which was to New Sarepta.

From there, the children were bused back to Camrose and lunch was served at Smitty's Pancake House. Later, they enjoyed playing in the park and before leaving for home a short tour of AGT.

Killam Figure Skating Club

The Killam Figure Skating Club began its skating year by joining the Alberta Recreational Skating Association. The skaters completed a successful year under the guidance of Mrs. Sheily Kueber as instructor.

Two fund-raising ventures were held in the fall, which were the making of a cookbook and a bazaar and bake sale. Thanks to the public and its support, both were successful.

In March, a skating carnival was held with a theme of "Sesame Street Comes Alive." The 45 skaters wore various costumes of the loveable monsters and the children from Sesame Street. A highlight of the day was a visit from Mr. Snuffleoffagus.

The season ended with a pool party and a pot luck supper for all.

The skating club thanks those who gave so much help throughout the year.

GREEN ACRES

by Glen Werner, DA

YES - NO - MAYBE

In view of the present glut of grains, small quotas, and Otto Lang's advice for this spring's plantings, the question of fertilization could be answered by yes, no, or maybe. Actually, better stated there are three questions: Should you use fertilizer? If so, what kind? and thirdly, How much?

The first question of whether to fertilize or not could result in a detailed debate. However, consider for a moment, can you afford not to? A field seeded without fertilizer still can cost up to $30/A to seed and harvest. This same field with an additional cost of $15/A for fertilizer could have a yield increase of 10 bushels/A.

Granted, there is additional work and time involved in fertilizing, however, with the yearly cost of owning an acre of land being about $40 extra time and work are justified. Especially when these inputs, along with the $15 worth of fertilizer, can return the extra $25 to $30 from the value of added crop. It's in that margin where the profits lay. NO! One cannot afford not to fertilize.

What fertilizer should one use having decided to fertilize rather than summerfallow or crop this year? However, here are some limites which you don't want to go over. To go above these is asking for trouble.

(a) with wheat, barley and oats, don't exceed 25 lbs. of nitrogen with seed. That's about 55 lbs. of 46-0-0.

(b) flax and rapeseed - never more than 10 lbs. of nitrogen with the seed. That's about 22 lbs. of 46-0-0.

(c) flax and rapeseed - never more than 25 lbs. of phosphorus with seed. That's about 50 lbs. of 16-48-0.

One final, general comment. All stubble soil tests are requiring nitrogen and phosphorous. Some summerfallow fields also require both, while others only need phosphorous. I'm prepared to help you with your soil test recommendations, and if you need some help guessing, I'll do that, too. However, if you took a soil test today, it would likely still be in time!

And finally, the big question - how much? Again, it all depends on your specific field and crop you plant. However, here are some limites which you don't want to go over. To go above these is asking for trouble.

(a) with wheat, barley and oats, don't exceed 25 lbs. of nitrogen with seed. That's about 55 lbs. of 46-0-0.

Cambridge Community reports

The Cambridge Community Association met on the afternoon of March 27 at the home of Louise Wylie. Eight members were in attendance with one visitor, Cindy Nielson and baby, who we were happy to welcome.

Before starting the meeting, we set up our name quilt so the members could work on it while we conducted our business. Verona kindly had the blocks sewn together, ready to have the bat pat in and be tied. This was done as the meeting was being held.

The blocks were set off very well by a bright pink broadcloth, and it really looked very attractive when done. Part of our business consisted of a discussion dealing with what to do with our quilt when it was done. Ida suggested we put the names of all the members into a draw and the name drawn would win the quilt and pay $10 to cover the expenses of the material. Vesta Cookson was the lucky winner of this draw.

Our donation this month will go to the Easter Seal Fund. We will also purchase a piano bench from Verona to be put in the school.

Our roll call today consisted of articles to be donated to the Sedgewick Playschool. We managed to collect a box full of a variety of things.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Verona Cookson with Louise Wylie as co-hostess. Roll call will be a tin on house cleaning.

Dorothy was the lucky winner of the raffle and the hostess prizes for the contest went to Rita and Verona for high and Dorothy and Valda for low. Each was given a piece of paper with a word at the top and had to write down as many words as they could associate with or relating to the key word.

Vesta adjourned, after which lunch was served by Louise and Rita as co-hostess.

April is Dental Health Month

Changes needed in attitudes towards dental health in Canada

Dental disease is Canada's most prevalent public health problem affecting 95 per cent of the population and costing $280 million dollars or more in dental bills alone each year. A discouraging fact is that, while dentistry is developing more effective methods to control tooth decay and gum disease, neither the public nor the dental profession has succeeded in applying this knowledge to the majority of the population for their routine daily use and benefit.

Preventive dentistry demands serious readjustment in thinking for patients and the dental profession. Patients should faithfully practice home care measures prescribed for them on a daily basis. More concern is needed on the part of dental professionals and their auxiliary staff, who must design individual home care programs to benefit each age group in the family unit. This varies considerably from the very young pre-school child to the more elderly person in our society.

Less Complex

It may sound more complex, but in the long run, preventive dentistry is less complex, less costly and much less painful and time consuming than dental services that focus on emergency treatment and repair of severely damaged dentitions due to years of neglect.

Increased resistance to decay is built into teeth by adjusting the fluoride level in the local water supply, topical application of fluoride solutions to teeth, using a recommended fluoridated toothpaste and by regular recall visits to a dental office or school clinic.

During such visits, your teeth are given a thorough examination and cleaning and a fluoride solution or gel is applied when indicated. Preventive care and treatment for baby teeth influence the correct positioning of the permanent teeth; helping to ensure a healthy bite, an attractive smile and eliminate many unhealthy conditions which cause gum disease and loss of teeth in later life.

Pioneers

Early North Americans were noted for their bad teeth and poor oral health. Dentists in those days had to work very hard to invent ingenious methods of tooth repair and replacement for their patients. Some well-known figures in our history books on both sides of the border were plagued by decaying teeth and infected gums. For instance, George Washington was faced with the loss of all his teeth and his dentist, John Greenwood, fitted him with spring-controlled dentures. The artificial teeth used were hand-carved from ivory.

Some historians believe that Washington's look of sternness in his later portraits was due to the rather crude but serviceable dental appliances that he wore, affecting his appearance. For pioneers, there was little available for the patient or the dentist to treat tooth decay and gum disease; compared to the results of research and advances in technology that we can all benefit from today.

Diseases around teeth were rampant in the "good old days" but can be effectively controlled and treated today. Gum and bone disease, more than tooth decay, is responsible for the loss of teeth in the over-30 age group on this continent. By keeping your teeth and surrounding tissues clean, and a regular checkup, you stand a much better chance of avoiding serious dental disease and the consequences in your lifetime.

Women of Unifarm hold workshop

Agriculture is known to be one of North America's highest stress-producing industries and is now ranked among the top 10 per cent of 130 high stress occupations by the United States National Institute for Occupational Safety.

The Alberta farm accident monitoring system has identified stress as a major contributor to farm accidents and an attempt will be made this spring to provide the farm community with assistance in overcoming the annual toll of death and injury.

Women of Unifarm and the provincial government's Farm Safety Program have pooled resources to present a workshop series for farm families on recognising and coping with sources of stress.

The spring program will consist of 15 Women of Unifarm conferences in Unifarm regions, beginning April 3 and running until April 28. The workshops will be conducted by Solomon Kyeremanteng and Trevor Anderson of the Alberta Farm Safety Program, assisted by executive members and regional directors of Women of Unifarm.

The workshops are designed as a follow-up to an earlier series by the farm womens' group on stress in the farm family unit which identified major sources of stress. The primary objective of the new series will be to encourage farm people to recognize farm stress and to identify "coping mechanisms" for meeting the demands of modern living.

The earlier study by Women of Unifarm discovered that farm finances led 11 major areas of concern, but also recognized that finances were a part of other overlapping stress sources, such as the monetary aspects of unfavourable weather.

Among other concerns identified as stress producing were family, work, land use issues, farm management, health, retirement and community social problems. Of all stress sources, finances, family and work each more than doubled the stress levels associated with other areas.

The workshops are intended for farm couples or family members. They are designed to include all in discussions so that coping mechanisms learned by one party will be more effective for other members of the family.

In the County of Flagstaff, a workshop will be held April 24 for Unifarm Region 5 in the Forestburg United Church, starting at 9:30 a.m.

Claude views new tractor line

Recently, Co-op Implement Depot Manager Claude Piche, along with other depot managers and dealers from the prairie provinces, gathered in Orlando, Florida to witness the unveiling of a new generation of tractors.

Hosted by Deutz Corporation, the world's largest manufacturer of air-cooled diesel engines, the two-day event saw the introduction to the depot managers of the Co-op Implement formula DX line of high performance tractors.

Designed to give the progressive farmer the ultimate in power, comfort and technology, the formula DX series incorporates latest techniques in advanced engineering design. Comfort is emphasized on the new models with a well-appointed, yet spacious, cab. Careful attention has been paid to dust-proofing and noise insulation.

A new deluxe operator's seat, which can be adjusted in seven different ways, is also featured. Claude was particularly impressed with the new Deutz Powermatic transmission on the high-powered DX160. The CI Formula DX models also offer a higher capacity hydraulic system.

The new Deutz air-cooled five and six-cylinder engines impressed Mr. Piche, who also had an opportunity to garner first-hand information about future developments from senior company executives.

Backed by the Deutz reputation for building tractors to cope with any climate anywhere in the world, CI will introduce to the prairie farmer the formula DX 90, DX 110, and DX 160, as well as the D 08 06 model for 1979.

Claude Piche was highly enthusiastic about the product line he will present to the prairie farmer in the coming year. He looks forward to demonstrating the many features at his Sedgewick depot.

4-H CLUB Activities

HEISLER STAMPEDERS

On March 12, the meeting of the Heisler Stampeders' meeting started off by Lori Davidson and Arnie Romaniuk leading O Canada, followed by Carrie Prymo and Brent Wall leading the pledge.

At roll call, everyone gave a part of a horse and where it's located. Shaun Badry gave the minutes of the last meeting. We had no business of the last meeting, so we went on to new discussions.

John Congdon made a motion to order crests. Joe Wall seconded it.

Karen Mildenberger made a motion that we send Corleen Romaniuk for a candidate for the rodeo queen at the Hardisty Rodeo on July 5. Mickey Smith seconded it. "So come on Heisler, let's all support Corleen."

Janet Districh gave a small talk on what she did at the fun days at Sedgewick. We then went on to our record books.

On March 29, our club and the Heisler Hemmers will be going up to the rodeo in Edmonton. Ken Wall will be taking his bus up. Arnie Romaniuk made the motion and Carrie Prymo seconded it.

John Congdon motioned we participate in the highway clean-up on May 5. Janet Districh seconded it.

Annie Romaniuk motioned the meeting be adjourned.

After, Shaun Badry gave a prepared speech on 4-H.

We then had four impromptus. They were: Karen Mildenberger on skating, John Congdon on my favourite of the year, Warren Mildenberger on why I like doing dishes, and Kelly Smith on why I like 4-H.

Shaun Badry also gave a small talk on the workshop which was held in Killam. It was on The Care of Your Horse.

Lougheed Lions charter

The Lougheed and District Lions' Charter Night was celebrated by a dine and dance in the Lougheed Community Hall March 24, 1979.

The cold blustery night had no effect on the enthusiasm and enjoyment of this social night.

Lion Henry Lien acted as master of ceremonies. He conveyed the regrets of the District Governor Sam Nelson of Caroline, who was unable to attend due to six to eight inches of snow in the Caroline area and being a cattle man with it being calving time of course Lion Sam's first responsibility was to his cattle.

The sons chairman, Lloyd Gillespie, from Daysland, was present. Also present were Lions from Hardisty.

President Lion Bill Dolany presented Charter Member Lion John Grove and his wife Gail with a gift and expressed the regrets of the club to lose these valuable friends to Lethbridge, where they will be residing.

Lion Bill made presentations on behalf of the club to the Lougheed Library, a book, which was accepted by Mrs. Lorraine Frost of the WI.

A cheque for $125. to the Killam Therapy Equipment Fund was accepted by Mrs. Gayle McClements on behalf of the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge.

A draw was made of the bi-monthly cheque raffle, of which half of the proceeds of this draw were for the Killam Hospital Theraputic Equipment. First prize went to Olive Grieve, $25; second to Ken Dary, Hardisty, $25; third to Jim Aldridge, $50; and fourth to Brita Birchill, $100.

The winners of the Lougheed Arena Maintenance Fund were also drawn. They were: Gerald Grusinger, $200 and A.M. Richardson, Alliance, $900.

With the business completed, the evening proceeded with a dance to the music of the Tees Orchestra and a delicious supper.

Lougheed Legion Auxiliary

The Lougheed Legion Auxiliary held its regular meeting Thursday, March 20 in the Legion Hut.

President Olive Grieve was in the chair. The opening ceremony was held as usual and the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

Eleven members answered to the roll call with five visits to the hospitals.

A discussion took place concerning the polio tea and bake sale. It was decided to have the tea and bake sale on April 7 from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at the Legion Hut.

We do not canvas for the polio fund, so any donations are greatly appreciated. Please come to our tea and aid us in this worthy cause.

A discussion also took place concerning the rally in St. Paul on April 28. Allison Barton and Hazel Swainson were elected as delegates. A car load of members also plan on going.

A letter was received concerning the legion and auxiliary bursary funds that are available. A booklet consisting of rules and regulations is to be put in the Sedgewick High School.

A letter was received concerning the convention in Calgary June 8 and discussion was tabled.

The financial report was given, as well as the card convenor's report on sending five cards. The kitchen committee report was given by Eunice Lozenes and Jerry Johnson.

The draw for the raffle was won by Vesta Cookson. This will be something from Mabel Quast that she will bring back from Mexico.

The hostesses for the April meeting were selected and will be Vesta Cookson and Edna Duffield.

Program convenors for this meeting were Allison Barton and Eunice Lozenes, who gave questions and answers concerning the auxiliary, which were very knowledgeable.

The April program convenors will be Ida Whyte and Anne Forberg. The meeting adjourned. Hostesses Ida Whyte and Anne Forberg served a tasty lunch, which was enjoyed by auxiliary and legion members.

R.C.M.P. steps up vehicle checks

Large numbers of vehicles travel Alberta's streets and highways while equipped with faulty or inoperative equipment. This condition assumed most noticeable at this time of year because hazardous winter driving conditions take their toll of vehicle equipment. There seems to be a reluctance on the part of many motorists to voluntarily repair or replace such equipment. Starting April 1st., and continuing through to the end of the month, the R.C.M.P. will step up the program to stop motor vehicles and do a thorough equipment inspection.

These checks are designed to help emphasize April as Traffic Safety Month and its theme of "Prevention is the Cure".

Written warning or prosecution summonses will be issued if violations are found. Should violations on a vehicle be excessive, provisions exist to have the vehicle removed from the road until it is repaired.

The R.C.M.P. will also be paying special attention to driving offences such as failing to signal lane changes or turns, improper parking of vehicles on the highway, drinking drivers and other liquor related offences.

"Vehicle Check" will be in effect until the end of April, 1979. Motor Vehicle operators are encouraged to avoid prosecution by checking their vehicles equipment such as horn, lights, windshield wipers, brakes, glass, turn indicators etc., and replacing or repairing defective parts.

Motorists are also encouraged to keep safe driving practices always in mind; to drive courteously, and in that way avoid accident or prosecution.

The only objectives of the R.C.M.P. are to reduce the accident rate in Alberta and to save lives.

Pat Martin rink wins

A total of 28 rinks entered the Lougheed Curling Club's Closed Mixed Bonspiel, which was held from March 12 to 22.

Winning the 1st event was the Pat Martin rink with G. Ness placing second; Jim Pope, third; and Don McKinnon, fourth.

In the 2nd event, it was Rick Saothun, first; Lloyd Cameron, second; Carter Oakes, third; and Tom Cookson, fourth.

Wes Frost finished in first place in the 3rd event with Joe Cameron, second; Dave Tanton, third; and Reg McClements, fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sinclair of Viking hold their $100,000.00 cheque which they won in the Western Express Lottery, drawn Wednesday, March 21, 1979. This lucky win comes at a time when the Sinclairs and their children are in the process of moving to Wetaskiwin from a farmstead just north of Sedgewick.

The Sedgewick carnival saluting The International Year of the Child brought a successful skating year to a close for the Sedgwick Figure Skating Club. During the past season, many of the 36 students taught by Mrs. Janice Arntzen passed one or more badges or tests.

Mr. Vernon Simpson acted as master of ceremonies for the March 18th carnival, beginning with a flag parade for O Canada. Flag bearers were Denise Hagen and Kathy Whitten.

The first group depicted the various professions the children could choose in "Who are the people in your neighbourhood?" The solo skater for this number was Dorothy Djos. Other skaters were: Trudy McClements, Lee Van Koughnett, Aaron Hagen, Crystal Lucki, Jeremy Materi, Chris Erickson, Mark Hagen, Mark Moer and Stephen Cookson.

The next group number showed children from around the world in, "I'd like to teach the world to sing." Solo was by Denise Hagen. Skaters were: Kelly Arntzen, Catharine McKee, Jody Materi, Trudy Hagen, Leslie Cookson, Sheinine Sparrow, James Russell and Michelle Steil.

The third group was Debbie Steil and Donna MacPherson dressed for "The Candy Man," Glenda Brandingen was the soloist.

The power skaters invited all to "Come Fly with me," showing the skills they have learned in the power skating class this past season. Skaters were: Jordy Hagen, Roger Maertz, Waylon Gascoyne, Dennis Maertz, and Brent Parsons. Marvin Likness was absent.

Then on the to "Rock and Roll Party Queen," featuring skaters dressed right out of "Grease," the movie hit of the year. Soloist was Kathy Whitten.

The senior group depicted a "Dancing Dream," featuring synconised stroking in long white gowns and then skating the "Dutch Waltz," a compulsory dance which they have recently passed. Soloist in this number was Rose Hoffman, accompanied by skaters: Kathy Whitten, Denise Hagen, Glenda Brandingen and Dorothy Djos.

Solo numbers were skated by Ina Hoffman, senior Sedgewick Figure Skating Club; Janice Arntzen, teacher; and Rhonda Tanton, Camrose Figure Skating Club as guest skater.

The finale brought all the skaters out to the song of The International Year of the Child, "Reach out in love," sung by the 1st Sedgewick Company Girl Guides of Canada.

Trophies and medals were presented during the program by Tracy Arntzen, selected as Queen and presented the Joe Prince Trophy by Mayor E. Koshli. Trophies for the most money earned in the skate-a-thon went to Marjorie Hogg for eight-and-unders; Kathy Whitten, 12-and-unders; Calvin Hogg, 16-and-under; and Lil MacPherson, adults. Trudy McClements received the medal for highest pledge per lap. The medals were presented by Helen Whitten, president of the Figure Skating Club, and Vern Simpson for the Skate-a-thon committee.

Trophies for the most improved skaters were donated by the Chamber of Commerce and the Agricultural Society, represented by Lorne French and Maurice Hampshire. They presented the awards to Roger Maertz for power skating, Debbie Steil for junior skating, and Dorothy Djos for senior skating.

Chris Erickson presented a gift to the club's teacher, Janice Arntzen, on behalf of the skating club and Glenda Brandingen showed the club's appreciation to Rhonda Tanton with a gift also.

Over the past six months, the Skating Club has provided its skaters with valuable ice time in which the students have increased their skills in skating and working as a group. The teacher and many supervising mothers should be commended for their time spent with these children, yours and mine.

PSS in Flagstaff

Just off Highway 13 on the east side of the Town of Killam sits a small building with yellow siding and two over-sized front windows. And although it has the look of a fancy picnic shelter, for almost two years it's been the site of the County of Flagstaff's Preventive Social Services (PSS). PSS has been underway in this county since November, 1976, and this past January came under the guidance of a new director, Paul Bujold.

A relatively new idea all through the province, PSS was instigated by the Social Credit government in 1966 to decentralize social services, explains the new director. Seen as a good vehicle by which the following government could establish programs into rural communities, PSS remained after the Social Credit administration no longer formed the government.

In most areas of the province, each preventive social services program is established to serve a particular area, usually a county, with a few municipalities within it, according to Mr. Bujold. Flagstaff is unique in that the PSS program here caters to 10 towns and villages and all are represented on the board responsible for PSS in Flagstaff. The county holds a board-member position as well.

Board members give direction and provide the input needed to determine what is needed, and wanted, in each community. That's particularly important in the County of Flagstaff, added Mr. Bujold, because the number of municipalities involved here is probably the most for one area in Alberta.

PSS, he explains, deals particularly with community development and adult education. He and his staff are not involved with any social assistance programs, however, those are now the direct responsibility of the provincial government.

His first goal as the new director in Flagstaff, he says, is getting PSS more known and made use of by the communities it serves. At present, he continued, Flagstaff residents are not using the program to its full capacity.

"PSS is seen as an agency for people in trouble, but it's also for people who want to get things going." Another problem, Mr. Bujold adds, is that people see PSS as working only with seniors and kids. "That leaves a big space in between."

Often, he says, all people need is an organizer, a liaison with government, other agencies, associations and services. But what they don't need, he points out, "is experts to come in and tell them how to do things." A community is often its own best resource, if shown how to best make use of it. And that's where he comes in.

PSS directors are not required to have post-secondary education to qualify for the position. It is the decision of each board whether professional or a non-professional will be hired for their area. The Flagstaff Preventative Social Services Board, Mr. Bujold explains, decided to follow the professional route. Mr. Bujold, who received his education at the University of Alberta, has his bachelor of psychology and is finishing his masters in community development.

What started almost three years ago in the County of Flagstaff as a one-man operation has grown to three. In addition to Mr. Bujold, the PSS office has a project co-ordinator, Laverne Booth, and a secretary will be hired next month.

Where is PSS in Flagstaff going in the future? Hopefully, says Mr. Bujold, they will be offering an alcohol and drug abuse program through the high schools in the county. And social impact is another area of concern, he adds, especially for Hardisty and Forestburg where a great deal of development is starting to occur and is expected to increase. Those communities, he explains, need to think about what services are going to be needed and be in control of their growth "before they turn into another Fort McMurray."

That type of impact and planning applies to other towns in the county as well, according to the director. PSS can provide town council with valuable economic and social input concerning such things as new subdivisions.

To meet more needs of senior citizens and children, PSS has been setting up a pre-school/playschool system in various towns and training people in their operation. At present, Mr. Bujold and his staff are trying to establish a toy bank in conjunction with the playschool, which would decrease costs incurred on an individual basis as well as provide a better selection. The toy bank, he continued, is PSS' Year of the Child project.

Senior citizens in Daysland and Forestburg would like to see a multi-level care facility in their area and preventive social services has been involved in the planning of this project as well.

The type of facility wanted by the seniors, he explains, is more common in the States. It incorporates self-contained living units, nursing care and drop-in centres all in one, and would be available for handicapped persons also.

There's always fledgling clubs to help start up, Mr. Bujold continues, with PSS helping with organization, quality and apply for grants, and in seeing it up as a "legal" society.

Other types of projects PSS becomes involved in depends on the area it serves, the director explains. For example, some areas need a vehicle by which cultural events can develop. Although not a "normal" type of project in which to be involved, PSS will "advocate on anything . . . we'll be involved in anything that will help prevent social problems."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Re: Students' Protest letter of March 14.

We, the representatives of the student body at Central High, wish to point out that it was not the opinion of the Grad Society or the Student Council as a whole that launched the protest. It was an opinion of one or more unknown individuals.

The sum of $600 was agreed upon prior to the engagement so there was no underhandedness involved.

There have been several rumours circulated about who launched this protest. We would like to clear the names of the following student council members: Geoff Bury, president; Angela Doody, vice-president; Shelly Dion, secretary; Deb Harrison, treasurer; Karen Djos, social convenor; Colleen Rawluk, girls' sports rep; and Greg Rawluk, boys' sports rep.

Yours truly,

Central High Student Council

JASPER, Canada's Safety Bear

The Third Column

by Truncate

THE HON. IONA CAMPINELO may think she is on the right track in offering several millions of dollars to professional hockey in some centres in Canada providing they are granted NHL franchises in the present closed shop institution. But really all she is doing is waving a red flag in front of a bullish league. It will never happen and we are glad it won't. With the hockey being dished up by the WHA, who needs the bullies of Bay Street?

UNLESS SOME DRASTIC CHANGES are made in the demands of the money people in the NHL, the World Hockey Association would be absolutely stup'd to even consider such an offer. With the weak teams now eliminated from the WHA, it has become an acceptable and viable league in its own rights, while the NHL has so many weak franchises that it is becoming the laughing stock of the continent. For instance, the Canucks of the West Coast entry have become the bums of the ice surfaces.

CAN YOU JUST IMAGINE the Edmonton Oilers giving up the rights to Gretzki for the right to play Vancouver? What a farce. Let Vancouver stew in its flaking wars and spend its time remaking the Lions. Let "Millhaven Fats" Ballard count his millions and spend his surplus in improving his Maple Leafs. Let Molson contemplate his loss in beer sales and worry about his slumping Canadiens. Who needs them?

WITH ONLY THREE Canadian teams in the National Hockey League, it is operating under a misnomer in any event. Why not call it the INTERNATIONAL League. If our friend Iona wants to do something really good for the Canadian sport, let her make the same offer to cities with WHA franchises and assist others like Calgary, for instance, to establish modern arenas and expand the WHA league? It makes more sense to Canadians. And think what this could do for hockey in Canada, where the game really belongs anyway. Let the NHL expand to Hawaii. That's where it belongs as much as some of the teams in the U.S. now.

TO ALLOW THE WHA teams to protect only two goalies and two skaters is nothing short of a complete rape of the WHA league, and if that is the final demand, why not tell them to shove their offer, and you know where. Edmonton has one of the best arenas in the world, if not the best; the team is drawing more than 11,000 average per game; it has a team that is entirely competitive with many of the NHL clubs. Don't give up a good thing for an uncertain future.

AS WE HAVE SAID before, power breeds arrogance, and the NHL is full of the stuff. It had dominated hockey for so long it believes it is their right to do so. Right now is the time to stand up and assert yourself WHA. Make the league stronger with good franchises, have sound ownerships and modern arenas. Do this and you will attract the best there is in junior prospects and the crowds will fill your arenas. Let's get hockey back as the accepted Canadian pastime in winter and not an American-dominated plaything in areas where the sun shines more often than people turn out for games.

IT WAS AN INTERESTING side issue of the present smozzle that Winnipeg started a trend to boycott Molson Canadian. That's when it begins to hurt. In Vancouver a few years ago, the same thing happened and Molson slipped from top sales to third place. Molson soon came around, and the same thing will happen again. Don't listen you WHA owners. Let Molson and the NHL stew in their own beer and sweat. Let the NHL bail out their own bankrupt franchises, and fill their own players' pension fund. Don't spend your millions and get nothing in return but the dubious distinction of belonging to a league that is quickly losing its prestige and claims as the dominant entity in world hockey.

LET US HOPE that before this gets into print the WHA has made the decision to refuse to be bullied and belittled, and talked to like country cousins. Let's have a flat NO.

Locals attend bull sale

Judge John Blume of Castor selected as the grand champion of a recent sale sponsored by the Hereford Seed Stock Committee, Lydee 96E Brit Bush 37J, contributed by Lyle Braud of Holden. The grand champion bull was also the high selling bull in the sale and was purchased by Grant Zimmel of Strome for $2,400.

The Reserve Champion was EEE Woodrow Ann 15J, contributed by Eric Elliot of Dewberry and sold to Jack Hampshire of Killam.

The Bank of Montreal and Treasury Branch at Daysland donated trophies and ribbons for the champions. Warren "Tip" Henderson of Forestburg was sales manager.

Lougheed District News

I wish if anyone has news for the paper they would either phone me or leave it at the post office.

Hazel Skoberg and Molly Forsythough were in Stettler Wednesday, March 21. I visited Aubrey and Carrie Forsythough. It was a beautiful day to be out, more like July weather than March. No snow down that way. We saw crows and gophers.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Nicholson and Krushka were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Mike Nicholson and family in Camrose.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Birchill and family of Wainwright and Mr. and Mrs. Ace Eastly and family of Calgary were visiting Brita Birchill last weekend.

Koni and Jamie Odegard of Beaumont are visiting for a few days with their grandpa and grandma Skoberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lehr and family were visiting Lloyd's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lehr and family, a week ago this past Sunday.

Don't forget the United Church ladies are having their Friendship Tea on Tuesday, April 3 in the United Church parlor. All ladies are welcome so come and have a lovely afternoon out.

The Goose Creek whist drive was held March 22 with 10½ tables. The winners were: Esther Cameron and Russell Morris, first; Molly Anderson and John Baker, sweep; Valerie Adamson and Will Johnson, mystery; Helen O'Reilly and Bill Baker, travelling; and Mary Albrecht and Harvey Simpson, consolation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wylie were recent visitors with their daughter, Pauline, and her husband Jim Cascoyne and family in Edmonton. On their way home, they stopped to visit Sandra and Les Smith and family in Gwynne.

Eric and Rexy Tuppe and boys of Red Deer were home last weekend to see their new little nephew and cousin, John Ryan Ramsden, and also to help their parents, the Mel Larsons, celebrate their anniversary.

A very enjoyable whist drive was held in the Lougheed Welcome Centre March 22 with 10 tables playing. Winners were: for the ladies, Mary Cameron, first; Grace Davidson, sweep; Margaret Dunham, mystery; Essie Dragor, low; and Roberta Biddoch, travelling.

For the gents, Rod McKinnon won first; John Hallman, sweep; Harold Probst, mystery; Lawrence Kneeland, low; and John Hallman, the travelling prize. See you on April 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Johnson and Brandee, accompanied by Mrs. R. Riddock, spent last weekend in the city.

Mr. Dale Larson of Fort Nelson, B.C. visited the Johnsons and sister Linda Ostek and family of Sedgewick, as well as relatives and friends.

Anglican Church News

Don't forget to cook up your favourite recipe and join the rest of St. Edmund's Parish at All Saints' Church in Lougheed on Passion Sunday, April 1 at 11 a.m. All Saints' new organ will be dedicated at the service and a pot luck dinner will follow.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the family of Alex Farquharson, who passed away on March 22.

If Constable Wayne Leaman of Killam should discover that his name has suddenly been changed to Ken, he should immediately consult the rector.

The David Schlosser family were recent visitors at the Richard Conrad home.

The Ab Martin family of Lougheed are off to Badham for a few days of relaxation.

On Sunday morning, Miss Margaret Martin of Sedgewick, accompanied her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Martin, to their home at Penhold and is looking forward to a few days of rest from her parents.

Greg and Donna Martin are visiting friends and relatives in Edmonton and Penhold during spring break.

Do plan to attend the lecture-seminar series entitled "Anglicanism: Is It a Four-Letter Word?" to be held at the Parish Hall in Sedgewick on April 3 and 4 at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Conrad promises a very interesting learning experience.

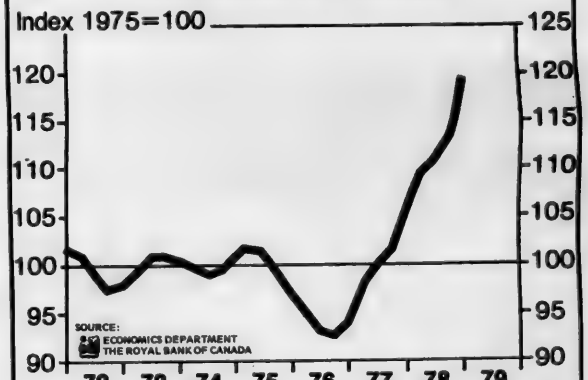
Index of Manufacturing Competitiveness in Canada



Royal Bank chart shows competitive improvement

The lower dollar is helping Canada

— Canadian producers are in the strongest position they have been in during the last decade,

— The lower dollar has helped keep Canadian costs and prices low, relative to our major competitors,

— Canadian manufacturers did better last year than their U. S. counterparts, and they are challengers in almost all overseas markets.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

A DAIRYMAN'S DILEMMA

Did you ever live on a dairy farm? Get up at 5:30 every morning, seven days a week, 365 days a year, and sometimes work until midnight? Well, it is quite a challenge. You are a milk maid, a chore girl, housewife, a mother, a mindreader, and still get yelled at sometimes for no cause at all when things don't go right, especially if a cow kicks a pail over.

Spring was here and that meant calving time, although calves came every month as there was a milk quota to keep. Spot was due to have her calf but was taking her own sweet time. A week had passed and my husband Bob said, "We'd better keep an eye on her. Something must be wrong or else she is going to have twins."

This was a monthly ordeal in the milk business, and a job we all took as our responsibility. Finally the day came when Spot was acting funny and wandering off by herself. Our daughter Goldene went to get her and we put her in the old barn, our maternity ward.

Bob said, "we would have to help him as the calf wasn't coming right and we would have to take it." He got all the necessary things ready – paper towels, a rope and a small chain. Spot wasn't too happy to have us around while she was trying to have her calf, but Bob got the chain on the calf's legs and fastened the rope to it and he went to work. My daughter and I were to pull when he told us, so that we did, but the rope broke, sending me flying.

I hit the door and it swung out. I slid right under it to the outside on the half-frozen cow pies, the door closing behind me. Lying there I couldn't move, stunned, not knowing what had happened. As the door opened, I looked up to see Bob and Goldene standing there laughing their hearts out, not coming to help me up, just laughing.

Between laughs they finally said, "Are you hurt? Oh, you look so funny." They helped me up still laughing as I muttered, "I don't see anything funny." I wasn't really hurt, mostly my pride.

They said if I had been hurt they still couldn't have stopped laughing. o see someone go through a door without opening it, let alone under it, was funny. They claimed the expression on my face was something they'll never forget.

When we went into the barn, Spot was content licking her calf. This is only one of many things that took place during the 30 years of running the dairy farm. My husband still laughs when he mentions it to his friends as the funniest thing he ever saw happen, and claims dairy business wasn't all that bad. -by B. McGowan

Hazelwood Good Deed club meet with 13

The March 21 meeting of the Hazelwood Good Deed Club was held at the home of Mrs. Vi Metz with 13 members present and one visitor, Mrs. Eileen Rothdrift.

Roll was called and then the minutes and treasurer's reports were given and adopted. Old business consisted of reimbursement for poor quality sugar bags. The new bags that were ordered from Winnipeg were of poor quality so it was decided to get some from Macleods.

Inga handed in a set of embroidered dishtowels. Kay handed in a pair of Artex pillowcases and Essie bought them. Orma handed in two sets of Artex dishtowels.

Our finished quilt was shown and is very pretty this year.

Correspondence received was a thank you from the physiotherapy unit at the Killam Hospital for our donation.

Thank yous were received from members for cards sent.

Every member signed a card to be sent to Josephine McClements, who is in Daysland Hospital.

New business was donations for Red Cross, Crippled Children, Rheumatism and Arthritis, and Heart Fund. Bills were paid also.

The next meeting is at Orma Thorps' on April 18.

The hostess draw was won by Mrs. Alvina Parsons, a brown plant hanger.

A delicious lunch was served with Jerry and Irene the birthday girls.

For Their Sake And Yours
Do Not Disturb!

Wildlife are extremely sensitive.
Particularly young wildlife.
How you respond to wildlife could affect their safety and yours.

Here are a few tips:
- enjoy wildlife from a distance ... only
- never handle or disturb wildlife
- do not feed wildlife ... ever — they need special diets for their survival
- be especially careful not to disturb fish when spawning — they could abandon their spawning grounds
- when visiting Alberta's wildlands, leave nothing behind that could harm wildlife — pop can rings, glass, garbage, plastic bags

If you suspect an animal has been abandoned or injured, report the situation and approximate location to your local fish and wildlife officer. He'll make sure it's well taken care of.

A QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE

During the past five years, numerous Members of Parliament have left the party in which they were elected to sit elsewhere in the House of Commons. The increased practice of switching parties may give cause for some concern about the electoral process.

Ultimately, this issue will require further consideration. At stake is the question of "proper procedure." Some argue that as long as the change was made on the basis of principle without intent for personal gain, a member has a right to express his dissatisfaction with his mother party and seek new company. On the other hand, others believe a member is obligated to his party irrespective of differences of opinion. The question is indeed a tasty one. Perhaps in the future, the speaker ought to be to resign and seek nomination and re-election in the newly-chose party.

The following is the complete quotation from Ontario MP Ralph Stewart when he crossed the floor from the Liberals to the Progressive Conservatives. Mr. Stewart made his decision in spite of the fact that the governing party made him an offer to serve as a commissioner for the next 10 years on the Canadian Transport Commission. At age 49, that was a very attractive and secure offer.

Friday

Mr. Ralph Stewart (Cochrane): "Mr. Speaker, some 11 years ago, it was my privilege to be chosen by my people in the Cochrane riding to represent them in the parliament of Canada. I have done my best to serve them ever since.

Being a person of frank expression, I have never hesitated to voice my disagreement. It became clear that any opposition to policy on the part of the troops is not looked upon with favour by the government.

A few years ago, I became increasingly disillusioned following the famous musings of the prime minister (Mr. Trudeau) on national television when he stated that the free enterprise system had failed. I could not accept that kind of thinking. The free enterprise system is what made the United States great and brought Canada on the road to becoming a great nation.

Later that year, many of my colleagues were scandalized when the prime minister stated in no uncertain terms at a meeting of Ontario MPs that he had come into politics to move the country further to the left and he had never abandoned that goal.

Feeling that I could not accept this thinking, not could I change it, I thought seriously of resigning from the caucus. This would have been a betrayal of those who had elected me as a Liberal because it was not long after the last election, so I did nothing in that regard. However, now that this parliament is playing an overtime period, the circumstances are vastly different. It is abundantly clear to me that Canada must reject a further drift to the left and it is time for me to take a serious stand.

I fully realize that I shall be making a great personal sacrifice by taking this action today, but my feelings for the principles involved run very high indeed. There is no amount of personal security that could make up for a failure on my part to come to grips with my gut feeling that to do otherwise would be a betrayal of my commitment to Canada and the people I have served.

Several years before I got into active politics, I was already fighting in favour of bilingualism and the French fact in Canada. I believed that better understanding was necessary to promote Canadian unity. I worked hard and I became one of the first advisors on bilingualism within the public service.

In respect of bilingualism and Canada unity, it is my opinion that the whole problem has been handled badly. Our country is less united that it was 10 years ago. The government has gone about it the wrong way and has even allowed it to become a personal vendetta among a few elite, including the prime minister and the premier of Quebec. The climate created as a result has been one which pits faction against faction and threatens the very existence of Canada as a nation.

The potential of Canada, in my view, is great. It is my feeling that the present governmental policies will not develop that potential.

Accordingly, I have decided, after consultation with my wife and a few respected associates to leave the Liberal caucus and seek to take my seat with the Progressive Conservative caucus."

The score is even. Only the reasons differ. The question still remains. Should there be a more defined procedure to determine by what party you keep in touch?

WATER PROBLEMS

In this area, we haven't exactly been blessed with perfect water. One of the major problems we have is iron. This is characterized by the red-brown staining of bathroom fixtures (ie. the toilet tank) and your laundry. The water is clear when drawn, but once exposed to air or oxidized, it turns into a ferric state, forming red rust particles.

Iron bacteria can also form in water that contains inorganic iron or in water that is in contact with iron. This bacteria causes a reddish brown slime to form in pipes and fixtures, giving an unpleasant taste and odour to the water. Although iron bacteria does not harm humans, it can cause deterioration and clogging of water pipes

Treatment

Various methods can be used to remove iron. Water softeners have been a successful method. Injecting polyphosphates into the water will help prevent iron from oxidizing, but this property may be destroyed by heat.

A common method of iron removal is with a manganese greensand filter. The iron is oxidized by the coating on the manganese greensand and the iron oxide particles are then filtered out. This system requires a good flow of water and regular flushing out of the filter.

Another successful method of controlling the bacteria in private water supplies is chlorination and filtration. A high concentration of iron can be removed with chlorine.

Rural people can have their water tested through the health unit. The public health inspector can help interpret the results and suggest solutions to the water problems.

More information about iron control systems can be obtained from our office. -Source: Gladys Bajeng, DHE Coronation.

SPRING FASHIONS

The look for spring is one of nostalgia -- the look of the 40s with a feminine touch, characteristic to this era are broad, boxed shoulders, narrow skirts and pants, cinched waistlines, and close fitting garments.

Dresses emphasize the waistline with belts or gathers. Other nostalgic details include bib, band and shawl collars, shoulder tucks and gathers, V-necklines and wrapped openings.

Pants have that narrow, tailored look with high waistbands. Trouser pleats and shallow cuffs will also be seen. Skirts range from slim wraps to full pleated styles. Again, high-rise waistbands and gathers are evident.

Suits are more important than ever. Although jackets vary in length, skirts remain narrow, wrapped or slit.

Unsure about colours? Most important are warmtoned neutrals: jute, sandstone, sandlewood, camel, smoke, and khaki. Pastels such as pink, blue, peach, mauve and banana are also popular. Early into summer, bright colours such as red, turquoise, sun yellow, lime and grass green will enter the fashion scene. -Source: Doreen Adra, Clothing & Textiles

Hardisty News

Congratulations to Mrs. Joann Mitchell on winning the special prize category as most unusual entry in the 65th annual slogan scramble contest run by the Edmonton Journal all those years. She made a model of a windcharger from Journal pages with a very fine wooden frame and for all these efforts received $150. Sure nice when a person's talents are recognized in such a nice manner.

Nice to see Lawrence MacIntyre around town for a day or two. That is another sign of spring when you see Lawrence inspecting the farm again after spending the winter in Stony Plain.

The ice carnival was well attended and was very good. The decorations were lovely and the spot light showing bubbles or rain drops running across the ice was enjoyed by all.

Not having the program to go by, I cannot mention names but there are some young skaters now who are very, very good with a few years yet to go.

Not having been there for some time, I missed the older ones who often skated in couples, but these now are all very young so may go places some day. The P.A. system was very capably handled by Allen Nairn.

Mrs. Lois Brasnett of Calahad attended the carnival and saw her granddaughters taking part.

Congratulations to Jim and Julie Chu on the arrival of a young daughter.

Sedgewick and District News

The sympathy of the community is expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Doug Tweedy and other relatives on the death in Provost last week of Eleanor's mother, Mrs. Agnes Hall. Mrs. Tweedy and her sister Mrs. Marcella Clark of Hanna, left for Provost and are still there. Mrs. Margaret Kobsar, Mrs. Vivian Sparrow, Mrs. Joan Muirhead and Mrs. Mary Simons attended the funeral of Mrs. Hall in Provost last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Galletly and sons are holidaying in Saskatchewan.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Lee and daughter Susan left on Saturday morning to drive to Nanaimo in B.C. Daughter Maureen is working at the coast now, so they will be able to visit her.

Nine tables of whist players enjoyed the Wednesday afternoon card party at the senior citizens' Drop-In Centre. Prizes for the highest scores were won by Mrs. Hazel MacKinnon and Mr. George Hotz. Mrs. Bessie Russell and Mr. Gunnar Hope received consolation awards. We were very happy to welcome some folk from the Lodge to the Centre and hope they come again. A shuffleboard tournament is now in full swing with the first games played on Thursday. It will continue on next Thursday.

Miss Lorraine Gascoyne of Edmonton spent a few days over the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gascoyne.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Leeb and their two eldest daughters left on Sunday for a week's vacation in Victoria. Grandmother Mary is taking care of the little one.

Mr. and Mrs. Riender Schuurman took Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Plata to Drayton Valley on Monday to pick up their car.

Ross Danielson has joined the aviators in the area, having received his pilot's licence a week ago. His daughter, Cheryl, enjoyed being her dad's first passenger.

Andy and Linda Osback and family enjoyed a few days visiting the National Parks and skiing at Marmot.

Ross and Mavis Danielson, Sandra and Cheryl spent a few days in Kelowna visiting Val and Eugene Faucher and also taking in some spring skiing at Big White.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sinclair, who live north of Sedgewick, on their $100,000 win on a Winaday Express ticket.

Spending a week at the Rod MacKinnon home here and at the Don MacKinnon home in Lougheed are Mrs. Gerry Miller and children of Calgary. On Sunday, the Millers, the MacKinnons and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Paterson of Lougheed were all dinner guests at the Rod MacKinnons. The important occasion celebrated was Mr. Rod MacKinnons birthday. Many happy returns of the day, Mac.

Get well wishes to Mr. Harry Pottage, who is a patient in the Killam Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Walsh were pleasantly surprised on Monday when Mr. Eric Gimby of Spruce Grove dropped in to say hello. Eric was a camper at Hardisty Lake Camp one year ago when Mrs. Walsh was a leader there. That was quite a few years ago!

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Dobbie Davison were in Viking on Friday to visit Mr. Holly Kendrick. On the way home they stopped in at the Killam Hospital and visited friends there.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Robertson are holidaying in Hawaii.

The sympathy of the community is expressed to the family of Mr. Alec Farquharson, who passed away in the Killam Hospital on Thursday, March 22 after a lengthy illness. The Rev. Richard Conrad conducted the funeral service at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, March 27 at the Anglican Church. A Legion Honour Guard was in attendance.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kapicki on the birth of a son. Jeremy was born at the University Hospital in Edmonton.

Chamber of Commerce News

The March dinner meeting of the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce took place in the Anglican Hall with a delicious meal served by the Anglican Church Women.

Vice-president Al Strobel conducted the meeting. The rather short agenda included decisions to make donations to the Central High Graduation Society and to the newly-formed Playschool.

A letter from Outdoors Unlittered was discussed. May 7 to 12 has been designated as Clean-Up Week and the chamber hopes for continued cooperation from both town and school. Free garbage bags are offered to schools and non-profit organizations by Outdoors Unlittered.

A suggestion that the names of the streets in town be changed to numbers was discussed and Terry Robinson was chosen as a representative to approach town council with this idea.

Mrs. Carol Arntzen was asked to submit a list of names for the Farm Family Award for the consideration of the chamber. Anyone wishing to submit a nomination, please contact Mrs. Arntzen.

The Battle River Tourist Association has bumper stickers advertising events in the area and Ken Offord, who is our representative to the association, volunteered to obtain some for our Canada Day and Agri-Days events.

It was decided that a new trophy for the most improved skater be purchased and Mrs. Carol Arntzen was authorised to do this.

The Agricultural Society has ordered lapel pins promoting the Town of Sedgewick and requested co-operation of the chamber in displaying and distribution.

The date for the next regular meeting is April 17.

Strome Elks win 1979 Cup

A full house of close to 300 people greeted the 1979 Corby Cup curling champions in Strome Friday, March 30 when an evening of appreciation was held in honour of the local Elks rink which won the title three weeks ago.

Pat Miller, skip; Don Hayes, third; Jim Miller, second; and Rob Borgel, lead; won first place in the 20th Annual Corby Cup Curling Playdowns in Kenora, Ontario March 15 to 17. The competition is for Elks rinks only and sponsored by Corby Distilleries.

It's the second time a Strome foursome has competed in the national competition, although the first time they've brought home the cup. Almost the same team represented Alberta Elks in 1978 at the playdowns in Estevan, Saskatchewan, with Dennis Loesch filling in as second for Jim Miller.

The five-day curling tournament this year marked the culmination of curling efforts for the fourteen, who had to win top honours in the district, regional and provincial playdowns to qualify for the Corby Cup event.

They were only one of 304 Elks teams competing this year from 82 lodges in Alberta. Estimations are the Elks Corby Cup winners represent the best of at least 1,000 Elks curling teams in Canada. And only eight make it to the finals.

Several officials in the Elks organization travelled to attend the celebration Friday evening, including Provincial President Joe Dumontel from Brooks, 2nd Vice-President Jack Hinsman from Sherwood Park, who spoke on the "community effort to recognize true national champions," Grand Loyal Knight Gordon Brewer from Fort Saskatchewan and District Deputy Lester May.

Congratulations also were offered by Bob Empey of Three Hills, liaison between Corby Distilleries and the Elks, and by MLA Gordon Stromberg.

Local dignitaries taking part were Councillor Jim Mohler, offering the community's congratulations; Dennis Loesch, president of Strome's curling club and an Elk Knight in the local organization; and Norm Rose, bringing greetings from the Sedgewick Curling Club.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the all-star skip trophy to Pat Miller by his father, Leo Miller. In addition to leading the rink to victory, Pat was named all-star skip with an average of 79 per cent. During the Corby Cup playdowns, a score is kept on every rock thrown by a skip with the highest score winning.

Even though it was an evening for the adults, the children of Strome were represented with artwork on the walls of the hall, each with its own message of congratulations to the curlers.

The Miller rink was honoured further by a tribute from long-time Strome resident Charlie Hayes, who brought a standing ovation from the crowd of well-wishers as he spoke on "the community effort . . . a united effort." Mr. Hayes was the first exalted ruler of the Strome Elks Club in its early years.

George Borgel was master of ceremonies for the program, which ended with the wives and fiancee of the curlers toasting them with a champagne-filled Corby Cup.

Charlie Hayes (top picture at right) congratulates Pat Miller, skip of the 1979 Corby Cup winners from Strome. An evening of appreciation was held for the curlers last Friday night, who seemed to enjoy all the speakers' comments, as shown in the bottom picture. Members of the winning rink are (left to right) Ron Borgel, lead; Jim Miller, second; Don Hayes, third; and Pat Miller, skip.

Lougheed will not interfere federally

Premier Peter Lougheed dealt himself out of the May 22 federal election immediately after Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau served notice that energy would be a major Liberal campaign issue.

Lougheed left March 29 for a three-week holiday in Barbados. He vowed not to comment on election issues affecting the provincial government when he returns to Edmonton for the duration of the national campaign.

He refused to rise to the Liberals' bait when Trudeau said energy supplies and prices are "too vital to be left in the hands of Exxon or in the hands of the provincial governments of Alberta."

The premier said, "It's a federal election and I'm in provincial politics. When the campaign's over, we'll deal with it on a government-to-government basis" with whoever is prime minister.

But just before Trudeau called the election, Lougheed refused to be drawn into the contest on federal Conservative leader Joe Clark's side. The premier warned that Alberta has to fight its own battles.

Lougheed's insistence on keeping a distance from the federal Tories was seen as a favour to them, as disproving Trudeau's claim that Clark places the demands of his home province ahead of the national interest.

But the premier said his attempt at neutrality in the federal campaign was "sound" policy, not just politics.

His involvement will be limited to helping Clark keep his seat in the House of Commons by giving the national Tory chief good personal references in his northwest Alberta Yellowhead constituency.

Lougheed was willing to introduce Clark at election rallies within Alberta – but not to say that his administration stands to gain if the Conservatives form the next government in Ottawa.

The premier made it clear he was unconvinced that the Tories would be more sympathetic toward provincial claims to rights over energy resource development, ownership, pricing and revenues.

Lougheed said "the election of a Conservative government (in Ottawa) should not be interpreted as meaning that Alberta's energy problems are going to be easily resolved."

He warned that a Tory majority in Parliament would not automatically reflect his province's views and that its leader could face plenty of pressure to resist Alberta demands.

Albertans elect only a small majority of the country's MPs and the power base of a national Conservative government could be energy-consuming Ontario, the premier pointed out.

Lougheed said nothing in recent months had made him want to endorse the federal Tories more enthusiastically, and events have included announcements of the party's energy policy.

COME ALIVE . . .

Mal Dietrich

God Will Not Forsake You

Someone has said: "When you are down in the mouth, remember Jonah. He came out all right." God had prepared a great fish to swallow Jonah because he was not willing to go where God wanted him to go. It took three days and three nights in the belly of the fish before Jonah finally told God he was willing to go to Nineveh with the message He had given him. Immediately following his repentance, God delivered Jonah from his captivity. God had not forsaken Jonah even in this traumatic experience.

Today, we live with a Nineveh all around us. Just as with Nineveh, there is great need for someone to share the transforming, saving power of Jesus Christ. We can share it in so many ways to a world living in sin and making light of the things of God as was Nineveh. We can share what Christ means to us and what He has done and is doing in our lives every day. We can share Him by kindly deeds, showing others we really care, and by friendliness and gentleness in all of our associations with folk around us.

But are we willing to go and to share God's message? Sometimes, if there is an unwillingness on our part, God has to prepare a fish or load us through traumatic experiences in order to cause us to see the need of the Nineveh around us. It is during experiences such as this that often we get the feeling that God has forsaken us when in reality, it is us who have forsaken Him.

Our unwillingness is usually due to our intense desire to satisfy our own needs first, thus losing sight of the great need around us. Of one thing we can be sure, God will never leave us nor forsake us. He has promised us this in Hebrews 13:5. He is ever present, patiently trying to transform our minds and our lives into His perfect will. Dear friend, do you feel that God has forsaken you? Rest in the confidence that assuredly He hasn't. It may well be that what you are going through just now is a fish that God has prepared just for you to make you willing to be what He wants you to be and to go where He wants you to go. So if you feel forsaken of God and down in the mouth, remember Jonah. God is with you all the time and wants His very best for your life. You can find it by being willing to do His will and by receiving His Son as your Saviour.

Dayland town council meets in March

The regular meeting of the Dayland Town Council was held Tuesday, March 20 at 7 p.m. in the town office. Present were Councillors Damberger, Lindseth, Dickau, Sather, Turney and Larson. Mayor Stan Lissack presided.

Bicycle Safety Week will be carried out by the local fire department with the co-operation of the RCMP. It is hoped that this will be May 14 to 19. Our fire department encourages the children to bring their bicycles to the firehall and have them marked for identification.

The dog problem in the Town of Dayland was again brought up with a letter of complaint from the Chamber of Commerce asking the town to enforce a dog bylaw. The town has and will continue to enforce the dog bylaw, but we need the co-operation of the citizens in making complaints and this does not seem to be forthcoming.

The public is again reminded that the engraving pencil and invisible marker are available. Anyone wishing to use these identification tools may leave their name at the town office.

Council meeting night remains the second Tuesday of the month at 7 p.m. in the town office. Citizens are always welcome to attend.

Deputy mayor for the months of March and April is Councillor John Dickau.

Daysland News Items

Mrs. Ralph Crouch of Edmonton spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown.

Mrs. Walter Kosinski had the misfortune to fall and break her hip last week. She was taken to an Edmonton hospital, but has now returned to the Daysland hospital.

Mrs. Esther Wirth has returned home from the Edmonton hospital where she underwent surgery.

The Sunbeam Club met March 28 in the Dayaland Hall with 30 members present. There were seven tables of whist played and two played scrabble. High score went to Mrs. Harriet Court and low score went to Mrs. Kimille Kundsen. The next meeting is April 4 at 1:30 p.m. when we have our annual meeting, bingo and ham supper, which is open to all members.

Sorry to hear that Mr. Fritz Schmidt is a patient in the Dayaland hospital. Carol Hill was in the hospital for a few days but was able to get home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Boggs and two girls of Vermilion visited his mother, Mrs. Anna Boggs last Saturday.

Mr. John Chromik passed away Thursday, March 29 at his home. His funeral is to be Monday morning in the Ukrainian Church.

Our 60 kindergarten teachers, teacher aides, co-ordinators and parents attended the East-Central Early Childhood Services Workshop on Thursday, March 15. It proved to be an interesting session on modeling mediums and the participants came away with new recipes and samples. The afternoon meeting also included discussions on training workshops for new executives to help them in their new roles next year.

Another worthwhile evening was Monday, March 19 when kindergarten parents and other guests listened to the guest speaker, Mr. Gerald Kolar, from Killam speaking on discipline for the young child. Mr. Kolar is a child psychologist for the County of Camrose and was immensely enjoyed by all the listeners. While parents attended the meeting, the kindergarten children attended the Circus Clowns' "Bim Bom Boom" at the Community Hall. They were all very happy with the performance and a sincere thank you to the girls who supervised for a commendable job.

The children in the kindergarten are working on various projects, Signs of Spring and Easter.

After spring break, the children can look forward to several field trips so the next few months will be great learning experiences.

Mrs. Clara Maki of St. Albert is visiting her mother, Mrs. Stang, and other relatives.

Mrs. Francis Dietrich has returned from visiting her son Lawrence and his family in Victoria, B.C.

On Saturday, March 17, the staff of the Blatz Steakhouse in Daysland surprised Dorothy Myers with a surprise farewell party. Dorothy received a beautiful crystal rose bowl. On March 12, Dorothy started her new job at the Dayaland Calgary Power office. Good luck at your new job, Dorothy.

The Friendship Club held its meeting in the United Church Social roo.n March 20 at 2 p.m. President Anna Boggs chaired the meeting.

The devotion was read by Laura Graham and the hymn sung was Blessed Assurance. The roll call was answered by 19 members. The minutes and treasurer's report were given by Swea Midbo.

Alma Koetke read a short history of the Friendship Club that was written by Swea Midbo. The club started December 12, 1967 by Mrs. Morgan and has been a very enjoyable afternoon the third Tuesday in every month since then.

The devotion for April is Margaret Schmidt. Those on lunch are: A. Koehli, E. McCarroll, A. Koetke and S. Midbo. The meeting adjourned.

For the program, Mrs. Sharon Howell from Forestburg spoke on the home care program. A lovely lunch was served by Kamille Knudsen, Rose Kishkewich, Janet Hill and Emily Hill.

On March 21, the Hospital Auxiliary ladies held a very successful flea market in the Dayaland Community Hall. There also was a bake table which was bought out early. The items were all donated. Free coffee was served and doughnuts were 20 cents for lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Graeme Davidson and family are holidaying at Disneyland.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Josephson from Maple Ridge, B.C. are visiting relatives and renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. Margaret Graham is visiting her daugher Carol and son-in-law in Peace River.

Last Tuesday, March 27, the Dayaland Royal Purple members enjoyed a lovely turkey dinner at Jamie's Restaurant to celebrate their 19th anniversary as a lodge in Dayaland. There were eight charter members present.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bergen of Edmonton, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Polehoyke of Vegreville passed away following an accident in Edmonton. Several from Dayaland attended the funeral. The sympathy of the community is extended to this family.

In Profile: Library re-opens

Perhaps one of the longest-existing services in the Town of Sedgewick celebrated its 32nd year of operation by moving into a new, main street building Saturday, March 24.

And other than holidays and building renovations, the 10 days needed to move from its old location on the upper floor of the community hall marked one of the first times the town's library has been closed since its first day of operation in September, 1947.

Started as a community project of the Women's Institute (WI), Sedgewick's library opened with 700 books the ladies had canvassed the townspeople to donate.

The WI continued its involvement in the library until 1966. An interim librarian held the post for most of 1967 until Mrs. Mollie Bruce took over later in the year. She's been librarian ever since.

In October, 1978, the Sedgewick Community Library became the Sedgewick Municipal Library as the town accepted responsibility for its operation. Policy making and selecting the types of books to line the library's shelves is authorized by a board of six: Ray Pottage, Ken Offord, Lisette Hebert, Vivian Koebli, Vera Hopkin and Mrs. Bruce as secretary-treasurer.

Even though it is the town's library, Mrs. Bruce explains, it ultimately falls under the jurisdiction of the Department of Culture. That branch of the provincial government provides grants for libraries to operate, and at times sends a free selection of books.

Another surprise offering of $700 worth of books came recently from the Northern Alberta Library Development Services. Book donations from the general public are never refused either, says Mrs. Bruce, even though a great deal of her operating budget does go toward their purchase.

Mrs. Bruce operates the library on a little more than $1,200 each year. The town is required to pay 50 cents per capita; last year it worked out to slightly under $425, and the grant from the Department of Culture is about $800. This year, in addition to those funds, the library has received $100 from the County of Flagstaff and is expecting $500 the Rec Board has promised. Money also is raised through memberships, which cost a Sedgewick family $2 a year.

Out of this, expenses are paid and books bought. The library isn't required to pay rent as it's part of the senior citizens' new Drop-In Centre, but it does pay one quarter of the insurance, utilities and heat.

As for Mrs. Bruce, none of the budget is set aside for salary; she has volunteered her services as librarian the past 12 years.

Her experience mostly comes from working with other librarians -- she spent almost eight years at the Central High School library -- and "just from liking books."

She's proud to admit that the municipal library is as well organized as any other. The non-fiction books are filed following the Dewey Decimal System, the fiction selections go by author, and, as always, there is an alphabetical cross-reference file.

Everything was filed by author and there wasn't an index when she first started as librarian. "All people think of a library is taking out books. They don't realize the organizational process involved."

Mrs. Bruce says there still is some organizing left in the new library, however. Now that everything's moved in, she's ready to straighten the shelves and then start inventory.

Since the majority of people want entertainment when they read, the library is stocked mostly with fiction. Many members have found a greater number of non-fiction and biographical titles on the shelves recently, and Mrs. Bruce plans on "building it up from there."

By the librarian's calculations, the Sedgewick Municipal Library offers people 2,600 hard cover books and almost 2,000 in paperback. There isn't as good a selection of children's books as that age group can find in other libraries, she says, but this is because the public school library has a well-stocked facility to offer its students. The municipal library has placed more emphasis on the pre-school selections.

For adults, the library boasts many recent bestsellers, as well as some older selections which never go out of style, Mrs. Bruce says. "But it's a hard job getting any decent books these days. You have to send the odd one back, but if you refused every book that came in because it had something indecent in it then you wouldn't have any left!"

Sedgewick's library not only stocks the traditional-reading type of book, but Talking Books easily can be made available, too. Talking Books was designed recently for people with handicaps, such as loss of sight, who are able to listen to a book recorded on a cassette.

And people can read books in a language other than English, too, says Mrs. Bruce. Chinese, Dutch, Finnish, German, Hungarian, Norwegian, Polish, Russian, Scottish Gaelic, Swedish and Ukrainian are some of the languages offered through the Multilingual Bibliocervice.

Does Mrs. Bruce have many books not returned? Well, that's a problem all libraries encounter, she says, city or country. It hasn't been a big one in Sedgewick although a quick look in the files reveals a book dating back to September.

Mrs. Bruce opens the library three days a week: Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Hours of operation on Tuesday are 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., mostly to benefit teachers, she explains. Thursdays and Fridays the library is open from 2 to 4 p.m.

Strome District News Items

Sympathy is extended from the community to the family of the late Mrs. Theresa Schissler, who passed away in St. Mary's Hospital March 26.

The Senior Citizens held their fun afternoon last Wednesday with music supplied by Mrs. Pat Loesch, who was so kind to bring in her electric organ and who played old-time pieces with everyone joining in a sing song. She also played the piano with her father accompanying her on his violin, playing several old-time numbers.

The lovely afternoon came to a close with the hostesses, Mrs. Anne Heisler and Mrs. Cora Paulson serving a lovely lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. David Ferguson and little Rhonda of New Norway were supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Auburn last Tuesday evening.

Mr. Charlie Hayes spent a couple days in Calgary last week.

Mrs. Lois Rawe, Donald and Dennis and Mrs. Allen Peeler visited the Leo Carignan and Michael McCulloch families at Winfield during the spring break. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warner and family in Edmonton, enroute home.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Ashpes motored to Drumheller last Friday to spend the weekend with Ruth's brother, Jim Carter, and his family.

Murray and Peggy Golden and Darcy of Vegreville visited the Johnny Hauck's during the weekend.

Michael and Charlotte Lane and Rebecca of Edmonton weekended with Allen Peeler.

Ken Hill of Edmonton visited at his parents' home last weekend.

Charlie Busse and Debbie Ault of Edmonton visited relatives over last weekend.

Mrs. Ann Hill and Russell spent last Thursday in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Carr (nee Sheila McDougall) of Prince George visited Mr. Elmer McDougall, Dennis and Beverly last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schisler and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Allers motored to Leduc recently to visit Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hauser to help Mrs. Hauser celebrate her birthday.

Mrs. Janet Allers and boys spent the spring break with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hauck, at Provost.

Robert Schulte of Camrose visited with Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Allers last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Zissel and family of Prince George visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Zissel.

Johnny and Larry Allers spent last Monday in Wetaskiwin.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Zissel left last Monday on a trip to Germany.

Mr. John Reisen had his two sisters as visitors for the weekend.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

FOR A FRIEND

As about my daily tasks, I find
You, my friend, are on my mind.
With pen these words on paper stay,
These words I find so hard to say.
While loved ones stand, and watch, and wait
All must stay beyond the gate.
Unable to lighten your load of pain
So helpless we all must then remain.

Though we do not know and cannot see,
Whatever tomorrow's dawn may be.
Hold close your faith, and of this I'm sure,
No more will come than you can bear.
God be with you, for now and alway
May His peace enfold you along your way.
These words in person I cannot impart,
I have for you these thoughts in my heart.

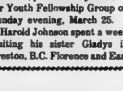
You don't have to go under.

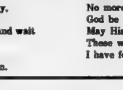
Remember me . . . so confident nothing seemed wrong while all the time I was slowly going under? Well, things are looking up now, because I took some basic steps toward common sense financial management.



Here are some steps you can take too.

Build up an emergency fund. Learn to expect the unexpected in your financial life - and plan for it.

Don't abuse your credit card. Buying beyond your means can cause serious financial problems. Learn to use credit wisely.



Want things to start looking up for you? Try these three steps and send for The Before You Go Under Guide. It may help. Write to Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs, Box 1616, Edmonton, Alberta T5J 2N9

Killam Brownies camp in-doors

The 1st Killam Brownie Pack began their overnight camp-in on Friday, March 16 at 5 p.m.

On hand to greet the brownies as they arrived were Brown Owl Ellen Tiffen, Tawny Owl Lori Fleck and their licensed camp advisor, Snow Owl Dorothy Folgate.

Junior helpers at the camp were Girl Guides Teresa Folgate and Debra Tiffen.

The eager campers were: Jodi Gillespie, Sheila Toporowski, Sheila McCleary, Mary Anne Mitchell, Denise O'Connor, Joanne Tarrant, Chrissy Forster, Maureen Fleck, Teresa Tiffen, Leola Slavik and Sharon Fleck.

The girls first familiarized themselves with the rules of the camp, job poster and, of course, the menu for the following day.

The girls rolled out their sleeping bags to see if they would all fit. After going over the program, they all gave their camp cheer, starting off their camp whose theme was International Year of the Child.

Supper was chicken, brought in from the Wheel-In Drive Inn and, needless to say, there was not a piece left over.

After clean-up chores, the girls went to swim at the pool. Returning from swimming, the girls enjoyed hot chocolate and a doughnut, as well as a piece of fruit.

Campfire was led by Debra Tiffen and Teresa Folgate, helping the girls learn new songs along with the familiar ones.

Taps was sung and then the girls got ready for bed. Lights were out by 11:30 p.m. but the chatter continued a little longer!

Early Brownie risers helped the Guides out of their sleeping bags a little sooner than they expected.

Brownies lent a hand for breakfast and clean-up, then they settled down for a talk by Dorothy Folgate on International Year of the Child as defined by the United Nations declaration of the Rights of the Child: "The right to affection, love and understanding. The right to adequate nutritional and medical care. The right to a free education. The right to full opportunity for play and recreation. The right to a name and nationality. The right to special care if handicapped. The right to be amongst the first to receive relief in times of disaster. The right to learn to be a useful member of society and to develop individual abilities. The right to be brought up in a spirit of peace and universal brotherhood. The right to enjoy these rights, regardless of race, colour, sex, religion, national or social origin."

Each right has its own symbol and the girls each put a poster together using the proper symbols for each poster. Each girl received an Aware Care Share button to be worn in 1979.

Tawny Owl then gave the girls the felt pieces for the logo depicting IYC. Each put their logo together on a background of white felt.

The official logo was created for this special year by Danish graphic designer Eric Jerichau. It is composed of two figures, a child in the arms of an adult, both encircled by Laurel leaves, the symbol of the United Nations for many years.

The girls ended their crafts by writing their names on everyone's scarf, to which the logo was attached.

The Guides took the girls on a short walk before dinner, which was hamburgers and chips with juice, milk, hot chocolate and a fruit, as well as celery and carrot sticks.

After a 30-minute quiet time, the girls readied for a hike which was more than three kilometres in length. One girl was overheard to comment, "Next time they ask if we want to go on a hike, I'm going to say no!" But they readily admitted it was fun.

Then it was back to camp for a five-minute rest and lunch.

Campfire was led by Brown Owl with the girls readily joining in. Camp closed with a prayer and taps.

As leaders, we thoroughly enjoyed our time here and hope our brownies will always remember it as a special time in their growing up.

-Brown Owl Tiffen

New schedule announced

Killam Agri-pool

Spring is here and it is time for all of us to get with it. We realize it has been a long, cold winter. It was fine to sit by the fire and "sip 'n snack" then, but the bulges and spare tires are not going to disappear by themselves. It's time to get fit!

We have revised our pool schedule somewhat in hopes to appeal to all ages, levels and aspects of swimming. A full set of lessons has been scheduled but is tentative, pending registration.

Some of the changes and additions to our program include:
-Morning swim 7 - 8 a.m. Mon., Wed., and Fri.
-Swimnastics 2:30 - 3:30 p.m. Mon. and 8 - 9 p.m. Wed.
-Ladies (learn to swim - all levels) 1:30 - 2:30 p.m. Mon. 2 - 3 p.m. Wed., 7 - 8 p.m. Mon. and Wed.
-Adult (learn to swim - all levels) 9 - 10 Mon. and Wed.
-Aquatic Games (adult - 16 yrs and up) 9 - 10 Tues. and Thurs.
-Aquatic Games (all ages) 10 - 12 a.m. Sat.
-Adult Public Swim 3 - 4 p.m. Wed., 8 - 9 p.m. Sun.
-Teen Swim 9 - 10 p.m. Fri.
-Family Swim 4 - 5 p.m. Sun.

Check the pool schedule in next week's issue to find out any of the classes you or your family would be interested in. Register now by phoning 385-3617 or 385-3996.

The Killam Pool expects to be fully operational again within a few days. Unfortunately, the pool has experienced some mechanical difficulty but the needed part is on its way so that everything will be fully operational once again.

When lessons get underway, fees for the six week session are $20 for adults, $14 for students 12 and older, and $11 for children.

Regular swim fees are $1.50 for adults, $1 for students and 75 cents for children. Two month swim passes are available at $14 for adults, $10 for students and $8 for children. Families of any size can acquire a two-month swim pass for $35.

The pool is also available for rent on an hourly basis when other activities or lessons are not scheduled. Lifeguards are included in the hourly rate. Bookings can be made by phoning 385-3617.

We are appealing to all domestic engineers (housewives), who are doing your spring cleaning. Any old toy that would float is very beneficial to our pre-school or moms and tots classes. Bleach bottles as well prove to be very helpful in our swimnastic classes.

POISONOUS HOUSEPLANTS

Houseplants have become an attractive and important part of home and office decor. In addition to adding both colour and beauty to the home, they may also present a hazard, especially if there are young children in the home.

We should all be aware of the potential problem that exists with certain houseplants that have toxic properties. This does not imply that you should rid your house of all of these plants, but that you should realize some plants pose a potential danger. Often, large quantities of a plant classified as poisonous must be ingested before harmful effects occur.

It is your responsibility to know the identity and scientific name of the plants in your home that are potential hazards. Children should be taught at an early age to keep unknown plants and plant parts out of their mouths. They too should be made aware of the danger of poisonous plants.

If any of the houseplants listed below are ingested and poisoning is suspected, phone your family doctor or nearest hospital emergency room immediately. Give all pertinent information to the doctor, including the name of the plant (preferably the scientific name), the toxic agent, the quantity eaten and the symptoms.

Plant	Toxic Agent Type of Poisoning	Poisonous Part	Symptoms
Azalea (Rhododendron occidentale)	Andromedotoxin, arbutin glucoside Internal poisoning	All parts	Nausea, salivation, vomiting, weakness, dizziness, difficulty in breathing, loss of balance. 100-225 g (¼-½ lb.) of azalea leaves must be eaten to seriously poison a child weighing 25 lbs.
Caladium (Caladium hortulanum)	Calcium oxalate and asparagine. Internal poisoning.	All parts	Ingestion can cause severe irritation to the mouth and throat, may also be an irritant to stomach and intestines.
Calla Lily (Zantedeschia aethiopica)	Calcium oxalate Internal poisoning	Leaves and rhizome	Ingestion can cause burning and swelling of mouth and throat. Vomiting.
Crown of Thorns (Euphorbia milli splendens)	Sap unknown irritant Dermatitis & Internal poisoning.	Sap	Contact causes skin and eye irritation, ingestion of sap causes swelling of the tongue, mouth and throat, vomiting.
Dumbcane (Dieffenbachia sp.)	Calcium oxalate and asparagine Internal poisoning.	All parts.	Biting into, chewing or tasting rapidly produce irritation and burning of the surfaces of mouth, tongue and lips. The swelling may make the tongue immobile, may interfere with swallowing and breathing and in very severe cases may cause choking. The symptoms can last for several days or for a week or more.
Elephant Ear (Colocasia spp.)	Calcium oxalate Asparagine Internal poisoning	All parts.	Burning of the mouth and throat with swelling salivation, vomiting and diarrhea.
English Ivy (Hedera helix)	Saponic glycosine Hederagenin Internal poisoning	Leaves	Excitement, difficult breathing and coma.
Hyacinth (Hyacinth orientalis)	Alkaloid Bulb Internal Poisoning.	Bulb	Mucous stomach cramps, vomiting and diarrhea.
Jerusalem Cherry (Solanum pseudocapsicum)	Solanine alkaloids Internal poisoning	All parts. Highest concentrations in the unripened fruit and leaves.	Stomach pains, low temperature, paralysis, dilated pupils, vomiting, diarrhea, circulation and respiratory depression, loss of sensation and death
Philodendron (Philodendron spp.)	Calcium oxalate Internal poisoning.	Leaves and stems.	Burning of the mouth. Vomiting and diarrhea

These are just a few of the poisonous house plants. For a more complete listing, phone Alberta Agriculture, 384-3737, or write P.O. Box 270. We have a Garden Fax pamphlet listing these poisonous plants which is yours FREE for the asking.

New pool supervisor

The Killam Agri-pool has a new pool supervisor -- one who is no stranger to the Killam area or pool. When it first opened in December, 1975, June operated it without any previous experience and a staff of four junior guards.

Now, five years later, with much acquired knowledge and experience, she is our tentative pool supervisor.

June's main responsibility is that the pool schedules facilitate all ages, levels and aspects of swimming. She has started a volunteer program for responsible young people to work in the office area. Their duties would include checking in bathers, tabulating the bathing load, office clean up and changing room patrol.

June will also keep busy lifeguarding, teaching, scheduling and programming of all pool activities. She welcomes any suggestions pertaining to the pool, and she and her staff look forward to seeing you at the Agri-pool soon.

From Where I Stand

First off, the swim workshop held from March 26 to 30 was a success with new supervisor June Gair and the staff doing an excellent job. Boy! It sure was good to get into the water for the first time in about four months.

The pool staff for the 1979 swimming season are: June Gair, supervisor; Janet Borth, instructor/guard/coach (volunteer); Jim Black volunteer guard; Denny Day, volunteer instructor/guard; John Brady, volunteer instructor/guard; Pat Brady, volunteer instructor/guard; Dianne Bouchard, guard; Darren Grant, guard/water safety leader; Ken La Fantasie, guard. Junior guards are: Allison Gaume, guard and water safety leader; Glenn Black, guard and water safety leader; Wendy Romanuk, guard and water safety leader; Brenda Graham of Heisler, guard and water safety leader; and George Plonka of Strome, diving instructor.

Swimming lessons in the Killam Agri-Pool will begin Monday, April 9. To date, the classes scheduled are: Mimo & Tots - Mon. & Thurs. 10:15 - 11. Pre-school Program - Mon. & Thurs. 9:30 - 10:15. Pre-beginner - Mon. & Wed. - 4:10 - 4:50. Beginner - Mon. & Wed. 4:50 - 5:30. Survival - Tues. & Thurs. 4 - 4:40. Junior - Tues. & Thurs. 4 - 4:40. Intermediate - Mon. & Wed. 4:10 - 4:50. Senior - Tues. & Thurs. 4:50 - 5:30. Bronze Medallion and Cross - Mon. 8 - 9 p.m., Tues. Wed., Thurs. 4:30 - 5:30 p.m., Fri. 4 - 5 p.m. Ladies #1 Learn to Swim - Mon. 1:30 - 2:30, Wed. 2 - 3. Ladies #2 Learn to Swim - Mon. & Wed. 9 - 10. Adult Learn to Swim - Mon. & Wed. 9 - 10. Swimnastics - Mon. 2:30 - 3:30, Wed. 8 - 9

Mural painted

Harry Konown, retired art teacher for the County of Flagstaff, designed and painted a three-colour graphic on a wall of the Killam pool area in January with the assistance of Rick Child. Bold lines of blue, green and brown travel the entire length of the pool's west wall, with circles and other graphics providing variety.

Harry and Rick gave of their time and energy to add colour and brightness to the Agri-pool along with their 26 volunteers: Angie George, Ruby Stainthorpe, Jean Prichard, Jackie and Wade Bonnett, John Brady, Doreen Koeber, Dorthy Geame, Yvonne Sporaits, Ruby and Doug Wilson, Buddy James, Daria Prichard, Louise Grant, Maureen Sattler, Lois Prichard, Irene Black, Josie Borth, Judy and Darrel Gunderson, Sheila Child, Jean Child, Janet Leslie, Elaine Manning, Janet Borth and Lorraine Cleveland of Sedgewick.

Fee & Sons supplied the paint at a discount price and donated two extra gallons for the changing rooms.

P.E.T. visits Camrose

The federal election campaign got off to a roaring start on Friday, March 30 with a "Thanks, Jack" rally for Crowfoot Constituency liberal candidate Jack Horner at Camrose. Highlight of the affair was the announcement that Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau would attend the affair, which swelled the crowd to an estimated 2,500.

The rally got underway at 8 p.m. when Jack was "piped in" by Eric Beddoes and Jock and Ed Blake of Daysland, Rod Sykes, former mayor of Calgary acted as MC and introduced the platform and other guests, which included a number of past and present MPs and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Horner.

At 8:30, the guest speaker, Pierre Trudeau, arrived and was piped in by the Daysland Pipers and was introduced by Doug Herbert, president of the Crowfoot Liberal Association.

In his remarks, Mr. Trudeau stressed the values westerners placed on life and characters, going on to say they were proud to be Westerners and Canadians. He followed with a number of thought-provoking ideas and federal and provincial matters and their differences, touching on such things as trade and natural resources.

A summary of his address would indicate a strong plea for a strong federal government to stand up for the interests of the whole of Canada.

Sedgewick Legion members have been busy the past year with fund-raising for community projects. One of the projects was achieved last week when a cheque for $3,182. was presented to the Community Hall board to pay for new chairs.

Legion President Dick Matthew (top right) presents the cheque to Hall Chairman Ray Pottage. Looking on are Lorne French, hall treasurer and Claude McArthur (left) fund-raising chairman.

In the left photo, a smiling Mike Smith receives a cheque for $1,000 from Mr. Matthews. Mike's ticket #176 was the first one drawn in the second series of the Legion Bonanza draw.

The draw, which first began last year, offers ticket holders 12 chances to win $1,000.

Martin wins spiel

The Pete Martin curling rink of Sedgewick emerged victorious over the R. Bendfeld rink to win the Strome Men's Open Bonspiel Finishing third was C. Fujczak and fourth place went to the Ed Blais rink of Daysland.

Winner of the 2nd event was the Tom Kreetch rink of Edmonton. Second place was won by Mike Kusker, third by R. Brown and fourth by J. Loesch.

In the 3rd event, the winner was the M. Olsen rink from Daysland while second place went to J. Stewart. Finishing third was F. Frechler and fourth was E. Hamm.

The Strome Curling Club would like to thank the following for their generous donations in helping make our bonspiel such a success: Strome Feeds, Steil's Holdings, D. Flagstaff Anglican Church News

A large congregation assembled on Sunday at All Saints' Church in Lougheed to observe Passion Sunday and to witness the dedication of the new electric organ.

Both old and new organs were played for the occasion, with Mr. Allan Cookson and Mrs. Wendy Edey acting as organists. A hymn book was dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Pauline Butcher, who had long served as organist at All Saints. After the service, a delicious pot luck dinner was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Margaret Jarosch of Edmonton has been visiting with her father, Mr. Ned Butcher, of Lougheed.

David and Wendy Edey of Edmonton spent the weekend with Wendy's parents, Don and Verona Cookson and family. David and Wendy have purchased the old All Saints organ.

Please take note of the up coming Holy Week services, and try to attend whenever possible.

Special Palm Sunday observances will be held in Killam at 11 a.m. on Sunday, April 8. The Sunday School and say other children present will participate in the procession.

On Wednesday, April 11, a special Holy Week service will take place at All Saints Church in Lougheed at 7 p.m.

The Good Friday interdenominational service will take place in Sedgewick this year at St. John's Anglican Church at 11 a.m. on April 13 with the four clergymen of the Sedgewick area participating. The public is cordially invited to attend this unique service.

Mrs. Marie Martin of Lougheed is enjoying a visit from her sister, Rosetta, from British Columbia.

Congratulations to Donna Martin, who graduated recently from the Christopher Leadership Course in Castor. Donna received the coveted Christopher pin as the female student who was voted by her classmates to have contributed most to the course.

Happy 20th anniversary wishes to Rev. and Mrs. Conrad, who were honoured on Saturday in Edmonton at the home of their daughter and were presented with a special plaque to commemorate the occasion.

SECOND SECTION WEDNESDAY, APRIL 4, 1979

Varied agenda at chamber

The March meeting of the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce took place in the Parkland Manor on March 29 with President Jim Thomson presiding. The lack of members at the meeting was more than made up for by the liveliness of the discussion, and those absent missed one of the most entertaining meetings to date.

The minutes were read and the treasurer's report given, after which correspondence from the Alberta Chamber, Outdoors Unlittered, Edmonton Exhibition and private individuals were read and dealt with.

One letter was received from a fourth grade student in Calgary, requesting information about Hardisty. She stated she had never heard of Hardisty, but it sounded like an interesting place! Had she been at the meeting, she would have discovered her surmise was correct. Secretary Shirley Campbell will send her a number of pamphlets to help her with her project.

Rose Marie Thompson reported on publicity and on the Devonian Main Street Project. As the response for trees has been almost nil, Rose Marie suggested that her committee now conduct a personal phone campaign to the surrounding farm folk to see if the necessary trees can be obtained in this manner.

Alan Thompson stated there have been no new developments in regards to the hospital other than we now have a new minister to deal with following the expulsion from cabinet of Gordon Minsky. The chamber members congratulated President Jim on his interviews on CFCW in regards to the hospital situation and thanked him for having the intestinal fortitude to publicly speak out in this matter.

Membership Chairman Doug Drever had nothing new to report. If you have not renewed your membership for this year, or if you'd like to join, why not contact Doug or Adella Goldsmith, thereby saving them a lot of running around.

Business Manager Darcy Broughton suggested that the free businessmen's draw during Round-Up Days be a trip for two to Vancouver and the membership heartily endorsed this idea.

Welcome Chairman Lacy Syder asked for the chamber's affirmation that no advertising be included in the soon-to-be-published Welcome Book. It was the unanimous feeling of those present that we back this suggestion.

Town Councillor Doris Yuskiw gave a brief resume of the town's plans to upgrade Hardisty Lake Park.

There followed considerable open discussion on Round-Up Days but, unfortunately, some of the key members on the Round-Up Day Committee were absent, thereby making it impossible for us to come up with a budget. Darcy offered to call a special meeting so that all this information can be correlated in preparation for the next regular meeting. Joyce Harrison, parade chairman, has compiled announcements listing the parade categories and including an invitation to participate. These will be mailed to businesses and groups in the area.

It was the unanimous decision of the chamber to host a political forum in view of the upcoming federal election. To this end, invitations are being sent to the Crowfoot candidates. Please watch for more information on this important happening when a date has been confirmed and acceptance received.

Correction

In last week's paper, winners in the Lougheed Lions' Charter Night were reported incorrectly. Jim Armitage was a $50 winner in a cash cheque draw and also Ken Sather won $50.

Attending the evening were the Hardisty Lions and members and wives of the Daysland Lions Club.

District Girl Guides hold winter-time camp

Excellent weather greeted a group of Girl Guides Friday, March 16 as they started their winter camp at the North Viking Gas Camp.

A total of 30 girls and five adult leaders were present, representing Strome, Forestburg, Sedgewick, Holden and Viking. Two Rangers from Forestburg, Anita Boutin and Sue Frank, and also Shelly Thorburn of Strome were "Quartermasters" and prepared the meals, assisted by the Guides.

Friday evening started with "get acquainted" games and ended with a campfire.

Saturday saw the girls, with complete co-operation from the weather, head out on a four-mile hike. Their destination was the campsite north of Viking where they stopped and cooked lunch before heading back.

On their arrival back at the gas camp, they worked with leather crafts and other badges. A main project for the weekend was the constructing of a friendship quilt composed of squares with one girl's name on each. This quilt will be sent to Vietnam as a service project to the underprivileged.

Another, more leisurely, walk started Sunday's program. As the girls held a "Walking Golden Over," (Hike to the Guide's form of a church service and on this occasion came complete with music as Sonja Frank played her guitar as they walked.

More badge work and closing the camp filled the rest of the day. At 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon, the girls headed for home.

Lougheed News

Mr. and Mrs. Hunter White called on Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kroetch a couple Sundays ago and then went to Mrs. Mary Albrecht and Edwin's for supper.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamper, Kimberly and Sharlene from Fort St. James were recent visitors with Mrs. Essie Drager and other friends and relatives.

On Friday, March 30, the whist drive was held at Bells Hill with nine tables being played. The winners were: Esther Cameron and Clifford Simpson, first; Chrissie Armstrong and Ralph Stell, sweep; Mary Cameron and Dave Livingston, mystery; Hilda Simpson and Duncan Cameron, travelling; and Heddy Cameron and Arnold Mariow, consolation.

Next week, it will be at Goose Creek, April 6.

The April 13 whist drive will be held at Bells Hill on Good Friday, not on the Thursday as it has been other years.

Get well wishes to Mrs. Chrissie Armstrong in the Galahad Hospital. Also, to Mrs. Carol Grunninger in the Daysland Hospital.

Richard Ries and friend from Lloydminster and Mrs. Ella Clouston from the Lodge at Sedgewick were visiting at Mr. and Mrs. Tom Clouston's home.

Derek Probst has returned to Edmonton after spending the spring break with his grandpa and grandma Probst. He also visited his cousin Kreshka and Auntie Janet, Uncle Doug and Mark.

The weekend visitors at T. Clouston's were Mrs. Irene Lyster of Camrose and Raymond and Brenda Clouston from Picture Butte.

Mrs. Carson of Calgary is visiting with her daughter Lorraine and Pat Frost for a few weeks.

Welcome home to Mr. and Mrs. James McClements, who have been travelling around the last couple months in the States and B.C.

Mrs. Mable Quast and Mrs. Helen Black were in Mexico for a week or two.

Everybody will be getting home from holidays and so on. Spring is here and it means we will be busy outside with cleaning up the winter's garbage and getting gardens cleaned up.

Editorially

It's all in the head

We've come to suspect that Dr. Jack Dobush, school superintendent for the County of Lamont, wears rather small shoes. It seems the only explanation as to how the gentleman can keep putting his foot in his mouth so easily.

Dr. Dobush is the orator of the now-famous statement: "public school is no place for a handicapped child." Since he uttered the fateful line last week, Dr. Dobush has received scathing criticism throughout the media. We'd like to add our two-cents' worth.

From what we've gathered, this particular school superintendent feels disabled children should be hustled into the big city institutions rather than left in their own community. If a family has to uproot itself to do so, then so be it.

He was quoted by The Edmonton Journal as saying: "How do you justify money spent on this person (an 11-year-old wheelchair victim of cerebral palsy), who is likely not to be productive or give you any return on your tremendous expenditures?"

We feel sorry for all the Dr. Dobushes in the world. And we feel lucky this feeling hasn't existed in our own school district. Rather, it's been the opposite, where children have been taken out of the city and brought back into their own community, accepted by the school system and befriended by everyone else.

Dr. Dobush might be interested to know it works, too, depending on your attitude. We recall reading a while back of a young man who, because of a similar disease, also was confined to a wheelchair, who only had limited use of his arms, but whose brain worked overtime to compensate. He was a composer – a gifted and highly successful one. He couldn't sing his words very well, but that didn't change their meaning or the sincerity of the feelings he had expressed in them.

What would have happened had his creativity been confined to limited quarters the way his body had been?

History tells us that in ancient times, children born with handicaps were not allowed to live. Who knows but one of those children, had he lived, might have been a great leader – perhaps a powerful influence for peace and compassion.

We believe almost all things are accomplished because of the brain's ability to make them come about, not from how healthy the legs are. It's really all in the head!

What Others Say

Relocating Farm Credit

Ottawa says it is actively working at relocating Farm Credit Corporation to Camrose by 1981. In the wind now is a visit to Camrose by FCC officials to explore various building sites and make final recommendations on the most suitable site. We are also told "corporation officials have held meetings recently to explore the possibilities of tendering for private sector funding and development of a building that the corporation could utilize under a lease-purchase arrangement."

The bill to make the relocation possible is at the second reading stage in Parliament, and once that passes the location of the head office of the corporation can be designated by an order of the Governor in Council.

In making the announcement, Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan throws one "however" in the works. He said, however, that before the relocation can be realized, permanent arrangements must be made with the province of Alberta to ensure that the children of corporation employees will have access to schooling in both English and French. He says no definite arrangements have been agreed to, but he is confident a solution will be found.

There is a little to be read between the lines here, and it is almost obvious that the FCC's move to Camrose hinges on Jack Horner's election as a Liberal. Without that being accomplished you can look for Ottawa to withdraw the move and send FCC elsewhere. And the reason will be that Camrose schools were unable to provide an acceptable level of schooling in French.

On a related subject, but from a different point of view, the government's bilingual program has been cited as being something less than complete, so why do they persist? Seems to us they are attempting to create a major problem where only a minor one existed. One of the rules of psychology is that if you want someone to do something without objection, persuade him, or her, they will enjoy it and it will be for their personal benefit. Don't tell them they have to do it regardless.

The Wetaskiwin Times

The Third Column

by Truncate
(I Write As I Please)

WE PAY MORE ATTENTION, and rightfully so, to Easter Day than we do to Palm Sunday. Yet Palm Sunday was most important in the event of history, according to Charles Buck Jr. "for on that day the Lord did a very surprising thing. He went into Jerusalem in triumph and there accepted the acclamation of the crowds. An unusual thing for Him to do. Why did He do it? This thing so uncharacteristic of Him."

IT IS EASY ENOUGH TO SEE why He chose the place and the time, for Jerusalem was the very centre of national life, and if anybody had a claim to make, Jerusalem was the place to make it. It was the time of the feast of the Passover, so that was the time to make it. There were more people in the city at that time than at any other time of the year, and if you wanted to put across a message to as many as possible, Passover was the time to find them in one place.

WHAT HE DID WAS DONE deliberately, and He made all proper arrangements ahead of time (the donkey and the answers to be given if the two disciples were questioned). They carried out their duties just as instructed and things worked out just as He told them they would. You see, the whole thing was planned.

IT IS ALSO QUITE CLEAR from a bit of study that Jesus entered as planned in order to fulfill the conditions of ancient prophecy, and He planned the entry in such a way as to make it impossible for the people to miss the point. Here He was deliberately claiming to be the Lord whose coming was prophesied. Just the same, this kind of public demonstration strikes most of us as uncharacteristic of Jesus, for He was not the sort of person who liked to draw attention to Himself. Indeed, most times He tried to draw attention away from himself. It was uncharacteristic of Him, whose personal modesty we are familiarized with all through the Gospels. Yet, there is one aspect of the triumphal entry that is highly characteristic of Him, and that is that it was a demonstration rather than an argument, for we know that He often used the art of demonstration to make a point.

YET THE ENTIRE ENTRY is not so uncharacteristic as it seems at first glance. When the time came for Him to offer Himself as the promised Lord for whom they had been waiting, he did not make a political speech, He performed an act of public demonstration and put it squarely up to them to decide whether they were going to stand with Him or against Him. Of course, we all know how it turned out. The crowds acclaimed Him. They even spread garments on the way as a royal carpet and bestrewed the way with branches from trees. Yet the enthusiasm of the crowd was for that moment only, for most of them really didn't want the kind of life Jesus offered. As the days followed each other, it became clear that the majority to whom He offered himself wanted no part of Him. As event followed event, we find that most of them who had shouted "Hosanna, Blessed Is He" were the ones who also shouted "Crucify Him" on Good Friday. Perhaps there is no real evidence of this. Perhaps it was another group, more numerous and powerful who took over and overwhelmed the real welcomers, drowned them out and frightened them off.

WE SOMETIMES WONDER if the Lord were to come into the world again today, the same thing would happen all over again. It's hard to believe though for the fact that He lived was not without its effect on man. His teaching deepened the dimension of moral thinking, and His death and resurrection have enlarged the horizons of our understanding of the spiritual things of life. If He came to us again as He came on that first Palm Sunday, we think He would find more men and women ready to accept Him; those who have not forsaken the gospel; those businessmen who are not dishonest; those government officials who are not corrupt; that all mankind has not fallen prey to the worship of material comfort and wordly success.

WE THINK THAT what His coming would do would be to divide the world into two groups. There would be those who would stand with Him and those who would stand against Him. The big question for all of us is, which group would we belong to?

THAT TO US is the meaning of Palm Sunday, and that is why we like to term the day the anti-climax, the prelude to Easter Sunday.

Easter is not a time for groping through dusty, musty tomes or tombs to disprove spontaneous generation or even to prove life eternal. It is a day to fan the ashes of dead hope, a day to banish doubts and seed the slopes where the sun is rising, to revel in the faith which transports us out of ourselves and the dead past into the vast and inviting unknown.

4-H CLUB Activities

MESSLER SOUTH DAIRY

The Heisler South Dairy Club's meeting was held on Tuesday, March 20 in the Heisler School. Roll call was answered with what star we'd like to be if we weren't ourselves.

We discussed when we would have our 4-H tours. It was decided it would be on March 28.

We got tickets for the rodeo on March 31. We also discussed the 4-H exchange to Tennessee.

Our guest speaker, the district home economist, Mrs. Marilyn Matthiessen, then spoke to us on etiquette.

Hardisty News

The largest funeral to be held in Czar that people can recall was held in the hall on Tuesday March 27 for people to pay their last respects to Brett Serwachuk, young son of Chuck and Kay.

The hall did not house all the crowd as a number had to stand outside.

The service was taken by the Provost priest, name not recalled, and he enlarged on the highlights of the youth's life, beginning with enthusiasm for so many things.

Friends of both Kay and Chuck's came from near and far and a few ex-Hardisty residents were Mrs. Swinarski with sons Mike and John, and his wife Jackie (nee Hendricks). Also attending were Stan Kolojay and his wife from Unity, Saskatchewan.

Your reporter was pleased to accompany Joe and Anna Saruga to attend this very sad occasion.

Mrs. Susan Kachmar (nee Kromer) of Leduc, with her two young daughters, are visiting Susan's parents, George and Dorothy Kromer.

Mrs. Annie Evans of Edmonton is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mazure. Annie was lucky and won the Elks Bonanza bingo Wednesday night.

Mrs. Marlene Glazier (nee Cavanagh) and children of Calgary spent the spring break with her father, J.C. Cavanagh.

Maurice and Kathleen Manning and Loretta and Lynn attended Lakeland College's Colour Night where Laura was presented with the Hugh Service Memorial Trust Scholarship for her high academic achievement in interior design merchandising.

District 4-H arranges trip to Tennessee

March 19, the 4-H District Council held a meeting with the Tennesse Exchange the major subject. This will be open to any 4-Her 14 to 18 and will cost about $400. It is an eight-day exchange with us going down there this summer and them coming back next summer.

Tentative dates are July 2 to 11. Happy Face Camp is to be August 6 to 9 at Hardisty Lake. There will be no District Rally this year. Highway Clean-up is on May 5 with reflective vests and road signs being provided. Contracts to be signed at the next meeting, April 17.

Sedgewick man elected to board

The two-day conference and annual meeting of the Alberta Association of Agriculture Societies (AAAS) in Edmonton last month saw Jim Tindall of Sedgewick re-elected as 1st vice-president of the provincial organization.

In addition to the election of directors, the conference featured discussion on liquor regulations, lotteries, health of animals, federal grants, the Agricultural Societies' Work Experience Program, health standards for fairs and shows, as well as other topics relevant to the 82 societies represented.

The new Board of Directors of AAAS is: Rennie Cormack, president, of Westerose; Mr. Tindall as 1st vice-president; Marjorie Rock, 2nd vice-president, Manning; Morris Sinkwich, Wanham; R. Gibb, Taber; Jerry Ash, Camrose; Joan Roberts, Elnora; Tom Reed, South Edmonton; Peter Wyllie, past president, Vegreville; and Heidi Farkas of Bellis. Margaret Matonovich was re-appointed as secretary treasurer.

Lougheed Rebekahs meet

Ten members of the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge met for their regular meeting on Wednesday evening, March 28. Lodge opened in form with N.G. Verona Cookson in the chair.

Sisters Gruninger and L. Skoberg were reported to be in the hospital. Members had done some visiting and the good cheer lady had sent several cards.

Two letters of congratulations were received for the floor work done at Assembly, one from Silver Link Lodge and one from D.D.P. Sis. Lawson.

Sis. Lawson will visit the lodge on April 11 and Assembly Warden on April 25. The sisters are reminded to please wear their long dresses for each occasion. On April 11, the sisters plan to attend the Anglican Church at 7 p.m., prior to lodge.

It was decided to hold a pot luck tea for Sisters Derrangh and Grove if we could find a date period when each would be willing to forgo the pleasures of packing to substitute drinking tea. Sisters Derrangh and Grove are moving to Lethbridge.

Following Penny Drill, lodge closed in harmony. Sisters Kingborn and Johnson served a delightful lunch, which could only have been improved upon in one way -- more members with whom to share it.

Nazarene News

Welcome home to Mrs. Jessie Swanson, who has spent the winter in Edmonton with her sister, Mrs. Josie Theron.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Felsien and Irene's father, Mr. Ernest Fisher, spent spring break visiting Irene's brother in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Unger of Olds were weekend visitors at the Potter home while Sonja, Dale and Darrell visited their cousins at Olds.

Several of the congregation were in Edmonton over the weekend to hear Frank Rotz play with the North American Baptist College Concert Band at the Jubilee Auditorium.

Sunday, April 8, Rev. Evan Kaschele, pastor of Camrose Nazarene Church, will be guest speaker in the evening service.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Kirby were happy to have as their guests, Sharron's father, Mr. M. Demerse of Chilliwack.

Let's talk it over with Gordon

It's been quite awhile since I've sat down and written this column and there's a lot of news to catch up on.

Anyway, here's a partial list of events in our constituency that I was asked to attend:

Saturday, March 17, the Dayaland Agricultural Society Annual Supper. Wednesday, March 21, at a meeting called by the National Farmers' Union on its proposed lawsuit against the two major railroads. And that evening, I was back to Camrose at the annual meeting of Preventive Social Services.

Thursday, March 22, a meeting with the Department of Education regarding accommodation for the Bashaw Kindergarten School.

Sunday, March 25, the annual meeting in Stettler of the Federal P.C. Crowfoot Constituency.

Monday, March 26, that evening I was at Round Hill for its Recreation Board proposal of a covered arena.

Wednesday and Thursday, March 28 and 29, the swearing in ceremonies in the legislature and an all-day caucus, respectively.

Friday, March 30, in the forenoon, I met over coffee with the Bawlf Village Council and the Department of Transportation District Engineer from Stettler and directors from the Dayaland Drainage Ditch Association and went over ways and means, plus cost, of adequate water drainage for their villages.

And that evening, two events. One was at Strome where the whole community turned out to honour the local curlers who won the Elks Dominion Corby Cup Playdowns in Kenora, Ontario. Then a hurried trip back to the Camrose County Annual Meeting.

And this Saturday, March 31, Ardell and I were in Killam for the honouring of Fred and Dora Martin on their 50th wedding anniversary.

I also took my kids out to Pigeon Lake for some ice fishing and to make a long story short, we got skunked.

IN MEMORIUM

KLEIN — In loving memory of Warren Klein.
Loved by all who've known you
Your work is now all done
Your troubles are behind you
And as you've entered through heaven's door
You're in the place that's "home at last"
No, we shall ne'er forget you
For through you we've gained a joy
Of having known what laughter is
And how precious life can be.
Mom, Dad and family. 31-1p

TENDERS

The Council of the County of Flagstaff No. 29 invites Tenders for the hauling of gravel required to be placed on the county roads during the 1979 construction season.

It is estimated that approximately 160,000 cubic yards of gravel will be hauled from various county gravel pits and county stockpiles. Individual or group bids will be accepted. The council will require sufficient trucks to haul 120 to 200 cubic yars per hour. The successful bidder will be required to be available for hauling between the hours of 7:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. daily.

The successful bidder will be required to sign a contract and to submit a certificate from their insurance agent(s) certifying that they are carrying insurance coverage of at least $300,000.00 inclusive.

If the successful bidder requires an overweight permit, it will be his responsibility to obtain it from Alberta Transportation.

All bids are to be submitted on tender forms provided by the county. These tender forms will be available at the county office in Sedgewick during regular working hours. All tenders must be submitted to the county office no later than 5:00 p.m. on May 1, 1979.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

For further information regarding the 1979 gravel haul, please contact one of the undersigned or the county office.

Former resident now banker

One lady with an impressive track record when it comes to banking is Gwen Seip of Irma.

Gwen is the new manager of the Bank of Montreal's Irma branch. She is part of a pilot project in that it is the first time a woman has been put in charge of a rural bank branch. Gwen says there are six or eight lady bank managers in the urban centers of Edmonton and Calgary but as far as she knows, she is the first in a rural community.

She was born in Edmonton but was raised near Sedgewick where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Wilson, had a farm. After completing high school in Sedgewick, she "went banking."

Gwen began her career in the Toronto Dominion Bank in Red Deer in October of 1961, where she worked for two years. In December, 1963, she started at the Royal Bank in Red Deer, a job that lasted almost six years. She was married during this time and gave up working when she had a baby girl.

After the birth of her daughter in 1969, Gwen returned to banking again, this time in the Bank of Montreal in Red Deer. In September, 1971, she transferred to Yellowknife and, in 1973, to Edmonton where she filled the position of administration manager. She kept the same position when she was transferred to Calgary in 1975.

In 1977, Gwen had to move again, not only from Calgary to Pocoks, but also up to the position of accounts manager. This was another pilot project in that no woman had filled that position in the area before her. In January of this year, she was given the job of branch manager at Irma.

When asked how she liked all the moving, Gwen replied lightheartedly, "Join the Bank of Montreal and see Alberta."

Now that she is settled in at Irma, she hopes to have some time for summer sports, such as water skiing, reading and collecting stamps. She also has her hands full raising her nine-year-old daughter single handedly.

Gwen may not have lived in Irma very long but she is already the secretary-treasurer for the Chamber of Commerce. She also hopes to be able to get out and meet some Irma residents when the weather warms up. -The Weekly Review Viking

Joe Ball laid to rest at Merna

Joseph Ephraim Ball was born in Ely - Halesowen, England in 1882. He came to Canada in 1911 and married Laura Pace in 1916 in Depot Island, Ontario. They settled in the Wyoming district in 1917 and moved to the Grains district in 1925.

Mr. Ball's wife, Leona, passed away in 1960. In 1966, he married Laura Proteau and moved to Kamloops. Mr. Ball returned to Sedgewick each summer to farm until his retirement.

In 1970, Laura and Joseph made their home at the Bethany Nursing Home in Camrose. Laura predeceased her husband in 1971. Joseph remained at Bethany until his passing March 22, 1979.

Joseph is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Miller of Edmonton, three sons, Roy of Salmo, B.C., Lloyd of Leduc, and Fred of Sedgewick, three brothers, Edward of Chilliwack, B.C., Fred of Kamloops, B.C., and Leslie of Camrose, 10 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

He was predeceased by a brother, Reg, and a sister, Connie.

Funeral services were conducted in Merna United Church. Mr. Ball was laid to rest in the family plot in the Merna Cemetery.

The pallbearers were Clifford, Roy and Maurice Simpson, Ed Swainson, Bob Munro and Art Adamson.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the pallbearers, Uncle Leslie and Ethel for the floral wreath, Uncle Edward and Enid Matthews, Uncle Fred and Jessie for the floral arrangement, Rev. Chappell, the organist, Mrs. O'Reilly, to our dear friends for cards of sympathy and donations and to Fee & Sons, who handled the funeral arrangements so capably.

A special thank you to Bob Clark for digging and covering the grave so efficiently.

Your love and kindness will always be remembered.

The family of Joe Ball

Killam senior citizens enjoy cards and pool

Killam Senior Citizens held a very successful St. Patrick's on March 15. Cards were played, the men were shooting pool and other games were enjoyed.

The 500 card party was held March 29. Prize winners were Amy Robinson, Isabelle Robson and Harry O'Brien. A delightful lunch was served after each affair with St. Patrick green-decorated angel cakes.

Don't forget the Easter Pot Luck supper on April 10 at 6 p.m. Each person is to bring a dish of food of their choice. Bingo will follow.

Also, the monthly meeting will be held April 12 at 2 p.m. with a guest speaker, who will explain the procedure of obtaining a government grant for a mini bus for the seniors of Sedgewick and Killam. All members are urged to attend.

NON-SMOKERS CAN BREATHE EASY ON INSURANCE

If you don't smoke, the chances are we can save you money. As an agent for Maplex General Insurance, we offer lower than-average rates on car insurance and on homeowner and tenant policies. Why the savings. Because statistics prove non-smokers are generally more responsible people. So why should they get burned on their insurance?

Cosmic Signs

AQUARIUS

(January 20 - February 18) Don't let temporary delays make you restless. Obstacles are challenges. Plan and organize.

PISCES

(February 19 - March 20) You are sensitive, out on the wrong side of the bed. You may have difficulty finishing old business while concentrating on what's coming up.

ARIES

(March 21 - April 21) Joint affairs, partnerships and speculative ideas may require a decision now. Answers may be found in the advice of a close friend.

TAURUS

(April 22 - May 21) A pleasurable, romantic or festive week can bring some good news or gift. Schedule important discussions to yield good results.

GEMINI

(May 22 - June 21) On-again/off-again vibes can distract you from important business. You feel "centered," but those around you seem preoccupied or incompetent.

CANCER

(June 22 - July 23) Duties may frustrate you, responsibilities get you down. But there's a new surge of vitality which can't be held back.

LEO

(July 24 - August 23) Self-deception can undermine security somewhat. Understanding can be muddled and defenses up.

VIRGO

(August 24 - September 23) Others' cooperation is important, and much headway can be made now. Distances and business or romance are linked.

LIBRA

(September 24 - October 22) You may pass a test with flying colors now, through winning another over to your cause. You have a special insight into things.

SCORPIO

(October 23 - November 22) Initiatives receive a boost. Another's influence (or lack of it) may be crucial, literally changing the course of events.

SAGITTARIUS

(November 23 - December 22) Those with self-control can make the most of opportunities. Don't make unrealistic promises. Glamour, excitement or romance are triggered.

CAPRICORN

(December 23 - January 19) Eliminate small talk and get to the heart of the matter with another. You'll be surprised how a dose of loving-kindness can transform things.

JESUS OF NAZARETH

The conclusion of 'Jesus of Nazareth,' the acclaimed Biblical epic of the story of Jesus' life and teachings, will be presented Sunday, April 8 on NBC-TV's 'The Big Event'.

Franco Zeffirelli directed this production, which has an internationally renowned cast. Robert Powell portrays Jesus and Olivia Hussey (pictured) appears as the Virgin Mary.

This part includes the Last Supper, Jesus' agony in the Garden of Gethsemane, the betrayal by Judas, the Crucifixion on Calvary, the Resurrection and Jesus' taking leave of His disciples.

Anne Bancroft, Laurence Olivier, James Mason, Ernest Borgnine, James Farentino, Anthony Quinn, Ralph Richardson, Rod Steiger, Valentina Cortese, Ian McShane and Stacy Keach star in this expanded version of the production telecast in April 1977.

Marty Pasetta—
The man behind the Oscars

by Steve K. Walz

When ABC telecasts the prestigious Academy Award ceremonies on Monday, April 9, most of us will focus our attention to the glittering array of top-name stars who will open the envelopes, make a few wisecracks, and then make the various Oscar presentations. And, of course, we will take it for granted that the minute the 'golden fleece' is won by one of these actors or actresses, the cameras will automatically zoom in on those faces in the crowd, trying to post their emotions.

Unfortunately, many people do not appreciate the 'technical' aspects of such a lavish production, the cornerstone of the entire event.

Inserts

Producer/directors aren't seen. They're just heard by the various cameramen, switchers, sound people, etc. Just how hard is it to produce such an extravaganza? According to the dean of directors, Marty Pasetta, who holds the directing 'Triple Crown' of the entertainment industry's awards shows (Oscars, Emmy's and Grammy's), the Academy Award ceremonies requires a crew of 500.

"We use 18 cameras, 35 TV monitors, four associate directors, two technical directors, two switchers and a bunch of other production personnel. I'm basically responsible for tryng to capture the electricity of the Academy Award ceremonies, and that takes a lot of advance planning. For instance, we have three days of run-throughs (semi-rehearsals) so we can tighten up the overall production," offered Pasetta.

Marty Pasetta

With so many things happening on the technical side of the screen, it's almost impossible not to be nervous. Explained Pasetta, "To say that doing this production is nerve-wracking is an understatement. Sometimes you tend to let your senses drift a bit, but I try not to let it happen because it's a live show and you don't get a retake. Two million dollars and two months work are on the line, plus you have a world-wide audience looking on."

Lights, camera, action

Another contnbuting factor to the burden of producing a first-rate show is how the director portrays the stars that come across the tube. Some literally look lost without cue cards and at times are done an injustice by certain camera angles. It is Pasetta's job to present a positive image of these household names.

"I work with these people closely. You have to, since they are putting their careers in your hands. The camera angle can make or break a star. Therefore, the director must be involved with the lighting aspect of the program as well, which can enhance or distract the scene," Marty said.

"I basically try and instill confidence in the stars. I get letters every week from people who appreciate how I present them on the screen. Hey, I'm like a dentist or a doctor. I must learn how to use the new techniques that are now available in TV in order to make my production even better."

Angelic Cheryl Ladd

Every week some 50-million ogling viewers religiously tune in to 'Charlie's Angels' and watch angelic sleuth Cheryl Ladd, better known as Kris Munroe, try and track down some no-good white collar criminal, more often than not disarming him with her piercing blue-green eyes and divine figure.

But come Monday, April 9, you'll catch a glimpse of the other Cheryl Ladd—the one that grew up in Huron, South Dakota, and had a last name of Stoppelmoor.

The Cheryl Ladd Special' represents another step forward for the 26-year-old beauty who has been riding atop the crest of success since she literally filled the vacuum left by the departure of Farrah Fawcett-Majors from the Angels two years ago.

Angel dust

In an exclusive interview, Ms. Ladd reflected upon her rise to stardom, the daily rigors of being a star and what her special would reveal about herself. "I had worked for Aaron Spelling (Angels producer) before coming to 'Charlie's Angels.' I came very close to getting the part of Nancy on 'Family' (Meredith Baxter-Birney eventually got the role). Mind you, I was not desperate for the Angels part either, and believe it or not, there wasn't so much pressure to do the show once I was chosen. I spoke with the writers and I found out my own character was unlike Farrah's. Kris Munroe was not a sex object. I honed out how I wanted to play her—as an enthusiastic, under-dog type of person trying to overcome obstacles—and hoped the people would like it.

"For the past three months, I worked on the show 12 hours a day, then ran to a recording studio to work on an album for another five hours in the evening.

Cheryl reveals another side of herself in her first TV special.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: The spunky little star of 'Angie' says she almost married John Travolta. But now, she's also says she almost married John Travolta. But now, she's mighty glad she didn't. Little 5-foot-1-inch Donna Pescow became an overnight sensation in 'Saturday Night Fever' as the "easy" disco groupie, Annette, who adored John Travolta She adored him in real life, too—and Travolta let the same way about her. After the movie was completed, "we almost got married on the spur of the moment," Donna said. "But it wouldn't have worked. We were both too young and had too much to do in our careers before thinking of marriage." Finally, the 25-year-old actress got fed up with being known as "John Travolta's woman" and cut the romantic ties. But she and John still date. "It's tough being connected to a comet. As an actress I had to have my own identity. Now, at last, people see me for myself." . . . A West Coast publication reports that Hollywood comedians are accusing Robin Williams of 'Mork and Mindy' of stealing their routines that he sees in acts at The Comedy Store on Sunset Boulevard and using their material in the popular TV show. It states that some comics refuse to work when Williams is in the audience. It also says that one performer threw TV's hottest talent against a wall and demanded money for some material that appeared in the TV series. Insiders say Williams paid up.

ON THE TV SCENE: Problems, nothing but problems on the set of the 'Mrs. Columbo' series, and it seems star Kate Mulgrew is in the middle of 'em. She's a self-admitted perfectionist who insists every detail of everything has to be exactly right. She's getting her way, too, but not winning any popularity contests with the crew. Her reduction is way behind schedule. . . The marriage of Peter Falk and Shera Danese, even after a year old, seems troubled. Before they tied the knot, Shera promised Peter she'd stay home and keep house, but now she's got an agent and is looking for acting jobs. Peter has told friends that if he doesn't quit it, he'll leave. . . Jean Stapleton wasted no time after she decided to quit 'All In the Family.' She's signed up to do a year's tour with a play, 'Dame Mayne.' . . . 'Star Trek's Mr. Spock, Leonard Nimoy, isn't so cool after all. While woodworking, he slashed his thumb to the bone. It took 12 stitches and may never be the same . . . Producer Phil Borack, who sold Barbara Eden's 'Harper Valley PTA' movie to NBC for $1,250,000, is now talking to Barbara about a TV series pilot in which she'd star.

INSIDE THE TUBE: 'Family's' precocious Quinn Cummings and her co-star Kristy McNichol are fed up with each other and beginning to disrupt the entire cast and crew of the hit show. "She's a spoiled stage brat," Kristy rages. She thinks she can have her own way about everything. . . . counters Quinn. Superdaddy Marty Ingels trazied wife Shirley Jones and all the Cassidy's to a fabulous 90-day world cruise . . . One rumor that deeply disturbs Jaye P. Morgan ('The Today Show') is that she gets essay ideas from her close friend, Garry Trudeau, the 'Doonesbury' cartoonist. Jaye admits, "Of course we talk about a lot of things. He's brilliant. I'm not. I'm just smart. I did an essay on 'Today' recently about Cambodia, and I was shocked to hear somebody say I was simply mouthing Garry's thoughts. That wouldn't have happened if I were a man." . . . Telly Savalas moved to a hotel, leaving his wife Sally stranded in their mansion with the kids. Hotel employees admit Telly has a lot of girlfriends but hates for anyone to know it . . .

schedule wasn't easy, but I said to myself 'this too shall pass.' I mean, I waited 26 years for these opportunities, so I just grit my teeth and try to do my best.

"The special itself reflects upon the fantasies I had about show-biz when I was growing up in South Dakota. There'll be plenty of singing and dancing. Bob Mackie designed my outfits, and Waylon Jennings and Ben Vereen will be on the show," Cheryl beamed.

But Cheryl was acutely aware of what might have happened to her career if 'Charlie's Angels' had suffered a fatal case of Nielsen blahs after Farrah's departure. "If we bombed, everyone would have blamed me," she claimed Without going for the jugular, despite some negative press diarrhea emanating from the set, Ladd diplomatically explained her relationship with Kate Jackson and Jaclyn Smith. "We're all trying to do our jobs. We get along professionally, but some of us are happier than others. I enjoy going to work, and that isn't always the case. I work my fanny off and I like the work. I'm not into the fame part of it. I care about what I do. I do know this—Jaclyn is simply glowing since she got married and I'm happy for her."

Cheryl also added that despite her star status her primary hasn't been affected, stating, "People are basically kind to me."

Jiggly is out

Despite her natural beauty, which doesn't really need to be accentuated by makeup in order to show off her comely Jean Harlow figure, Cheryl doesn't buy the 'I and A' aura that surrounds the Angels. "I studied acting for seven years and I've given myself every opportunity to use the things that I learned. The 'I and A' bit came about because of the first season.

"The format changed when I came in. In the 22 episodes that I've done this year, I appear in a bikini three times. 'Charlie's Angels' works because we are three ladies with integrity—and that's the key word—who are functioning in a man's world. Nobody is trying to be a sex symbol now," she pointed out.

Asked if she would consider modeling after a glamorous spread in the chic Los Angeles magazine, Cheryl replied candidly, "Maybe, sometimes. It depends. I'm not as comfortable with that medium.

The Community Press

A Weekly Newspaper Serving the Communities of Hardisty, Lougheed, Sedgewick, Killam and Strome.

Single Copies — 25c | WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, 1979 | Volume 79—No. 32

An early morning train derailment Tuesday, April 10 saw 24 freight cars of a mile-long train pile together two miles east of Sedgewick.

The train, which derailed at its middle section, was travelling east loaded with lumber, hopper cars filled with ore and three butane tankers. No gas leaks occurred and no one was injured.

CPR has not released a statement as to what caused the derailment, but it was thought to be a hot box which seized the wheels.

Crews were called out immediately following the crash, and it is expected that the line would be operational by Wednesday afternoon. Clean-up is to continue even after the tracks are cleared and repaired.

CPR used local Arnett & Burgess pipeline equipment in the initial stages of cleaning up the wreckage.

Improper billing found

A growing number of Alberta doctors are levying a steadily increasing surcharge on patients on top of their rising receipts from the healthy care insurance plan, government surveys show.

Hospitals Minister Dave Russell admits "we're not a problem." But he is unsure of what to do and says options from banning extra billing to hiking medicare premiums and payments will be considered.

The national medicare program has become a federal election issue as a result of problems with the 10-year-old scheme in provinces including Ontario, where doctors are opting out, as well as Alberta.

Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau has threatened to force provincial governments to account for federal medicare funds granted to them if they fail to maintain the health care insurance plan.

NDP Leader Ed Broadbent says Trudeau brought the head ache on himself by agreeing to new fiscal arrangements that took strings off cost sharing and gave the provinces greater control over the service.

Russell says Alberta has to review the medicare legislation, doctors' incomes, the burden of extra billing on patients and whether the health care insurance premium and payment schedules are fair.

The government reports that during the year ending March 31, 1979, Alberta doctors' receipts from medicare rose 8.6 per cent to an average of $66,457 apiece.

But, in another study, the hospitals ministry found that 37 per cent of Alberta doctors are also charging patients extra on top of their incomes from health care insurance payments.

In January, 1979, 43.6 per cent of Calgary doctors charged extra. Edmonton physicians ran second as 41 per cent of them tacked on added charges to patients.

Outside the two major cities, 26.6 per cent of the practitioners were levying extra bills, the government found.

The average extra bill was $6.36 and the doctors collected $470,000 from their patients, which was a 3.3 per cent surcharge in addition to payments from medicare for services rendered.

A previous survey of the July through December period in 1977 found that 13.9 per cent of Albertans were being billed extra. In early 1979, 16.9 per cent of patients were charged additional fees.

The hospitals ministry estimates the doctors will collect $7.2 million this year in added patient charges, a 3.3 per cent surcharge on medicare. In 1977, extra billing of $4.3 million was 2.5 per cent of health care insurance payments to the medical profession.

The ministry's survey further indicated that the highest-paid doctors extra bill most

Rural blood clinics discontinued

Developments in medical technology now present the Canadian Red Cross Society with a challenging, but rewarding task, says Sharon Eggers of the society's Edmonton branch. Instead of transfusing whole blood, which is not always necessary, patients needing the life-giving formula are receiving only that component of blood they require.

Through a process of separating blood's components, such as the red cells and platlates, one single donation may now meet the transfusion needs of three, four or more patients.

However, the Red Cross adds, because the separation must be done within a few short hours of collection, many rural blood donor clinics have had to be discontinued as it is not possible to transport whole blood from the rural clinics within the allotted time.

Although the new system has meant a more efficient use of blood, the Red Cross will have to rely heavily on the urban centres, Edmonton and Calgary, to supply the whole blood, says Mrs. Eggers.

Clinics will be held no further than 125 miles from either city, which means residents in the County of Flagstaff will have to travel to Camrose, Wainwright or Stettler to donate blood.

The Red Cross estimates that only 20 per cent of its supply will be left as whole blood, to be used in particular cases such as major bleeding, shock and accident cases.

Eighty per cent of blood now collected will be separated into its components.

The Red Cross stresses that clinic changes and cancellations are initiated by necessity, not by choice. It is hoped rural clinics may start up again if it becomes possible to transport the equipment needed to separate and freeze the components.

The change will not affect the blood and/or component supply to rural hospitals, the society adds. And the Red Cross will continue to provide a list of rare-type-blood donors in the area to the local hospitals in the event a particular blood type can not be obtained from Edmonton soon enough.

Cop Talk - By The RCMP, Killam Detachment

The local RCMP Detachment in Killam, in co-operation with The Community Press, shall be publishing a column on a regular basis in an attempt to get local citizens more involved in combating crimes which may be occurring in their respective areas. The information published will usually consist of crimes which have been committed and the police are still investigating.

If you, the citizen, have any information which you feel may assist the police in their investigation, you are invited to call the detachment between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. If you do not wish to deal with the police direct your information to The Community Press. ALL INFORMATION SHALL BE TREATED AS CONFIDENTIAL.

There also will be other items of interest listed in the column, which the police have been working on and do not require information, as well as tips and suggestions to help residents avoid crimes occurring to them and theirs.

The detachment is presently investigating a shooting which took place in Strome in the early hours of April 3. A 19-year-old resident is presently in custody and charged with wounding with intent.

During the first part of March, the RCMP investigated a number of thefts from several businesses in Sedgewick involving car batteries. The RCMP subsequently recovered 24 batteries, which resulted in charges against seven juveniles.

On the night of 15/16 March, Killam Tire & Rubber was broken into and a quantity of money was stolen. Police are still investigating.

On the night of 19/20 March, two batteries were stolen out of new Dodge half-tons, which were parked at Greff Motors in Daysland.

Sometime prior to March 21, the battery charger from the Sedgewick Fire Hall went missing and, to date, has not showed up. A fire truck with a dead battery is not a very good idea.

Prior to March 25, a farm residence north of Lougheed was broken into and quite a bit of damage was incurred. The culprit(s) also stole some guns, cameras, a clock radio and a calculator. This is a very serious offence and one that no one likes to have happen, especially in their home.

During the days prior to March 29, a series of thefts occurred at the Jarrow Compressor Station and Birch Wavy Gas Plant northeast of Lougheed. Stolen were quantities of lumber (fir and aspenite) and steel plate.

Rempel Sales in Hardisty was the scene of a break-in prior to March 30, and a quantity of gasoline was stolen.

Hardisty has also been experiencing a rash of broken windows in vehicles and buildings and is felt that the damage is being done with a BB gun or a pellet gun.

At approximately 6:45 p.m. April 4, there was a serious motor vehicle accident between a half-ton truck and a tractor trailer unit three miles east of Hardisty on Hwy 13. Twenty-year-old Marty Whitehead of Hardisty died as a result of the crash, with the other occupant of the truck being treated for injuries in the Camrose General Hospital.

The RCMP in Killam would like to thank all the people from Hardisty who assisted Cats, Bangle and Harris with traffic direction, removal of the wreckage and various other duties. It was extremely cold that night and your help was very much appreciated.

COME ALIVE . . .

-Mel Dietrich

THE JOYS OF MINISTRY

Much light is made today and many jokes are exchanged about preachers and the ministry as if it were a soft job and almost an unneeded influence in our society. Personally, I enjoy jokes about preachers as long as they do not make light of the things of God. I thoroughly enjoy the sometimes almost hilarious times we have together as ministers in the Flagstaff County each month, along with the business at hand.

Great is the responsibility God has called us to in ministering to the needs of people in all walks of life, but we enjoy doing it because we have felt the definite call of God to His service and count it a glorious privilege to be able to introduce people to Jesus Christ and to share with them what Christ can do to meet the needs of their lives.

Personally, I was born a farmer, spent more than 40 years of my life on a farm, and was confident one time that I was destined to be a farmer all my life, and thus die a farmer, too. I love the farm and farm people and the larger part of my congregation is comprised of farmers. However, God had other things in store for my life.

Through the fellowship of the church, and through various individuals, He sent into my life, and particularly through the prayers of my dear mother, He was able to gradually turn my thoughts and plans for the future away from the farm to see the work He was calling me to do. God helped me to see that of all occupations in life, there is no greater calling than to be called to be a minister of the gospel of Jesus Christ. He gradually pulled out the roots I had down deep in the farm and showed me the ministry is a much needed and powerful influence in our society.

I have never once regretted leaving the farm in order to be where God wanted me to be. Folks often ask me what I do with all my time now, suggesting that having been used to a busy farm life, I must have time to burn. I find I am much busier now than I ever was on the farm, as I must be willing to go at any time to minister to people in need. Even though the schedules at times get very hectic, I thoroughly enjoy being a co-worker with our great God who has seen fit to call this old farmer to a life given totally to Him. I confidently believe that Christ can meet the needs of every life as He has met the needs of mine, and I trust by His grace from this time forth to be faithful to my responsible calling for Him.

Community to long remember Mrs. Scheelar

The Strome district was saddened by the death of Mrs. Theresia Scheelar, a long-time resident who passed away in St. Mary's Hospital, Camrose on March 26, at the age of 86 years after a brief illness.

Mrs. Scheelar was born in Minnesota on December 31, 1892. She was united in marriage to John Lewis Scheelar on November 19, 1912.

Mrs. Scheelar and her husband moved to Canada and started homesteading in the Strome district in 1918, living there until 1961 when Mrs. Scheelar left the farm after the passing of her husband to live in the Village of Strome, where she resided until her passing.

She was predeceased by her husband, John, in 1966, one daughter, Marianne, in 1968, one daughter, Adeline, in 1982, one son, Andrew, in 1945 while serving with the RCAF overseas, and one son, Cecil, in 1972.

She leaves to mourn her passing seven daughters, Mrs. N. (Alma) Badry of Camrose, Mrs. V. (Florence) Steele of Vancouver, Mrs. B. (Gladys) Thomson of Vancouver, Mrs. R. (Eileen) Jukich of Vancouver, Mrs. F. (Jean) Daley of Camrose, Mrs. H. (Dolores) Steele of Vancouver, and Mrs. C. (Margaret) Duggan of Calgary; four sons, Julian of Stromo, Francis of Calgary, Joseph of Whitehorse, and John of Fort. St. John; as well as a host of grandchildren, great grandchildren, nieces, nephews and friends.

Mass of Christian Burial was offered from Our Lady of Fatima Church, Strome, on Saturday, March 31 by Father Vic Perron, assisted by Rev. M.E. McCarthy. Pallbearers were long-time friends of the family: Norman Zimmel, Joe Espheter, Martin Kroetsch, Michael Niehaus, Alec Lorenz and Darrel Pfeffer. Fee & Sons Funeral Home was in charge of all arrangements were interment in the Catholic Cemetery at Strome.

Honorary pallbearers were Al Gramlek, C.P. Hayes, Eddie Hahn, William Zimmel, Melvin Proehler, Raymond Scheelar, and John and Ben Niehaus.

Mrs. Theresia Scheelar was active in Our Lady of Fatima Parish, a member of the Strome CWL for more than 50 years. She also was a member of the Strome Senior Citizens. Mrs. Scheelar was loved and respected by everyone who came in contact with her. She was better known as Grandma Scheelar to all.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all friends and relatives for their many acts of kindness, messages of sympathy, floral tributes, spiritual offerings, and memorial donations following the loss of our dear mother, Mrs. Theresia Scheelar. A special thanks to Father Vic Perron for prayer service on Friday evening and Saturday funeral mass, also to the CWL for serving lunch after the funeral.

Sympathy is extended from the community to Mrs. Cora Paulson on the loss of a grandson, who was in an accident near Hardisty.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Carter and baby of Provost were coffee guests with his Aunt Ruth and Allan Auburn last week enroute home from Edmonton.

Lots of activity at the Drop-In Centre last week, besides the usual daily serving of coffee. On Tuesday afternoon, a surprise get-together to help Mrs. Marie Niehaus celebrate her 79th birthday was organized by her daughters, Gennie Froehler, Pat Loesch and Phyllis Kroetch. The afternoon was spent in listening to organ music played by Pat Loesch and with her mother and father getting up and doing a couple of dances. Two birthday cakes and coffee were served and a happy birthday was sung to Mrs. Niehaus, Connie Hahn, Lois Rawe and Bernice Morgan, who had had birthdays or were going to have birthdays soon. A lovely afternoon was enjoyed.

Fun afternoon was held on Wednesday with playing bingo and closing with a lovely lunch served by Honey Curtis and Ann Hill.

On Thursday night, five tables of "500" were played with ladies' high score going to Honey Curtis and gents' high to Pete Curtis. The consolation prizes went to Bernice Morgan and Mel Johnson. Lunch was served by Connie Hahn and Peggy Wheller.

You don't have to go under.

Remember me . . . so confident nothing seemed wrong while all the time I was slowly going under? Well, things are looking up now, because I took some basic steps toward common sense financial management.

Here are some steps you can take too.

Build up an emergency fund. Learn to expect the unexpected in your financial life - and plan for it.

Don't abuse your credit card. Buying beyond your means can cause serious financial problems. Learn to use credit wisely.

Learn good financial management. Money problems can cause tension and create difficulties in your marriage. Work on a plan together.

Want things to start looking up for you? Try these three steps and send for The Before You Go Under Guide. It may help.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

GETTING TO THE BOTTOM OF THINGS

During the past cold winter, I've complained when I had to sit on a cold car seat. We all complain when we sit on the metal chairs in our church hall. Today, as I was making cushions for those chairs so it wouldn't be such a shock to our nether regions, I thought of other cold seats we used to experience.

The saddle on our old school pony's back was always cold when we clambered upon it on a below zero day. It didn't seem to get warmer as we bounced to school as he trotted or loped along. The cold leather was so frosty we sometimes thought the inside of our legs were freezing. With cold toes, cold legs, cold seat, and hands, we were very cold indeed.

There were times when we went sliding down hills on a scoop shovel. A scoop shovel taken from the loft on a frigid day was never known to be warm. To use the shovel to slide down a hill, you sat on the icy metal with the handle between your legs. You held them up in the air except when you wanted to stop, and then you were likely to get a snowy shower from your dragging boots.

At school in the spring, when puddles from over at night, we would often have what we called rubber ice. We children used to slide on this rubber ice, which bent under our weight. It was fun until someone lost his footing and landed ker-plop, breaking the ice as he fell.

Screams of anguish echoed in the schoolyard as icy water soaked through his clothes. There were no dry clothes, so for a good part of the day he sat out a cold, wet seat.

One of the coldest places to sit was on the old one-holer out at the back. No inside bathroom in those days! You waited until you could wait no longer before hurriedly donning an overshoes, coat, cap and mitts. You often had to wade through snow to your knees to that little snow-capped house. You probably had to brush the snow away before you lowered your bare bottom to the frozen-cold seat. Oh, what a shock! It was so cold it almost burned. You never lingered, but even so it was quite a while before your bottom was warmed enough not to feel it.

A modern child has been heard to complain when he found a toilet seat warm from someone else's use, but in those days, if someone was ahead of you and warmed the seat you felt lucky. How times have changed! -by Doris M. Saunders

Strome man passes at 50

Raymond Casper Dalueg was born March 28, 1929 at Stroma, Alberta. He served as an altar boy in St. Peters Roman Catholic Church when he was growing up.

He was united in marriage to Martha Steinhauer of Forestburg. For several years, he worked in a packing plant in Edmonton and then moved to Forestburg, where he was employed at Forestburg Colliers until he became ill.

He leaves to mourn his passing his loving wife Martha, his children, Donald, Terry and his wife Barb of Forestburg, Daryl and wife Maryanne of Boyle, Cheryl of Neton Junction, Wade of Red Deer, Wayne, Kim, Sandra and Darrin of Forestburg, six grandchildren, Lisa, Tania, Terri Lynn, Brandy, Kelly, Christopher and Patricia, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dalueg of Forestburg, his brothers, twin brother Roman of Daysland, Merlin of Edmonton, Dennis of Stroma and David of Forestburg, and a number of relatives and friends.

Officiating at the funeral service was Rev. Father Perreault of Killam.

Honourary pallbearers were Ian Laag, Joy Fossen, Martin Fossen, Wayne Felzien, Louis Felzien and Clifford Breum.

Pallbearers were Abe Paradon, John McEwan, Ted Price, Ivan Engelbretson, Eddy Steinhauer, and Hank Steinhauer.

Interment was in St. Peter's Cemetery.

'Boy, has our 4-H club been busy!'

"I placed No. 2 over No. 3 because No. 2 is longer in the loin than No. 3. Also, No. 2 will have a higher dressage percentage than No. 3. Although No. 3 is a well-balanced steer, he lacks [illegible]."

This was what it was all about when two 4-H members from our club attended a 4-H judging competition at Edmonton in the Gardens. Debby Spady and Lorraine Barnes were the two members who judged. Unfortunately, they didn't win.

On March 27, the club tour took place. The club travelled to all the members' places to see the calves. They started at Tom Spady's and when they got to Sprecher's, Bob and Ann treated the club for coffee and cookies. After a few more stops, they ended at Barnes' with a judging competition led by Tom Spady. The members judged both steers and heifers. Ending a successful day, they had a pot luck with a total of 33 attending.

All members and parents of our club motored to Edmonton to attend a visit at a packing plant, a look in at the quarter horse show, a ride on the light rail transit system and attended the evening performances of the Northlands Super Rodeo. It was a very educating and exciting day, ending with a drive home in the snow storm.

The night of April 3 at 7:30 p.m. at Battle Bend School was the Battle River Beef Club meeting. They decided that they would take part in the Highway Clean-up on May 5. They also decided that on April 7 they will meet and go down to Coronation to the veterinary clinic. The vet said he would show the members the clinic and talk about it.

They then had a little music in the meeting by singing happy birthday to Bill Barnes, the leader, for his birthday on April 5. For communications, they did charades. Teresa, Debby, Travis, John, Brian and Lorraine all did one charade. Lastly, they did a quiz on the beef animal. All the kids learned a lot from this. Ending the meeting was a delicious lunch.

-Lorraine Barnes

Anglican Church marks Holy Week

Holy Week is now upon us and we hope everyone will be able to participate in at least some of the special events.

The special Good Friday Interdenominational Service in Sedgewick will take place this year at the Anglican Church at 11 a.m. Friday, April 13. The four local clergymen will participate. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Saturday evening at 7:30 p.m., a Service of Solemn Liturgy will be held at St. John's in Sedgewick.

If you feel energetic and inspired Easter Sunday morning (Rev. Conrad does), there will be a beautiful sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. in Hughenden.

For those of us who need the morning to get our Easter finery together, special Easter Sunday Holy Communion will take place at St. John's Church in Sedgewick at 11 a.m. There will be special music for the occasion. All children who have been baptised by Rev. Conrad are reminded to bring their baptismal candles.

Mr. Ned Butcher is spending a couple weeks in Edmonton, visiting with his daughter, Margaret, and family.

Mr. Ted Lister has departed for a vacation in Edson, Prince George, Vancouver and other points.

Doreen Conrad and Thelma Tanton were Edmonton visitors on Monday.

Ken and Aileen Martin of Penhold spent the weekend with granddaughter Margaret and her parents, Greg and Donna Marlow. They also called on Jim and Gladys Clarke.

David and Cathy Schlosser and children of Edmonton visited with Richard and Doreen Conrad.

Palm Sunday Holy Communion Service in Killam was well attended. Baptised during the service were Mr. and Mrs. D.F. Jonson and family of Drayton Valley.

Your reporter needs your help – now and always. Please be sure to give your news to Donna Martin at 384-3544.

TOPS elects officers

TOPS #AE2204, Sedgewick, held its installation of officers recently with the following taking oath of office: Leader - Joyce Bergseth, Co-Leader - MaryAnn Lewis, Secretary - Thelma Tanton, Treasurer - Judy Muirhead, and Weight Recorder - Eleanor Tweedy. Eleanor was missing at the installation due to a fall. Hope you're better now.

Elaine Keith is our assistant weight recorder. We have welcomed six new members and two have rejoined after their membership lapsed.

It's nice to see so many enthusiastic members. For the week of April 9, we had a net loss of 17 lbs. We have been having a really terrific time of exercises and games in Keeping Fit, under the direction of Cynthia Bujold.

It is surely great to have Leader Joyce back after her winter holiday.

Killam pool sets schedule

After a few days shut-down for repairs, the Killam Agri-Pool is back in full operation.

We are very pleased to say the registration for our swimming lessons was excellent. Thank you for your support.

The schedule, we hope, will appeal to all of you in some way or another. If you have any questions pertaining to the pool, please don't hesitate to call 385-3817 or 385-3996.

DOLLAR A POUND

Recently, a Cattle Marketing Report predicted that live cattle prices (A1 - A2) steers would top a dollar a pound before the current cattle cycle runs its course. The possibilities of financial success from this trend should cause all brood cow owners to maximize their numbers to saleable feeding stock. Simply put - how can you assure yourself of a good calf crop next year and in the years to follow?

In the early 1970s, a Mr. J. Wiltbank of the Colorado State University presented some interesting research findings into the reproductive performance of cattle. Here are some of his conclusions:

1. Breeding seasons should be shortened to allow every cow to calve once a year. This can be done with a 90-day breeding season.

2. A short breeding season, with careful care in nutrition, does not decrease calf crop, but does increase the number of cows calving early in the calving season.

3. Variable reproductive performance is largely due to nutrition - the nutrients being phosphorus and energy.

4. A phosphorus deficiency causes poor calf crops and long calving intervals.

5. Cows receiving low levels of energy both before and after calving have poor reproductive performance. Only 22 per cent of the cows showed estrus, and the first service conception rate was a low 33 per cent.

6. Cows receiving low levels of energy before calving, but adequate levels after calving showed little or no difference in pregnancy rate at end of the breeding season. However, the number of cows becoming pregnant early in the season was decreased.

7. The energy level prior to calving has a marked effect on the occurance of early estrus following calving (eg. low energy, low rate) while the conception rate at first service was not affected by energy level prior to calving.

8. Cows which received an adequate level of energy prior to calving but received a low level of energy after calving showed a marked decrease in the proportion of cows pregnant either at 30 days or the end of the breeding season.

To summarize then, what does all this good information mean to us?

1. To provide a high percentage phosphorus mineral mix in a mash.

2. Energy is important - cows with calf at side need a little of that cheap barley.

3. If your cows did have a poor, low energy ration before calving, you can still improve your situation by bringing up the energy now - use some barley!

4. Even if your cows came through the winter well - you can't afford to cut back now. A poor "whatever-they-can-find" ration now will definitely reduce the calf crop next spring.

And one final thing, make sure the bull is fit to do the job. No amount of nutrition can substitute for a bum steer!

EASTER TREATS

Through the centuries, Easter has been observed by the people of all Christian countries as the most important and oldest festival of the Christian Church. It has become a time of family celebrations with time honoured traditions. Here are some treats that might be fun to try.

Bunny's Nest - make a rice crispy cake mixture and shape it into a round, well-greased bowl, hollowing out the centre. When it's set, remove it from the bowl and line with coloured coconut for the Easter bunny to fill with eggs.

Easter Cake - ice a chiffon or angel cake with fluffy frosting. In the centre, make a nest of coloured coconut and fill with jelly beans or tiny Easter eggs.

Mystery Eggs - make hard-boiled eggs for Easter breakfast more exciting with invisible writing. Dissolve one ounce in alum in one cup of vinegar. With a small pointed brush, write names or draw pictures on the shells of raw eggs. After they dry, the eggs can be hard boiled. There is no trace of writing on the shell, but inside on the hard cooked whites, the writing or designs show up like magic.

SELECTING FURNITURE

Shopping for new furniture can be a confusing experience. There is certainly lots of variety of styles, quality and prices on the market! You first must decide on the style you want, the type of material you prefer and don't forget the size. Don't come home with a sofa that won't fit in the living room.

Once you've decided basically what you are looking for, here are a few guidelines to help you in selecting good quality.

- Shop around and compare prices.
- Gently push or lean on furniture pieces. They should stand firmly on their legs or bases. If they wobble, it's usually a sign of poor construction.
- Check moveable parts like drawers and doors. They should operate smoothly and evenly without sticking but still fit snugly.
- Joints should be smooth, tight and of interlocking construction as well as being glued and screwed for extra strength.
- Check to see that the finish is smooth, even and durable.
- Bottoms of drawers should be at least ¼" thick and there should be dust panels between. The drawer glides should be metal or hardwood and metal.
- Hardware should be of suitable design and scale and be securely fastened, and convenient to use and clean.
- Look for some finishing on the back and insides. They should at least be sanded smooth.
- Listen to the furniture. Moveable parts shouldn't squeak or groan.
- Try the furniture out. It should fit you and be comfortable. And remember, if you've been shopping all day, anything will feel good.
- Finally, buy from a reputable dealer who will tell you about construction, delivery, warranties, and so on. -Source: Betty Birch, DHE, Stettler

Flagstaff Further Education

Bits & Pieces

As co-ordinator of Flagstaff Further Education, I am getting excited and anxious about fall programs. Hopefully, you are, too. Now is the time to get in touch with your local contact and express your interests.

The people of Sedgewick have been neglected during the past few months and hopefully Furniture Refinishing, Furniture Upholstery and Quilt Making, which are scheduled in the next few weeks, will cater to the needs of the area.

Members of the public are encouraged to attend our regular meeting on April 19 at the high school. Flagstaff Further Education offers courses in every corner of the county. The board is made up of people like you, anyone interested in seeing adult education continue and hopefully branch out to other challenging projects.

We need lots of input if we are to operate effectively. We only have from four to six general meetings a year. Why not come and show an interest? If you would like to be a student, a teacher, or if you just want to be a member at large that would like to promote the policy of Flagstaff Further Education and their many courses, we welcome your attendance and ideas.

Adult Education has been active in this county since 1974. We have offered approximately 40 courses in the fall sessions and 50 in the spring sessions, serving the needs of hundreds of adults in our county. More public input is necessary if we are to continue to serve the adults with what we hope fills a time-gap with worthwhile courses. -Jean Johnson FFE Co-ordinator

CPR crews continue to work on the roadbed that was demolished by the Tuesday morning derailment two miles east of Sedgewick.

This giant service crane assisted greatly with reconstruction, laying 50-foot spans of pre-fabricated track at a rate of nearly one unit every 10 minutes.

Flagstaff Guides hold spring meet

On March 8, the Girl Guide District Council and many Guiders and Local Association members met at the Killam School at 8 p.m. to conduct their spring meeting. Present were representatives of Alliance, Forestburg, Viking, Ryley, Sedgewick, Stromo and Killam.

On the agenda was the business of the upcoming Brownie Rally, the District Music Session on April 21 in Holden's school gym, Girl Guide Division Camp in Tofield this year (tentatively), district camps to be held in March, the Edmonton training in March, and the provincial annual meeting and training session in mid-May in Red Deer.

On Friday, March 30, Sonja Frank, Donna Busse and Carol Ross of Forestburg, Elaine Keith and Laurie Nordstrom of Sedgewick, and Jeanne Hamm of Stromo went to Edmonton's Vocational Centre for a provincial training session.

Guiders and Commissioners from all over Alberta participated in a worthwhile training, including everything from music to camping, leadership skills to goal-setting, crafts, drama, puppetry, and much more.

The food was scrumptious and Saturday night's campfire session topped off the day with singing in a relaxed atmosphere.

A regular day was from 9 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. — a very complete day of learning experiences. Sunday morning's Guiders' Own was conducted by the Cadets. Lunch at noon ended the weekend session. And again, satisfied Guiders went home with renewed enthusiasm toward their next months' programs, and with the glowing knowledge that they again had made new friends.

Former resident active in bike safety

Courtesy The Campbell River Upper Islander - Brian LePine

Now that the warm weather is upon us and motorcycle fever has again returned to the streets and back roads, Const. Don Brunner of the Campbell River RCMP is busy preparing to teach a safety course for beginners and experienced riders.

The course, registered through the Canadian Safety Council, will teach basic riding skills and safety techniques required by all street bikers. The course does not touch on off-road riding.

Const. Brunner, who was born, raised and educated in the Merna and Sedgewick areas, is now in the process of training several other assistant instructors to help with the course on April 21 and 22 in Campbell River. At present, the men are preparing to attend an instructor's course in Comox on April 7 and 8.

To introduce the course and what it offers to the public, Brunner organized a display at the Ironwood Mall on Saturday. The display consisted of several motorcycles, a number of safety films, plus a series of obstacles which will become part of the training program. Although the response to the display was somewhat below Brunner's expectations, his fingers are crossed that the course will surpass all hopes for success.

The course is the first of its kind in the area and will be offered to all those more than 16 years of age for each month during the summer. The course will consist of eight hours in-class training and eight hours practical training. Students will have full use of the parking lot at both the Haida and Ironwood Mall.

The only deterring factor surrounding the course is the stiff registration fee which accompanies it. The Safety Council has set a figure of $65 per student on the course.

Brunner is hoping that residents of the area will consider the importance of learning to ride properly rather than the high cost.

Const. Brunner has been with the Campbell River RCMP for 1½ years. He served seven years in the Edmonton Police Force before joining the Mounties. He is married to the former Debra Hahn of Hardisty, and he and his wife have two girls.

Hobbyists meet

On Wednesday evening, March 21 the Amalgamated Hobbyists of Flagstaff met in the Sedgewick United Church Hall with 23 present.

Vice-President Mrs. H. Simpson chaired a brief business meeting then welcomed and introduced the guests for the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Art Cole from Brownfield, who showed an assortment of slides taken on a recent trip to Europe, Disneyland in California and of their daughter's trip to Israel. The program was much enjoyed by all present.

There will be no business meeting held in April. On Wednesday, April 18, the Amalgamated Hobbyists of Flagstaff and the Battle River Art Club will be co-hosts at an Art Show, to be held in the Sedgewick Community Hall from 1 to 8 p.m.

Faith and Hope

A man once said: "On all sides there are signs of decay of the faith. People do not go to church, or if they go, it is for the sake of the music, or for some non-religious motive. The evidence is overwhelming that the doctrines of christianity have passed into the region of doubt." And Easter, more than any other event in religion's history, serves to remind us how wrong it is to doubt.

But what is wrong with doubt? Many modern-day Christians admit to feelings of uncertainty – some may question their faith – but think about how seldom we lose hope. There are people, perhaps the same gentleman we quoted above is one, who say Easter is a time only for believers, ones with bountiful faith, no doubts.

We lean toward the philosophy that Christmas is the time for new faith and Easter the time for new hope, and that faith and hope can both exist in someone's spiritual experience.

There are three groups of thought about Christianity: the believers, those without doubts; the agnostics, those who believe in a greater power but think it impossible to really know whether God exists; the atheists, those believing there is no God at all.

On atheism, it is said it is the death of hope, "the suicide of the soul." (Anonymous) Perhaps that's true. There doesn't seem to be many around. Even self-proclaimed atheists have been known to pray in their final hours of life on this earth. Even they have hope.

Easter does not belong to any one denomination, any one faith, or degree of faith. Easter is a time for all of us: when believers renew their faith and when doubters renew their hope. How appropriate that Easter comes in early spring, the season of hope.

Consumer Column
Gain by landscaping

This spring and summer, before purchasing trees and shrubs for your yard, keep in mind that landscaping doesn't have to be something enjoyed only during summer months. The benefits of helping out Mother Nature can be realized in other seasons, particularly winter months when the heating bills rise and the harsh elements are hard on a house.

Landscaping can help tame the winds, cold and heat entering a home, depending on the variety of trees and shrubs selected and where they are placed.

Deciduous trees, the ones that lose their leaves, can shade a yard and house in summer if planted on the south, southeast or southwest sides of a house. In winter, without leaves, they allow the low winter sun to shine through the branches and onto the house.

Evergreens, or coniferous trees, should be planted on the north side of a house to block fall, winter and spring winds.

Trees, shrubs and ground cover, including grass and small plants, can lower summer temperatures because they release moisture into the air. Planting these types of vegetation around a house creates a cooling effect, reducing the need for air conditioning.

When tree planting, remember that fast-growing varieties, such as poplars, should be planted far enough away from the house so their root systems do not interfere with the building's foundation. As well, most trees consume a great deal of the soil's moisture, which is of particular importance to areas with a clay-type soil. The resulting dehydration of the ground can cause settling of below-ground construction.

Vines growing on the walls of your house will help block the sun's heat in summer and are particularly effective on the west side, which is hit by direct sunlight during the hottest part of the day. If you plan on planting a vine, make certain it's a variety not known to damage the outside of houses.

Patios, walks and fences can be utilized for heat gains also. Light-coloured sidewalks and patios actually boosts a home's heat by reflecting sunlight and heat toward the house. Foundation shrub or flower beds will help cut this reflective heat in the summer. Fences also aid in cooling a building during the summer. They should be light-coloured to reflect heat and louvered to permit breezes to pass through.

Landscaping can pay for itself all year 'round by blocking unwanted heat and winds while admitting welcome breezes and sunlight. (Source: The Conservation of Energy in Housing)

The Third Column (I Write As I Please) by Truncate

IT SEEMS AS THOUGH newspaper writers are often writing after the fact, and this article is no exception. Easter is over and we write of Easter. However, having spent some time as publisher of a newspaper, I often wondered what it would have been like to have published a newspaper, say the Jerusalem Times, during the first Holy Week.

LET'S SUPPOSE that such is the case. We are publishing the Jerusalem Times 2,000 years ago, closely following and reporting on the events as they took place. It would probably go something like this:

MONDAY'S HEADLINE
JESUS OF NAZARETH CLEANSES TEMPLE. Jerusalem, Monday, April 9. This morning, Jesus of Nazareth entered the temple and cleansed the place out. He drove out oxen and sheep for sacrifice. He knocked down the tables of the money changers, strewing their money over the ground, which resulted in a wild and free-wheeling scramble. For some time, the ex-high priest had a monopoly of the business of supplying animals for the Jewish sacrifice. Temple tax must be paid in Jewish half shekels so the foreign money had to be exchanged. The graft of the priest amounted to much from these sources. Jesus claimed they were making the temple a den of thieves instead of a house of prayer. The priests were flabbergasted by the actions of this Galilean carpenter.

TUESDAY'S PAPER
CIAPHAS OUT TO "GET" JESUS. The Nazarene visited the temple again this morning and met the opposition of the high priests. Their agents tried to find charges against Him by asking by what authority He had cleansed the temple yesterday. He refuses to answer. A lawyer asked him if it was right to pay taxes to Caesar. If he said "No" they had him; if he said "Yes" the crowd would mob him. But this man was clever. He asked for a coin, and then whose image was on it. When the answer was "Caesar's," he said to render to Caesar what is his and to God what is His. Oh, he's clever. He completely confused them and at 4 p.m. this afternoon he is still alive, and free.

WEDNESDAY'S TIMES
JESUS HAS DISAPPEARED. The temple priests cannot find the Galilean who cleansed the temple and destroyed their business last Monday. They can't make charges against him. Rumor has it that he and his disciples spent the nights in Bethany, and that Judas was seen entering a side door of Caiphas' palace.

THURSDAY'S HEADLINE
WILL JESUS KEEP THE PASSOVER? Officials at the temple are wondering whether Jesus will appear in Jerusalem to eat the Passover with his disciples, to whom he brought peace. Look at that group of despairing men on Easter evening to whom Jesus said, "Peace be unto you." Simon, the zealot, a revolutionary and rebellious; Nathaneal, a cynic with a sharp tongue; James and John, men of insistent and unsatisfied desire; Peter of the lashing conscience. He had touched all their minds and probed their hearts, delivered them from sin and guilt.

FRIDAY'S EDITION
JESUS CRUCIFIED. Jesus of Nazareth was crucified at Golgotha today. After celebrating the Passover with his disciples at the home of a widow named Mary, he withdrew to Gethsemane for prayer. Here he was betrayed to the chief priests by Judas, one of his followers. They trumped up a charge of blasphemy against him in an illegal trial. A Roman guard crucified him between two thieves. The Nazarene spoke seven times from the cross. It's true, he claimed to be the Christ, the Son of God, the Messiah of the Jews and the Savior of the world. The high priests are said to be happy over the outcome of the past week. Pilate could not be found for an interview.

HEADLINE ON SATURDAY
TWO OFFICIALS INTER BODY OF JESUS. Two members of the governing body asked permission of Pilate yesterday afternoon to inter the body of Jesus. They were Joseph of Arimathaea and Nicodemus. They took him down from the cross and placed him in a tomb in a garden near Golgotha, rolled a stone across the entrance and sealed it with a Roman seal. A guard of soldiers was placed at the tomb to protect it from interference by his disciples.

SUNDAY, APRIL 16
CHRIST IS RISEN, HIS TOMB IS EMPTY. The tomb where Jesus of Nazareth was buried is empty. The soldiers report that during the earthquake which was felt throughout the early morning, an angel rolled away the stone. They became as dead men. Mary Magdalene claims to have seen him. Two men met him on the road to Emmaus. The priests are at their wits' end; the Roman Governor is completely confused at the strange events. There is no doubt the Nazarene is alive.

THESE, WE BELIEVE, would have been our headlines and the short accompanying stories. But there was much more to follow as our reporters scurried about to ferret out the details. The events of Holy Week made perfect news, for when something as big as the whole world is related to an event in the life of a single person, you have perfect news, good news.

THE STORIES were not written by quick fingers of reporters who must write in popular phrase and meet a deadline. The story did have its reporters, three of whom were eyewitnesses. These men did not supply us with our newspaper columns. They wrote the classic Gospels which have been in our hands for hundreds of years, and constitute the climax of the gospels; that if a man die, shall he live again. Here is something of tremendous significance: On resurrection morning, Jesus said to mary Magdalene, "Go to my brethren and say to them, 'I ascend to my Father, and your Father, and to my God and your God.' " He entered the Upper Room and said, "Peace be unto you." The commission he gave was, "Go ye therefore and teach all nations." Who would have gone if He had remained in the tomb?

THIS IS OUR STORY of Easter: God and immortal life are here and now.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Did you ever notice those little yellow, orange, or whatever colour, lines on your incoming letters?

They are placed there by that most wonderful invention, the machine that reads the postal codes.

If perchance the code is written above or below the area that is covered by said machine, the code is useless.

Our government paid plenty for this mechanical wonder that was to improve postal service, but neglected to tell us that the code must be written within reach of the machine.

Take a good look at your letters that arrive, and when you use the code on your out-going mail place it about 9/16 of an inch above the bottom of the of the envelope.

PUT YOUR HOME TO WORK. . .

Buying a home is one of the smartest moves you've made. It's the only personal commodity that you can buy that increases in value the more years you use it.
THAT'S A GOOD INVESTMENT!

Your home could mean a lot more to you than just a nice place to live. It could be a source of ready cash to do those things you thought you didn't have funds for, with the help of a Credit Union Second Mortgage.

Using that money you could:
* Develop that basement or
* Make that new addition or
* Build that rumpus room or
* Build that fireplace.

All these things would not only make your home a better place to live, but would IMPROVE YOUR INVESTMENT even more!

Credit Union 2nd Mortgages . . .Think about it!

- READY FUNDS to improve your home or for any other worthwhile purpose.
- LIFE INSURABLE for most members!
- NO PENALTIES for paying off the mortgage, either in full or in part, ANYTIME!
- MONTHLY STATEMENTS showing the principal reduction of your mortgage.

You worked hard for your home, now, put it to work for you!

Poor money management doesn't pay

From A Series of Articles by Alberta Consumer & Corporate Affairs

Poor money management can lead to family tension. Al Park, Supervisor of Family Finance Counselling for Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs relates the following story to illustrate the pitfalls of poor money management. This is a typical case history.

"You really can't blame Bill and Marie for feuding. They have backed themselves into a corner with their spending. So now they're taking it out on each other. Such a pity really. Because Bill and Marie started out so well; a happy couple with secure jobs and a bright future.

But Bill's "CB" hobby has placed a real strain on their finances. He's always buying an extra speaker or power unit. Marie, too, has made her mark in most of the downtown boutiques. Sometimes, it seems they're competing with each other to see who can spend the most. Right now Marie's ahead in the race. And although Bill's not far behind, he's starting to feel an inner desperation and he's blaming her for everything."

Money is one of the major emotional battlegrounds of marriage. Not surprisingly, family tensions often develop when the monthly paycheque doesn't cover all the desires of both partners. And then the arguing starts.

Calgary Actor, Graham McPherson, is not getting much sleep these days to make a point — that wise money management help reduce family tension.

Couples often argue about money because it is less threatening than dealing with underlying and unresolved differences of opinion that exist in the marriage. It's frightening to recognize these basic differences. This in turn makes it difficult to make family decisions in such a way that they meet both value systems. But if the couple don't talk about their clashing goals and value systems, family tensions won't be resolved.

Al Park, Supervisor of the Family Financial Counselling Program at Consumer and Corporate Affairs, suggests qualified counselling would probably be Bill and Marie's first step towards ironing out some of their domestic problems. If your situation sounds similar, try to work out some of the issues together. Thinking and talking and planning with your partner is very important. Many couples are guilty of not talking about money until a problem arises. By then it's too late to agree on realistic goals and budgets.

If you don't know how to start this discussion about financial goals, Al Park recommends trying this little "test". Write your answer to the following questions on a piece of paper, have your partner do the same, then compare answers. Ready? Here goes. What are the three financial goals that you would like to achieve

A) Within the next year?
B) Within the next five years?
C) Within the next 20 years?

Discuss your choices with your partner. Were your answers identical? Were you surprised by your partner's answers? Why did you make the choices you did? Can your partner answer the same question?

If you really listen to your spouse and if you do want to do what's best for your entire family, you should be able to come to a joint decision about financial goals for the future. Make sure your neighbours get their rest, so work on this together.

Financial difficulties are often not a question of dollars and cents but of attitudes and skills. Learning wise money-management skills might be the solution. It's all in a booklet you can send for. Just ask for "Before You Go Under - A Self-help Financial Management Guide", available from Alberta consumer and Corporate Affairs, Post Office Box 1616, Edmonton, Alberta T5J 2N9.

"Seed Certified Wheat: Park or Neepawa both have our recommendation.

"Neepawa certified seed wheat is the highest yielding variety suitable for most areas of Alberta.

"But if you farm in an area susceptible to early frosts or with a short growing season, you should consider Park certified seed wheat. Park is a high yielding variety that matures two to three days earlier than Neepawa.

"The Pool has bulk and bag supplies of both Neepawa and Park certified seed wheat. And advice on which is better for your area.

"Come in and talk it over."

4-H CLUB Activities

KILLAM 4-H HORSE CLUB

A month went by quickly and it was time for the Killam 4-H Horse Club to meet again. It was at the Killam Auction Market on Friday, April 6.

Our business meeting was called to order by President Mimi DeAbreu. A trail ride was discussed and on May 6, we will meet at Mr. Tindall's.

Achievement Day will be held July 9. Questions were asked by members who were having problems with their horses. Mr. Wheller gave them suggestions to help them.

It was suggested the club make a history scrapbook of our club. Donations are to be given to Jane.

The Pee Wees went with Mrs. Djos to learn safety rules when handling their horse from their 4-H books. They then practiced with Dolly and learned how to carry their saddles from the barn.

Juniors and seniors had a full demonstration on breaking a horse by leader, Mr. Wheller. It included halter breaking, bitting, ground tieing, side passing, how to get on your first horse for the first time, how to train the horse to move away from pressure, and many other interesting procedures in training a horse. -Anna Christenson

AN OUNCE OF PROTECTION

Play football or hockey without protection and you're asking for trouble. Plant seed without protection and you're going to get hurt again—this time right in the pocket.

Vitavax seed protectants stop all smut diseases and reduce seedling blights in cereals before they can make a play. Make sure of your game plan with Vitavax as the all-star player on your defence.

And rapeseed growers can sign up Vitavax to their side too.

TENDERS

The Council of the County of Flagstaff No. 29 invites Tenders for the hauling of gravel required to be placed on the county roads during the 1979 construction season.

It is estimated that approximately 100,000 cubic yards of gravel will be hauled from various county gravel pits and county stockpiles. Individual or group bids will be accepted. Contract will require sufficient trucks to haul 150 to 200 cubic yars per hour. The successful bidder will be required to be available for hauling between the hours of 7:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. daily.

The successful bidder will be required to sign a contract and to submit a certificate from their insurance agent(s) certifying that they are carrying insurance coverage of at least $200,000.00 inclusive.

If the successful bidder requires an overweight permit, it will be his responsibility to obtain it from Alberta Transportation.

All bids are to be submitted on tender forms provided by the county. These tender forms will be available at the county office in Sedgewick during regular working hours. All tenders must be submitted to the county office no later than 5:00 p.m. on May 1, 1979.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

For further information regarding the 1979 gravel haul, please contact one of the undersigned or the county office.

IN MEMORIUM

CHANDA - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. A. Chanda who passed away April 12, 1972 in Mission, B.C. at the age of 84.
Peaceful be thy rest dear mother
It is sweet to breathe thy name
In life we loved you dearly
In death we do the same.
Ever remembered and always loved. Your Family.
32-1c

BRICKER – In loving memory of our grandmother Mrs. Susan Bricker who joined God in Heaven April 17, 1978.
Many a day her name is spoken
Many an hour she is in our thoughts
A link in our family chain is broken
She is gone from our home but not from our hearts.
Ever remembered and sadly missed by grandchildren Jeff, Jean and Emily. 32-1c

O'BRIEN – In loving memory of Mabel O'Brien who passed away April 11, 1978.
To hear your voice
To see your smile
To sit and talk with you awhile
To be together in the same old way
Would be our fondest wish today.
Marie and Jack Stadler and family, Calgary. 32-1c

O'BRIEN – In loving memory of our aunt, Mabel O'Brien who passed away April 11, 1978.
Silent thoughts and tears unseen
Wishing your absence was only a dream.
Today, tomorrow, our whole lives through.
We'll always love and remember you.
Linda and Frand DeVetten.

IN MEMORIUM

WINDOVER – In loving memory of my dear husband Bruce Windover who passed away April 14, 1977.
When evening shades are falling,
And I sit alone at home.
To my heart there comes a longing,
If you could only come home.
Friends may think I have for gotten.
When at times they see me smile,
But little they know the heart ache,
Which the smile hides all while.
Still in memory you are with me.
As you always were before.
A cherished smile a heart of gold
To the dearest husband the world could hold.
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear Bruce how I think of you.
Friends are friends if they are true,
But I lost my best friend, when I lost you.
Always remembered and sadly missed by you loving wife Bird.
32-1c

O'BRIEN – In loving memory of my dear wife Mabel O'Brien who passed away April 11, 1978.
Just one year ago to day
I stood by your bed and watched you fade away
I stood by your bed and held your hand
But God took your hand and we had to part
He eased your pain and broke my heart
Your life was very unselfish for others you lived
Not to receive but always to give
It is lonely here without you
I miss you more each day
For life is not the same for me
Since you were called away
You are with me in all I do
Your love will guide and see me through
Now life is lonely I try not to complain
I trust in God we will meet again
Your resting place I'll tend with care
Part of my self went with you there.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by your devoted husband Harry O'Brien. 32-1p

A sincer thank you to Dr. Reikie and staff of St. Mary's Hospital, Camrose for the excellent care I received while a patient there. Thanks also for cards, flowers and visitors.
Hedrun Nordstrum.
32-1p

I sincerely thank all those who sold and bought tickets when I ran for Irma Carnival Queen. A special thanks to my grandmother and other relatives. Beverly Bell.
32-1p

It is from the bottom of our hearts that we say "Thank you", to all who helped us celebrate our golden wedding anniversary.
We are especially grateful to the Palmer sisters, the Lorees and to Mrs. Jean White for the wonderful program and to Mr. Cunningham for his excellent P.A. system; to Ruby and Carol Wilson and Gerald Betty Spencer for their decorations, the mixing and serving of punch and the many details; to Ernie Moore who as M.C. kept things rolling so smoothly.
The beautiful cards we will always treasure. The community host, the brain work and fashioning by Carol Wilson and Ruby Stainthorpe is really something. We thank those who sent flowers and food or brought gifts and those who donated to the collection (though we had requested no gifts and no collections.) The $135.00 raised in this manner is being donated to the Agriplex.
Thank you one and all.
Fred and Dora Martin.
32-1p

Thank you to George Etty of Flagstaff Realty for handling the sale of our home, also to those who helped us move and watch our property, Bill Kmetz, Al Gramlek's, Irene Sorken, Audrey Prericks.

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to express my sincere thanks to Dr. Moor, sisters and staff of the Killam Hospital for the excellent care given me while I was a patient there. Also many thanks to all my friends and family who visited me, sent cards, flowers and treats while I was in the Killam Hospital and the University Hospital, Edmonton. It was all very much appreciated, making my hospital stay much more pleasant. It's so wonderful to have friends and family who show love and concern. Thank-you.
Helga Willumsen.

Hardisty News Items

Your reporter was in Camrose and saw Glen Smith. He had visited at Lougheed during hockey time and managed to take in two hockey games in Hardisty. Glen had just spent a few days in the hospital so we wish him more time to stay at home this year.

Well, we have all been shocked and terribly saddened by the sudden passing away of Marty Whitehead in a car accident. Marty was very well like by all who knew him and it just makes a person ill when it did not need to happen.

He is survived by his parents, Cliff and Laverne Whitehead, as well as three brothers and his grandmother, Cora Pavilion.

So many people are affected in a case like this. Eric Paulson and his wife came from Ft. St. John, Ethel Stephanuk and her husband from Camrose, Myrna Paulson from Edmonton and also attending were Dick and Ivan Downie of Edmonton.

Others seen were Earl and Elsie Rose of Edmonton.

In spite of all this, young drivers will tear up and down main street, throwing beer bottles every which way. A glass door was broken last night through someone's stupidity.

Congratulations to J.C. Cavanagh on winning a TV in the TumBoy contest.

A pleasant evening was spent Sunday night at the home of Bernice Tillmar to honour Janis Olson on her forthcoming marriage to Glen Oldfield. Special guests were Janis' mother, Bonnie, and sister, Karen, with little daughter Denise from Duncan, B.C.

Janis was presented with a beautiful cake plate and server from the guests present and everyone enjoyed a lovely lunch as well as visiting with neighbours.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Todd of Cadogan visited with the Allen Nelsons and Frank's sister, Isabel Nelson. Frank was pleased to see so much progress made on the interior of Allen's house in three weeks.

Dave and Shari Todd have also visited their aunt, Isabel Nelson, one afternoon last week.

The Beatrice Devitt family hopes to see relatives and friends at the Wainwright Old Timers Hall on Sunday afternoon, April 29 to help Will celebrate his 70th birthday. Congratulations, Will. May you celebrate many more birthdays.

Bennie and Adrie Cibart spent the weekend in Regina with brother Calvin and family.
